er, who shall absent himself from his labor without sufficient cause, may, on conviction by a magistrate, be sentenced to lose all claims to wages or allowances during the period of such absence, and also to forfeit to his employer a sum not exceeding four annas for each day during which such absence shall be continued; and in case such absence shall have exceeded seven days, or in case such laborer shall have been already convicted of the same offence within a period of three months, such laborer shall be furthermore sentenced to rigorous imprisonment for fourteen days.

Deserting may be apprehended without warrant.

123. If any laborer deserts or attempts to desert from his employer's service, such employer or any other person acting in his behalf may, without first procuring a warrant, and without the assistance of any police officer (who, nevertheless, shall be bound to give such assistance if called upon to do so), apprehend such laborer wherever he may be found. Provided, nevertheless, that if such laborer be found in the service of another employer, he shall not be arrested without a warrant. Provided also that such employer or other person shall without delay give the said laborer in charge at the nearest police station, and there enter the charge upon which he shall have apprehended such laborer.

To be taken to nearest magistrate.

Any laborer so given in charge shall be conveyed, without delay, to the nearest magistrate; and, if the place from which such laborer is charged with having deserted, be within the jurisdiction of such magistrate, he shall himself adjudicate upon the charge; but if not, he shall forward the said laborer, under custody, to the magistrate within whose jurisdiction such place may be situated, who shall adjudicate upon such charge.

Punishment.

Every laborer who deserts from his employer's service shall, on conviction by a magistrate, be punished with rigorous imprisonment which may extend to one month; and every laborer, who after having been convicted of desertion, shall again desert from his employer's service, shall, on conviction as aforesaid, be punished with rigorous imprisonment for a period which may extend to two months; and every laborer who, after having been twice convicted of desertion shall again desert shall, on conviction as aforesaid, be punished with imprisonment, simple or rigorous, which may extend to three months.

Conviction not to operate as a release.

124. On the expiry of any sentence of imprisonment for any offence under this Act, save as is provided in section 125, it shall be the duty of the magistrate to make over such laborer to any person appointed on the part of his employer to receive charge of him; and no conviction under this Act, or imprisonment under such conviction, shall, save as is provided in section 125, be held to operate as a release to any laborer from the terms of his contract. Provided, nevertheless, that the period of imprisonment shall in no case be prolonged by reason of their being no person present on the part of the employer to take charge of the laborer at the expiry to his sentence; but such laborer shall in that case be sent to the principal place of business of such employer, and the expense of such conveyance shall be levied from the employer in the manner provided in section 99.

125. Whenever any laborer shall have actually suffered imprisonment amounting in the whole to six months for desertion from his employer's service, it shall be lawful for the inspector, and he is hereby required, to cancel the contract of such laborer, and every such cancellation shall be certified by the inspector on the back of the contract.

Cancellation of contract by desertion.

126. The employer, or any person authorized to act for the employer, of any laborer imprisoned for any offence under this Act, may apply to a magistrate, at any time previous to the expiry of such sentence, that such laborer be made over to him for the purpose of completing his contract; and such magistrate may, if he see good cause, make over or forward such laborer to his employer; and in that case such magistrate shall cancel the remainder of the sentence passed on him, and shall endorse on the contract of such laborer a memorandum signed by him of such cancellation.

Portion of sentence may be cancelled on application of employer.

127. Every employer who obtains an order for the return or forwarding of any laborer who has deserted, shall pay the expense incurred in such return or forwarding, and shall, before the order is issued, deposit with the magistrate such sum as such magistrate may in his discretion deem to be sufficient for defraying the expense of such return or forwarding.

Expense of restoring deserting laborer to be paid by employer.

128. The duration of every unlawful absence from labor, of which any laborer may be convicted, and every sentence of imprisonment for any offence under this Act, shall be endorsed on the contract, at the time of its being passed, by the officer passing it; and no such period of imprisonment or unlawful absence so endorsed shall be reckoned as part of the term for which the laborer is bound to serve, but such term shall extend to such further period as shall be equivalent to the aggregate amount of the imprisonment and unlawful absence so endorsed.

Time of unlawful absence or imprisonment to be excluded from contract period.

129. Any person who knowingly and wilfully entices away, harbours, or employs, or attempts to entice from his employment, any laborer, before such laborer shall have been lawfully released from his contract, shall on conviction by a magistrate be punished with fine, the whole or any portion of which may be awarded to the employer of such laborer.

Other person enticing away, harbouring, or employing laborer under contract.

Chapter 15.—Complaints made by Laborers.

130. If any laborer states to his employer, or to any person acting for such employer, that he desires to make a complaint to the inspector of laborers of personal ill-usage or breach of any provision of this Act on the part of such employer or other person, the person to whom such statement is made shall, within forty-eight hours send notice thereof in writing to the inspectors and in default of so doing, such person shall, on conviction by a magistrate, be punished with fine.

Chapter 16.—Determination of Contract.

Laborer may appear before the inspector to register completion of contract.

137. Every laborer who has completed the term of his contract shall be forthwith entitled to appear before the inspector or assistant inspector in order that the completion of his contract may be registered.

Penalty if employer detains, or omits to report.

If an employer detains such laborer after the completion of his contract, or fails to give notice of such completion to the inspector within one month after the date of such completion, such employer shall, on conviction by a magistrate, be punished with fine.

Power to redeem contract.

138. If any laborer is able and desirous to redeem the unexpired term of his contract of service by payment of a sum equivalent to the value thereof, such laborer may demand to be taken or allowed to go before the inspector of laborers within the local limits of whose authority he may be employed, and on his depositing such sum in the hands of such inspector, such inspector shall give notice to the employer that such laborer requires him within one week to show cause why the contract of such laborer should not be released; and, in case no sufficient cause should be shown, such inspector shall require the production of the contract of such laborer, and endorse thereon a certificate of release by purchase, and shall hold the sum in deposit on account of the employer of such laborer. If any employer, or other person authorized to act for the employer, shall neglect to comply with such demand as aforesaid, such employer, or other person as aforesaid, shall, on conviction by a magistrate, be punished with fine.

Value of unexpired term of contract.

The value of the unexpired term of contract shall be deemed to be the aggregate amount of one rupee for every month of the unexpired portion of the first year, of three rupees for every such month of the second year, and of five rupees for every such month of the third year, of the original term of the laborer's engagement.

Certificate to be given of determination of contract.

139. Every laborer the period of whose contract has expired, or whose contract has been rescinded by the mutual consent of the parties thereto, or whose contract has been cancelled or redeemed under the provisions of this Act, shall be entitled to receive forthwith from the inspector a certificate of release in the form set forth in Schedule (F) annexed to this Act.

Judicial and Legislative Depts.

The following Supplementary Report of the Select Committee on the "Bill to amend the law relating to the emigration of laborers to the districts of Assam, Cachar, and Sylhet, and to regulate contract labor and service therein," is published for general information:—

We, the Select Committee on the "Bill to amend the law relating to the emigration of laborers to the districts of Assam, Cachar, and Sylhet, and to regulate contract-labor and service therein," have read and considered the correspondence noted in the margin relating to a proposal by the Lieutenant-Governor to provide for the gradual introduction of a system of free recruiting of laborers for the labor districts.

The Committee are unanimously of opinion that the systems of free recruiting and recruiting under the Act cannot work side by side. They do not feel themselves able, on the materials before them, to recommend that Cachar or any other district should be exempted from the operation of the Act, or to make any specific recommendation to the Council on the general subject.

A Bill to provide for the liquidation of the debts of the Nawáb Názim of Bengal, and for his protection against legal process.

Preamble.

Whereas divers large pecuniary claims have been made against Sayyad Mansur Alí, the present Nawáb Názim of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa, commonly called the Nawáb Názim, which he has not the means of satisfying, and for the purpose of recovering such claims divers suits have been brought against him, and divers attachments have been issued against his property in India :

And whereas the Government of India is desirous of freeing the said Nawáb Názim and his property respectively from such suits and attachments, and of discharging such of the said claims as are proper to be paid :

And whereas in the meantime and for the future, it is expedient to exempt the said Nawáb Názim, except as hereinafter mentioned, from the jurisdiction of the Civil Courts, and to render him incapable of contracting further pecuniary obligations ;

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title.

Every document on which he founds his claims, or on which he relies in support thereof, shall be delivered to the Commissioners along with the claim.

If the document be an entry in any book, the claimant shall produce the book to the Commissioners, together with a copy of the entry on which he relies. The Commissioners shall mark the book for the purpose of identification, and after examining and comparing the copy with the original, shall return the book to the claimant.

Saving of Secretary of State in Council.

15. No suit or other proceeding shall be maintained against any person in respect of anything done by him in good faith under this Act.

Bar of suits for acts done bonâ fide.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The Náwab Názim of Bengal belongs to one of the ancient and noble Indian families, which it is the policy of the British Government to maintain. To this end a sum of nearly seven lakhs has been annually allotted out of the public treasury to the Nawáb Názim, but owing to his extravagance this great income has proved quite unequal to his personal expenditure, and he is now involved in debt exceeding thirty lakhs of rupees, and carrying ruinous rates of interest.

Some steps must be taken to preserve the dignity of the Nawáb Názim's family; to keep Government out of the litigation which his creditors have already commenced, and which threatens to absorb property designed for the maintenance of the family; and to save the Indian tax-payers from further drafts on the public purse.

For this purpose the present Bill has been prepared. It empowers the Governor-General in Council to appoint a Commission to investigate claims against the Nawáb Názim. It provides for giving public notice to such claimants, and bars debts not notified to the Commission within six months from such publication; it gives the Commissioners the usual powers to summon witnesses, and compel the production of evidence; and it declares that the Commissioners shall, by agreement with each claimant or otherwise, determine the amount fairly due to him; that they shall certify the amount so determined; and that, upon the Governor-General in Council paying to the claimant the amount so certified, his claims against the Nawáb Názim or his property shall be extinguished.

The Bill then (here following the King of Oudh's Act No. XIII of 1868) bars suits against the Nawáb Názim, unless such suits have been commenced with the consent of the Government of India, and declares the Nawáb Názim incapable of contracting so as to involve himself in any pecuniary obligation.

ANNUAL GENERAL REPORT OF THE PATNA DIVISION FOR 1872-73.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Calcutta, the 22nd October 1873.

READ—

The Annual General Report of the Commissioner of the Patna Division for the year 1872-73, with its enclosures.

1. The Lieutenant-Governor desires to thank the Commissioner, Mr. Bayley, both for his most excellent and efficient work in the administration of this great and heavy division and for his report. The report is just what it ought to be, dwelling on things of administrative importance not otherwise dealt with, and giving a brief bird's-eye view of the subjects which are departmentally treated in detail; while the whole is well written as a report of the division, and not made up of extracts strung together. It leaves nothing to be desired. His Honor quite feels that the present report, the first of its kind for the division, and necessarily giving once for all many things which will form a basis for future reports, is more than we can expect to have every year; but with this explanation the Lieutenant-Governor would say that it is a model and example of what he desires to have. This report and other selected reports of Commissioners and Magistrates and sub-divisional officers will be separately circulated as Government selections: they are now too bulky to circulate in any other shape, and it is most important that the valuable reports received this year should not be hidden away.

Mr. Bayley's 1st paragraph quite accounts for the delay in submitting his report, but it must be remembered that in another year the subordinate reports will not be so long. While good and exhaustive reports are to be encouraged, it will not be necessary in future that subordinate officers, such as sub-divisional officers, should always make their reports very elaborate. If we have good practical reports in short compass from all and more searching reports from a few, the Lieutenant-Governor will be well satisfied. Much of the Commissioners' time also will be saved by the explanation recently given that matters contained in the general reports need not be repeated in departmental reports to the Board of Revenue, &c., these latter being confined to departmental and technical matters.

2. The Commissioner has written a good account of his tour, and has gone about and looked into everything in a thorough way. The Magistrates of Patna and Gya also made very careful and useful tours.

3. The division of Patna contains thirteen millions of inhabitants, a number equal to that of the Bombay Presidency, and considerably exceeding the population of Oudh. Mr. Bayley has written a most useful and interesting summary of the results of the census. The proportion of males to females exhibited by him tends to confirm the general accuracy of the census, as being what we might have expected. Indian censuses have usually shown an excess of males. Chumparun without emigration and more sparsely populated than elsewhere in Behar, has this excess. Tirhoot, which is comparatively rich, and with little emigration, is just equal in males and females. Sarun (51·7 per cent. of females), Shahabad (51·5), Patna (51·2), and Gya (51·1), from all of which districts there is much emigration, have excess of females; Sarun heading the list and being the district of all others most populous and from which there is most emigration. It is remarked that the emigrants are generally not accompanied by their women-folk.

4. With respect to public health, the extraordinary prevalence of dengue fever in parts of the division is noticeable. It is calculated that 90 per cent. of the population of Patna suffered from it. Mr. Mangles, the Magistrate, remarks that the disease seemed to follow the line of rail, and that it was near the public ghauts and ferries that it first made its appearance. The course of the dengue thus described seems to be one of the strongest instances possible to show that disease may be and is propagated by human intercourse. The complete immunity of the jails where the inhabitants are isolated and cut off from intercourse is all in favour of this theory.

5. The local officers report strongly of the poverty of the ryots in this province, and the Lieutenant-Governor apprehends that the conclusion must be that the people are really badly off. Happily, the year under report was a good one, late years have not been bad, and food is cheap. But it is shown to be a good deal dearer than it formerly was, and the wages of labour are still very low. Except during the harvest and planting seasons, the rate of unskilled labour is only 1½ annas per diem. In Gya it is said that the agricultural labourer is worse off than anywhere else in the division. He is generally paid in grain, and lives really from hand to mouth. Two to three seers of some coarse grain representing a money value perhaps of 1¼ annas, suffices to support life and enables him to work. With the Soane work, however, close at hand, adds Mr. Bayley, and two annas a day to be earned there, there is a brighter side to the question. Mr. Alexander, the Magistrate of Shahabad, has given a very interesting report on the prices of food and labour in his district. The Lieutenant-Governor has little doubt that although Gya and Shahabad have an apparent smaller population rate than elsewhere, they have so much of barren hill tracts that they are probably just as overcrowded as those districts which show a larger rate.

6. Happily, emigration is a resource well known to, and in some degree practised by, the people of this populous province. The emigration beyond seas is after all but a drop in the ocean, but there is much unregistered emigration within India. There is a periodic emigration of labourers from the Sarun district who go to Purneah, Julpigoree, Rungpore, and Cooch Behar. It is notorious that all over the country syces, coolies, and men who go out to earn their bread, come in very large numbers from the Behar districts, and especially Sarun. We may believe that if they are more and more pressed, they will go in greater numbers to populate the colonies, &c., to which they already know the way. Many labourers get, it is stated, to the tea districts without ever being registered before the local Magistrate at all.

The same phenomenon as Mr. Bayley observes has been remarked elsewhere, that the greater proportion of registered emigrants for beyond sea in each district do not belong to the district where they register, but to somewhere else. Either it is the case that those who emigrate wish to register where inquiries cannot be made, or people like first to try their luck on another soil within India before venturing abroad. Probably each cause operates to some extent.

7. Act XXXI of 1861, for regulating the manufacture of common salt along with saltpetre, has been introduced from this year. The Commissioner has very little doubt that the introduction of the new rules for carrying it out, will go far to kill an already declining trade. The Lieutenant-Governor fears that there will be a falling off in the saltpetre trade, and little direct financial benefit to Government. But, on the other hand, His Honor thinks it quite clear that hitherto the saltpetre manufacture has been bolstered up by what practically amounts to a bounty, i. e., the manufacturers have been to all intents and purposes allowed to sell duty-free the salt educed from saltpetre, when others pay the fixed rate of Rs. 3-4-0 per maund. The Lieutenant-Governor agrees that it cannot be expected that we should keep up a trade in this fictitious way. If we gain indirectly by bringing into consumption much good taxed salt instead of the bad untaxed saltpetre salt, the new rules will be justified. At the same time we must strive not to go to the other extreme, e. g., upon taking away the bounty, we must not unduly clog the saltpetre trade with heavy preventive charges. Perhaps Government should not at present seek to recoup itself directly for these charges, but set them against increased salt revenue. His Honor will be ready to receive any proposals the Commissioner may make of this nature.

8. Speaking generally, it may be said that the leading exports from Behar are oil-seeds, hides, tobacco, saltpetre, sugar, indigo, and opium; and the imports are rice, cotton, salt, iron, and cloth. Many inquiries have already been made and much information gleaned on this subject. The Lieutenant-Governor hopes that all that is possible will be done to get approximate statistics of internal trade. In particular His Honor wishes to get a good idea of the trade between these Provinces and the North-West Provinces. The city of Patna is a centre for collection and distribution, and its position on the railway and on the Ganges just where the Ganges, Gogra, Gunduck, and Soane become united and where the traffic branches off to Nepaul, give it in this respect great advantages. The exports are principally to Calcutta. Oil-seeds come from all over the province. Tobacco is largely exported from Tirhoot. Tobacco manufactured, i. e., prepared for the hookah with spices, &c., is a speciality of Patna. The exports of Indigo and Opium if comparatively small in bulk are enormous in value. The importation of rice into Behar is large, and rice is a principal food crop in Behar, though among the poorer classes, and especially in the district of Sarun, maize and barley are said to be in a great degree the food of the people. The extent of land under poppy cultivation last year as obtained from the Board of Revenue was 134,589 beegahs in Chumparun, 111,340 beegahs in Gya, 88,182 in Sarun, 68,024 in Tirhoot, 38,989 in Patna, and 35,985 in Shahabad. The opium beegah is equal to 3,025 square yards or about five-eighths of an acre. Mr. Bayley regrets that the station returns of exports and imports by the East Indian Railway are not supplied to the district authorities, and points out what an immense help they would afford to our completer knowledge. The Lieutenant-Governor has no doubt that by the courtesy of the Chairman of the Railway Agency, these returns may in future be procured, and will address the Board.

His Honor is glad to notice the tables of trade that are given in the appendix to the Commissioner's report. Messrs. Mangles, Palmer, and Eyre have given special attention to the subject, and the Lieutenant-Governor hopes that they will strive to perfect their tables.

Indigo is one of the principal products of Behar. Mr. Bayley's account of this great industry is full and interesting. The cultivation is chiefly carried on in the northern districts of the division—Tirhoot, Chumparun, and Sarun—in villages let to the planters by the zemindars or the Court of Wards. When the lease of the village is completed, if the planter does not cultivate the land himself, the ryots attend the factory and execute agreements to cultivate a specified portion of their lands in indigo. The common proportion now agreed upon is two to three cottahs per beegah of upland though in some few factories the proportion demanded is larger, amounting to five or six cottahs, which was the rate prevailing, at least in Chumparun and Sarun, before the indigo difficulties in 1867. The agreement is generally for the same term as the lease of the village. At the time of executing it an advance is given which remains unpaid without interest till the end of the term, and during each year the price agreed on to be paid for the cultivation is given in advance at the beginning of the year. The lands taken from the ryots are retained from three to five years by the factory, after which time they are useless for growing indigo; though, as the indigo plant has a long tap root, and draws its nourishment principally from the subsoil, they are said to be improved for the growth of cereals and green crops which subsist upon the upper layer, the land having also been manured by the indigo leaves. In lieu of the lands thus given up, a similar area of other lands is taken from the ryots for the rest of the term of the agreement, and in some instances a clause is inserted that these exchanged lands shall be selected by the factory from the best of those in the ryot's holding. The Lieutenant-Governor is very glad to see, what Mr. Bayley states, that "though it cannot be said that the feudal relation between the European planter and the ryot, which was the rule in former days, has altogether disappeared, yet it is certainly the case that both parties deal with one another much more on a footing of free contract than formerly, and we may hope ere long to see the strictly commercial relation between the manufacturer and the grower gain ground, while the semi-feudal relation dies away." The system is a long way yet from real free contract, but His Honor recognizes the great difficulty of getting to free contract when the native zemindars have become interested, as is so largely the case, in a non-free system. As Mr. Bayley points out later on in his report, "where there is a native landlord the Tirhoot ryot will not be allowed to enter into independent agreements with the planter, unless the landlord sees his way to getting the lion's share of the profits and retaining his hold over the tenant, and the planter has no means of counteracting these obstacles save by taking leases at rates which nothing but large indigo profits will cover." It is evident, however, that prices do admit of very liberal payments to ryots, and it is to be hoped that things may adjust themselves gradually, and more and more approach free trade, while the indigo industry of Behar, which has now grown doubly important since the Bengal produce has declined, may continue to flourish. There are not the difficulties in the way of free trade above described in the case of villages under the Court of Wards.

The Commissioner has not dwelt upon opium, which divides his division with indigo as an article of export cultivated under European advances and superintendence for European manufacture. While indigo is grown under a quasi-feudal system, it is certain that, in this part of the country at any rate, the cultivation of opium is perfectly free, and, whatever its effect on the Chinese, it is beneficial to our ryots, and brings them much money. It is a particularly high and careful cultivation.

9. In this great population of thirteen millions, the public press is curiously little represented by two solitary publications, the only fault found with which seems to be that they are so good and virtuous that no one will read them.

10. Mr. Bayley says, if he was asked his own opinion as to what caused most excitement among the natives during the past year, he would say unhesitatingly dengue. The prevalence of the fever led to all sorts of legends and groundless apprehensions. The abolition of the income tax caused satisfaction to the tax-paying class. Strange to say, the introduction of primary schools in the first instance gave rise to distrust and fear in many places. The rumour that Government were going to educate the people with a view to shipping them off to the colonies was very general; another, that the gurus were to be paid in order to become Government spies and give information for new taxes found scarcely less favour. "Natives," says Mr. Bayley with truth, "have a habit of passing by the plain and obvious motive for any action, and looking for some deep and recondite one. This is observable in their way of accounting for the most trivial thing, and is sure to be applied in full force to any new action taken by a mysterious foreign Government. With all this they are singularly amenable to order, and however much they may misunderstand they do nothing in active opposition." The distrust of the new schools has now almost disappeared, and they are progressing most favorably.

The attack on Mr. Barlow, the Assistant Magistrate of Mudhoobani, was the casual act of a mob of bigoted Brahmins who objected to the mere proximity of a European.

In Patna twice during the year there was a split between the Sheeahs and Soonis of the place, which at one time threatened serious complication, but were quelled by the good judgment of the Magistrate and the action of the leading Mahomedans of both parties, who most praiseworthily assisted the authorities to maintain order.

11. The Commissioner believes that the great administrative change of the year, the gathering in of all departments under the one district officer, has been an unmixed good. The police were always nominally subordinate to the Magistrate, but that nominal subordination has now become real, and the executive power of the Magistrate is greatly increased thereby, while the police themselves are better looked after. The Lieutenant-Governor is also glad to know that the new sub-divisional establishments have been well started. Mr. Drummond, the Magistrate-Collector of Sarun, says: "The new establishment has been fairly utilized in one way or another since its appointment, and has proved of much assistance. The institution of a new Subordinate Executive Service had had a wonderful effect on the class of public employés who may be said to have Subordinate Executive Service on the brain for the time, and everywhere the young idea may be seen learning to ride, and to ride furiously too, the next generation of officials thus giving promise of being of more active habits than the present."

12. In regard to statistical inquiries, the Lieutenant-Governor concurs with the Commissioner that bad statistics are worse than none. There is no doubt that this was the case in regard to the statistics pretended to be collected before we had any adequate machinery. The machinery has only now been supplied, and we are just making a beginning. His Honor trusts that a successful beginning has really been made, and that we shall go on with it. Mr. Drummond has been making many efforts and inquiries in this direction: progress has been effected in Shahabad and in the Durbhangah and Sasseeram sub-divisions, and His Honor notices with pleasure that the mortuary returns from selected areas promise to be reasonable. The Lieutenant-Governor will look with much interest to the results of the educational census that the Commissioner has been endeavouring to compile in certain tracts. Model farms have been started in Arrah and elsewhere, but not much has been done.

The year, as Mr. Bayley says, may be said to have been a year of small beginnings in great subjects of administration.

13. The police of the Patna Division are not particularly efficient. They have done well on the whole in Tirhoot during the year, and fairly in Patna, but in all the other districts they did badly. The local authorities urge such a law as that of the North-Western Provinces for the village chowkidari establishments. What is wanted, writes Mr. Bayley, is, that the landholder should be responsible for the pay of the village watchman, and that he should be brought into continual and close connection with the thannah police.

The singular absence of petty criminal litigation in Behar is most remarkable when contrasted with other parts of the country. There are more petty criminal cases filed in one district of Eastern Bengal than in the whole of this large division.

14. With respect to the alterations in the Criminal Procedure Code, the Commissioner writes: "I will only add that the alterations in the system of appeal are accepted by all officials to whom I have spoken as an immense improvement, and though of course distasteful to mookhtars, this is perhaps sufficient to commend them in the eyes of all unprejudiced persons. The young Bengalee of the present day has learnt to associate many of the worst and most anomalous portions of English criminal law with that personal liberty of which he is the eager champion, and in addition to these he has adopted from the teaching of Indian courts unlimited appeal as part of his magna charta, but outside this class I think the approval of restricted appeal and enlarged powers of revision is almost universal." There is much truth in these remarks: educated natives have an extravagant and caricatured idea of the liberty of the subject, and want to combine all English safeguards against oppression with a system of appeal unknown in England.

The Commissioner records that the power to try certain cases summarily conferred by the Code is a great boon and has worked well, though it has been sparingly exercised at present. No doubt, as Mr. Bayley says, the whole lawyer class must detest it, but except for them and the criminals, there is no cause for any other class disliking it. It is almost premature to decide on the success of the institution of benches of Honorary Magistrates. The Magistrates themselves like the work, but urge that they should be allowed freedom from leading-strings and more power. The rules for the distribution of criminal work and for the regular sitting of one police court have had a good effect in accelerating the court work and in putting a stop to the frequent handing about of cases from one court to another.

15. On the administration of civil justice the Commissioner states that he has little to say. "The continued adjournments, the power of protracting cases in the hands of a wealthy litigant, the difficulty of executing decrees on the one side, and the holding decrees for years in terrorem over a suitor in the other, the enormous amount to which interest is allowed to accumulate, and the general tone of narrowness which characterizes the decisions of the lower civil courts, these, together with the high rate of stamp duty and the expense of employing vakeels," are the points on which complaints are most frequently made of our system. Mr. Bayley regrets the transfer to the civil courts of the rent-suits. His unqualified expressions on this subject are not shared in so decided a manner by all Bengal officers. The transfer is everywhere unpopular with zemindars, but opinion is divided in regard to its effect on ryots. The Lieutenant-Governor takes it to be that here, as in other things, Behar more resembles the North-Western Provinces; there is a greater disposition to trust the executive authorities; and while in Eastern Bengal ryots accustomed to litigation may be able to fight it out in the civil courts, in Behar they have no chance.

16. The original assessment of land revenue in Behar was very light, and estates have changed hands in a much less proportion than in Bengal. On this subject, however, the Lieutenant-Governor was not prepared for the statement contained in the following passage of the Collector of Sarun's report showing an extraordinary stability of property in that district, and he would like to have a further report on the facts:

"It appears that while about 57 per cent. of the total number of proprietors at the time of the permanent settlement belonged to the higher castes, viz., those of Brahmins, Rajpoots and Babhans, their number now is still nearly 54 per cent., and that the Baniah class have only increased from 4 per cent. then to 6 per cent. now. On the other hand, Kaists have diminished in number from 23 to 19 per cent. Mahomedans were 15 per cent. of the proprietary number, and now are 17 per cent. Agricultural castes have increased from 0·5 per cent. to 1·7 per cent., while low-castes and persons not recognizing castes have increased from 0·7 per cent. to 1·6 per cent. On the whole, with slight modifications, the different classes may be said to have been maintained in relation to the proprietary right in land the footing which they originally occupied, a result which I confess I had not expected, seeing the manner in which all over India the old proprietary classes are being displaced by the Baniah class. If these figures are at all to be relied on, it would seem that it is not yet too late to prevent such a displacement taking place in this district."

Under a sale for arrears of revenue an estate is sure to yield a good price, and the proprietors sometimes deliberately default to sell the estate.

A complaint is made of the excessive resort to claims for the partition of estates. The procedure admits, the Commissioner says, of endless delays, and Government is put at the expense of providing for what may fairly be termed the private business of individuals. The Lieutenant-Governor, however, doubts whether we can refuse partitions to bonâ fide shareholders, down at least to a certain point; but certainly a more efficient machinery is required.

His Honor entirely approves of Mr. Bayley's settling Government estates with resident ryots whenever they will come forward. The settlements of Government estates now in progress in the Patna Division are comparatively trifling; but much settlement work is being done on Wards' estates. The Lieutenant-Governor notes Mr. Bayley's remark that "the careful enquiry and complete record of rights, which settlement officers are now forced to undertake, will be a boon of the utmost importance, and I only wish we were making a resettlement of whole districts instead of a few scattered villages." The essential feature of the present policy of Government in making land revenue settlements is to measure and record all holdings, with the rents now payable thereon, and the names of the ryots holding them. The re-organisation of the putwarees in every village will secure that the records now made shall be maintained until the next settlement. If the zemindars and ryots of Eastern Bengal had any such authoritative record, both parties would be relieved from most of the difficulties caused by the existing uncertainty regarding holdings, rent and occupative rights.

17. The proportion among the people who drink intoxicating liquors is extremely small. The mahwa liquor is most generally sold in the division. It sells at 2 or 3 annas a quart, and is probably much less intoxicating than public house beer at home. In Patna the annual consumption is something over half a gallon per head; in all the other districts it is even much less than this. It is evident, as Mr. Bayley says, that a very small proportion of the people drink at all. The excise report shows that the number of licensed liquor shops in the Patna Division has been decreased by more than 800 during the year under review. The Commissioner is not sure that the reduction of shops may not have been too rapid; but at any rate, marked diminution in the consumption of liquor, without any real loss of revenue, is a most satisfactory result.

18. Complaints are made of the unconciliatory manner in which the railway officials treat the public who have dealings with them. It is a fact that except, where speed is an object the railway under its present conditions cannot draw away traffic from the river. The railway rates are practically very much higher than boat rates, and as one of the Magistrates puts it, "the railway gives thrice the trouble that a boat does."

19. The Soane irrigation works have been rapidly pushed on during the past year, and their prospects are hopeful.

20. With reference to the deplorable results of the mismanaged embankment alluded to in the Commissioner's 145th paragraph, His Honor trusts that under the present system such calamities will be avoided by the co-operation of civil officers and Engineers acting together.

21. The Lieutenant-Governor has had several tramway projects before him lately, including the Patna-Dinapore Tramway alluded to by the Commissioner in his 147th paragraph, the Patna-Gya line, and a scheme for the suburbs of Calcutta, but he has not been able to make up his mind as to the rights of the matter, and as to how far we are justified in what some have called spoiling a good road to make a bad railway. His Honor has been watching the experiment of the Calcutta Municipality, which does not seem to have been very successful so far; he has doubts whether we ought not to have lines worked by a light slow engine rather than by horse-power; but it is better not to be rash.

The Lieutenant-Governor, however, regrets very greatly to observe the Commissioner's statement about the Patna-Gya road, that it has fallen into so bad a state since His Honor passed over it last year. Mr. Bayley's remarks will be communicated to the Department of Public Works, with a view to a searching inquiry how this has occurred, and immediate remedy. Sir George Campbell has often thought of turning this road into a light railway, and if the repairs with metal are so very expensive and difficult, and the Commissioner really adheres strongly to the opinion that it is advisable to put down rails, His Honor will be glad to receive a special report from him on the subject.

22. The school for artizans at Dehree, under Mr. Fouracres' management, promises to be a most successful institution. "At present," writes Mr. Bayley, "the supply in India of properly qualified European overseers is lamentably deficient. Educated engineers for the higher grades are forthcoming, but between that class and loafers it is very difficult to find men for the lower grades. The school will supply this deficiency, and nothing can be more satisfactory than the happy and healthy condition of the boys, who, after two or three hours' schooling in the morning, spend the rest of the day in good hard labour at the workshops, learning both the theory and practice of their profession in a manner which no other institution in India can equal. I only wish that instead of twenty-five boys the school might be enlarged so as to educate a hundred."

23. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to see that the dispensaries of the division are doing well. The Commissioner complains that they are not always officered with competent men, and this is no doubt the case especially in Behar, but Government will do its best to supply them. The local authorities should press the Gyawals to assist the Pilgrim Hospital at Gya. They make immense sums out of the pilgrims, but do not, it appears, give anything in support of the dispensary. His Honor is gratified to notice the liberality of Baboo Ram Gopal Narayan, the son of the Rajah of Soorsund, who has established a dispensary and endowed it with the sum of Rs. 12,500 for its support. Moonshee Fuzl-ur-Rohman has established a rural dispensary in the Patna district. Though only native medicines are used, it has gained the confidence of the public, and the attendance is daily increasing. The moral effect of medicine is great, and whatever the dispensary may be, if it is popular, it is much to be encouraged.

24. The new education system has fairly taken root in Behar, and it is said that the people are showing greater eagerness to avail themselves of it than heretofore now that the first distrust has worn off. The District Committees now sit regularly and work intelligently and harmoniously. The scheme of primary education has been very successfully worked out in this division the initial difficulties notwithstanding.

The Lieutenant-Governor quite agrees with the remarks of the Magistrate of Patna, that boys are probably better educated in good private patshalas than in the lowest classes of a Government school; and there is no doubt that the gurus who depend on fees will work better than schoolmasters who rely on a fixed salary. It was for this very reason that His Honor steadily set himself against giving gurus enough stipend for a salary, and only desired to afford them a moderate aid of Rs. 2-8 or so per month on condition of efficiency, leaving them to make out the rest of their sustenance by fees. In this way we may hope to combine the advantages of both systems.

25. A large number of Boodhist archæological remains have been collected at the head-quarters of the Behar sub-division, which, it is said, comprise some very fine images and inscriptions of great antiquity. The Asiatic Society has been invited to inspect these remains, and to suggest in what manner they should now be disposed of.

26. The Commissioner records that the native members take an interest in the working of the municipal system; in Patna and Mozufferpore each member has charge of a mohulla, and does his best to do justice to it. In the province of Behar the Magistrate has still some personal influence; the chief men of the town are glad to assist him with their advice, and by doing a good deal of minor executive works for him. There are many Municipal Committees in this division: 5 under Act III of 1864; 16 under Act VI of 1868.

27. All the district officers have strenuously opposed the transfer of the management of the zemindary post from themselves to the postal department. In Bengal there is a contrary expression of opinion, and officers prefer to be relieved of this charge; but perhaps this is another thing in which Behar officers have better opportunities of managing things themselves.

28. The conduct of zemindars in the division, especially the smaller landholders, is unfavorably reported on. They are described as oppressive on their tenants, and indifferent and apathetic on subjects of public interest. All over the world petty landlords are apt to exact more than very large and rich ones; that is the nature of things, and it probably would be the case in Behar, that great landholders might be made amenable to advice if they really managed their estates direct. The Lieutenant-Governor, however, fears that the fact is much as described by the Deputy Collector of Nowada, and the Collector of Sarun in the following passages.

"The very system adopted in this division for land management renders a faithful discharge of the duties imposed under the regulations impracticable. The landed property is let out in farm generally on zurpeshgi ticca for a term of years to speculators in land, who, during their short incumbency do their best to squeeze as much out of the tenants as possible." "The zemindars, wherever they have a substantial share in a village, are, as a rule, oppressive, and on the estates of many of the larger zemindars, perhaps, the least consideration for the tenantry is shown. The system of farming widely prevails, and were it not that the full rent-roll is not levied in villages leased out to indigo planters, the stimulus to enhanced rent-rolls afforded by indigo cultivation would have occasioned even a greater rise in rents."

Where the pettiest proprietors are also cultivators, they are thriving and prosperous, and there is no better condition; but His Honor is no admirer of very small proprietors who have abandoned all cultivation and live on the rents only. Sir George Campbell is, however, inclined to think that there are in Behar a good many who come within the class of peasant proprietors, as there are also in the North-Western-Provinces, though no doubt they are not general as they are in the Punjab and elsewhere. The Lieutenant-Governor notices that in this district the average rent-rate per acre is stated to be Rs. 5-3-3.

29. The Lieutenant-Governor notices with much satisfaction the improvement which has been effected by the Commissioner in the management of Wards' estates, which are at present so heavy and important a charge in Behar. The education of the Durbhangah and Hutwa minors is being very carefully attended to. It is true that an inordinate amount of labor is thrown on public officers by these Wards' estates, for which Government takes nothing, but we must look for reward in the improvement of the country and the introduction of a better system. Mr. Bayley alludes to his having been absolutely appalled at the number of illegal cesses and transit dues which had been in force in one Government estate. This is a specimen of the old system which has come into our hands, and both in Government and Wards' estates must be suppressed, as it was in this instance.

30. The Lieutenant-Governor has observed with regret the remarks of the Commissioner in regard to the hill tribes of Shahabad in his 8th paragraph, where he says that the ownership of the land is departing from their hands to the Hindoostanis of the plains. With the experience of the Sonthals before us it would be very desirable if anything could be suggested towards saving them.

His Honor desires that his thanks may be communicated to Mr. Eyre, the Sub-divisional Magistrate of Sasseram, for his excellent and thorough administration report. The report of Syud Ameer Husein, Deputy Magistrate of Nowada, is creditable to him. The report of Mr. Drummond, the Magistrate of the Sarun district, has been forwarded by the Commissioner as the best of the district reports; it is valuable and complete, and the Lieutenant-Governor has read it with interest.

BURDWAN DIVISION. 1	Burdwan ...	Oct. 28th*	Nil	Weather hot and dry; very slight showers at Bood-Bood, Raneegunge, and Cutwa sub-divisions; very heavy showers in Ausgram and part of Burdwan.	The crops are suffering much from the continued drought; those on the high lands are irretrievably spoilt. Much of the rice is flowering.	Prices slightly higher than last week. Fever prevalent.
2	Bancoorah ...	„ 25th	Nil	Fine, but sky not free from disappointing clouds.	All crops are dying for want of rain; sugarcane saved in parts. All available water is being utilized. Sowing of the cold weather crops has begun in places.
3	Beerbhoom ...	„ 25th	Nil	Hot and bright most of the week. Slight fall of rain in the east and south of the district on the 22nd instant.	The reaping of the early rice has commenced; about half the average outturn is expected. The prospects of the late rice crop are becoming daily worse. Without rain scarcely more than six annas can be saved. Eight annas might still be saved by an early fall. The cold weather crops cannot be put in without rain, but they do not form an important part of the produce of the district.
4	Midnapore ...	„ 25th	0·02	Showers of rain have fallen in various places in the district, but very partially; a heavy shower passed within two miles of the sudder station on Thursday morning. In Contai sub-division an inch fell.	Slightly improved; limited portions of the district have been benefited by showers of rain, and the south can scarcely have less and perhaps more than an average crop. Since last report the Magistrate, Joint-Magistrate, and other gazetted officers, have visited all portions of the district except north-western corner, and it is only in places that there will be any serious deficiency. This district will evidently have the benefit of a brisk carrying trade both by road and canal with the north and east, and relief works for the localities where there has been any great failure are the outside that this district is likely to need. There has been a brisk demand for irrigation during the week, and as many leases have been granted as could be provided with water. Allowing for this and for the south, there cannot be less than three-fifths of an average late rice crop in the district as a whole.
5	Hooghly ...	„ 25th	Nil	Clear and occasionally cloudy.	Prospect of crops worse than when last reported. The rice on high lands is now almost beyond recovery even if rain falls. Prices are rising.
	Howrah ...	„ 25th	Nil	Since Wednesday there has been a gathering of clouds every morning, but each night has been clear and no rain has fallen anywhere; the dews are very heavy, and the prospects of rain is growing fainter and fainter.	As last week, with the additional disadvantage that another dry week has passed. The rice on high lands has in part gone entirely and the rest is in imminent danger. The rice in low lands and near water is still good, and some of it excellent. Rain would save more than half the crops even if it does not come for 8 or 10 days. The pulses are doing very well, and no one seems to fear for them.

6	24-Pergunnahs ...	Oct. 28th	Nil	Weather getting generally cooler, clouds hanging about, but no rain.	Most of the late rice crop on high lands is past remedy. Unless rain comes soon, it will totally fail in several places. The crops on the low lands are also beginning to suffer from the drought. The ground is too hard to permit winter sowings. Prices of all food crops rapidly rising.	Fever deminishing in Satkheran, but continues in Basirhat and Baraipore.
7	Nuddea ...	„ 25th	0·06	Slight showers are reported from one or two places; the weather is warm, and clouds have for several days appeared, but there does not seem to be reasonable ground to hope for an early fall of rain.	The late rice crops in the higher lands have now been damaged almost, if not quite, beyond the possibility of even a partial recovery. Those in the lower lands are in a much better state, and with rain might still show a tolerable outturn. Teel, oilseed, pulses, sugar-cane, and chillies, so far promise fairly. Mustard, linseed, gram, barley, and other cold weather crops, have been sown, and in some places are germinating, but they require rain.	The health of the people generally is good.
8	Jessore ...	„ 25th	Nil	Warm and sunny. No rain. Wind generally from the north.	The crops on the higher grounds are much injured from want of rain, those in the bheel or marshy lands are injured too, but not so seriously. The cultivation of the winter crops is also retarded by the want of rain, and unless the kateam, or rain in the month of Kartic, come soon the prospects are bad.
9	Moorshedabad ...	„ 25th	0·2	A slight rainfall at the Sudder and Lallbaugh sub-divisions on Thursday evening, but confined to these localities. A mere drizzling is reported from Rampore-haut, but no rain whatever in Jungipore. The sky was cloudy on the 25th instant.	The reports sent in are still very unfavorable. The rainfall was too slight to be of real benefit to the crops. Many cultivators are cutting their paddy for cattle. The cold weather sowings are stopped for want of rain. Prices rising.	Small-pox is prevailing with virulence in Shahanagore, but it is not of a fatal type.
10	Dinagepore ...	„ 25th	Nil	Dry and warm. Clouds gather every now and then and promise rain which never comes.	The late or winter rice is about as bad as can be, short of no crop at all. The greater part of the crops irretrievably lost, and even if rain comes now, there won't be above a 3 or 4-annas crop throughout. Rain is also much wanted for cold weather crops. Prices have gone up very much during the week—from 13 and 14 seers to 10, of 96 tolahs weight.
11	Maldah ...	„ 25th	Nil	Weather fair, with occasional clouds. Days hot, nights rather cold.	There having been no rain during the past week, there is little hope for the rice on the high lands. In thannah Sibgunge three-fourths of the usual crops are expected. The cold weather crops are being sown; pulses and mustard are reported in good condition in Sibgunge, but want rain. In two villages the young wheat has been attacked by insects.	A few cases of small-pox in Khurbah thannah.

RAJSHAHYE DIVISION.—(Contd.) 12	Rajshahye ...	Oct. 25th	Nil	There was a slight fall of rain in Nattore on the 22nd instant. No rain in other parts of the district.	The state and prospects of the late crops continue bad. In the Nattore sub-division about one-fourth to one-third of the rice crop may be harvested from low land beels. The cold weather crops are being sown, but they are likely to suffer for want of rain. Tobacco, teel—oil-seed, and urhur—pulse are doing fairly well. Price of rice rising.
13	Rungpore ...	„ 25th	Nil	A slight appearance of clouds, but no rain; mornings and evenings very cool. Rain is reported to have fallen to the east.	Little change to be reported. The crop of rice is everywhere drying up. The tracts immediately surrounding the station are those most injuriously affected, but gloomy accounts are given for every quarter.
14	Bograh ...	„ 25th	A few drops on two days, but not appreciable by the gauge.	Still dry, and hotter than usual for the time of the year.	A great portion of the late rice crop will be lost in consequence of the continued drought. Mulberry and sugarcane in certain tracts are doing fairly well.
15	Pubna ...	„ 25th	0·05	Weather close, with a little shower of rain.	The late rice in the high lands is almost all destroyed, that on the low lands is somewhat better, but rain is still much wanted. The cold weather crops are being sown.
COOCH BEHAR DIVISION. 16	Darjeeling ...	„ 25th	Nil	In the hills, a lowery sky but no rain. In the plains, every thing very dry, no rain.	In the plains the crops on the high lands are looking sadly parched; serious loss is anticipated; want of rain is the cry every where. The low land crops have not suffered so much. The winter rice should shortly produce grain in the ears, but the blades are looking very dry. Definite and precise reports as to the extent of loss anticipated have been called for. The pulse crop is looking well. In the hills the crops are progressing favorably on the whole, but rain is very much needed.

DACCA DIVISION. 18	Dacca ...	„ 28th*	Nil	Weather dry; clouds still continue to hang about.	Prospects of crops bad ...	Fever reported in the west of the district, and some cholera in the town.
19	Furreedpore ...	„ 25th	Nil	Hot and cloudy at the beginning and end of the week.	The late rice crop in the beels or very low lands still promises well, requiring no rain to mature, but for all other lands rain, which has not fallen for the last four weeks, is much wanted, and the grain in the generality of places is in ear, and unless the roots of the paddy now dry has moisture, it will to a large extent from want of nourishment shrivel and become chaff, and the crop prove a very poor one all over.

BHAGULPORE DIVISION—Contd.	20	Backergunge ...	Oct. 25th	0·34	Cool in the mornings and evenings, and very hot in the middle of the day.	Fair. The crops on the high lands have suffered, but those on the low lands are good. There will be no famine nor distress. When portions of Backergunge suffered from famine in 1787 and 1822, it was from too much water and not from too little. The reports from the Perozepore and Patuakhali divisions are good, and it is chiefly in Madaripore and Barisal divisions that a poor harvest is anticipated.
	21	Mymensing ...	„ 25th	Nil	Mornings and evenings cool. No rain reported anywhere.	The want of rain is much felt. Reports of the rice crop everywhere unfavorable.
	22	Sylhet ...	„ 18th	0·50	Very cool during the day and chilly at night up to the 17th; since then the weather has become warm. Very foggy on the morning of the 18th. Every sign of rain.	As last week. If it does not rain very soon, the crops on the high lands will suffer much. The river has risen 18 inches within the last few days.
	23	Cachar ...	„ 18th	4·10	Cloudy, with rain ...	The rain fall is very beneficial. There has been a want of rain in one part, and flies have injured the paddy in another part of the district. The weather has been very favorable for tea plantations.
CHITTAGONG DIVISION.	24	Chittagong ...	„ 18th	3·21	A good deal of rain fell on Monday and Wednesday. The end of the week was fine and hot.	Reports generally favorable. A fair average crop expected.
	25	Noakhally ...	„ 18th	6·72	The past week has been a very rainy one; weather cool.	To the south of Sudharam and in the islands of Hattea and Sedhi, the late rice is reported to have been injured by the "Sani" and "Mayah" insects. In the other parts of the district the crop is said to be doing well.
	26	Tipperah ...	„ 25th	0·16	Bright and cool, but still unsettled. 25th.—Gloomy, and there may be rain yet. Brahmanbaria—Rainfall, 2·20.	The heavy rain in the north is believed to have done good to the crop in low lands. The Deputy Collector is out inspecting the state of the country. The three central thannahs have suffered severely. The Joint-Magistrae and the District Superintendent have lately seen different parts of them, and nothing can be hoped for here. But the four southern thannahs are safe, which is fortunate, as they are the most inaccessible.
	27	Chittagong Hill Tracts	„ 18th	1·02	Cool throughout the whole week; slight falls of rain on the 12th, 13th, and 14th instant.	The prospects of both the paddy and cotton crops are good. The former is being gathered and the latter is brought for sale in small quantities to the hill markets. Mustard land is being ploughed for cold weather crops.
		Hill Tipperah ...	„ 18th	0·82	Scarcely any rain; weather hot during the day; nights cool.	The outturn of the paddy at Agurtollah is not expected to exceed ⅜ths of the average. Rain now would not save the crops.

BEHAR.		1873.
PATNA DIVISION.
28	Patna ...	Oct. 28th*	Nil	Weather cool; no change in the state of things except that every day passes without rain.	Prospects are getting worse and worse, though much of the cold weather crops has germinated. A deal has not been sown, and there is the fear of what has come up being burnt up.	Health of the district good.
29	Gya ...	„ 25th	Nil	Cool and fine ...	There is no improvement. No rain has fallen anywhere in the district, and the cold weather crop lands (greater portions of which are unsown) cannot now be ploughed and sown till rain falls. The prices of food-grains have not risen materially since last week.
30	Shahabad ...	„ 25th	Nil	Hot and clear, with west wind, and nights cool.	The rice crop, where it has not been irrigated, must prove a failure. In the Sasseeram sub-division a tract of 48,000 beegahs of land has been irrigated by the canal, and thereby a considerable quantity of rice saved; water is still being supplied, though perhaps this will not now save much of the rice-sown land, yet it will do much good towards preparing the land for the cold weather sowings. Very little land has yet been sown with it, and unless rain falls before the 20th November it will be too late for sowing. Those already sown have germinated. Prices rising.
31	Tirhoot ...	„ 25th	Nil	Clear sky; westerly wind prevalent.	The prospects as regard rice continue gloomy. In the north of the district the ryots are to be seen making every effort to save the paddy by irrigation where the fields are near tanks or streams. In the Tajpore sub-division the rice still bears up wonderfully, chiefly owing to heavy dews, especially that which was planted. A heavy rain in the course of 10 days will still secure a four-anna outturn. Tobacco very backward; a little wheat, barley, and mustard are being sown on the chance of rain.
32	Sarun ...	„ 28th	Nil	Clear. No signs of rain; weather cool, dews at night. East and west winds.	Bad reports from all thannahs. All crops are suffering from want of rain, more especially the paddy. The straw is being cut, as the plants are dying. The cold weather crops are being sown in places where the soil has sufficient moisture, but a large tract of land will remain unsown unless rain falls. The prospects of the coming year are very gloomy. Prices are rising.
33	Chumparun ...	„ 25th	Nil	Cool in the mornings and evenings; hot in the middle of the day.	All the high land paddy has been sun-burnt. Those of the lowlands, if it does rain soon, might yield a 6-anna harvest; otherwise there is no prospect of harvesting even 4-anna crops. The proportion of high to lowland in the district is as 2 to 3. There is no prospect of a favorable outturn of paddy this year. The seeds of the cold weather crops have been sown, but for want of moisture in the land, they are germinating slowly after an unusual time, and the blades are not even of a healthy growth.

BHAUGULPORE DIVISION.
34	Monghyr ...	Oct. 25th	Nil	Cloudless sky ...	No change since last week; ploughing and sowing going on in deara lands, and as there is much moisture in the soil a fair crop is hoped for. A good deal of damage is done by a field cricket called Phatinga, which has increased in myriads this dry season. The rice crop, where artificial irrigation cannot be procured, has dried up and is being eaten off by cattle. If rain falls soon the cold weather crop may be an average one.
35	Bhaugulpore ...	„ 28th*	Nil	No rain ...	No improvement on last week's report.
36	Purneah ...	„ 25th	Nil	No change since last week	The lands which in ordinary years are sown with winter rice are now either being prepared for or have been sown with the cold weather crops, which ought to be very good if rain falls within a month. The rice crop near the Kusi river is not so bad as was expected. A little rain has fallen at Kishengunge, where the prospects have improved. Prices at sudder station and Kusba still rising.	Fever very prevalent.
37	Sonthal Pergunnahs ...	„ 25th	Nil	No rain anywhere reported on good authority. A shower about Ranibehal, fourteen miles south, is talked of.	Very bad. From Dumka to the north-west to the borders of Bhaugulpore there is a stretch of about twenty-five miles from which reports are not as bad as elsewhere. A 12-anna crop even without rain is talked of. In other places 6 annas is the most. Hardly any cold weather crops.
ORISSA.
ORISSA DIVISION.
38	Cuttack ...	„ 28th*	0·01	Rain has fallen pretty generally in the interior — Rainfall at Jajpore ... 1·7 Jugutsingpore ... 1·19 Kendrapara ... Nil.	Early rice has been a full crop; late rice good, except on highlands. Cold weather crops promising. No scarcity apprehended now.	Public health good on the whole.
39	Pooree ...	„ 18th	7·70	Cloudy ...	The second paddy crop is forming ears in some pergunnahs and is being reaped in others. The young plants of pulses are promising; the late rains have done much good to the crops; the prospects of the cold weather crops are favorable.
40	Balasore ...	„ 25th	Nil	Dry ...	No rain has fallen since the 12th except a few insignificant and partial showers. The belt of country north of Berhampore on the Trunk Road received only a slight portion of the three days' rain which was mentioned in last week's report, and which benefited the rest of the district. The crops there have had little rain since the middle of September, and are suffering severely. The prospects of the rest of the district are unchanged. There will be no scarcity, and the produce will more than suffice for home consumption.

	South-West Frontier Agency.
41	Hazareebaugh ...	Oct. 25th	Nil	Settled fine weather ...	The rice pc cannot be very poor, but following a very poor (bhadoi) early crop, there will be naturally some pressure on the poor. Price of rice is very high; this is in a manner due to combination on the part of grain-sellers.	Little disease reported.
42	Lohardugga ...	„ 25th	Nil	Clouds continue to hang about; wind variable. It is still cloudy and looks like rain.	The rice on highlands has been much injured through the drought, and rain now will not do it much good. The lowland crop too will be a short one, unless some rain falls quickly. In Palamow only about four annas of the cold weather crops has been sown, and rain is urgently required to continue the sowings. The prospects of sirgoojah and sarsoo mustard are fair. Prices are high.
43	Singbhoom ...	„ 18th	0·15	No rain during the week, and apparently not the slightest prospects of any.	Very bad, almost hopeless, over a great part of the district: here and there only where there is artificial irrigation have the crops any chance. Even with rain now at once, no more than from 4 to 6 annas return can be expected, except perhaps in Seraikeyla, where the prospects are better, and where with rain now 8 to 10 annas outturn might be expected.
44	Maunbhoom ...	„ 25th	Nil	Cloudy occasionally and warm, but not a drop of rain.	For want of rain the state and prospects of all crops on the ground are daily getting worse and worse. As far as is yet known the northern portion of the district has suffered the most, though complaints come in from all parts stating that the crops are all dying for want of rain. The cold weather crops are suffering equally with the others, and unless rain falls soon the late cold weather crops cannot even be sown.
ASSAM AND ADJACENT HILLS.
45	Goalparah ...	„ 18th	Nil	Whole week was sunny and hot; nights cool and dewy.	The state of the late rice crops is not favorable. Jute, cotton, and sugarcane progressing well; other winter crops are being sown now.
46	Kamroop ...	„ 27th*	0·32	Weather cold and foggy in the mornings and nights.	Late rice backward. Tea crops appear thriving on the whole. Sugarcane, cotton, and pulse crops progressing favorably. Mustard-seed being sown.	Public health good.
47	Durrung ...	„ 18th	1·31	Bright. North-east wind prevailing.	Rain much needed for the late rice crop. Tea season appears to be prematurely drawing to a close for want of rain.	Fever prevalent; cholera has abated.
48	Nowgong ...	„ 18th	Nil	The past week has been a very sultry one on the whole. Very hot days, cloudy evenings, but cool towards early mornings.	The late rice crop is suffering much on the highlands from the drought; grain very yellow and sickly looking. In the Chapori Mehals the (bao dhan) paddy is doing well. Tea operations doing fairly, but more rain is wanted and looked for.	General health of the district good.

49	Seebsaugor ...	Oct. 18th	0·38	Mornings and evenings are cool.	The paddy crop is greatly in want of rain, and on this account the reports are not favorable. The sowing of the cold weather crops progresses. Tea doing well.
50	Luckimpore ...	„ 18th	Nil	The whole week was very fine; the mornings and evenings pleasantly cool, with a bright sun during the day. North Luckimpore seasonable; the cold weather seems to be setting in.	Crops doing fairly ...	Public health improving.
51	Naga Hills ...	„ 11th	1·12	Seasonable ...	The hill people expect to gather an average crop all round. The transplanted rice is expected to be far below the average. Cotton crop looking well.
52	Khasi & Jynteah Hills	„ 18th	0·34	Clear in the morning with, clouds in the afternoon, terminating in rain.	The paddy harvest has commenced, and a good out-turn is expected. Other standing crops—potatoes, millet, cotton, &c., are doing well.
53	Garo Hills ...	„ 18th	0·42	A little rain on 13th and 14th instant; clouds have been hanging about and collecting towards higher ranges, but no rain fell since the 14th. Nights chilly and clear. Much dew; scarcely any wind; weather considerably cooler this week.	Same as last week. It would be better for some rain.

NOTE.

Barometric Pressure.—The pressures in column 2 of the above table for all stations below 500 feet are reduced from those given in column 3 of the table on the previous page by adding the weight of a column of air of the temperatures given in column 17. For stations above 500 feet elevation the reduction is made by Dippe's tables as given in Guyot's "Meteorological and Physical Tables." The temperatures at the sea-level are taken from column 3 of the above table.

Temperature.—The temperatures in column 3 are reduced from those in column 17 on the preceding page by adding 1° Fahrenheit for every 450 feet.

Wind Resultant.—The resultant wind direction and its comparative predominance are calculated from the whole number of wind observations recorded during the month. The relative predominance in the direction of the resultant is given as a percentage of the whole number of observations. The direction is computed in the usual way by Lambert's formula.

Serenity.—This column gives the average proportion of unclouded sky; a cloudless sky being indicated by 10, and one completely overcast by 0.

The above being all comparable, afford the data for constructing a meteorological chart for the month, which shall show the isobaric and isothermal lines and the resultant wind directions, which last may be represented by arrows of varying length, proportioned to the prevalence of the wind. To these may be added the rainfall from the previous tables.

The mean barometer, as likewise the dry and wet bulb thermometer means, are derived from the twenty-four hourly observations made during the day.

The dew-point is computed with the Greenwich constants. The figures in column 10 represent the humidity of the air, the complete saturation of which being taken at unity. The receiver of the lower rain gauge is 1½ feet, and that of the anemometer 70 feet 10 inches above the level of the ground. The velocity of wind, as indicated by Robinson's anemometer, is registered from noon to noon.

FAILURE OF CROPS: AND RELIEF WORKS.

RESOLUTION.

Dated Calcutta, the 3rd November 1873.

Read a Resolution of the Government of India, Public Works Department, No. 431 B.C., dated the 28th October 1873, on the subject of the provision of work in these Provinces for the people who may be thrown out of employment by the expected failure of the crops in many districts.

1. THE Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to direct the publication of this Resolution.

2. Orders for carrying out the instructions of the Government of India in regard to the Soane Canal and Northern Bengal Railway works will be issued in the proper departments.

The Gunduck Embankment Scheme is one which involves very difficult considerations, but it will be again carefully examined.

The proposed lowering of the railway fares has been arranged.

3. As regards works other than those above mentioned, the Lieutenant-Governor has received full authority to undertake such relief works as may seem to be necessary in various parts of the country. His view is that, to render effectual aid to the people, it is of all things most necessary that work should be offered in good time, so that the existence of public works may be known to the people at large, and those who stand in need of work may find their way to the work, and be suitably provided for, before the greatest stress comes. All experience shows that work is wanted to avert starvation rather than to save people already half-starved and unfit for work, and that it takes time to draw to public works people who are not accustomed to labor for hire. In this view, in case of reasonable apprehension of scarcity, we can hardly begin too soon.

4. The Lieutenant-Governor also believes that there can be no so sure test of the state of the country—no barometer, as it were, by which the condition of the people can be better gauged—than the degree to which they seek employment on public works. As such works are found more and more to attract classes usually self-supporting, so we may judge that there is want in the country; that is, provided that this test is established in sufficient time.

5. It is impossible yet to tell the degree to which there may be scarcity in the country. We yet trust to the mercy of Providence to avert the worst. But there can be no doubt that unless there is some very decided improvement in present prospects, there will be such shortness of crops that as soon as all hope of further employment in watering crops still alive, and sowing cold weather crops, comes to an end, the need for employment will be much greater than usual. The immediate course, then, which the Lieutenant-Governor has thought best, is to extend and enlarge the scope of the usual district works undertaken at this season in various parts of each district. He has already settled schemes of such works with the Commissioners of Patna and Bhaugulpore, and has authorized the local officers to undertake them and carry them on, wherever and whenever there is a demand for employment. In every part of the country, where the conditions seem to be such as to render the need of employment probable, works will be opened and employment offered. It will not be attempted in such cases to draw together foreign labour by any extraordinary means, but all labour locally offering will be accepted. The works (so far as beyond ordinary means and requirements) are undertaken in order to give labour: we do not seek labour for the sake of the works. The local officers have been assured that if the labour thus employed absorbs their local means, these will be supplemented from the general treasury.

6. General instructions in the spirit of those given to the Commissioners of Patna and Bhaugulpore, have also been given by the Lieutenant-Governor to the Commissioners of Rajshahye and Burdwan, and all Commissioners are now authorized to act in the spirit of these instructions wherever there may be need of such measures.

7. The Northern Bengal Railway runs through districts where there has been the greatest failure of rain, and where there is the greatest apprehension regarding the crops; but the people of those districts are wholly unaccustomed to labor for hire, and it may be doubtful whether they will go far from their homes for work, till they are very hard pressed indeed. It may be a question, then, whether we can rely on a single line of railway for the relief of that country generally. Deeming that roads connecting the various parts with the railway—feeder roads as they are usually called—are a necessary part of the railway system, the Lieutenant-Governor proposes to spread more widely the opportunities of employment by undertaking at the same time roads leading to the principal railway stations. The civil authorities will at once set themselves to devise the lines which will best subserve the traffic of the country, and the engineering staff of the Northern Bengal Railway will be requested to lay out and superintend these lines, which may connect the railway with the Berhampooter river system on the one side, and with the Mahanuddee on the other.

8. The note of the Lieutenant-Governor, published in the Supplement to the Gazette of the 10th September 1873, explained His Honor's views regarding the great importance of improving the means of communication between the populous districts of the west and the insufficiently-peopled districts of the east, and pointed to a scheme of roads from west to east. The north-eastern portion of the Tirhoot district, and the north part of Bhaugulpore, by which such roads would pass, is the very country where the people will be most in need of employment, and these roads should certainly be undertaken at once. Durbhangah may be taken as the point of departure from roads already made, of the great Behar populations which tend to the east in search of labour. Fortunately Mr. Stevens, the able and energetic Engineer of the Durbhangah Estate, is well acquainted with this country, and has already devised the lines of road which he thinks the best. The Lieutenant-Governor has arranged with the Commissioner of Patna and Mr. Stevens, that the latter officer should lay out two lines from Durbhangah to the Koosee river, one in the direct line to Purneah, and the other by Natpore to the north towards Titaliya. The Commissioner of Bhaugulpore is to arrange for the junction of these two lines with Purneah and Titaliya. From Purneah the present metalled road leads to Dengraghat on the Mahanuddee; whence to Dinagepore a line of road is already marked out, which will be taken up as a relief work. From Titaliya the road to Julpigoree may be improved, and thence there is a line by Cooch Behar to the Berhampooter. By these lines, and others in connection with the Northern Bengal Railway, complete means of communication from west to east will, it is hoped, be established north of the Ganges. Further to the south, the line from Rajmehal to Dinagepore should also receive attention.

9. In Burdwan a work already discussed, viz., the connection of the Damoodah with the Kana Nuddee, has already been put in hand, partly in the hope of obtaining an immediate supply of water, and partly in order to give employment.

In this same part of the country there has been much complaint of the want of good tanks for drinking water, of petty drainage channels, and such like improvements. There can be no doubt that petty works of this kind are at least as useful as larger works, and they certainly bring employment more effectually to the homes of the people. But, on the other hand, it would be impossible for Government to undertake and superintend such works of local improvement on private property. The Lieutenant-Governor has, however, instructed the Commissioner to ascertain whether it might be arranged that private landholders should undertake such works, Government, if necessary, advancing the money on the security of the estates. He feels sure that if the upper classes feel the duties of their position, such an arrangement should be gladly accepted by them, and be very feasible.

10. The Lieutenant-Governor feels sure that he may trust to the zeal and energy of the local officers to give effect to these orders, and that, whatever need may arise, they will not be found wanting. He feels that he can count on the thorough assistance of the European settlers. He would also express the earnest hope that the officers of Government will have the aid and co-operations of the native landholders, and generally of those classes of natives whose wealth, influence and position may enable them to contribute to the duty of assisting their poorer fellow-countrymen. The most effective work cannot be done without that assistance.

By Order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

C. BERNARD,
Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

No. 431BC, dated Simla, the 28th October 1873.

RESOLUTION.—By the Government of India, Public Works Department.

THE Governor-General in Council has learned with deep regret that the prospects of the crops in parts of Bengal are such that it will no doubt be necessary shortly to find work for the people as a means of relief. Where such relief becomes an urgent necessity, works must be undertaken for the purpose, if there are no well considered projects already under execution, or in such a state of preparation that they can be at once set in hand.

2. The parts of the country reported to be in the most urgent need are the Patna Division and the Rajshahye Division.

3. In the southern part of the former of these tracts, the Soane Canal project is in course of execution, and the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal is authorized to extend active operations at once to all the branches where relief works are required, working on the rough estimates where detailed estimates are not ready. But where there are detailed estimates for works sufficiently near, such works should be preferred to those for which estimates are not yet ready.

4. In order to strengthen the engineering staff of the Soane Canals, the Government of the North-Western Provinces will be requested to hold in readiness a Superintending Engineer and the establishment of the Eastern Ganges Canal survey, to proceed to Behar on the requisition of the Government of Bengal, and the Government of the Punjab will likewise hold in readiness the engineers of survey division of the Baree Doal Canal.

5. In the northern part of the Patna Division there is no large project in course of execution, and works, if required, must be selected from local projects, unless the lately deferred scheme for the revision of the Gunduck Embankment (Bengal Government letter No. 4640, dated 13th September 1873) should be found a suitable source of employment.

6. In the Rajshahye Division, the Northern Bengal Railway project has lately been completed, and was referred to the Secretary of State for sanction in the Government of India's despatch, No. 204R of the 15th instant. In anticipation of the approval of Her Majesty's Government, the Governor-General in Council is now pleased to sanction the immediate commencement of work on this railway. To strengthen the engineering staff, the greater part of the engineers now employed under Mr. Collet in surveying for the projected Western Rajpootana Railway will be withdrawn and attached to the Northern Bengal Railway.

7. Such funds as may be required for the Northern Bengal Railway and for relief works, and such additional funds as may be required for the more active prosecution of work on the Soane Canals, should be applied for at once by the Government of Bengal. For the Railway and the Soane Canal works, the funds will be assigned under the extraordinary grant; for the other works not classed as loan works, the charge will fall on the provincial revenues, or if necessary, on the imperial revenues of the year.

8. In the spring of 1869, when great scarcity existed in Upper India, the Government of India considered it right to endeavour to equalize the supplies of food-grains over a large area by arranging with the Guaranteed Railway Companies that they should lower their rates for the carriage of such grains to $\frac{1}{8}$th pie per maund mile (which was believed to be approximately the actual cost of carriage), and charge the loss that the railways would thus incur to the Government. It may possibly be again necessary to resort to this measure in some parts of the country; and should this be the case, the Government of India will be prepared to incur the same liability. In this view the Consulting Engineer to the Government of India for Guaranteed Railways at Calcutta should be directed to place himself forthwith in communication with the Government of Bengal, and to do everything in his power to give effect to such instructions as he may receive from the Lieutenant-Governor. The Governor-General in Council will await an expression of His Honor's opinion on this point before taking final action in the matter.

9. In making provision for this possible contingency, the Governor-General in Council relies on the hearty co-operation of the representatives of each Railway Company, and feels that the Government may rest assured that this will be given.

10. For further instructions for general guidance, the Governor-General in Council desires that the attention of officers in the Public Works Department may be drawn to the Resolution of the Government of India in the Public Works Department, No. 248-59J of 24th September 1868, which should be republished with the present Resolution.—Chapter XIIIA of the Public Works Department Code contains a revision of the rules originally published with the Resolution of 1865.

SEPARATE REVENUE—STAMPS.

No. 3854.—The 23rd October 1873.—Correspondence on the subject of the grant of refunds on spoilt stamps :—

From the HON'BLE F. S. CHAPMAN, Chief Secretary to the Government of Bombay, to the Secretary to the Government of India, Financial Department,—No. 4080-211 R, dated 17th July 1873.

IN reference to notification No. 1041 of the 12th ultimo relating to the granting of refunds on spoilt stamps, I am directed to point out that its provisions are not quite clear. It may apparently be read either as extending the time for refund or exchange of spoilt paper indefinitely, or as limiting it to a shorter time than allowed by the Act, both of which seem illegal. To put a case. A. purchases a stamp on the 1st May 1872. He keeps it by him, and spoils it on 1st March 1873, and applies for refund on the 1st of August following. Under the resolution he would be entitled to refund, but to give it would, under the General Stamp Act, Section 45, be illegal, the time being beyond the year. Again, say A. spoils his stamp on the 5th of June 1872, and applies for refund on the 1st January 1873. Under the Act he would be entitled to refund, but not under the Resolution.

2. As it is conidered desirable that the doubts which have been raised should be removed, I am directed to request that this Government may be favoured with explanatory directions on the subject.

From R. B. CHAPMAN, Esq., Secretary to the Government of India, Financial Department, to the Chief Secretary to the Government of Bombay, No. 2226, dated 12th August 1873.

IN reply to your letter No. 4080-211 R, dated the 17th July 1873, I am directed to refer you to the closing paragraph of the notifiation No. 104, dated 13th June 1873, and to say that, under the provisions of Act XVIII of 1869, the possessor of a spoiled stamp is entitled to refund at any time within one year of the date on which it was purchased, but not thereafter. Under the notification he is further entitled to refund at any time within six months from the date on which it was spoiled, even though more than one year should have elapsed from the date of purchase.

To take the instance quoted by the Government of Bombay : A. who purchased a stamp on 1st May 1872, which was spoiled on 1st March 1873, would be entitled under the notification to a refund on 1st August 1873, because he applied within six months of the date on which the stamp was spoiled. But without the notification he would have had no claim to refund, as more than one year would have passed from date of purchase.

The concluding sentence of the notification was intended to guard against the supposition that the Government wished in any way to restrict the concessions of the law which of course it would have no power to do. There is nothing to prevent the Government extending the concessions of the law.

Ordered that the foregoing correspondence be published in the Gazette of India.

No. 3906.—The 24th October 1873.—Whereas doubts are entertained whether a certificate given under Section 259, Act VIII of 1859, by which the right, title and interest in immovable property sold in execution of a decree by a Civil Court are transferred to the purchaser is, or is not chargeable with stamp duty under Article 15, Schedule I of the General Stamp Act, 1869, and whether a fee should or should not be paid under Section 6 of the Court Fees Act, 1870, in respect of the copy of such certificate filed with the record.

And whereas it appears to the Governor-General in Council proper to exempt such certificates and copies as aforesaid from any stamp duty or fees to which they may be liable under the General Stamp Act, 1869, or the Court Fees Act, 1870, the Governor-General in Council is pleased to publish the following order :—

No. 11.

Dated Calcutta, the 10th September 1873.

HIGH COURT, &c.,
ENGLISH DEPARTMENT,
Criminal.

C. O. No. 31, dated 4th November 1870, paragraphs 7 to 9.

THE orders noted on the margin are hereby rescinded, and the Quarterly Statements D and E will henceforth be submitted by the Sessions Judges to the High Court in the revised form now circulated, commencing with those for the 3rd quarter of 1873.

2. Statements received in other than the printed forms supplied by the Superintendent of Stationery will be returned, and the district will be dealt with as if no statements had been received.

3. The statements will continue to be sent in duplicate as required by Circular Memorandum No. 4, dated 7th June last.

4. Column 1 of Statement D will comprise the names of all officers exercising criminal authority in the district, the letters "C. S." being inserted after the names of Covenanted Officers. Magistrates other than the Magistrate of the District will be designated according to their powers as Magistrates of the 1st Class, of the 2nd Class, or of the 3rd Class; and not Joint-Magistrates, Assistant Magistrates, or Deputy Magistrates.*

* e. g., Magistrate of the District.
A. Jones, Esq., C.S., 1st Class.
B. Williams, Esq., 1st Class.
Baboo M. N. Dass, 1st Class.
C. Howell, Esq., C.S., 2nd Class.
M. Anwar Ali, 2nd Class.
&c. &c.

5. The Benches of Magistrates which have sat in the quarter under report will also be entered here, and the names of the Magistrates who have served on them will be shown in the column of Remarks instead of on the back of the statement, as required by Circular Memorandum No. 3, dated 26th May last.

Statement D.

6. Columns 3, 4, and 5 will be filled up according to the instructions contained in Circular Order No. 7, dated 10th April last, to which it may be added that column 5, "Acquitted," will show all dismissals (as under Section 205) and discharges (as under Section 496) which operate as acquittals. New trials ordered under Section 328 will appear in column 8. The persons shown as "Remaining under trial" at the close of one quarter should be included (though not separately exhibited) in column 3 of the return for the following quarter, as "Persons under trial." Cases decided by Municipal Commissioners should not be entered in this statement.

Statement E.

7. This statement is intended to comprise all appeals preferred either to the Sessions Judge, or to the Magistrate, without detail of the officer from whom the appeals may be preferred; and also references made to the High Court under Section 296, Act X of 1873, either by the Sessions Judge or by the Magistrate. Persons whose cases are shown as "Pending" in column 10 should be included in the number entered in column 2 of the ensuing quarter's returns.

8. After the Magistrate has prepared and signed Part I of Statement D, and filled up his portion of Statement E, the Statements will be submitted to the Sessions Judge, who will enter, in Part II, Statement D, the result of trials disposed of by him; and, in Statement E, the result of appeals preferred before his Court. He will then forward the completed return to the High Court.

9. Both Magistrates and Judges are called upon to see that the Statements are prepared neatly, as well as correctly, in respect of the entries made, and that they are not disfigured by slovenly or bad writing. On such cases occurring, the Statements will be liable to be returned.

10. The column of Remarks, which in each Statement is of ample size, will contain the mention of any cases or particulars which do not appear to be fairly provided for in other columns, and will also contain brief explanations of any noticeable results appearing on the face of the returns, specially of such as if unexplained might lead to erroneous conclusions; in short, any comments that will tend to throw light on the figures.

11. This return will not interfere with the submission of the Statement No. III prescribed by Circular Order No. 10, dated 12th July 1870.

By order of the High Court,

W. M. SOUTTAR,
Registrar.

BENGAL CIVIL FUND.

NOTICE is hereby given, under Article XVII (18) of the Rules of the Bengal Civil Fund, that the following propositions will be proposed at the Half-yearly General Meeting of subscribers to the Civil Fund, to be held in Calcutta in the month of January 1874 :—

I.—That no surplus be declared or distributed, and that no scheme for increase of benefits or reduction of subscriptions be allowed to come into force until after reference to a professional Actuary; provided that any benefits that may be distributed shall have retrospective effect from the 1st April 1873.

II.—That in referring to the Actuary for a valuation of the Fund, he be supplied with information showing in detail the grounds for apprehending a future decrease in the average gross salaries of subscribers during their term of service, and that his advice be obtained as to the surplus, which should reasonably remain undistributed as a margin to ensure the solvency of the Fund while maintaining the present benefits and present rates of subscription.

In the event of the above resolutions being carried, it will be further moved "that a Committee, representing all grades of the service, be appointed to assist the Managers in giving effect to the second resolution."

A Bill to amend the law relating to Embankments and Watercourses.

WHEREAS it is expedient that provision should be made for the better construction, maintenance, and management of embankments and watercourses in the territories subject to the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal; It is enacted as follows:—

PART I.

Preliminary.

1. This Act may be called "The Bengal Embankment Act, 1873."

It extends to the whole of the territories subject to the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, except the province of Orissa and the Soonderbuns as defined under the provisions of Clause 2, Section 13, Regulation III of 1828.

And it shall come into force on the day of the passing thereof.

Repeal of former Acts.

2. From such day Act No. XXXII of 1855 (relating to embankments) and Bengal Act No. VII of 1866 (to make better provision for the acquisition of land for embankments and other matters relating thereto) shall, except so far as relates to the province of Orissa and the said Soonderbuns, be repealed.

Interpretation.

3. The following words shall, for the purposes of this Act, have the meanings hereby declared, save where, from the context, a contrary intention appears:—

Provided that he shall forthwith cause to be prepared the plans, specifications, and estimates of the proposed works, together with a copy of the survey map as provided in Section 5, and shall cause a proclamation to be issued as provided in that section giving notice that the work mentioned therein has already been commenced, and thereupon such proceedings and inquiries shall be had as in and by Part II of this Act are directed.

Whenever any person is desirous that a temporary roadway should be made over, or that a temporary watercourse should be made through, any public embankment, or that a temporary dam should be constructed in any embanked river or public watercourse, he shall apply to the Engineer, who shall communicate the application to the Collector, and the Collector shall pass such orders thereon as he shall think fit. If the proposed work is to be executed by an officer of Government, the applicant, before the commencement of the work, shall deposit the amount estimated by the Engineer to be necessary to defray the expenses of, and incidental to, making and removing such roadway, or of, and incidental to, making and closing or removing such watercourse or dam. If the amount deposited is found insufficient, the Engineer shall recover from the said applicant the further amount required; and if it exceeds the amount required, such excess shall be returned to the said applicant.

21. Whenever the Engineer shall be of opinion that the removal of any trees, houses, huts, or other buildings, situated between a public embankment and the river, is necessary, he shall make a report to that effect, accompanied by a detailed statement of the trees, houses, huts, or other buildings to be removed, to the Collector of the district in whose jurisdiction the land on which such trees, houses, huts, or other buildings stand, is situated; and the Collector shall report the same to the Lieutenant-Governor in order that proceedings may be taken, in accordance with the provisions of "The Land Acquisition Act, X of 1870," or other law for the time being for the acquisition of land for public purposes, for obtaining possession of such trees, houses, huts, and buildings. Sluices to be opened or shut under authority of the Engineer.

22. Sluices constructed in any public embankment shall be opened or shut only by or with the general or special permission of the officer in the immediate charge of the embankment, under such orders, either general or special, as he may receive from the Engineer.

Power to appropriate land or earth for embanked towpath.

23. In any case where an embanked towpath has heretofore been maintained by Government alongside any canal, river, khal, or channel, the Engineer shall be entitled to appropriate without payment, as heretofore, land or earth for the maintenance, repair, or re-construction of such embanked towpath. Payment for damage.

The Engineer or other person so authorized shall at the time of such entry pay or tender payment for all necessary damage to be done as aforesaid, and, in case of dispute as to the sufficiency of the amount so paid or tendered, he shall at once refer the dispute to the decision of the Collector, and such decision shall be final.

PART V.

Acquisition of lands.

Acquisition of land.

25. Whenever in the course of proceedings under this Act, save in those cases in which the Collector has proceeded under the provisions of Part III, it appears that land is required for any of the purposes thereof, proceedings shall be forthwith taken for the acquisition of such land in accordance with the provisions of the Land Acquisition Act, X of 1870, or any other law for the time being for the acquisition of lands for public purposes.

When land taken, proclamation to be published.

26. Whenever any land shall have been taken or used under the provisions of Part III, the Collector shall cause a proclamation to be issued in form in Schedule (C) annexed to this Act at convenient places on or near the land so taken, stating that Government has taken possession of the land, and that claims to compensation for all interests in such land shall be made to him. Thereupon the land shall vest absolutely in the Government free from all incumbrances, subject, however, to the claims for compensation to be ascertained in manner as in this Part is provided.

Contents of proclamation.

27. Such proclamation shall state the particulars of the land so taken, and shall require all persons interested in the land to appear personally or by agent before the Collector at a time and place therein mentioned (such time not being earlier than fifteen days after the date of issuing the proclamation), and to state the nature of their respective interests in the land, and the amount and particulars of their claims to compensation for such interest.

Further notice to be served on certain parties.

28. The Collector shall also serve notice to the same effect on the occupier (if any) of such land, and on all such persons known or believed to be interested therein, or to be entitled to act for persons so interested, as reside, or have agents authorized to receive service on their behalf, within the revenue district in which the land is situate.

Proceedings after notice.

29. After service of such notice proceedings shall be had and taken to determine the amount of compensation to be payable in respect of such land, in accordance with the provisions of the Land Acquisition Act, X of 1870, or any other law for the time being in force for the acquisition of land for public purposes.

Compensation for consequential damage.

30. Whenever any land other than land required or taken by the Engineer, or any right of fishery, right of drainage, right of the use of water, or other right or property, shall have been injuriously affected by the due exercise of the powers or provisions of this Act, the person in whom such property or right is vested may prefer a claim by petition to the Collector for compensation.

Application to be made within a year.

31. No claim shall be entertained which shall be made later than one year next after the completion of the work by which such right is injuriously affected.

Procedure for such compensation.

32. When any such claim is made, proceedings shall be taken in view to determine the amount of compensation, if any, which should be made, and the person to whom the same should be payable, in accordance with the provisions of the Land Acquisition Act, X of 1870, or any other law for the time being in force for the acquisition of land for public purposes.

Matters to be considered in determining compensation.

33. In determining the amount of compensation to be awarded in such cases, the Judge and Assessors shall take into consideration—

First, the market value of the property or right injuriously affected at the time of acquiring the land;

Secondly, the damage sustained by the claimant by reason of such acquisition injuriously affecting the property or right;

Thirdly, the consequent diminution of the market value of the property or right injuriously affected at the time of acquiring the land.

Matters not to be considered in determining compensation.

But the Judge or Assessors shall not take into consideration—

First, the degree of urgency which has led to the acquisition;

Secondly, any damage sustained by the claimant, which, if caused by a private person, would not in any suit instituted against such person justify a decree for damages.

Land, &c., taken possession of to vest in Government.

34. All buildings, land, earth, pathways, sluices, gates, bermes, hedges, belonging to, or forming part of, any embankment or watercourse, of which charge has been or may hereafter be taken by the officers of Government, shall vest in the Government, and shall be held on behalf of the Government in respect of the embankments mentioned in Schedule (D) annexed to this Act, and in respect of other works on behalf of the persons interested in the lands to be protected or benefited by such embankment or watercourse, subject to the provisions of Section 63; and all monies received on account of such lands shall be payable to the Engineer and credited to the cost of the construction and maintenance of such works respectively.

PART VI.

COST OF WORKS, PROCEEDINGS, &c.

1. Ascertainment thereof.

Embankments in Schedule (D).

35. The provisions in this Part contained shall not apply to any of the embankments mentioned in Schedule (D) to this Act annexed, save so far as any works or repairs are executed therein or in relation thereto under the provisions of Section 4, Clause 7, or Section 20 of this Act; or to any of such embankments as may hereafter be erected for the protection of lands which at the time of the passing of this Act are protected by the embankments mentioned in the aforesaid Schedule, save so far as the erection of such embankments may protect lands not protected by the embankments mentioned in the aforesaid Schedule. All sums payable in respect of any works or repairs executed therein, or in relation to the embankments mentioned in the aforesaid Schedule except under the provisions of Section 4, Clause 7, or Section 20 of this Act, shall be paid by the Government.

Exclusion from Schedule.

If at any time after the passing of this Act, on inquiry made by the Collector as far as possible in accordance with the provisions of Part II of this Act, it shall be found that it is unnecessary for the public interests to retain any embankment mentioned in Schedule (D), the Lieutenant-Governor may direct that the same shall be no longer included in the said schedule. Provided that the Lieutenant-Governor may restore the same to the said schedule if on any subsequent inquiry similarly conducted it shall appear to the Lieutenant-Governor that it is necessary so to do.

Addition to Schedule.

The Lieutenant-Governor may at any time after the passing of this Act, by a notification published in the Calcutta Gazette, direct that any embankment not mentioned in Schedule (D) be included in the said schedule, and the provisions of this section shall apply to such embankment.

Contribution of public money towards the maintenance of the embankments in the pergunnahs entered in Schedule (E) to be continued.

36. In accordance with the custom heretofore in force in respect of the pergunnahs entered in Schedule (E) annexed to this Act, the Government shall continue to contribute annually the sum noted therein for each pergunnah respectively towards the maintenance of the embankments thereof.

If the embankments maintained in any such pergunnah shall at any time be declared to be public embankments under the provisions of Section 4, the Collector shall, from the date of such declaration, keep a separate account for such pergunnah, in which the aforesaid sum shall be credited at the commencement of each financial year. The unexpended balance at the close of each year shall be carried on to the credit of the account in the next succeeding year, and shall be available for the cost of repairing or erecting all the embankments which it may be deemed necessary to maintain in such pergunnah.

If such embankments are declared to be public, Collector to keep a separate account.

If at any time after the passing of this Act, on an inquiry made by the Collector as far as possible in accordance with the provisions of Part II, it shall be found that it is unnecessary for the public interest to retain any embankment in either of the said pergunnahs, the Lieutenant-Governor may direct that such contribution shall cease in respect of such pergunnah. Provided that such contribution shall again be made in accordance with the provisions hereinbefore contained, if it shall appear to the Lieutenant-Governor, on the report of an inquiry similarly conducted, that the maintenance of any embankment in such pergunnah has again become necessary for the public interest.

Contribution may be discontinued, if it be found unnecessary for the public interest to maintain the embankments.

37. Specifications of any works or repairs to be executed under the provisions of this Act, and estimates of the expenses to be incurred therein or relating thereto, including such proportion of establishment charges as the Lieutenant-Governor shall direct, shall be prepared by the Engineer as soon after the month of October in each year as may be practicable. And whenever it appears that the actual expenses to be incurred will exceed the amount mentioned in the said estimates by one-tenth, the Engineer shall forthwith prepare further estimates, and, if necessary, further specifications. Copies of all specifications and estimates shall be transmitted to the office of the Collector, together with vernacular translations thereof, or such abstracts thereof as the Lieutenant-Governor may from time to time direct, and may be examined by any person interested in such works or repairs. Notice of the receipt of specifications and estimates shall be served for all estates chargeable for, or likely to be affected by, the said works or repairs; and should any objection in regard to the amount of such expenses be preferred by any such person within a period of one month from the date of such notice, the Collector shall pass such orders as may appear to him reasonable and proper. Such order shall be subject in any case to an appeal by the person making such objection to the Commissioner of division whose decision shall be final.

Estimates and specifications to be prepared.

38. The accounts of the actual expense incurred in executing any works or repairs shall be prepared as soon as possible after the completion thereof. The Engineer shall sign a certificate stating the true amount of all such expenses, and the names of the estates chargeable for, and of the estates and villages affected by, the said works and repairs. Copies of the said accounts and certificates shall be forwarded to the office of the Collector, and may be there examined by any person interested. Notice of the receipt thereof shall be served for the said estates and villages, and such others as in the opinion of the Collector are liable to contribute to the payment of the said amount; and if, within thirty days from the service of such notice, any interested person shall object to the accounts on the ground either that the work charged for has not been performed, or that the whole sum charged has not been expended, or that the rates of charge are higher than those mentioned in the estimates, the Collector shall inquire into such objection, and may pass any order thereon subject in any case to an appeal by the objector to the Commissioner of division whose decision shall be final.

Preparation and settlement of accounts.

39. The Collector shall add to the amount appearing in the said certificate all sums which have been paid or have become payable in respect of compensation, costs and expenses under and incidental to any proceedings taken or directed to be taken under Parts II and V of this Act, including costs of all surveys and plans. He shall thereupon make an order specifying the total sum found payable, and in respect of works done under Section 4, Clause 5, and Sections 19 and 20, the persons by whom, or in respect of other works the estates in respect of which, the same is payable to him. If the order is made in respect of work done under Section 4, Clause 5, and Sections 19 and 20, the same shall forthwith be served upon the party or parties liable to pay; otherwise the Collector shall proceed under the provisions in the next chapter contained.

Total sum payable.

Interest may be charged upon any sum paid as compensation from the date of payment thereof at such rate, not exceeding 5 per centum per annum, as the Lieutenant-Governor may direct.

Interest.

40. The said total sum, save so far as is otherwise provided in this Act, shall be paid to the Collector by the zemindars of the estates in which are situated the lands benefited or protected by the repairs or works executed. Provided that where any specific sum has hitherto been annually demanded in respect of any embankment not included in Schedule (D), and when the said embankment is at the time of this Act coming into operation being maintained by Government, then such special payments shall, after the passing of this Act, thenceforth cease and determine.

Parties liable to pay.

Every zemindar, who is liable under this rule for the payment of the whole or a portion of such total sum, shall be entitled to recover from the proprietor of every tenure which is declared to be a part of his estate, the sum apportioned to such tenure by the Collector, under the provisions of Section 45. And similarly, every proprietor shall be entitled to recover from the proprietor of any subordinate tenure which is declared to be a part of his tenure, the sum apportioned to such subordinate tenure by the Collector, under the said provisions.

2. Apportionment thereof.

41. So soon as the total sum payable as aforesaid has been ascertained, the Collector shall cause a notice to be served for every one of the said estates and villages mentioned in Section 38. Every such notice shall specify the estates and villages aforesaid, and that an inquiry will be held at a day and place therein named for the purpose of apportioning amongst the zemindars and proprietors the said total sum, with interest and the costs of apportionment.

Notice to be given before apportionment.

Mode of inquiry as to the proportion chargeable to each estate.

42. On the day fixed in the said notice, which shall not be less than thirty days later than the date of any service of such notice, the Collector shall proceed to make the said inquiry. In making this inquiry he shall receive such evidence as may be tendered by, or on behalf of, the said zemindars and proprietors, and by, or on behalf of, any other persons who may claim to be interested therein.

Names of proprietors.

43. In any such inquiry the Collector shall take down in writing the names of all persons who may claim, or who may be alleged by any party interested, to be proprietors of tenures within any of the estates mentioned in such notice. In default of appearance of any such person, the Collector shall issue and serve a notice calling on him to appear at a date and place therein mentioned, and to show cause against being included in the order of apportionment to be made therein, and shall adjourn the inquiry till such date.

Apportionment amongst zemindars.

44. At such or any subsequently adjourned inquiry, the Collector, if there be only one estate liable, shall charge the zemindar thereof with the total amount payable; and if there be two or more estates, he shall apportion the same amongst the zemindars thereof, rateably in proportion to the respective benefits derived by such estates from such works or repairs; or in proportion to the areas of the lands benefited or protected thereby, and comprised within such estates respectively; or with the sanction of the local Government in proportion to the amount of revenue respectively payable for such estates, if, before the passing of this Act, such proportion has been usually adopted.

Provided that the said total amount payable in respect of the embankments on the right bank of the river Gunduk shall be chargeable, in accordance with the custom in force for such estates, to the zemindars of all the estates situated in the district of Sarun, in proportion to the amount of revenue respectively payable for such estates.

Proviso in respect of the pergunnahs in Schedule (E.)

Provided also that the sum standing to the credit of a pergunnah in Schedule (E) in the account kept by the Collector, at the time when the total amount payable is fixed under the provisions of Section 39, shall be deducted from the total amount payable in respect of such portion of any embankment as is situated in such pergunnah; and that the zemindars of the estates situated therein shall be charged only with the balance of the amount (if any) which may remain payable.

Apportionment amongst proprietors.

45. The Collector shall, in like manner, apportion, except in respect of the said Gunduk embankments, the amount payable in respect of each estate amongst all the tenures therein rateably in the proportion of benefit so received or area so benefited or protected, first deducting therefrom such sum as, on the like principle of proportion, is payable in respect of such portion of the estate as is not included within any tenure.

Apportionment where the lands held without payment of rent, not being estates on the register of revenue-free tenures.

46. All lands held without payment of rent not being estates entered in the register of revenue-free tenures, shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to form a part of the tenure within the local boundaries of which they are included; and, if they are not included within the local boundaries of any tenure, then to be a part of the estate within the local boundaries of which they are included; and, if they are not included within the local boundaries of any estate, then to be a part of such conterminous estate as the Collector, in whose district such conterminous estate is situated, shall, by an order under his seal and signature, declare.

Amount apportioned payable by instalments.

47. The amount apportioned to any estate or tenure shall be payable in equal instalments on such days as the Lieutenant-Governor shall direct, provided that no instalment shall exceed four annas for every acre of land in respect of which the same is payable, and that not more than four instalments shall be payable in any one year.

Interest.

Interest shall be charged on the unpaid portion of the said amount from the date of the same becoming due until payment thereof at such rate, not exceeding five per centum per annum, as the Lieutenant-Governor shall from time to time determine.

Final order of apportionment.

48. On the completion of the apportionment the Collector shall make an order specifying the estates and tenures, and the several sums payable in respect thereof, the instalments of such sums, and the dates on which the same are payable.

3. Recovery thereof.

Orders for payment.

49. The Collector shall, within thirty days from the final order of apportionment, make and serve for every estate therein mentioned an order, stating the amount with interest due in respect thereof, and that the same is payable to him, and the date or dates at which such amount or instalments thereof shall become payable to him.

Recovery from zemindars.

50. If such sum or any instalment thereof be not, pursuant to the said order, paid, the same with interest shall be recoverable as arrears of a demand under the provisions of Bengal Act VII of 1868 (to make further provision for the recovery of arrears of land revenue and public demands recoverable as arrears of land revenue).

DEGUMBER MITTER.

The 25*th August* 1873.

As I am going to England for three or four months, I shall be unable to sign the final report of the Select Committee, but having attended nearly all meetings up to this date, I wish to record my general assent to the Bill with the alterations and amendments agreed to by the Select Committee so far as they have at present been considered, viz. to Section 99.

25*th June* 1873. B. D. COLVIN.

I agree to the report, but think that the objections raised to the Sections 105, 108 109, and 111 in Act II of 1870 (being part of the Bill, Sections 125, 126, 127, and 128,) still hold good.

55. Within twenty-four hours after the arrival at any depôt of any emigrant, the contractor by whom such depôt is maintained shall give to the superintendent of emigration a notice in writing of such arrival, which notice shall be in such form and shall contain such particulars as the superintendent shall prescribe.

Emigrants to be inspected by medical inspector immediately on arrival.

56. The copy of the registration and the medical certificate of every emigrant received by the superintendent as provided in section 48 shall be shown to the medical inspector; and all emigrants shall be inspected by the medical inspector at the depôt. If he be satisfied that an emigrant is in a fit state of health, and able in point of physical condition to journey to and labor in a labor district, he shall countersign the copy of the registration; if he be not satisfied thereof, he shall give a certificate to that effect to the superintendent.

Medical inspector to examine emigrant if medical certificate not given.

The medical inspector shall examine any emigrant in regard to whom a medical certificate is not forthcoming, and shall certify whether such emigrant is in his opinion in a fit state of health and able in point of physical condition to journey to and work for hire in a labor district; and if satisfied of his fitness, he shall countersign the copy of the registration.

Emigrant rejected by medical inspector to be sent back.

57. If the medical inspector shall cerify that any emigrant so examined is in such a state of health that his journey to a labor district would be dangerous to himself or to others, or that he is unfit for labor in a labor district, the superintendent may order the contractor, or the garden-sirdar, if such emigrant has been forwarded or brought to the depôt by a garden-sirdar, to pay to him a sum of money sufficient to enable him to return to the place at which he was engaged. Provided that any such person, who from his state of health is, in the opinion of the medical inspector, unfit to undertake the journey back to the place where he was engaged, shall, until he is reported by the medical inspector fit to undertake such journey, be fed, clothed, lodged, and medically attended at the expense of such contractor, or of such garden-sirdar, as the case may be. If such contractor or garden-sirdar negligently or wilfully omits to provide food, clothing, lodging and medical attendance for such person, the superintendent may order such contractor or garden-sirdar to pay to him a sum of money by way of compensation.

Family of detained emigrant may remain with him.

If there are any children, they shall also be allowed to remain behind with the father or mother.

Emigrant ill-treated during journey may obtain compensation.

59. If upon the arrival of any emigrant at a depôt, it shall appear to the superintendent of emigration on the complaint of such emigrant, that he has suffered any ill-treatment on the journey, or that the recruiter or garden-sirdar, as the case may be, has failed to provide him with proper and sufficient food and lodging, the superintendent may cause him to be removed from the depôt, and may order the contractor or garden-sirdar, for or by whom he shall have been taken to such depôt, to pay to him a sum of money by way of compensation, or sufficient to enable him to return to the place at which he was engaged, and in such latter case he shall not be bound to execute any contract.

Contract to be explained by superintendent and executed in duplicate, and abstract to be entered in book to be kept by superintendent.

60. Every emigrant, who is passed by the medical inspector as in a fit state of health and able, in point of physical condition, to journey to and labor in a labor district, shall execute a contract with the employer with whom he intends to contract before he is forwarded from the depôt. Such contract shall, in the presence of the superintendent of emigration, be signed in duplicate both by the emigrant and by the employer with whom he intends to contract or his agent. The contract may be written or printed, or partly written and partly printed, and shall be on substantial paper. Before the emigrant signs the contract, the superintendent shall personally explain it to him, and shall attest such contract and certify at the foot thereof that he has personally explained the same. An abstract of every such contract shall be entered in a register to be kept by the superintendent for the purpose, and after such contract has been so entered, one of the duplicates shall be given to the emigrant, and the other to the person with whom he has contracted or his agent.

The superintendent shall, within seven days after the entry of such abstract, send by post a certified copy of every such abstract to the magistrate of the district in which the service under such contract is agreed to be performed.

61. Any emigrant who, without reasonable cause, refuses to execute such contract in conformity with the engagement previously registered shall, on conviction by a Magistrate, be punished with a fine equal in amount to the entire cost incurred by, or on behalf of, the contractor, or the garden-sirdar, as the case may be, in engaging, registering, and bringing or forwarding him to the depôt, and shall forthwith be discharged from such depôt. Every fine levied under the provisions of this section shall be paid to the contractor or garden-sirdar on whose behalf or by whom the person from whom such fine shall have been levied was originally registered.

Penalty on contractor failing to provide contract.

62. If within thirty days after the arrival of any emigrant at a depôt, the contractor or, if he has been engaged by a garden-sirdar, the garden-sirdar on whose behalf or by whom such emigrant has been registered, shall not tender to him for execution such contract as under the provisions of the preceding sections he would be bound to execute, the superintendent may order the contractor or the garden-sirdar, as the case may be, to pay to him a sum of money sufficient to enable him to return to the place where he was engaged, and in such case such emigrant shall not be bound to execute any contract.

Money ordered to be paid by superintendent may be advanced by him and recovered.

63. If any contractor or garden-sirdar who may be ordered, under the provisions of sections 57, 59, and 62, to pay any sum of money, shall for twenty-four hours omit to comply with such order, it shall be lawful for the superintendent to advance the amount so ordered to be paid to the person named in such order, and to recover from such contractor or garden-sirdar or his employer the sum so advanced, with interest at the rate of twelve per centum per annum from the date of such advance.

Such committee shall consist of the magistrate, the inspector of laborers, the medical officer of the district, and one or more employers of laborers, when such persons are available. If the magistrate is unable to procure the service on such committee of any employer of laborers he may, with the sanction of the commissioner of the division, appoint one or more persons whom he may deem qualified.

Medical officer to report.

If the Lieutenant-Governor, after perusal and consideration of the said report, information, and notes, shall be of opinion that such mortality was caused by the want of due care or precaution and of the adoption of proper and available sanitary measures on the part of the owner of such estate or the employer, and that such estate or portion thereof is unfit for the residence of laborers by reason of the want of due care or precaution, and of the adoption of proper and available sanitary measures on the part of the owner of such estate or portion thereof or the employer, it shall be lawful for the Lieutenant-Governor to declare in writing that such estate or portion thereof is unfit for the residence of laborers. Such declaration of the Lieutenant-Governor shall have the same effect as the finding of a committee under the last preceding section.

Every employer who shall cause or permit any laborer to reside upon any such estate or portion of an estate as under the provisions of either of the two preceding sections may have been found to be unfit for the residence of laborers, shall, on conviction by a magistrate, be punished with fine. Provided always that in case it shall appear to the inspector that any such estate, or portion of an estate, or any part of such portion, has become fit for the residence of laborers, he shall, with the sanction of the magistrate of the district, give under his hand a certificate of such fitness, and no employer shall be liable to fine by reason of his causing or permitting laborers to reside in any place respecting which such certificate of fitness shall have been given.

122. Any laborer, who shall absent himself from his labor without sufficient cause, may, on conviction by a magistrate, be sentenced to lose all claims to wages or allowances during the period of such absence, and also to forfeit to his employer a sum not exceeding four annas for each day during which such absence shall be continued; and in case such absence shall have exceeded seven days, or in case such laborer shall have been already convicted of the same offence within a period of three months, such laborer shall be furthermore sentenced to rigorous imprisonment for fourteen days.

Provided, nevertheless, that if such laborer be found in the service of another employer, he shall not be arrested without a warrant. Provided also that such employer or other person shall without delay give the said laborer in charge at the nearest police station, and there enter the charge upon which he shall have apprehended such laborer.

On the expiry of any sentence of imprisonment for any offence under this Act, save as is provided in section 125, it shall be the duty of the magistrate to make over such laborer to any person appointed on the part of his employer to receive charge of him; and no conviction under this Act, or imprisonment under such conviction, shall, save as is provided in section 125, be held to operate as a release to any laborer from the terms of his contract. Provided, nevertheless, that the period of imprisonment shall in no case be prolonged by reason of their being no person present on the part of the employer to take charge of the laborer at the expiry to his sentence; but such laborer shall in that case be sent to the principal place of business of such employer, and the expense of such conveyance shall be levied from the employer in the manner provided in section 99.

Conviction not to operate as a release.

125. Whenever any laborer shall have actually suffered imprisonment amounting in the whole to six months for desertion from his employer's service, it shall be lawful for the inspector, and he is hereby required, to cancel the contract of such laborer, and every such cancellation shall be certified by the inspector on the back of the contract.

Portion of sentence may be cancelled on application of employer.

126. The employer, or any person authorized to act for the employer, of any laborer imprisoned for any offence under this Act, may apply to a magistrate, at any time previous to the expiry of such sentence, that such laborer be made over to him for the purpose of completing his contract; and such magistrate may, if he see good cause, make over or forward such laborer to his employer; and in that case such magistrate shall cancel the remainder of the sentence passed on him, and shall endorse on the contract of such laborer a memorandum signed by him of such cancellation.

Expense of restoring deserting laborer to be paid by employer.

127. Every employer who obtains an order for the return or forwarding of any laborer who has deserted, shall pay the expense incurred in such return or forwarding, and shall, before the order is issued, deposit with the magistrate such sum as such magistrate may in his discretion deem to be sufficient for defraying the expense of such return or forwarding.

Time of unlawful absence or imprisonment to be excluded from contract period.

128. The duration of every unlawful absence from labor, of which any laborer may be convicted, and every sentence of imprisonment for any offence under this Act, shall be endorsed on the contract, at the time of its being passed, by the officer passing it; and no such period of imprisonment or unlawful absence so endorsed shall be reckoned as part of the term for which the laborer is bound to serve, but such term shall extend to such further period as shall be equivalent to the aggregate amount of the imprisonment and unlawful absence so endorsed.

Other person enticing away, harbouring, or employing laborer under contract.

129. Any person who knowingly and wilfully entices away, harbours, or employs, or attempts to entice from his employment, any laborer, before such laborer shall have been lawfully released from his contract, shall on conviction by a magistrate be punished with fine, the whole or any portion of which may be awarded to the employer of such laborer.

Chapter 15.—Complaints made by Laborers.

Employer to give notice to inspector if laborer wishes to complain of personal ill-usage or breach of contract.

130. If any laborer states to his employer, or to any person acting for such employer, that he desires to make a complaint to the inspector of laborers of personal ill-usage or breach of any provision of this Act on the part of such employer or other person, the person to whom such statement is made shall, within forty-eight hours send notice thereof in writing to the inspectors and in default of so doing, such person shall, on conviction by a magistrate, be punished with fine.

Whenever any inspector of laborers receives such notice in writing as aforesaid, or whenever any complaint of personal ill-usage or breach of any provision of this Act as aforesaid, is made to him by any laborer against his employer or any person acting for such employer, or whenever the inspector has other reasonable grounds for believing that any such personal ill-usage or breach of any provision of this Act as aforesaid has been suffered by a laborer, such inspector shall forthwith, if the place in which such offence has been committed is not situated within the limits of his own authority, give notice thereof in writing to the inspector within the limits of whose authority such place is situated; and if such place be situated within the limits of his own authority, then such inspector shall, so soon as conveniently may be, proceed to some place not more than ten miles from the principal place of business of such employer, and make full inquiry into the matter complained of.

Procedure. Penalty for obstructing service of, or disobedience to, summons.

132. For the purposes of such inquiry the inspector may summon such laborer and any witnesses. If any employer, or other person acting for or under such employer, in any way wilfully obstructs the service of, or obedience to, such summons; or if the laborer or any witness summoned intentionally omits to attend as required in such summons, he shall, on conviction by a magistrate, be punished with fine.

If complaint is untrue or frivolous.

133. If, upon such inquiry made on the complaint of a laborer, the inspector is of opinion that the complaint is untrue or frivolous, he shall enter in his book the particulars of such complaint, and a short statement of the grounds of his opinion respecting it, and shall dismiss the complaint, and in such case shall endorse on the employer's copy of the contract of such complainant the number of days during which such complainant has been absent from work in consequence of such inquiry, and such number of days shall be added to the period of the contract of such complainant.

If complaint is well founded.

134. If, upon inquiry as aforesaid, the inspector is of opinion that the complaint is well-founded, he shall, if himself a magistrate, dispose of the case according to due course of law. If the inspector shall not be a magistrate, he shall without delay send the complainant and his witnesses to the nearest magistrate, and such magistrate shall thereupon dispose of the case according to due course of law.

136. If any employer, or any person placed in authority over any laborer by such employer, shall be convicted of any offence causing injury to the person or property of such laborer triable under the Code of Criminal Procedure by the court of session; or if any such employer, or other person as aforesaid, shall be twice convicted of any such offence against such laborer triable under the said Code by a magistrate; or if it shall be proved before a magistrate that the wages of such laborer are in arrear to an amount exceeding the total of such laborer's wages for four months; or if a magistrate shall, on the report of the inspector and after due inquiry, upon oath, in the presence of the parties, be satisfied that any laborer has been compelled to perform any labor while he was unfit for it, or has been subjected to ill-usage by such employer, or any other person placed in authority over the laborer by such employer; it shall be lawful for the magistrate, if he think fit, on the application of the laborer, in each of such cases, to cancel the contract of such laborer, and award to him compensation not exceeding thirty rupees, and every such cancelment shall be certified by the magistrate on the back of such contract.

138. If any laborer is able and desirous to redeem the unexpired term of his contract of service by payment of a sum equivalent to the value thereof, such laborer may demand to be taken or allowed to go before the inspector of laborers within the local limits of whose authority he may be employed, and on his depositing such sum in the hands of such inspector, such inspector shall give notice to the employer that such laborer requires him within one week to show cause why the contract of such laborer should not be released; and, in case no sufficient cause should be shown, such inspector shall require the production of the contract of such laborer, and endorse thereon a certificate of release by purchase, and shall hold the sum in deposit on account of the employer of such laborer. The following Supplementary Report of the Select Committee on the "Bill to amend the law relating to the emigration of laborers to the districts of Assam, Cachar, and Sylhet, and to regulate contract labor and service therein," is published for general information :—

WE, the Select Committee on the "Bill to amend the law relating to the emigration of laborers to the districts of Assam, Cachar, and Sylhet, and to regulate contract-labor and service therein," have read and considered the correspondence noted in the margin relating to a proposal by the Lieutenant-Governor to provide for the gradual introduction of a system of free recruiting of laborers for the labor districts.

The Committee are unanimously of opinion that the systems of free recruiting and recruiting under the Act cannot work side by side. They do not feel themselves able, on the materials before them, to recommend that Cachar or any other district should be exempted from the operation of the Act, or to make any specific recommendation to the Council on the general subject.

ANNUAL GENERAL REPORT OF THE BURDWAN DIVISION FOR 1872-73.

RESOLUTION.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Calcutta, the 16th September 1873.

READ—

The Annual General Report of the Commissioner of the Burdwan Division for the year 1872-73, with its enclosures.

1. The Lieutenant-Governor is much indebted to the Commissioner, Mr. Buckland, for the trouble he has taken in so clearly condensing and systematizing the several district reports and for his own review of the Divisional Administration.

2. The general tendency of the report is to show that the people of the western districts are upon the whole poorer than the average of the inhabitants in Bengal, and that wages are low except in the vicinity of Calcutta and along the Hooghly River. Throughout the division the lower classes, it is said, are a poor and improvident people, and although their actual bodily wants are small and easily satisfied, there is but a small approach to anything like an accumulation of capital among them at present. There is a good deal of emigration from the western borders of the division, but not apparently from the alluvial tracts or from Beerbhoom.

3. There was a scanty rainfall last year, and the rice crop in the division was necessarily affected, but the losses were mostly local, and the general crop was not very deficient. Fortunately the cold weather harvest was unusually good and abundant.

4. The manufacture of silk is a staple industry in the districts of Midnapore and Beerbhoom. In Midnapore the value of the silk made is valued by the Collector at thirty-two lakhs of rupees, and its manufacture is said to contribute directly or indirectly to the support of 150,000 people. In Midnapore also is produced indigo of a very excellent description. The produce is valued at 4½ lakhs per annum. The manufacture of indigo is now extinct in Hooghly, and is languishing and unprofitable in other parts of the division.

5. The topic of public health has, as Mr. Buckland remarks, an unfortunately overpowering interest in the Burdwan Division. Very numerous special reports on the subject of the epidemic fever in Hooghly, Burdwan, Midnapore, and Beerbhoom have been submitted to Government during the year. The district of Howrah also, and even Bancoorah, have not been entirely free from the fever. In Burdwan the sub-divisions of Culna—the seat of its early ravages—and of Raneegunge alone escaped—the former partially, the latter almost entirely. This is the tenth year of the epidemic in the district, and the fourth year of its appearance in the town of Burdwan.

The whole tract of Beerbhoom, speaking roughly, lying south and east of a line drawn through Soory from south-west to north-east, was occupied by the malady. It is noteworthy here, as Mr. Geoghegan observes, that the low flesh-eating castes, who had offered a more successful resistance to the disease in the year before, now succumbed equally with others. In Midnapore the fever again made its appearance, in the over-populated thannah of Daspore, which borders on Hooghly, and showed a tendency to spread southwards. There was much fever in Hooghly during the usual season from October to February; and over the densely populated part of the district reaching from French Chandernagore to Howrah, it assumed a very fatal character. The entire question of the incidence of the fever in this unfortunate division is, as the Commissioner and the public are aware, under the most anxious consideration of the Lieutenant-Governor, and the executive Government is sparing no pains to relieve, if possible, the sufferings and depression under which the country still labors.

There is much reason to hope that the present season is turning out more favorably, and that the scourge may be passing away from tracts which have suffered for several years, as it has passed from those which previously suffered in former years.

6. Mr. Pellew, the Collector of Hooghly, comments. His Honor believes with truth, upon the favorable disposition of the people generally towards Government. They have rendered willing obedience and even co-operation in the statistical inquiries which have been instituted. The ordinary village population are, he says, a respectable, decent, and quiet class, who hate impropriety of any sort, and are almost puritan in their ideas. The English-speaking natives, though to be found in almost every village, are for the most part employed in the larger towns, and are only occasionally visitors to their homes. These men are generally supposed to be less loyally disposed, but the Collector thinks that there is not much ground for the belief. "They are chiefly remarkable," he writes, "for the loss of the good manners for which their fathers were so distinguished, and they confuse a desire for independence with an awkward appearance of incivility, which sits rudely upon them."

7. It is to be feared that the native press, which is largely supported by subscribers and contributors from this division, very inadequately expresses the real outcome of public feeling on the subjects of which it treats. The illiterate classes, who are, of course, the immense majority, are entirely unrepresented by the newspapers. The Commissioner complains of the present unbridled license of the press as affecting the feelings of the native officers of Government to an extent which is detrimental to the upright and fearless discharge of their official functions. "I fear," says Mr. Buckland, "that there is not a native Deputy Magistrate in the country who could deny that he was afraid of becoming the subject of any personal attack in a native newspaper." He also denounces the growing practice of native newspapers commenting on and prejudicing pending cases. The Lieutenant-Governor must say that he thinks there is some foundation for these statements.

8. There was a break and a consequent failure of statistical operations in some districts of this division, owing to an unfortunate misunderstanding by which the services of the temporary establishments to which the Government of India had taken objection were dispensed with, before the permanent sub-divisional establishments had been entertained. The Lieutenant-Governor trusts that now the latter have been sanctioned and are in operation, statistical work will be carried on actively. The report of the Special Statistical Deputy Collector of Beerbhoom has not yet been received.

9. The irrigation works have been pushed on during the year in Midnapore. It is much to be regretted that the attempts to introduce irrigation were accompanied by some circumstances which have led to discontent and annoyance among the people concerned. Mr. Buckland remarks that it would have been more for the true interests of Government to have given the people the gratuitous use of the water, so that they might have learned its value to them, than to attempt to obtain a petty revenue from it prematurely before the works were completed.

The Lieutenant-Governor is gratified to observe the valuable testimony that is borne by the Collector of Hooghly to the success of the new Public Works system, under which the Executive Engineer, while professionally responsible to his own department, is placed directly under the orders of the Magistrate and those of the Road Cess Committee. The work now done, if somewhat more expensive than formerly, "is much superior in quality, and the system works admirably."

10. His Honor is inclined to concur with the Commissioner's observation (paragraph 27) that Assistant Magistrates should at some time serve as Assistant Superintendents of Police. This subject will be considered by the Lieutenant-Governor in the Judicial Department, in connexion with a somewhat similar recommendation by the Magistrate of Mymensingh in the administration report of his district for the past year.

11. Mr. Buckland recites the history and present situation of the rent law. His Honor fears that it is the fact that the status designed for the ryot by the Regulations of 1793 was much impaired, and in great part destroyed, by the great powers subsequently given to the zemindars under the old huftum and punjum regulations with a view to enable them to realize their rents. As Mr. Buckland truly describes the process, under the law of 1799 and that of 1812, the proceedings began in both cases by a strong presumption equivalent to a knock-down blow against the ryot. The law of 1859 reduced the powers exercised by the zemindars themselves, while it increased the grounds of enhancement, and afforded the remedy of a summary process before Deputy Collectors, who were, however, often very insufficiently qualified. Rent-suits are now transferred to the civil courts; they are better tried, and the rights of the ryots are more respected than they were; but, on the other hand, there certainly seems now good ground of complaint that there is difficulty in quickly realizing undisputed rents by legal process.

12. The working of the new Criminal Procedure Code has not, it appears, created alarm in the division. In Midnapore the remarks of Mr. Harrison are very favorable to its operation. The new arrangements have worked smoothly, and are not unpopular.

13. In excise, the Commissioner observes that the great problem of the year has been the introduction of the experiment of letting the licenses of certain liquor shops to the highest bidder, instead of as formerly at a fixed fee. The result has been to reduce the number of shops and the consumption of liquor, but to increase the cost of liquor and to enhance the revenue. The system is still on its trial.

14. Mr. Buckland thinks, and he says that the same opinion is held by many intelligent natives, that the withdrawal of the income-tax was a mistake. It was the only tax, he remarks, that caught the rich trading classes and the mahajans, however imperfectly. If the tax had been retained at ever so low a rate, the Government could, when necessary, by a mere turn of the screw have doubled or multiplied it as it pleased.

15. Municipalities work well in the Burdwan Division. The road cess proceedings of the Hooghly Committee have been specially reviewed by the Lieutenant-Governor. The progress of the District Education Committees is said to have been encouraging. The little Hooghly Municipalities and Town Committees are distinguished by their independent and public spirit. The Lieutenant-Governor notices the Commissioner's remark as a hopeful one, that the judicious appointment of Municipal Commissioners is regarded as an honor which the recipients seldom like to relinquish.

17. His Honor regrets to hear of the unsatisfactory condition of the dispensary at Burdwan. If possible, a new site should certainly be chosen nearer the town and native bazars as suggested by Mr. Buckland. The Lieutenant-Governor would be glad to hear what may be resolved on in this matter, as well as further particulars of the Kistonuggur Dispensary in Midnapore, which has been closed, it is said, because the patron owed it Rs. 1,500, and to recover which amount a civil suit is in contemplation. The other dispensaries, of which there are several in the division, seem to have done well.

18. The district post in the division is, it is said, efficiently managed under the agency of the officers of the imperial Post Office. The attention of the Post-Master-General will be directed to the Magistrate of Burdwan's objection to a charge of postage on Government letters in cases where the letters are conveyed for the greater part of the distance at the cost of the zemindari dâk.

19. The Comissioner's observations on the subject of death from snake-bites and wild animals will be communicated to the Judicial Department of Government, where the whole question is now before the consideration of the Lieutenant-Governor.

20. His Honor is glad to notice the favorable comments of the Commissioner on the conduct of zemindars during the year. The testimony of Commissioner and Magistrate is very favorable regarding the conduct of the firm known as Messrs. Watson & Co., in their position of zemindars in the Midnapore district. In one capacity or another one-fifth of the rent of this very extensive district is collected by this firm. Among the native zemindars who have been distinguished for active benevolence and liberality, the Commissioner notices Baboo Joykishen Mookerjee in Hooghly, Baboo Nobin Chunder Nag in Midnapore, Baboo Radhabullub Singh of Kunchiakole, Baboo Damoodur Singh of Maliara in Bancoorah, and Baboo Ramrunjun Chuckerbutty of Hitumpore in Beerbhoom. The Maharajah of Burdwan has, with his accustomed liberality, made a further donation of Rs. 10,000 during the year as an addition to his former subscription of Rs. 50,000 in aid of the dispensaries for the suppression of the epidemic fever.

21. The Lieutenant-Governor's acknowledgments are due to Mr. Buckland for his careful supervision.

ANNUAL GENERAL REPORT OF THE PRESIDENCY DIVISION FOR 1872-73.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Calcutta, the 22nd October 1873.

READ—

The annual Administration Report of the Commissioner of the Presidency Division for the year 1872-73.

1. THE present Commissioner was only in charge during a small part of the year, and his report could not therefore be so exhaustive as the Lieutenant-Governor hopes it will be next time. His Honor's thanks are, however, due to Lord Ulick Browne for a zealous and efficient administration since he assumed charge and a careful report.

2. The sub-divisional officers of this division seem to have duly attended to their duty in making tours into the interior.

3. The condition of the people in this division is believed to be improving, and is tolerably prosperous in the 24-Pergunnahs district. The proximity of Calcutta affords a ready sale and a comparatively high rate of wages, while from the north, south, and west of the district rice is largely raised and exported, and quantities of timber and firewood and thatching leaves can be obtained from the Soonderbuns for the mere trouble of cutting. Immigration into this district is still steady, and there are no complaints of over-population. It is to be regretted that the peasantry of Jessore and Nuddea are not so well off, but His Honor believes in Jessore, though the ryots may be poor, there are many jotedars, gantedars, and others who, with their rice fields and date gardens, occupy something of the position of peasant proprietors. In Nuddea the people came wonderfully through the floods, and then and since have shown much self-reliance. The inundation of 1871-72 has no doubt had the effect of enriching the soil a good deal; and it is certain that the produce of two great staples in this division—indigo and the date-tree—was unusually good last year.

4. It is said by the Commissioner that the relations between ryots and planters have on the whole been amicable; the Lieutenant-Governor has, however, heard of some cases in which it did not seem to be so. The Commissioner alludes to a system of cultivation adopted by Baboo Jadu Nath Roy and another native gentleman, under which the ryot grows as much or little indigo as he pleases; and when the manufacturing season comes, takes it to the vats, where note is kept of the quantity, and eventually, after the indigo has been sold, receives a proportion of the proceeds of the manufactured article. His Honor will be glad to learn how this co-operative system is found to work.

5. There are large jute factories at Baranagore and Gowripore, both in the 24-Pergunnahs, and also at Fort Gloucester, 15 miles down the Hooghly, and several new factories are rising round Calcutta. There can be no doubt that in this district these manufactories are a great success; the people show much aptitude for the work, and it seems that the neighbourhood of Calcutta will become before long a great seat of manufacturing industry.

6. The Municipal Bill, the new Criminal Procedure Code, the educational policy of Government, and the imposition of the Road Cess, are the subjects on which public feeling exhibited itself during the year. It was the educated section of the community, remarks the Commissioner, who sought to infuse their ideas into the minds of their less enlightened and less inquisitive countrymen, laying before them pictures of imaginary evils as the probable result of the measures referred to. The native gentry do not like losing the chance of a succession of appeals up to the High Court in all kinds of cases. On this subject Mr. Stevens, the Magistrate of Nuddea, writes as follows:—

"I believe that the law of the Criminal Procedure Code regarding summary trials was to some extent misunderstood; it was thought to be wider in its operation than it really is. Since however the Act has been in force, I have heard no word of complaint against the manner in which either of the officers holding summary powers in this district has exercised them. The persistent abuse of the right of appeal has become so thoroughly familiar to the native mind, that the checks introduced by the new code were looked upon with much dread. Crimes and criminals do not repel a native of this country as they repel a European; but a prisoner is looked upon more as an object of compassion in being unfortunate enough to be caught than as a violator of the laws of society and a public enemy. Hence the fact that trivial technicalities might prevail to cause the release of a guilty man, produced little dissatisfaction in the mind of anyone who was not personally interested in a case. The subtlety of the technicality had an attraction for the native mind, while the easy good nature which is a Bengalee characteristic, was pleased by the release of the prisoner. I think, however, that the strong feeling in this matter has begun to die away. The power of enhancing punishments has been exercised very sparingly both by the Judge and by myself."

7. Although it is said that the Lieutenant-Governor's scheme of primary education has not as yet commended itself to the higher classes owing to a fear that their own influence will be affected by it, and although it is unpopular with the native educational officers employed in the district who, it is said, dislike their subordination to the Magistrate, the public generally seem to be pleased with the change. The Commissioner remarks that the impetus given to primary education is satisfactory, "and a new era has now commenced in the educational history of the country."

8. The disappearance of the income tax has been gradual, and its abolition has therefore not created excitement, but has been looked upon with favour in this division.

9. The transfer of the rent-suits from the revenue to the civil courts is said to have not yet reconciled itself to the suitors, and no doubt there is cause of complaint regarding delay and expense which are now inevitable. The remarks of Mr. Porter, the Joint-Magistrate of Baraset, to which the Commissioner invites attention, are, however, too exclusively from a zemindaree point of view; and we must consider strict justice to ryots as well as speedy process for zemindars.

10. The municipal committees are reported to have on the whole worked satisfactorily. The Magistrate of Nuddea speaks in high terms of the three principal municipalities of that district. The most successful is, he thinks, Krishnaghur. "We have," he writes, "a body of intelligent men, chiefly professional, independent in their views, but acting in harmony both with the Government and with each other, and content to the very useful, though quiet and unobtrusive, work. During three years' experience I cannot call to mind one instance of petty jealousy or party feeling." The minor municipalities have also been fairly successful. Generally speaking, Mr. Stevens writes, those are best which are entirely composed of natives. Although party feeling does greatly impair their efficiency, and though there is often much ado about nothing where there is no one else to do anything, they no doubt do a little. As the Magistrate again says, it is possible that the executive officer of Government would do the mere work better, but when we think of the attempts we are now making to govern the country more minutely, we must feel in an increasing degree the necessity for developing the capacity of the people for local self-government.

11. The account of the Commissioner seems to show that even in the metropolitan districts the influence of the native press is not very wide-spread. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to observe the statement that the less important native papers do not show such ill will to Government as those of greater pretensions, such as the Hindoo Patriot and Amrita Bazaar Patrika, though what Lord Ulick Browne says of their following the example set them of attacking individuals and Government officers, is no doubt an evil. The Commissioner of Burdwan in his report has dwelt strongly on this point, and His Honor fears that native officers are unduly sensitive to what is written against them.

12. The establishment of rural sub-registry offices has proved of great advantage, and has saved trouble and expense to the people.

13. Lord Ulick Browne is also much in favor of the scheme for the Lower Subordinate Executive service, which has recently been carried into effect. "It has," he says, "all the elements of success, and cannot but be a most useful and efficient auxiliary to the administrative arrangements of the country."

14. The road cess has not yet become enough of reality for the ryot to cause him to make much complaint. It is said to be unpopular among the higher classes, but they accept it as inevitable. The Lieutenant-Governor regrets to read in the Collector of Nuddea's report that signs have already begun to show themselves which indicate that the landlord will attempt to throw the whole tax on the ryots. A sub-divisional officer of that district has lately had presented for registration 157 leases, a condition of which was that the tenant should pay any Government cess which might be imposed, a provision which, though no doubt illegal, shows the spirit prevailing. Despite, however, the odium which necessarily attaches to taxation, the cess can, says the Commissioner, scarcely fail to produce great advantages to the people when its effects on the communications of the country are seen a few years hence. The account which Lord Ulick Browne gives of the district roads in another place shows that his division, while it has clearly reached the stage when the road cess may properly be imposed, especially requires the benefits that will be afforded by it.

15. Lord Ulick Browne dwells at length on the complaint, that under new administrative changes and arrangements, officers, and principally district officers, are over-worked. The Lieutenant-Governor would express a hope on this subject that as they learn method and distribution of work the grievance will wear off. He cannot acknowledge that the creation of sub-divisions should increase a Magistrate-Collector's work. The total quantity of work it certainly increases, but it also increases the working machinery, and should relieve the head of the district from details. If the district officer takes his proper place as the general controller and supervisor of outlying sub-divisions, and makes the most of his Joint-Magistrate or other experienced Assistants in the head-quarters division and on general work, His Honor thinks that the Magistrate-Collector of a fully sub-divided district should not be over-worked, but should be head of a large and important machine which he should keep in order as head engineer, not himself acting as stoker and poker and everything else. The Lieutenant-Governor also can hardly agree with the Commissioner's view that Magistrates should always go out into camp as formerly with their establishments and correspondence, so as to place himself in the same position as regards work that he is in when at the sudder station. His Honor thinks there is much to be said for the present plan of going out with one or two clerks, and letting the district work of a routine character be done at head-quarters. At the same time if a Magistrate can now and then go more deliberately into camp, this may have its advantages.

The Lieutenant-Governor remarks with pleasure the Commissioner's observation, that on the part of none of his subordinates, from the district officer downwards, has there been any disposition to avoid giving full effect to any orders which have been received. Some of the orders may have been distasteful to those whose duty it was to carry them out, but it has throughout been His Honor's experience that whatever officers previous ideas may have been, they have, speaking generally, and as a body, carried out recent reforms zealously, thoroughly, and well, with no hanging back or passive resistance, but with an active interest. Sir George Campbell has felt this and acknowledges it thoroughly.

The Commissioner alludes in another place to the policy of Government having been such as to deprive the Magistrates of districts of almost every fraction of personal influence by sedulously teaching the people that they need obey no instructions unless the officer who gives it can point to a particular law as his authority; but the Lieutenant-Governor hopes we are getting over this difficulty and now exercising fair influence.

16. Considerable attention has been bestowed in this division to the collection of useful statistics of more than one description. The select mortuary statistics have been more successful in towns than in the rural areas; in the Chooadangah area they have been very unsuccessful, but elsewhere there is good hope of a successful result. The report of the special Deputy Collector,

Baboo Ram Shunker Sen, who was appointed for the purpose of obtaining correct statistics regarding food grains, and staples, and other subjects in the district of Jessore, has submitted his report for the sub-divisions of Magoorah and Jhenidah, and it is very interesting and instructive.

17. It is satisfactory to note that the importance of accurate records of rights and holdings in settlement operations is now fully recognised. His Honor hopes that something may be done in the way of improvement of estates under the Court of Wards.

18. The taste for spirits and intoxicating drugs is on the increase, and is attributed by the Commissioner more to the increasing prosperity of the people, and to the free-thinking tendencies of the age, than to anything else. However this increase in the consumption of spirits is to be regretted in, it can hardly, says the Commissioner, be said that the use of liquor leads to crime in this country, whatever it may do in Europe.

19. The Magistrate of Jessore points out that the money-lenders are to some extent kept out of court by the heavy stamp duties now required. This is no doubt the case, and if this was the only effect, it would not be so bad; but the Lieutenant-Governor believes that the fees are really too high in many instances, such as suits about rent, exaction, &c.

20. Lord Ulick Browne remarks on the satisfactory management of the Eastern Bengal Railway, about which there are scarcely any complaints. The facilities of the railway are thoroughly appreciated, and no one cares to walk if he can only find the money for his fare.

21. With regard to dispensaries, it is a matter of regret that more in-patients are not received, and surgical cases especially. The Lieutenant-Governor hopes that efforts will be made at sub-divisions where there are sub-assistant surgeons to supply a ward to receive accident and surgical cases.

22. Rajah Komul Krishna and Baboo Bussunt Koomar Roy Chowdhry are both favorably mentioned by the Commissioner for the interest they take in the establishment of dispensaries. His Honor is glad again to recognize the exemplary manner in which Mr. Sibbald of Sibbaldgunge, in the Meherpore sub-division of the Nuddea district, discharges the duties of a good and popular landlord. Koomar Narendra Krishna is also an excellent landlord.

23. The Lieutenant-Governor will conclude this resolution by quoting the words of the Magistrate of Nuddea who expresses his belief that the people, notwithstanding their alleged grievances, are thoroughly loyal throughout all classes. "We ought," writes Mr. Stevens, "to make great allowances for the feelings of persons governed by foreigners, whose manners and customs are perfectly unknown to most of the people, and are imitated rather than adopted by even the most advanced. Under such circumstances it is not strange if sometimes motives are misunderstood or facts distorted. Of this I am perfectly certain that the people of this district appreciate the good will of Government and of its officers to them, and desire no violent radical changes."

Rainfall, Weather and State and Prospects of the Crops.

Statement showing Rainfall, Weather, State and Prospects of the Crops in the different Districts of Bengal, as reported to Government during the week ending the 1st November 1873.

No.	District.	Date of return from each district.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather in the district as far as known.	State and prospects of the crops at date.	REMARKS.
BENGAL.
	Western Districts.	1873.
BURDWAN DIVISION. 1	Burdwan ...	Nov. 4th*	Nil	Weather dry and cool ...	Prospects of crops bad, except in low lands and where irrigation is going on. Cold weather crops are being sown in Culna. Rice rather cheaper.	Fever prevalent.
2	Bancoorah ...	" 1st	Nil	Dry and cool ...	Not much change since last week; a good deal of rice crop has been saved by irrigation. Teel, oilseed, and sugarcane crops are very good in the south, but have suffered much elsewhere; preparations are being made generally for sowing the cold weather crops, and where water is obtainable sowings have actually commenced. Slight rise in the price of rice.
3	Beerbhoom ...	" 1st	Nil	Bright and clear. Cold weather coming in.	The harvest of the early rice crop, which is about one-fifth of the district, is turning out better than was expected. Owing in great measure to the timely utilization of the tank supplies, ten annas may possibly be secured; of the late rice crop, probably not less than five, possibly seven annas will be saved even without rain; with rain now eight annas. Tank irrigation has during the past month been extended as widely as possible. Price of common rice has risen one seer since last report.
4	Midnapore ...	" 1st	Nil	No rain; cold weather seems to have set in. Stormy wind from north and north-west the last three days.	Not changed for the better. All chance of rain in any useful form has passed. Still the late rice crop is reckoned at three-fifths of an average crop over the whole district, including the irrigable area and the littoral tract, though scarcely one-fifth in the jungle mehals. This, viz three-fifths, is very nearly the proportion of the crop which the district ordinarily consumes, exporting the remainder. The prospects of the cold weather food crops are bad, but they are not of much importance in this district. The mulberry, which is a valuable crop in the east, is suffering from drought. It is probable that a good deal of boro (winter) rice may be sown where river water is obtainable, and that more than the ordinary proportion of land will be planted with early rice next year. This proportion, about one-sixteenth, is capable of being largely increased, and the late rice is usually preferred because it entails so much less labor, though on the other hand it is much more precarious.

BURDWAN DIVN.—(Contd.) 5	Hooghly ...	Nov. 1st	Nil	Clear throughout; wind northerly.	Clouds forming. From personal inspection the Collector says that the Hooghly thannah police reports appear exaggerated. He does not think more than 8 annas is yet lost, and rain would save the remainder. Irrigation practised energetically, but water getting exhausted in many parts of the district.
	Howrah ...	" 1st	Nil	Evenings, nights, and mornings cold. Weather bright, and apparently set fair. Heavy dews, and apparently no hopes of rain.	The chief alteration since last report is that the crops have undergone another dry week. In the Jugguthullubpore thannah the crops are very bad, and it is feared that only an insignificant proportion can now be saved. Elsewhere the rule is that the further one goes south, the better crops one sees. The water stores are still low, and likely to do all that is wanted from them. Hitherto the ryots seem not to have despaired that rain would come in time, and they did not irrigate. Now, however, they are busily engaged in irrigating; there is much water still lying about and otherwise procurable from the rivers and water-courses, and this will save much rice without rain.
	Central Districts.
PRESIDENCY DIVISION. 6	24-Pergunnahs ...	" 4th*	Nil.	The weather has been cloudy, but without rain; cool during the first five days with northerly breeze, but close and heavy the last two days.	The prospects of the late rice is week by week becoming more gloomy as the drought continues. Under any circumstances the crop must be a very short one, and will, unless rain come, speedily, almost entirely, fail except on the very low-lying lands.	Fever still continues in Barripore, Baraset and Satkhirah.
7	Nuddea ...	" 1st	Nil	Dry and hot. The sky is frequently clouded over, but no rain falls, or seems likely to fall. Heavy dews in Koosteah, but there is next to no dew in the Sudder.	The late rice on high lands may now be said to have been irretrievably ruined. Of that which is in the low grounds, a portion will under any circumstances be saved; and if rain falls a moderate crop in such situations might be looked for. The sowing of cold weather crops has been generally deferred for want of rain. Mustard and linseed, which have been sown, have in many places been eaten up by insects as fast as the seed has germinated. Teel—oilseed, rahur—and chillies promise fairly. The ryots are irrigating their rice wherever they can, and no doubt something will be thus saved. The early rice crop was fortunately very good on the greater part of the district, but it is being exported to other districts. Prices vary very much; they appear higher at Krishnaghur than elsewhere, and this is said to be the result of combination among the mahajuns: on the day of report prices have slightly fallen, but they had suddenly risen by one-half.	There is but little sickness in the district.

8	Jessore ...	Nov. 1st	Nil	Clear and bright, with a northerly wind. No rain.	The want of rain is continuing to injure the crops on the higher lands, and the northern and western parts of the district, which are higher than the rest, will suffer a good deal of damage. The lower lying lands to the east and south are better off. In Magoorah sub-division the harvest is expected to be a good ordinary one, and that the winter crops are doing well to date. In Nurrail sub-division the outturn will be not less than a ten annas, nor more than a twelve annas crop of an average year. In Khoolnah and Bagirhaut sub-divisions a similar outturn may, according to present estimate, be expected. Prices of food-grains are rising all over the district. Within the last three days the price of common rice at the head-quarters has risen from 26 to 16 seers per rupee, owing to sudden demand for exportation to Chagdah and the westward.
RAJSHAHYE DIVISION.
9	Moorshedabad ...	„ 1st	Nil	A slight shower fell in the south-eastern parts of the district at the beginning of the week, but no rain is reported elsewhere. The weather is much cooler, and there are no signs of rain.	The crops on the high lands have withered almost beyond recovery. In the low lands of the Kalantor in the south-east of the district, and generally in the beels, the paddy is much better and in ears. The cold weather sowings are also suffering from want of rain, and in the south-east some injury has been caused by a small insect similar to the grass-hopper. The outturn will be, it is feared, less than a four annas one. Prices continue to rise.
10	Dinagepore ...	„ 1st	Nil	Fine, cool and pleasant in the mornings; sun hot in the middle of day.	No improvement to report as there has been no rain. Some places are of course worse off than others, and rain could do little good now to the rice crops, but is wanted for the winter crops. The price of rice is slightly cheaper.
11	Maldah ...	„ 1st	Nil	Weather fair, no prospects of rain; days hot, nights cold.	The prospects of the hemunt or late rice are worse than last week, since there has been no rain. In Shibgunge thannah six annas of the late rice crop is expected. The cold weather crops are being sown, and if there is rain, will most likely turn out well. An insect called "bhua" has attacked the cold weather crops in thannahs English Bazar and Kalliachuck. There is a marked rise in the price of rice this week, and the prospects can scarcely be worse.

RAJSHAHYE DIVISION.—(Contd.) 12	Rajshahye ...	Nov. 1st	Nil	There was a very slight fall of rain in the jurisdiction of station Boraigong last Wednesday. No rain elsewhere, though in the first part of the week it was cloudy. It has since cleared, and a northerly wind is blowing.	The transplanted rice is a complete failure except only few beegahs here and there in the vicinity of tanks. The tanks are drying up fast. The deep-water rice, however, will yield a fair crop. Prices of rice continue stationary. Rain is necessary for the cold weather crops. Teel—oil-seed and urhur—pulse are thriving. For sugarcane rain is also wanted. Indigo is being sown.
13	Rungpore ...	„ 1st	Nil	A little rain to the south; no news of rain elsewhere.	The paddy crop is in much the same state; better reports from distant thannahs. In the north, north-west, and north-east, the people are busy in sowing the spring crops. Course rice in the sudder station selling at Rs. 5 per maund, and at about Rs. 2-8 to Rs. 3 throughout the district.
14	Bograh ..	„ 1st	Nil	Cooler, but still dry ...	The greater part of the late rice crop is past recovery in consequence of the continued drought. Sugarcane, in parts of the district, is reported as flourishing. Cold weather crops are being sown.
15	Pubna ...	„ 1st	Nil	Cloudy and cold, with rather chilly winds.	The late rice in the high lands is almost destroyed; that on the low lands is somewhat better, but rain is still much wanted. Cold weather crops are being sown.
COOCH BEHAR DIVISION. 16	Darjeeling ...	„ 1st	Nil	Threatening sky at intervals, but not a drop of rain.	Although there has been a great deficiency in the rainfall, the crops have not suffered so much as might have been anticipated, as in the terai irrigation is freely resorted to. A twelve-anna crop may even now be obtained throughout the district. The price of rice has gone up, but this may be owing to a good deal having been sold in the terai to purchasers from other districts. In the hills, bhootta; there would have been a fair outturn but for the visitation of locusts in July. The price is rising, but no serious consequences are anticipated unless the Nepaulese should attempt to import from this side. Murwa has almost entirely failed, but it is not of much consequence. Potatoes; neither quality nor quantity so good as last year for unequal rainfall. About one-fourth of the anticipated crop has been lost.

Cooch Behar Division.—(Contd.) 17	Julpigoree ..	Oct. 25th	Nil	Fine and bright weather; heavy dews; cold weather setting in.	The state of the rice crop varies greatly in different parts of the district, but generally the short rainfall has affected it. In the Dooars, from the border of Darjeeling to the Jaldoka river, the rice crop is good; in parts very good. The rice crop all round this tract may be put down at fifteen annas. Getting down towards Buxa and on to the Gowalpara Dooars the crop varies, being towards the Patgram border poor, but good in the interior of the Dooars. Special loss in some parts of the Dooars, and further report called for. The Deputy Commissioner has reason to believe that a fourteen annas will fairly represent the actual crop all round from the Jaldoka river to the Gowalpara border. In Patgram the want of rain has been severely felt, and the loss of crop is from five to six annas. In South Beda, and more especially the parts towards Rungpore, the loss is said to vary from eight to six annas. Julpigoree and around it, there will be a fair twelve annas crop. From Julpigoree on to Siliguri, and in the Ambari and Bykantpore tracts, the loss is estimated at a four annas. From Julpigoree to Titalyah the crop varies greatly. On the whole, a thirteen annas crop is expected in the district, which is not exceptionally bad crop. Beparees are coming in to purchase grains which will raise the price, but it will tell on the artizan class only, whose wages will have to be raised also. The agricultural class is well-to-do and have stores. No rain wanted at present. Cold weather crops are being sown.

Dacca Division. 18	Dacca ...	Nov. 4th*	0·34	Weather dry and hot up to the 3rd instant, when there was heavy rain; clouds still hanging about, and prospects of more rain.	Rain not sufficient to do much good as yet.
19	Furreedpore ...	,, 1st	Nil	Clear sunshine throughout the week.	Much the same as last week, excepting that an additional week's drought has in no way improved the prospects of the rice crop.
20	Backergunge ...	,, 1st	Nil	Cold nights and hot days. North wind blowing.	Under the average. There will be plenty for home consumption, but there will be less than usual for exportation. The high lands have suffered the most. In some of the low-lying tracts, on the other hand the crop is better than usual. The crop in the Patuakhali sub-division is said to be good. In Manpura and other parts of the Dukhin Sabazpore sub-division the crop has been damaged by insects. Taking the district all round there will probably be a twelve annas crop.

21	Mymensing ...	Nov. 1st	Nil	Bright and clear, cool mornings and evenings with dews at night; no present appearance of rain.	Another week of dry weather has made the prospect of the rice crop worse than ever; pulses are being sown but the ground is so hard that cultivation is difficult.	Fever reported to be very prevalent in the south-west of the district.
22	Sylhet ...	Oct. 25th	0·16	Tolerably cool during the day, chilly at night and towards morning.	Not very promising. The rain expected with the new moon has not fallen. Unless there is rain with the full moon the late rice crop will be a good deal destroyed. There has been heavy rain eastwards in Cachar, and this will do some good to the crops at Latu. An insect called the "Lubai" has done a great deal of damage to the late rice crops; it appears in this district in September if there is little or no rain. The price of rice has risen from 36 seers to 26¼ seers per rupee, in consequence of the brisk export trade which has already begun. Full report about crops next week. Briefly put, the low lands have yielded a good crop. The high lands will fall short by nearly half, unless there be a blight next month and then the whole late crops will go.
23	Cachar ...	„ 25th	1·15	Fair	The prospects of the paddy crops are very good throughout two-thirds of the district. In the remainder flies and deficiency of rain have caused damage, the extent of which is under enquiry. It has been so far a very good tea season.
CHITTAGONG DIVISION.
24	Chittagong ...	„ 25th	0·16	A few drops of rain on Sunday, the 19th October, weather during the week otherwise fair and getting cool in the mornings.	Slight damage by insects reported from Meerkaserai. No change since last report in other parts of the district.
25	Noakhally ...	„ 25th	0·37	Weather fair. North winds prevalent, days and nights cool.	To the south of Sudharam, in the islands of Hatteah and Sidhi, the late rice is reported to be injured by the "Sani" and "Mayoah" insects. In other parts of the district it is reported to be doing well.
26	Tipperah ...	Nov. 1st	Nil	Weather still muggy and rather cloudy towards evening. But there seems to be no likelihood of a heavy fall.	Prospects gradually getting worse and a six-anna crop is the most that can be expected. Rain can scarcely be hoped for now. The official reports, however, strangely enough, seem to be more gloomy than those of the parties most concerned, and it is hoped that the low lands may yet yield a moderate crop. Famine in the terrible sense of the word is not to be apprehended. True, rice has risen enormously lately (Rs. 3 per maund last Sunday), but this was in consequence of the mahajuns buying largely. Twenty miles south it was Rs. 2 a maund.

CHITTAGONG DIVN.—(Contd.) 27	Chittagong Hill Tracts	Oct. 25th	1·42	Cool throughout the whole week; foggy in the morning.	The early paddy crop has been harvested, but the outturn has not been equal to that of the last year. The late rice crop is being gathered but owing to the early cessation of rains it has not been very successful. The prospects of the cotton crop are good, it is brought for sale now in small quantities to the local markets. Up to date there has been no fear of scarcity.
	Hill Tipperah ...	„ 25th	Nil	Much the same as last week. No rain, but it is gradually getting cooler.	The paddy on the low lands only will be saved; that on the high lands is irretrievably lost. Mustard sowing has commenced.
BEHAR.
PATNA DIVISION. 28	Patna ...	Nov. 3rd*	Nil	No rain as yet ...	Nothing to add to the last week's report, except that the prospects are daily getting worse.	The health of the district is all that could be desired.
29	Gya ..	„ 1st	Nil	Cool and fine. No rain has fallen in any part of the district.	No improvement since last return. The prospects of the rice and cold weather crop continue most gloomy.
30	Shahabad ...	„ 1st	Nil	Hot during the day and cool at night. Prevailing wind west.	The only change since last week is that an additional seven days of dry weather has made prospects worse. The rice crop can only be saved where up to this time it has been kept alive by artificial irrigation. Canal irrigation in the Saseeram Sub-division is still being carried on and is doing material good. In the north of the district on the Dearah lands the cold weather crops look well, elsewhere without early rain, that which has been sown will give a very poor outturn, and a considerable portion of land must remain unsown and fallow. No remarkable rising in prices since last week.
31	Tirhoot ..	„ 1st	Nil	Bright and sunny ...	The prospects of the rice crop in the Sittamarhee sub-division continue bad. The paddy crops between Nanpore and Settamarhee are in a very bad state, and there is no river near from which water can be got for irrigation purposes. In some places the paddy has been cut for fodder. The cold weather crops have been sown in places, but have not come up in many places for want of moisture. The rice land for two miles on each side of the Bogmatti river may yield an eight to twelve anna crop. Nothing may be expected of the paddy except where irrigation is possible. The paddy crops now are much inferior to those of 1273F, but the (bhadoi) early crops have been superior. Pulses doing well. In Tajpore sub-division things could not well be worse. The paddy is

PATNA DIVISION—(Contd.)						nearly all still standing, but it is feared that even a heavy rain within seven days would but save two to three annas of it. The ryots would have cut much of it ere this could they have done anything with the land when cleared, and had they not still hopes of setting rain within the full moon. The cold weather crops are being sown on light lands, the ryots availing themselves of the night moisture, but the seed germinates sparingly, and what comes up wants rain badly soon. That the only redeeming feature of the season is the condition of the Dearah cold weather crop sowings. Heavy lands still unploughed. Tobacco is very backward, and in some places seems to make no progress whatever. In Durbhangah the prospect of the rice crop is very bad, and rain is much wanted for cold weather sowings. The prospects in the rest of the district are gloomy. Prices same as last week.
	32	Sarun ...	Nov. 1st	Nil	Clear sky, no signs of rain, weather cool, dews at night, east and west wind.	Prospects are getting worse and worse for want of rain. All the high land paddy has been burnt; that of the low lands, if it does not rain soon, will yield less than a six annas harvest. The cold weather crops are being sown in places where the soil has sufficient moisture, but large tracts of land will remain unsown unless rain falls. Indigo fields are being ploughed. Prices rising.
	33	Chumparun ...	,, 1st	Nil	Cool in the mornings and evenings, but hot in the middle of the day.	The prospects of the late paddy is more gloomy than heretofore; there is no hope of even six annas harvest. Every assistance is rendered to the farmers and cultivators to irrigate their fields by allowing them to dam rivers and khals across which there are Government ferries, but the portion that will be thus irrigated is very small in extent in comparison to the more inland cultivation. The prospect of the cold weather crops is not very cheering, as the plants are dying for want of moisture; the yield of the late Bhadoi or early crops is estimated at eight annas, but whatever the cultivators harvested they had to make over almost the entire quantity to the mahajuns; the little they had would at the most furnish food for a month more. From enquiries made it appears that there is enough food-grains in the hands of the mahajuns of the district as to supply food for the whole population for another six months.
BHAGULPORE DIVN.	34	Monghyr ...	,, 1st	Nil	Cool with a high wind, not a drop of rain and no appearance of it.	With the exception of a few dearah lands and lands lately inundated by the Ganges, the whole country is dried up. The rice crop may be considered nearly hopeless, and at present the cold weather crops cannot be sown at all.

BHAGULPORE DIVISION. 35	Bhaugulpore ...	Nov. 4th*	Nil	Clouded up from south-east on the 3rd November and slight rain has been falling since the morning of the 4th at head-quarters and between Sahebgunge and Sultangunge. More rain looks possible and will be of great benefit.	Late paddy is very bad indeed in Soopool and part of Muddehpoora Sub-division. No improvement to report.	General health very good.
36	Purneah ...	„ 1st	Nil	No change.	The cold weather sowings are being proceeded with, but unless rain falls soon the yield will be small. Reports from the east of the district worse, from other quarters same as before.
37	Sonthal Pergunnahs ...	„ 1st	Nil	Cold and dry with apparently no chance of rain.	Prospects even more gloomy than last week, as it is now too late to hope for rain. Cold weather crops will be very bad indeed. Bunds are being cut in all directions to save as much winter rice as possible.
ORISSA.
ORISSA DIVISION. 38	Cuttack ...	.....	.....	.....	.....	Return not received.
39	Pooree ...	„ 25th	0·48	Cloudy ...	Weeding in the late rice fields in certain pergunnahs finished, and in others it is forming into ears, as well as the Laghu or second rice crop. Prospects of the cold weather crops continue favorable, and in this part of the district all is well up to date. Khoordha Sub-division—The Laghu or second rice crop is being reaped. Prospects of the late rice pretty good; the crops suffered to some extent from insufficiency of rain.
40	Balasore ...	„ 1st	Nil	Dry, with wind. No signs of rain at head-quarters. Rainfall at Bhuddruck 0·14.	A very slight fall of rain has taken place throughout most of the Bhuddruck sub-division and has done some good. No rain has fallen elsewhere, and the prospects of a limited area at the extreme north of the district are extremely bad. On the whole however the harvest is not expected to fall much short of an average one. Prices rising slightly in consequence of exportations.
CHOTA NAGPORE. South-West Frontier Agency.
41	Hazareebaugh ...	„ 1st	Nil	No sign for hope of rain	It is difficult to ascertain what the rice crop yields. Accounts vary so enormously. The outturn of the year should be put at half that of an ordinary years. Following the total loss of the (mukai) maize the poor will have distress, there have been no robberies of stored grain as yet.
42	Lohardugga ...	„ 1st	Nil	Fine weather, clear and cool.	The rice crop generally has suffered a good deal from the drought, but in many parts it would even now be much benefited by a fall of rain. Rain is anxiously looked for in Palamow in order to prepare the lands for cold weather sowings. Only about four annas of the cold weather crop has been sown as yet. The rice crop generally will no doubt be a short one, but there are no grounds for supposing that it will fail anywhere, and in some parts it will be better than was anticipated. Prices continue the same.

43	Singbhoom ...	1872. Oct. 25th	Nil	Hot and no signs of rain yet.	Very gloomy generally. Nothing to add to the remarks of last week, except that the state of the crops is getting more hopeless each day. In Porahaut there was some rain on the 11th October, and that part of the country, having a good many tanks and embankments the state of the crops in it, and also in some parts of Seraikeyla, is much more favorable than elsewhere.
44	Maunbhoom ...	Nov. 1st	Nil	No rain, but little dew ...	The crops have continued to suffer during the past week, and where irrigation is not possible, are drying up and will come to almost nothing. Tanks and reservoirs have been cut all over the district and have saved a large quantity of the low land paddy. Those villages which have no such water supply will be very badly off. Sirgoojah and kurthi, which have been sown, have nearly all failed and the further sowing of these and of mustard, gram, peas, and wheat cannot be proceeded with for want of rain.
ASSAM AND ADJACENT HILLS.
45	Goalparah ...	Oct. 25th	Nil	The first part of the week was fair and bright and the latter part cloudy.	The late rice plants are reported to be parched by the sun in some places. State of other crops, such as cotton, jute, sugarcane, mustard, &c., is good.
46	Kamroop ...	Nov. 3rd	Nil	Weather cool and foggy in the morning and night, days hot and clear.	Late rice and tea backward. Sugarcane, cotton, pulse, and mustard crops progressing favorably.	Public health good.
47	Durrung ...	Oct. 25th	Nil	Bright days and nights, occasional fogs in the mornings, easterly wind prevailing.	Rice crops very inferior owing to the long drought. No chance of improvement now.	Fever prevalent. No cholera cases reported.
48	Nowgong ...	„ 25th	0·03	Weather set in cold and clear. Two slight showers on Thursday in the station, but heavy rain fell for half an hour to the south and east of the district in Kothiatoli and Solsolee.	The Bao paddy crop doing well, but the late paddy on the high lands very stunted and sickly in many places for want of rain; the pulses are poor also from the same cause. Sugarcane doing well. Tea doing fairly.	General health good.
49	Seebsanger ...	„ 25th	0·65	Mornings and evenings are cool.	More rain wanted for the late sown paddy. The prospects of the rice crop are not up to the average. The sowing of the mustard crop progresses.
50	Luckimpore ...	„ 25th	0·81	There was rain on two days which may be said to have ushered in the cold weather.	The crop of rice is threatening to be short, but it cannot be yet said that there will be a material failure; their state is being anxiously watched. North Luckimpore generally good, but the dry crops would be better for a little more rain.	Public health slightly improving.
51	Naga Hills ...	„ 18th	0·26	Mornings and evenings becoming very cool and pleasant.	Crop gathering continues active.
52	Khasi & Jynteah Hills	„ 25th	Nil	The weather has been cold, clear in the early part of the day and cloudy in the afternoon.	The harvest of the Hali or late rice crops continues and the outturn is better than last year, though the rainfall has been short yet the absence of equinoctial gales has counterbalanced the want of moisture. The cereals still standing, millet potato, cotton, &c., are coming on favorably.
53	Garo Hills ...	„ 25th	Nil	The weather during the week has been very hot; no rain, one or two days were cloudy and there was some appearance of rain, but it passed away, the nights are now beginning to get cold and the cold weather appears to be commencing.	The cotton crop in the lower land is very good, that on the higher only fair. The late rice crop at the foot of the hills has suffered from want of rain, but where irrigation has been practicable it looks very fair.

The mean barometer, as likewise the dry and wet bulb thermometer means, are derived fro the twenty-four hourly observations made during the day.

The dew-point is computed with the Greenwich constants. The figures in column 10 represe the humidity of the air, the complete saturation of which being taken at unity. The receiver of t lower rain gauge is 1½ feet, and that of the anemometer 70 feet 10 inches above the level of t ground. The velocity of wind, as indicated by Robinson's anemometer, is registered from noon to noo

The increase is due to the canals having been opened for traffic for the first time in a complete state with the 4 Terminal Locks at work. Last year the boats could only get through during the spring tides, or for about eight or ten days in the month, and hence the amount of the tolls realized was less than half what it is this year, when the boat can pass through the canals irrespective of the state of the tides in the river.

N. B.—Canals re-opened to traffic on the 4th September 1873. The length of canal has been increased owing to the change of Terminus from Banka to Gowkhally.

The following are the conditions of Sale :—

1. The Opium will be sold for exportation by sea only, and no certificate will be granted except to cover such export.

2. The Opium will be ordinarily offered for sale at an upset price of Rs. 800 per chest, and sold to the highest bidder above that price, except under the circumstances for which provision is made by Clause 12 of these Conditions of Sale. The bids must advance by Rs. 5 at a time.

3. The sale shall commence at the hour of 11 A.M. of the day fixed by previous notification, and shall not be continued after the hour of 5 P.M.; but if at that hour any of the lots advertized for sale shall remain unsold, the sale may, at the discretion of the Member in charge, be resumed on the next day following (not being Sunday or a public holiday) at the hour of 11 A.M., and so on until the whole of the remaining lots are disposed of; or, if the whole quantity advertized shall not be sold on the day appointed, the Member in charge may dispose of the lots which remain on hand at a future sale.

4. Each lot shall contain five chests.

5. A Promissory Note for a sum, calculated according to the scale noted in the margin, shall be taken as a deposit on each lot from the purchaser in the sale-room, and before the lot is registered in the sale book, and all such Promissory Notes shall be redeemed on the part of the purchasers at this Office by Bank of Bengal receipts, or by substitution of other public securities of the Government of India, on or before 4 o'clock in the afternoon of the fifth day after the sale; or on the other hand, failing such redemption by the time aforesaid, then the lot or lots for which no Bank of Bengal receipts, or deposit of other public securities as aforesaid shall have been delivered in, shall be re-sold at such time or times and under such conditions of re-sale as the Member in charge shall see fit; and all losses and expenses whatsoever attending such re-sale shall be borne and paid by the defaulters, whilst any profit accruing from such re-sale shall be forfeited to Government.

6. The Promissory Notes taken on the day of sale under the last-mentioned condition, if remaining unredeemed at 4 o'clock of the fifth day following the day of sale, will be placed in the hands of the Solicitor to the Government for realization in such manner as to him shall seem fit.

7. No tender of money, Bank of Bengal receipts, or public securities, on account of Opium upon which the prescribed deposit may not have been made before 4 o'clock of the fifth day following the day of sale, will be afterwards accepted.

8. The Opium advertised for sale shall be paid for not later than by 4 o'clock of the fifteenth day from the day of sale, and in case any lots of such Opium shall not be so paid for and adjusted, then the cash deposit made under the fifth Condition or any public securities that may have been deposited on account of such lots or chests, shall be forfeited, and the Opium shall be disposed of on account of Government at such time and in such manner as the Member in charge shall think fit, and the first purchaser shall further be required to make good any loss or difference of price between that obtained at the re-sale and the amount at which the Opium was first purchased, forfeiting all advantages that may arise from such re-sale.

9. Purchasers taking out certificates or orders for the delivery of Opium after making full payment as above prescribed, shall have the option of naming the number of lots of their purchase, which they may desire to be included in each certificate or order; and it is to be clearly understood that the certificates or orders so taken out shall be considered final, and not afterwards changeable for other certificates or orders authorizing the delivery of single lots, or of a different number of lots or chests, whether more or less, than the number of lots or chests originally required to be included in each certificate or order.

10. No deposit of public securities under the fifth of the present Conditions will be received in this Office except from the party recorded as the purchaser in the sale book or his anthorized Agent. The receipt for deposit of public securities will be granted only in the name of such purchaser, and the securities so deposited will be returned when payment in full has been made by the said purchaser or his order.

11. The officer superintending the sale on the part of the Government is empowered to reject, at his discretion, the bid of any individual, unless such individual shall, on demand, tender at the time a deposit either in Government of India Notes, Bank of Bengal Receipts, or Government Securities, a sum equal to the amount for which a Promissory Note would otherwise be taken under the fifth of these Conditions.

12. With a view to prevent fictitious biddings designed to obstruct the sale, it is hereby notified that the officer of Government superintending the sale shall be competent, at any time during the sale, to withdraw any unsold lot, and immediately to put it up again for sale at a maximum upset price, diminishing the same gradually until a bid is obtained, and the first bona fide bidder for a lot after it has been offered for sale in the mode here described shall be held and declared to be the purchaser of the said lot, and the officer of Government superintending the sale shall also be competent to dispose, in the same manner, of as many of the subsequent lots as he may think proper, provided always that no lot shall be sold below the minimum price of Rs. 800 specified in the second of these Conditions

13. The purchaser of any lot shall have the option of naming and purchasing in immediate succession, at the same price and under the same conditions, any number of lots of the same agency Opium not exceeding altogether twenty-five lots, provided always that there remain a sufficient number of lots of the Opium to complete the said twenty-five.

14. In the event of any dispute or difference touching or concerning any matter or question arising out of the sale of the Opium included in this notification, or adjustment of the account thereof, the same shall and may be tried and decided in the High Court of Juditure at Fort William in Bengal.

15. The following papers will be exhibited for inspection on the day of sale, or may be seen previously to that date by personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue. No. 1, certificate of the Opium advertized for sale; No. 2, report of the examination of such Opium.

16. The public are hereby informed that, in providing the investment of the Behar and Banares Opium for the year 1872-73, the same precautions have been taken as those which have been observed during past years, to have the drug procured and sent down in a pure state, to have only the prescribed quantity of leaves used in forming the cakes, and to have the due proportion of Opium put into each cake. An account of the weight of the drug when packed at Behar and Benares, and a statement of the average weight of the chests, indiscriminately taken for the purpose of comparison from the despatches on arrival at Calcutta, may be seen on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue.

17. Any further information respecting weight or quality of the Opium advertized for sale that may be desired by parties connected with the trade will, as heretofore, be furnished to them on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue. But, in accordance with established usage, under no circumstances will the Member in charge entertain or recognize any claim to compensation for loss from any alleged deficiency of weight, abstraction of Opium, or adulteration of the drug, which may be preferred on reference to chests after the sale and delivery of the Opium for shipment.

13. It is hereby further notified that under the 6th Article of the Convention between Great Britain and France, dated the 7th March, 1815, quoted below, the Agents in India of the French Government, or persons duly appointed by them, are entitled to demand that out of the quantities of Behar and Benares Opium declared as above for sale, at the twelve sales of the year 1874, there shall be delivered to them, at the average of the particular sale or sales to which the Opium so applied for may belong, a quantity not exceeding in the aggregate 300 chests, and the Agents of the French Government must make requisition specifying the quantity of Opium required by them at any particular sale, within thirty days from the advertisement of such intended sale, provided however that the Agents of the French Government may make such requisition for the whole quantity within thirty days from the publication of this notification. If the Agent of the French Government shall not make the requisition for Opium within the time above mentioned, the entire quantity of about 45,000 chests of Behar and Benares, as above estimated, will be brought to sale in the usual manner; and if they shall make application for a quantity of Opium to be delivered to them out of the quantity advertized for sale at each or any of the twelve sales above mentioned, but shall not pay for it within the prescribed period of payment, the Government of Bengal reserves to itself the right of disposing of the Opium which the French Authorities may so fail to pay for, either by increasing the quantity reserved at the sale next ensuing the date of payment, or by selling it at a sale to be held expressly for the purpose.

ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE JAILS OF BENGAL FOR 1872.

JUDICIAL DEPARTMENT.

JAILS.

Calcutta, the 5th November 1873.

READ—

The Administration Report of the Jails of Bengal for the year 1872.

1. MR. HEELEY's able and exhaustive report shows how thoroughly, as Inspector-General of Jails, he has continued to do justice to the expectations formed of him. He has gone thoroughly to the core of all matters connected with jail discipline and management, and the Lieutenant-Governor has to thank him for much valuable work and a lucid report. As he shows, the department is in a transition state; some things have been done and more commenced. The reforms of last year have been fairly started, and it may be hoped are bearing fruit in the present year.

2. The Lieutenant-Governor trusts that Mr. Heeley will carry out his intention of bringing out a complete new jail code with all the latest improvements. This is very much wanted. Next year's report will, it may be hoped, show how the principles enunciated at the close of last year have been carried out in practice, and meantime the Inspector-General is, His Honor thinks, right in very much devoting his attention, and the greater part of his present report, to "individual jails." In truth, as in the entire absence of good jails in Bengal we cannot with our limited means make new and perfect jails all over the country at once, the Lieutenant-Governor has always assumed that our main care must be to make the most of the jails we have by improving each as its individual circumstances and peculiarities will best admit. This is the more necessary, as the greatest difficulties in respect of mortality, and in some other respects, that we have to contend with, are not so much general to Bengal as confined to some particular jails, to which most special attention must be given.

3. Mr. Heeley refers to criticisms of last year's report and resolution published by Dr. Mouat, the late Inspector-General of Jails, in the Times newspaper. The Lieutenant-Governor does not remember exactly Dr. Mouat's criticisms. He believes they were of an extremely general character. The reforms introduced within the last two years in the Bengal Jail system have certainly been much criticised in several quarters, but no one maintains, or can maintain that except in so far as (in common with most provinces in India) a great improvement had been wrought in the sanitary condition of the jails taken as a whole, they were otherwise in a satisfactory state. It cannot be alleged that the buildings were decently fitted for the purpose; that the discipline was good; that there was any tolerable classification and separation of the prisoners. We do not allege that we have even yet made them satisfactory, or that we soon shall. It is a great and very difficult work. But the Lieutenant-Governor believes that we have made a good beginning, and that Mr. Heeley is efficiently carrying out some very great and beneficial improvements in the buildings, and in the discipline and the methods of our jails.

4. As regards sanitation, it is not to be supposed that the great improvements effected have brought the jails to anything like a satisfactory state of health. The statement in the margin shows the mortality in each year from 1857 to 1872. Roughly speaking, it may be said that whereas the mortality used to amount to 10 or 12 per cent., it had come down in the latter years of Dr. Mouat's incumbency, ending in 1870, to about 5 per cent. This is still a very heavy rate for an adult and able-bodied population, among whom are comparatively few old men. But it may be feared that nowhere in India have we learned to reduce the jail mortality to that of the ordinary population. The Lieutenant-Governor must differ from Mr. Heeley when he says (paragraph 4) that it is possible to take such measures as to bring the death-rate actually below that of the free population. If we had the power to reduce the death-rate by indulgence to, for instance, 1 per cent., we should of course not be justified in keeping up a system which involves a death-rate of 5 per cent. But it is because we have not discovered any means by which, while maintaining the semblance of a prison, we can reduce the death-rate to a really low point, that we cannot absolutely sacrifice everything to a doubtful attempt to make a very small alteration in the health of the prisoners. Further on in Mr. Heeley's report it is shown that in fact the evidence on the point goes to prove that reasonable discipline and hard work, as compared with laxness of system, do not increase the death-rate, but rather have the opposite effect.

5. (Partition Walls, para. 5).—On the subject of our rebuilding partitions that Dr. Mouat pulled down, His Honor would only remark that some dividing walls are an absolute necessity. Till recently in Bengal, it was no unusual sight to see under-trial and non-laboring prisoners mixed up in the same yard with convicts, and no distinction attempted between criminals of various degrees and classes. To continue such a state of things was impossible, and partitions must be put up sufficient to prevent this.

6. (Chapter II, Population of Jails).—The daily average number of prisoners under confinement during the year was 20,489, or 1,570 more than in 1871. The increase is common to all classes—civil, under-trial, and convicted prisoners. The increase in the total aggregate number of prisoners passing through the jails during the year, as shown in the table on page 4, is certainly remarkable, the number convicted during 1872 having been 5,342 more than in 1871. The Lieutenant-Governor will, however, for the present reserve the consideration of these and the other judicial statistics in Mr. Heeley's report. They are most interesting and important, but will be more conveniently dealt with in connection with criminal justice and police. His Honor will only here notice those parts of the chapter on jail population which have a departmental bearing.

7. (Transfers, paras. 14 and 15).—The number of prisoners transferred during the year from one jail to another has been very large (18,819). These figures are, however, swelled in some instances by transfers in the same station between the central and district jails. The Inspector-General remarks upon the difficulties with which the transfer of convicts is attended owing to want of discipline among the police guards escorting them. The Lieutenant-Governor fears there is much truth in this; but it is even a more serious matter to find that European medical officers in charge of jails have in so many cases set at nought the positive orders of Government as to the class of men that should be transferred to central jails. The fact that 70 prisoners were sent to the Bhaugulpore Central Jail works, who were men that had attempted escape, was not before known to Government; but several instances have been reported of the transfer of weakly and inefficient prisoners, and the Lieutenant-Governor has taken due notice of these. The recent orders imposing the check of further inspection by the Magistrate of drafts selected by the Superintendent for transfer, may stop the practice; but certainly such an order ought never to have been required.

8. (Detention in Lock-ups, para. 17).—The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to find that the orders of Government prohibiting the detention of any but very short-term prisoners in lock-ups have had a good effect in reducing the average detention from twenty to fourteen days. Some lock-ups were, however, far above this average. In the case of those in Assam, allowances must be made; but such instances as Pachumba, 56 days; Attiah, 43; Jehanabad, 30; and Burhee, 30; must not be allowed to recur. The Lieutenant-Governor has now, he hopes, made it clear both to the police and jail departments that it is quite unnecessary to send an armed guard of two policemen to escort to the sudder jail a petty thief or an old woman. He must insist on regular and speedy transfer from all lock-ups. There is certainly not the least pretext for keeping females in lock-ups long after conviction. They can always be sent in charge of a single constable, and require no formal guard, and from such a place as Barh they should be despatched to jail immediately.

9. (Ages of prisoners, para. 20).—The table of the ages of convicts on admission shows that there were only 327 who may be called juvenile, as being under sixteen years of age when convicted. There were only 32 under 12 years. There is in fact very little juvenile crime in Bengal; and it is this which makes it difficult to attempt to apply any regular reformatory system to the cases which do occur. The juvenile ward in the Presidency Jail is the only place in which this class of criminals can at present be conveniently brought together, and the Lieutenant-Governor will be glad to have the proposal made in paragraph 36, for declaring this ward a reformatory, submitted for consideration in a separate shape.

10. (Chapter III, Sanitation).—The percentage of mortality for 1872 shows an increase, being 5·19 against 4·01 in 1871; but, as remarked by Mr. Heeley, 1871 was an exceptionally healthy year, not only in jails, but in the country at large; while 1872 was marked by a serious outbreak of cholera, and by considerable unhealthiness of other kinds in the country generally.

11. Mr. Heeley discusses very fully and ably the question whether any of the increased mortality is due to the change in the jail system and the stricter discipline now enforced. The opinions of the medical Superintendent on this point are sufficient on the whole to prove that this was not the case. Careful analysis of the death-rate in most of the principal jails has convinced the medical officers that there is no direct connection between the mortality and the improved discipline. Dr. Lynch shows that in Russa and Baraset, where no change of system was introduced, the death-rate rose, owing doubtless to the unhealthiness of the year; while in Alipore, where the new system was put in force with the greatest rigor, the mortality was 2·10 per cent. lower than it ever was before; and even if Baraset, which serves as a sort of out-hospital to Alipore, be taken into account, it is shown at page 110 that the combined death-rate of the two jails was lower by 1·02 than in 1871. It is true that some officers have recorded opinions of the contrary kind; but in fact these opinions are found on examination to rest entirely upon theory, and it so happens that they are contradicted by the statistics of the very jails of which those officers have charge. Dr. French thinks that the short-term men suffer most, but he seems to attribute this to mental depression rather than to penal labor; and the mortality in his jail (Burdwan) was certainly not more than might have been looked for from the state of the district generally, but the contrary. In fact, however, the statistics of every jail show, as Mr. Heeley points out, that it is long-term prisoners to whom the first six months of their imprisonment are most dangerous, and that the short-term men, in spite of their penal labor, are better than the others. Dr. Bensley of Rajshahye again, while in one sentence attributing an injurious effect on the death-rate to harder work and strict discipline, adverts in the next to the fact that the death-rate of his jail has fallen from an average of 8·73 to 2·33. The same may be observed of other places—Bograh having fallen from 10 deaths to one; Rungpore, from 13·10 per cent. to 3·59,—facts quite opposed to the theories of the Superintendents in charge; and the Lieutenant-Governor has no doubt that the Inspector-General has arrived at a correct conclusion when he states that there is no evidence whatever that increased mortality is attributable to better discipline and harder work; and that while medical officers use judiciously the discretion which they have in respect of individual exemptions, there is no reason to fear the contrary.

In truth, the mass (nine-tenths) of the jails were as healthy or healthier in the past year than they ever were, and the increased mortality is due to three or four notoriously unhealthy jails, where, owing also to epidemics, &c., the death-rate has unhappily risen beyond that of any recent year,—very far beyond it indeed in one or two cases. These were the very jails in which we were fore-warned and fore-armed, and in which we have attempted ameliorative measures instead of pressing the prisoners, though unhappily the taint in them has so far got the better of us. Extramural labor has also in some places proved unfavorable to health; but at Midnapore, where this was most marked, the work was stopped. The mortality had nothing to do with any change of system, the extramural system having been introduced under the former regimé.

12. Of the 1,063 deaths that took place during the year, 135 were due to cholera; 37 of these being in Tirhoot, 20 in Julpigoree, 13 at Dehree, and 13 in the Presidency. There had been no cholera in these jails in 1871. Dysentery was worse than usual, causing 332 deaths, owing probably, Dr. Lynch suggests, to the excessive rainfall of 1871 and subsequent malaria having told upon the health of the population for 1872. Fever again appears to be less fatal than is popularly supposed, only 125 deaths being due to this, of which 22 were at Backergunge.

13. (Paras. 52 seq., Mortality in particular Jails).—Julpigoree is a very petty place—hardly a jail. The frightful percentage of mortality here (42·62) is due to an outbreak of cholera, which, as above noted, carried off 20 out of an average daily population of 61 only. There is nothing therefore in this result on which to generalize. The Lieutenant-Governor is happy to say he has since visited this jail and found it quite healthy, and apparently the present accommodation is excellent for the number of prisoners confined there. Tirhoot and Chumparun will be specially noticed below. The rate at Baraset, taken with Alipore Jail, is not unfavorable (4·7); on the contrary, it is better than it ever was before; but precautions have been taken to prevent any overcrowding of the aged prisoners and invalids, who form the chief part of the inmates at Baraset. The unhealthiness of Hooghly (9·03) is still not accounted for. The Inspector-General must pay rigorous attention to this jail, and endeavour to find out what is the matter with it. Mr. Heeley intimates his intention of transferring to Hooghly only strong and healthy men. This should be the rule certainly, but the efforts to discover the cause of its continued unhealthiness should not be relaxed.

In Backergunge (15·59) it is clear that something must be radically wrong. This jail has been a constant subject of anxiety, and we are now altering the entire structure of the jail, erecting double-storied barracks, and putting in arched floors, and must persevere till we have remedied its state most thoroughly.

In Midnapore (8·7) the mortality was due to, we hope, temporary causes. It has been the subject of much discussion, and seems to have been more or less explained by the exposure at extramural labor in the quarries. The stone quarrying has been stopped, and it is hoped the evil has now been remedied.

In Russa Female Jail (8·33) further explanation is required of the high mortality, which was, it seems, chiefly from dysentery. There is said to be an improvement this year, but the matter requires careful inquiry.

At Dehree (7·75) cholera and the general unhealthiness of the year accounted for much, and the evil was, it is believed, only temporary.

The rate of Bhaugulpore district, taken with the central jail, was not bad (3·77); but the Lieutenant-Governor is sorry to hear of a serious outbreak of cholera in 1873.

Gya (7·03) is clearly a bad jail, and under all the circumstances the Lieutenant-Governor has now determined to build a new one on a new site. Proposals for this may be sent in at once.

The rate at Burdwan (7·18) was not more than might have been expected from the fever-stricken state of the district population.

Purneah, with a rate of 6·58, is also an unhealthy place, and we can only strive to improve the jail as much as possible. Of the 20 prisoners who died, it is noticeable that 19 were engaged on light, not penal labor.

Jessore (5·64) and Sylhet (5·61) show higher rates than usual this year. Here also improvement must be sought after.

At Moorshedabad (5·10) the new jail will soon be ready, and things should be better.

In the Presidency Jail, Native (4·69) and European (8·99), we have to regret a falling back owing largely to cholera. Here no change was introduced by the hard labor system. The Lieutenant-Governor trusts this jail will recover its position. The mortality among Europeans was quite abnormal, 3 deaths being from liver abscess, 2 from typhoid, apparently brought into jail, while 2 were cases of men admitted in a weakly state.

In Patna (3·67) underground drainage experiments had been proposed to meet the cholera which always haunted the jail; but cholera left before the work began. If this had happened after, it would have been considered proof of the advantage of underground drainage. As it is, we are unable to account for the improvement. We may certainly congratulate ourselves on the comparative healthiness of Patna, Rungpore, Dinagepore, Rajshahye, Dacca, and also of the Assam jails as a whole.

14. On the whole subject of jail healthiness, it might almost be said that the only rule seems to be a rule of contraries, the jails at the unhealthiest places being the healthiest; e.g., Chittagong and Noacolly, notoriously bad places, yet having healthy jails; Dacca (perhaps falsely) reputed unhealthy, and certainly shunned by Europeans, yet of late years having a very healthy jail; while even Rungpore shows a mortality reduced below average. On the other hand, jails at healthy places are very deadly, as at Backergunge, Hooghly, and Midnapore.

15. The singular contrast between the jails of Eastern Bengal, a country generally considered so unhealthy, and those of Behar, generally considered so healthy, is again most marked. Behar is undoubtedly very healthy both for Europeans and Natives, supports a great population, and sends out a surplus population such as no other part of India does. Why then, it may well be asked, are its jails so unhealthy? There is not a jail in Behar where there has not been frightful mortality within a few years, and where the average of 15 years is not very large. We have happily reduced the death-rate, formerly so frightful, in South Behar, except at Gya, where a bad jail may perhaps in some degree account for it; but still in North Behar we have a mortality and a constant anxiety as to the jails far beyond that in most other parts of the country. All the jails there show a mortality above average; Tirhoot (20·89) and Chumparun (13·75) frightfully so. In 1871 overcrowding was alleged in Tirhoot as the cause. In 1872, 316 prisoners were transferred to other jails. The district is large and populous, and the number of short-term and weakly prisoners unfit for transfer coming into the jail is so great that it is said to be impossible to deplete the place thoroughly. The Lieutenant-Governor sanctioned extensive additions and alterations, but these have not yet been carried out in spite of the very urgent orders given to let no considerations stand in the way. Further discussion has, however, it is said, become necessary. The Lieutenant-Governor must insist on having discussion brought to a conclusion, and building begun and pushed on as rapidly as possible. The present building itself is a very open jail, with high, healthy-looking wards; overcrowding apart, there is certainly no apparent reason for unhealthiness. This year a severe cholera epidemic, added to the endemic sickness, has made the rate frightful; but even cholera apart, dysentery and other diseases are terribly fatal. His Honor is glad to learn that this year up to the middle of July there had been only 14 deaths in Tirhoot. Chumparun also is to all appearance a good, healthy jail.

16. Looking to the persistent excessive unhealthiness of Behar jails as compared to those of Bengal on the one side, and to those of the similarly situated districts, with similar populations, in the North-Western Provinces on the other, the Lieutenant-Governor is haunted with the suspicion that the connection of Behar with Bengal, and the application of Bengal principles in regard to food, water-supply, beds, or we know not what, may have something to do with it. He thinks we should try to get a North-Western Province Jail Officer, and associate him with Dr. Lethbridge, of Punjab experience, and some of the best of our local officers, to form a committee to inquire into, and report on the history and system of Behar jails. The Lieutenant-Governor of the North-Western Provinces will, with the sanction of the Government of India, be asked if he could lend an officer temporarily for this inquiry. Meantime the radical improvements in the Tirhoot jail must be pushed on, and no time must be lost in starting the new jail at Gya above sanctioned.

17. (Effect of transfers on health, para. 70).—The general result of the Inspector-General's inquiries is to convince the Lieutenant-Governor that we should not transfer Bengal men in large numbers to Behar, and that seeing how deficient Bengal is in central jails, we must supply more such jails there. The Lieutenant-Governor agrees that another new one must be built; and as Furreedpore is to be kept up as a district, His Honor is willing to consider favorably a proposition for building there a central jail for East Bengal. Immediate special report on this matter should be submitted.

18. Also the Lieutenant-Governor is willing that Rajshahye should be put on the footing of a central jail, and proposals to that end may be drawn up.

Dr. Bensley has eminent merits as a Jail Superintendent, and His Honor is sure that in his hands such a plan would be well carried out.

19. Where, as in Furreedpore, and perhaps Rajshahye, there is only a small civil station, if a medical man is Superintendent of the Jail, he might also, if well qualified, have the general superintendence of the civil station, a good first-class Sub-Assistant Surgeon being put under him to assist in that duty. This would save an increase of expensive appointments. The Surgeon-General will be consulted on this.

20. (Chapter IV, Public Works).—This chapter should in future be headed "Jail Buildings."

The improvement of the district jails and lock-ups of Bengal, and the building of solitary and punishment cells, the completion of the central jails, and the provision of separate hajuts for under-trial prisoners, have been subjects to which constant attention has been given during the year. Not so much actual work has been done as had been hoped for, but a very great deal has been planned and put in train, and with a budget grant of Rs. 6,87,000 for the year 1873-74 there ought to be considerable progress visible before long.

21. The central jail works have been getting on but slowly. Alipore is now, however, completely sub-divided, and is for the first time in its history tolerably secure from the risk of combination and outbreak among the prisoners; while at Midnapore, Bhaugulpore, and Hazareebaugh, vigorous efforts must be made to push on the buildings more rapidly than heretofore. It has been stated that one reason of the comparatively slow advance of these works is the insufficient proportion of paid skilled labor allowed to direct and instruct the convict workmen. The Public Works Department must direct attention to this point. It is false economy to delay the completion of these jails longer than can be helped.

22. New jails at Mymensing (on a new plan), Nya Doomka, Lohardugga, and the Khasi Hills, have been sanctioned; much has been ordered and is doing to improve Dacca, Burrisal, Tirhoot, Jessore, and Dinagepore, and the scheme of separate hajuts is well advanced. The Lieutenant-Governor hopes the new model plan of a district jail, which is being tried at Mymensing, will answer expectations. There is a great need of providing small but decent European wards in districts where this class of prisoners may be looked for, and the Inspector-General should not overlook this point.

23. The Lieutenant-Governor has found that in some cases, where we had settled ground-plans and the general plan of lock-ups, hajuts, &c., their execution was being too much left to the Department of Public Works, who cannot be expected to know the requirements precisely. He begs that every step and every inch of progress may be narrowly watched by the local officers responsible for the jail management. It must be quite understood that under the present system the civil officers are responsible for everything that is done as respects the arrangements and design. There must be thorough communication with, and instruction of the Public Works officers on all non-professional points, and the Inspector-General must narrowly watch the details of rising buildings, to see that they are thoroughly suitable, and all little conveniences are provided. He must not trust to the Department of Public Works to do this of themselves.

24. (Chapter V, Guarding).—The Lieutenant-Governor is quite satisfied of the necessity of increasing the staff of regular warders, while the police guard is correspondingly diminished. Also it is settled that in small lock-ups and hajuts warders may be altogether substituted for police for ordinary purposes; and he hopes this will be carried out. At the same time we must insist on the police supplying a regular guard when there are unusually dangerous prisoners. We cannot at all times and all the year round keep up at every place a permanent establishment enough to guard any set of desperate dacoits who may come in once in a year or so. The Jail and Police Departments must pull well together, and not act at arm's length departmentally. We must get rid of that intense departmentalism against which the Lieutenant-Governor has been struggling. His Honor must insist much on that. He has directed that in all new sub-divisions and new buildings it should be arranged, if possible, that the lock-up and thannah should be contiguous, so that with separate administration one may have the support of the other. This must never be lost sight of.

25. It is very unsatisfactory to see the failure to carry out the orders for improved discipline and penal labor in some lock-ups, as noted later on in paragraph 134. His Honor fears there will be much of this whilst lock-ups are under police not trained to jail work, and periodically changed. With a lock-up establishment this must be wholly reformed. There is a crying necessity for this, and it must be insisted on. The regular transfer of prisoners to sudder stations will, however, do much to prevent such abuses.

26. The Lieutenant-Governor does not expect reduction of expenditure by substituting warders for police; if, as Mr. Heeley promises, there is only a very slight increase, His Honor will be quite satisfied.

27. It is satisfactory to see that there were fewer escapes from jail during the year under review. As regards lock-ups, it must be admitted that the reduction of guards attempted last year has ended unfortunately with such lock-ups as we have, but the increased escapes were solely due to two or three unfortunate cases, and these again occurred from the breach, not from the observance, of orders. It never was supposed that two men would guard properly a gang of desperate criminals. Express provision was made for extra guards in such cases. It not only might be, but actually was the fact, as suggested by Mr. Heeley in paragraph 98, that in one instance when a strong extra guard was required to look after a sudden influx of dangerous prisoners, a roundabout process of official requisition and correspondence was resorted to, and that the prisoners escaped, while their guards were being only talked about. Departmentalism has been scotched, but, His Honor fears, not killed; however, we are keeping the monster down, and hope to get the life out of him soon.

28. (Chapter VII, Section 1, Establishment).—The Lieutenant-Governor has accepted in the main Mr. Heeley's proposals with reference to the salaries of jailors. The commission system, carried to the extent it was, was pernicious in every way, and will shortly be done away with. The scheme for naib jailors and warders also commends itself to His Honor's approval; but it is desirable to have all these proposals involving financial considerations in a complete shape before finally sanctioning them. The substitution of warders for police in lock-ups has already been complicated by the difficulty of removing the head constable, who at present has charge of the treasury as well as of the lock-up guard.

29. (Section II, Conduct of Prisoners).—There is a large increase in the return of jail offences and punishments. The change of system in jail discipline must of course involve some increase of punishments at first, but it is hoped this will soon cease; the efficient Superintendent is he who succeeds without severe punishments. The Beerbhoom system of flogging wholesale was intolerable, and severe notice was taken of it. His Honor is glad to learn that Dr. Barker has wholly changed his system.

Again, in the Presidency Jail, and after making every allowance for the class of prisoners confined there, there is no doubt flogging is carried to excess. Despite all Dr. Mackenzie's merits, the Lieutenant-Governor must insist that he will abate that; not abandon it in necessary cases, but abate the present excessive resort to flogging in his jail. The Inspector-General will be held responsible for effecting a change in this respect.

30. (Section III, Rewards).—The mark system, which has been introduced very lately, will, it is hoped, place the whole system of remissions and rewards on a more satisfactory footing. There will now be a tolerable guarantee that these will go by merit, and not by chance selection. The prisoners will have tangible inducements to steady good conduct; while there will be less executive interference with the effects of judicial sentences, inasmuch as dangerous or habitual criminals will earn only a modified remission, and be under surveillance to the end of their term.

31. (Section IV, Registers and Returns).—The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to know that Mr. Heeley has been able to revise and reduce the registers and returns which were far too elaborate hitherto, and calculated only to defeat their own object.

32. (Section V, Employment).—In stating the percentage of prisoners engaged in labor, Sundays and holidays should not be deducted in calculating the number employed. The number employed on working days should be taken.

The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to see increased employment on manufactures, and diminution of useless jail servants.

33. He must, however, again dwell on the advantage of providing penal labor for short-term prisoners in every jail and lock-up. Some improvement has taken place in this respect, but not so much as ought to be the case. Treadmills are being put up at several jails, and when the special inquiries now being made in England as to cranks and other mechanical appliances are complete, it is hoped that every place of confinement will in time have the means of exacting penal labor.

34. As regards the practical difficulty of providing penal labor for all short-term men, the Lieutenant-Governor does not object to the Inspector-General's exercising a discretion and looking to the nature of offences. He does not wish all short-term prisoners to be equally punished, absolutely and literally. He only does not wish to make so sweeping a difference as shall nullify altogether the work of judicial officers in apportioning sentences. At any rate, while means of hard labor are deficient, the Inspector-General may select the classes of criminals for whose benefit they are to be used.

35. (Chapters VIII & IX, Expenditure and Profits).—The returns show that the net profits in most jails have somewhat fallen off, but not on the whole to an excessive degree. The great number of prisoners employed on miscellaneous duties is still very unsatisfactory, though useless jail servants have been generally reduced; but it is reported that some jail officers seem very helpless about devising industrial employments. The central jails will, when completed, concentrate labor and make the outturn more satisfactory. In lock-ups the employment of a warder guard should lead to improvements, and secure some return for the labor which is now exacted in these places. The Lieutenant-Governor quite approves of the general stoppage of extra-mural work, except for purposes of health and upon jail buildings, in the garden or the brick-field.

36. There is doubtless much in what Mr. Heeley says about the difficulty of inducing all Superintendents to take an earnest and intelligent interest in the industries of their jails. We cannot afford to neglect entirely the question of remunerative labor; but there is nothing naturally antagonistic between labor that pays and labor that irks. It is disappointing to learn that on inspection many of the jails in which the Lieutenant-Governor's orders were reported to have been carried out were found so wanting; but Mr. Heeley has the question well in hand, and much may be hoped for from the attention he has given to it.

37. The cost of supervision has risen from Rs. 34,548 to Rs. 41,397, but this was almost accounted for by the full salary of the Inspector-General being drawn this year, while there were savings last. The cost of establishments had also risen from Rs. 2,62,737 to Rs. 2,68,176, but the difference is fully explained, and was not at all in proportion to the increase in the jail population. There was also an increase in the cost of police guards from Rs. 1,96,620 to Rs. 2,09,311. Rations had of course cost more owing to the larger number of mouths to feed, and stood at Rs. 5,41,198, against Rs. 4,91,205; the rate per man was 7 annas 2 pies more than in 1871. Hospital charges were Rs. 27,769; and clothing cost Rs. 78,959, or Rs. 14,476 over last year. This last increase is not altogether explained. Contingencies also rose slightly to Rs. 63,378. The total expenditure, including buildings, was Rs. 14,98,656, or Rs. 73-3-1 per man, against Rs. 13,20,606, or Rs. 70-5-8 per man, in 1871. The increase is mainly due to increased activity in jail building, the outlay being Rs. 2,50,232, against Rs. 1,69,619 in 1871. Excluding buildings, the total cost was Rs. 12,48,424 as against Rs. 11,50,987 in the previous year.

The general result may be accepted as satisfactory, showing improvement effected without serious expense to the State. The European jails are naturally very expensive, and tend to raise the average much. Assam and Darjeeling are also unavoidably expensive places; but it should be explained why Kamroop and Julpigoree should show largely increased charges. Doomka, Pooree, Bogra, and Singbhoom, are much above the average, apparently because being small jails the cost of their guards and establishments is relatively greater.

38. As regards profits from manufactures, it appears that, excluding Alipore, the final balance of profit on the outturn, minus the expenditure in mofussil jails, was Rs. 90,900, against Rs. 1,00,300 in 1871. There was a much greater outturn of work, but a largely increased expenditure on comparatively unproductive and penal labor. The Lieutenant-Governor must repeat what he said last year, that our mofussil jails never were profitable to an extent to justify the sacrifice of system. He would express his satisfaction at the general results of the present year, attended as they are with improved discipline and new non-paying penal labor. At the same time he thinks gunny-weaving may be extended, and that there is room for improvement in paying occupations. The Lieutenant-Governor has already noticed the Inspector-General's statement that some jail officers are painfully helpless about providing industrial employments, and seem as if they had never given a thought to the matter; and His Honor would here again entirely endorse Mr. Heeley's views in paragraph 153, that prisoners, if properly looked after, ought to show something for their work. The present waste of power, of which the Inspector-General complains, he must do all he can to correct; and Superintendents must not, while enforcing penal labor, lose sight entirely of the prospect of earning a legitimate profit.

39. On the whole, however, thanks to the great and continued success of Alipore, the net balance of profit for the year was Rs. 2,72,400, against Rs. 2,24,700 in 1871. The profits of the Alipore mills were Rs. 1,81,500, against Rs. 1,24,300. This is explained by the great fall in the price of jute, which "caused the year to be one of unexampled prosperity for the trade of gunny-weaving. Dr. Lynch, however, warns us that a succession of such years is not to be looked for; it is probable that the extreme limit of profits has been already reached; competition has begun to an extent which threatens to destroy profits altogether." Whether this is a correct anticipation or not, it is certain that it is very important to develope the manufacture departments of central and district jails to meet the very probable fall in the net returns of Alipore.

40. Looking to the returns of the district jails, it appears that in eight the expenditure on manufactures actually exceeded the returns from sales. This is a result which should certainly be carefully examined, and if possible corrected. Twelve jails just cleared their manufacturing outlay by a mere fraction, while in only nine jails were the profits really large. This has in fact always been the state of things as regards the profits of Bengal jails; the profits were made up of Alipore (actual and press account) and a few other jails; the majority gave little real profit. Rajshahye, Hooghly, Mymensing, Russa, Purneah, and Cachar, were the jails where profit was largest in proportion to the expenditure in the past year.

41. The net profits of the Alipore Jail Press are shown at Rs. 1,05,904, but these are only book-earnings. The press has no cash receipts.

42. The Lieutenant-Governor has read with interest Mr. Heeley's account of the different j ils contained in part II of his report. His Honor will not attempt to deal with all the points of detail that arise here and there in these summaries. Mr. Heeley is in possession of the views of Government, and must himself issue orders to correct anomalies, reform abuses, and push on improvements, where these are required. In several instances, where discrepancies in the accounts of Superintendents are indicated, full inquiry should be made, and the matter should be cleared up. Certain remarks, however, with reference to some of the jail summaries, are appended to this resolution.

43. The following table exhibits jail expenditure and receipts in a compendious form:—

44. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to find from these reports that Superintendents of Jails have, as a body, done good service during the past year. He may, however, single out for special thanks the following gentlemen:—Drs. Lynch, Mackenzie, Lethbridge, N. Jackson, Bensley (Rajshahye), Conolly, Coates, French, Bose, Simpson, Macleod, Bensley (Backergunge), Bowser, and Major Hitchins.

ANNUAL CUSTOMS REPORT BY THE BOARD OF REVENUE FOR 1872-73.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

MISCELLANEOUS REVENUE.

Calcutta, the 17th October 1873.

READ—

The Annual Customs Report by the Board of Revenue for the year 1872-73.

RESOLUTION.—If the salt duty be omitted, the customs transactions of the year 1872-73 compare with the results of previous years as follows :—

In the year	Receipts from duties on merchandise at Calcutta.	Chittagong.	Orissa ports.
1840-41	324,177	991	180
1850-51	424,433	402	81
1860-61	1,356,703	4,301	1,311
1870-71	1,113,926	15,820	1,821
1872-73	1,051,000	34,875	977

The customs receipts of the petty port of Morellgunge are included in the Calcutta receipts, and so also were the customs receipts of Port Canning, until there ceased to be any receipts at all, about three years ago. It will be seen that the customs receipts of Calcutta are very nearly the same as last year, while the Chittagong customs revenue was nearly double as high as it ever was before. The Calcutta customs revenue of 1872-73 was 22 per cent. less than it was in the days of high duties after the mutiny, and was 5 per cent. below what it was in the prosperous year 1870-71.

2. Though the customs revenue of the port of Calcutta has kept up to the level of the preceding year, yet the value of the total (foreign and inter-portal) trade of the port in 1872-73 was very much lower than in the previous year; thus—

	Value of exports from Calcutta.	Value of imports to Calcutta.	Total.
1872-73 ...	29,908,937	17,986,994	47,895,931

The decrease of imports is mainly under the head of bullion and specie; the imports of gold, silver and money were £3,251,806 less than they were in the previous year, while there was a net decrease of £126,877 on the value of other merchandise imports. There was a net decrease of £2,862,215 in the value of all exports, the decrease being very large in the exports of—

Opium,
Oil-seeds,
Cotton.

The falling off in the bullion imports is said to have been due to the condition of the exchange market, under which bankers found it more convenient to buy India Office bills than to import bullion or specie. The total drawings of the Secretary of State paid in Calcutta during the year under review were Rs. 10,81,62,000, which falls short by one million of the whole difference between the estimated values of exports and imports.

3. Taking first the exports of the year from Calcutta to places beyond British India, we find the largest fluctuations in the following articles :—

	Value of exports in the year 1871-72. £	1872-73. £	£
Opium	6,852,380	5,613,205	1,239,175	decrease.
Cotton	4,036,955	1,779,129	2,257,826	,,
Oil-seeds	2,009,403	1,111,920	898,483	,,
Hides and skins	1,862,557	1,815,557	47,000	,,
Lac and lacdye	239,205	188,175	51,030	,,
Safflower & other dyes	131,580	110,246	21,334	,,
Jute	4,113,943	4,127,943	14,000	increase.
Gunny-bags	114,612	161,419	46,807	,,
Indigo	2,465,186	2,699,420	234,234	,,
Tea	1,448,467	1,567,561	119,094	,,
Rice	1,277,672	1,685,170	407,498	,,
Sugar	146,189	182,456	36,266	,,
Tobacco	7,636	71,695	64,059	,,
Saltpetre	390,676	518,012	127,836	,,
Raw silk	1,060,444	1,236,887	170,443	,,
India-rubber	78,565	143,631	65,166	,,

The increases and decreases in each article are partially explainable thus :—The opium decrease is due to the shortness of the crop and of the number of chests offered for sale by Government. The very large decrease in the value of cotton exports is due mainly to the comparative cheapness of American cotton in Europe, and the consequently reduced demand for Bengal cotton: the year 1871-72 was a year of very exceptional briskness in the Bengal cotton trade. The fall in the seed trade was due in part to the shortness of the seed crops in the Ganges valley and elsewhere. In the preceding year (1871-72) the value of the seeds export fell off by £835,000, and now it has fallen by £898,483 more. The exports to Great Britain and America, our principal customers for seeds, have fallen off in about equal proportions. The Collector of Customs notes that the rape-seed crop was a failure, and that mineral oils are largely taking the place of rape-seed oil in Europe. This very large and continuous decrease of the trade in an important staple merits some further inquiry; and the Lieutenant-Governor would be glad if the Board would obtain from the Collector of Customs a detailed account of the fluctuations of the particular markets which take less of our seeds, of the sources from whence those markets now draw their supplies, and of any reasons why Indian seeds should have lost ground in the estimation of European and American consumers. The decrease in the exports of hides and of lac is not explained: if any of the decrease in the hides trade is due to the cessation of the cattle disease, which threw so many hides on the market, the decrease will not be matter for regret. The decrease in the safflower trade is said by the authorities of Dacca, in which district safflower is almost exclusively grown, to be due to over-trading and excess European stocks of the preceding year. The Commissioner of Dacca reports that one of the causes for the decline in the trade is the discovery of a cheaper substitute for safflower. The Lieutenant-Governor would wish the facts in this matter to be ascertained.

The increase in the estimated value of the jute exports is very small, but the increase in the quantity of jute exports was very large. The growth of the jute trade during the last few years has been as follows :—

In the year	Exports of jute and jute cuttings from Calcutta in Cwts.
1867-68	2,291,565
1869-70	3,350,200
1870-71	3,745,402
1872-73	7,061,951

The jute produce of the year under review was so large that the price went down nearly one-half, and as a consequence there has been a reduction in the area sown with jute during the current year. The trade in gunny-bags has also increased; Australia and the Straits Settlements have taken more gunny-bags, but America took less than in the preceding year. The export of jute and jute cuttings to America was somewhat in excess of the previous years, being 1,242,000 cwts., against 1,000,000 cwts. in the preceding year. It is not known if the manufacture of gunny-bags is increasing in America. The indigo export was 119,385 cwts., against 66,929 cwts. in the preceding year; but the outturn having been so very large, prices went down considerably, and the increase in the estimated value of the indigo exports was, as shown above, barely ten per cent. The exports of tea, which increased by 4,000,000lb in the preceding year, show a further increase of 516,000lb. The tea crop of the year under review was short in some districts, or the increase would have been still higher. Great Britain continues to take almost the whole of our teas. The increase in the rice export was 1,341,413 cwts.; the bulk of the increase went to the Mauritius and Great Britain: and the West Indian Islands took more rice than in previous years. The large export of rice to Java was a new trade, and was due apparently to the partial failure of the crops in that island. With the cessation of the Persian famine a smaller quantity of rice has gone from Calcutta to the Gulf. The increased exports in sugar must have been due mainly to the goodness of the date and other sugar crop in Lower Bengal, for the up-country sugar yield of the year was low. Almost the whole of the increased exports (23,949 cwts.) went to Great Britain and Persia. Recent inquiries in Jessore have shown that the increase in the export of date sugar to Calcutta has been very great during the last eight or ten years. The tobacco export to Europe is almost a new trade. The Collector of Customs writes: "This increase has been owing to a trial shipment "having been favorably reported on for the German market, which is supplied "through London * * * * From the cheap rate at which "Indian tobacco can be laid down in Europe, there are prospects of much "further development." If a steady and growing trade in Indian tobacco should be established, it will be a great advantage to the Indian growers. The increase in the saltpetre export is satisfactory, as the trade had been dull in the preceding year. The increase occurred chiefly in the exports to America and China, and may serve to counterbalance the somewhat gloomy anticipations made regarding this trade in the Patna divisional report.

4. Among the foreign imports fluctuation has occurred principally in the following items:—

	Value of imports in the year 1871-72.	1872-73.
Specie and bullion	4,001,604	1,096,251	*2,905,352 decrease.
Grey cotton goods	6,853,691	6,026,728	826,962 "
White cotton goods	1,410,112	1,628,977	218,865 increase.
Turkey reds	577,285	476,224	101,061 decrease.
Colored piece-goods	617,340	808,126	190,786 increase.
Cotton twist	973,252	1,020,248	46,996 "
Coal and other fuel	121,387	77,088	44,298 decrease.
Candles	17,015	44,679	27,663 increase.
Spices	64,720	97,453	32,733 "
Fruits	61,301	39,643	21,658 decrease.
Copper	579,609	289,367	290,241 "
Railway materials	210,967	253,848	42,881 increase.
and wood	100,083	16,483	83,600 decrease.

The decrease in the bullion imports have already been noticed; almost the whole decrease occurred in imports from Great Britain and China. The decrease in grey cotton goods, following on a decrease of £716,635 in the value of imports during the preceding year, is ascribed mainly to the over-trading of the year 1870-71. The trade in twist, colored goods, and white cotton goods, is recovering from the stagnation of the year 1871-72. The decrease in the import of fuel is due to the rise in prices in England.

* NOTE.—This figure differs from that in paragraph 2, which contains interportal as well as foreign bullion and pecie imports.

The fluctuation in the imports of candles, fruits, and spices, is casual, and is not explained. The great falling off in the copper import is said to be due to the rise of prices in England, to which country the ordinary Indian supplies of copper from Australia were diverted. A new source of supply for copper has been worked during the year under review, namely, Japan, which sent £27,835 worth of copper, as compared with £12,942 worth in the preceding year. The small increase in the import of railway materials followed on a decrease of over half a million sterling in the preceding year. The decrease in the timber imports occurred chiefly in the Australian and British trade. There was an almost corresponding increase in the imports of timber from Moulmein, which is shown under the head of interportal as distinguished from foreign trade.

5. On a general review of all the items of the trade of Calcutta, the Lieutenant-Governor feels able to say that the Custom House returns testify that the yield of country produce and the general commerce of the country was fairly good. The only very unfavorable item was the continued large decrease in the export of oil-seeds. The reduction of imports of piece-goods was, it is believed, merely the natural reaction from the excessive trading of 1870-71.

6. Of the total value of all the inward and outward trade of Calcutta during the year, 52 per cent. was with Great Britain. In the trade to North America there was a net decrease of £252,421 in value; of this decrease £6,164 were in the imports, which are altogether inconsiderable in value (less than £40,000 in all). The chief items of decrease in exports were indigo, oil-seeds, raw skins, gunny cloths, and gunny-bags; while there was a considerable increase in the saltpetre, gums, india-rubber, and tanned skins trade. Altogether the exports from Calcutta to America fell from a value of £2,247,712 in 1871-72 to £2,013,705 during the year under review.

There has been a net decrease of £114,895 in the Calcutta trade with Australia. The decrease has occurred mainly in the imports of copper, horses, and timber, and there have been small decreases in the value of rice and of miscellaneous exports to Australia. The only noticeable item of increase in the Australian trade is gunny-bags, of which Australia took more than double as many as she did in the preceding year.

7. The Calcutta trade* with France has remained stationary; while the trade to China, Holland, Hamburgh, Trieste, Egypt, North America, Australia, South America, the Straits Settlements, and the Arabian and Persian Gulfs, has decreased considerably during the year under review; and the trade with the Mauritius and Italy has increased thus—

* Note.—The figures used in this paragraph are taken from the Commercial Annual for 1871-72 and 1872-73, published by the Collector of Customs.

	Total value of export and import trade (exclusive of bullion) between Calcutta and the undermentioned places during the year
	1871-72.	1872-73.
France	1,477,285	1,471,730
China	6,602,862	5,614,844
Holland	244,769	107,671
Hamburgh	65,452	1,323
Trieste	643,869	425,690
Egypt	69,342	56,034
North America	2,161,573	1,790,217
Australia	279,348	160,942
South America	134,329	6,411
The Straits Settlements	1,549,641	1,307,378
The Arabian and Persian Gulfs ...	398,440	375,867
Italy	268,448	467,373
The Mauritius	503,034	733,864

France has taken much more raw silk, more shawls, more jute, more hides, and more saltpetre, than in the previous year; but the exports of cotton, seeds, and indigo, have fallen very largely indeed; the net result being that the value of the whole trade was about the same as in the previous year. The decrease in the China trade has occurred chiefly in imports of copper and vermilion, and in exports of opium and rice. The exports of cotton from Calcutta to China had risen in value from £409,491 in 1871-72 to £659,338 during the year under review. The trade with Hamburgh has almost ceased owing to the failure of the rape-seed crop. The falling off in the Trieste trade has been principally in indigo exports (£190,000), cotton exports (£60,000); the exports of hides to Trieste has meanwhile risen by nearly £70,000 in value. The export of indigo to Egypt almost ceased during the year, and the import of corals from Egypt was very slack. The decrease in the North American trade; the decrease in the import of horses, copper, and timber from Australia, and the increased export of gunnies to Australia, have already been noticed. The decrease in the trade with South America was due entirely to the cessation of the demand for Indian rice in South America. The decrease in the value of trade to the Straits is due to the shortness of the opium supply; the trade in gunnies to Singapore and the imports of black pepper from Penang increased largely. Nine-tenths of the trade with the Straits is export trade. The export of rice to the Gulf decreased by about £60,000, but as a make-weight the export of indigo went up £35,000; both these fluctuations are probably due to the cessation of the Persian famine. The large increase in the trade with Italy consists of an increase of £100,000 in the export of raw silk, £56,000 in the hides and skins export, and £12,000 in the indigo export. There was some increase in the imports of salt and of beads from Italy. The increase in the Mauritius trade occurred entirely under the head of rice and other food-grains. More than ninety-nine-hundredths of the trade with the Mauritius is export trade.

8. Of all the countries with which Calcutta has considerable foreign trade, Great Britain is the only country which sends to India more merchandise than she receives. In 1872-73 Great Britain sent to Calcutta £14,362,000 worth of merchandise, and received from Calcutta £10,735,000. To all other countries Calcutta sent about £19,265,000 worth, and received back from those countries about £3,624,000 worth of goods. The excess in value of the Calcutta export over its import trade with some of the principal countries of the world may be seen from the subjoined figures:—

Country with which the trade occurs.	Value of Calcutta trade of the year 1872-73, exclusive of bullion.
	Exports.	Imports.
China	5,442,357	172,487
North America	1,756,061	34,565
France	1,284,601	187,293
The Straits Settlements	1,080,839	125,639
Australia	111,552	49,390
The Mauritius	732,342	1,522
Italy	407,647	59,726
Trieste	396,076	29,614
Arabian and Persian Gulfs	295,156	80,611
Holland	107,677	Nil.

		1870-71.	1871-72.	1872-73.
Vessels of all kinds...	Number ...	1,082	1,109	1,118
	Tonnage ...	890,675	978,693	992,211
Steamers ...	Number ...	.....	290	342
	Tonnage ...	.....	279,692	347,130
Native craft ...	Number ...	.....	169	161
	Tonnage ...	.....	15,324	13,299
Suez Canal steamers, included in the first two totals ...	Number ...	56	89	91
	Tonnage ...	56,353	109,175	121,534

It is evident that the average tonnage of the vessels coming to this port continues to increase, though not at so rapid a rate as in the years immediately after the opening of the Suez Canal.

10. At the port of Chittagong there was a large increase of trade and customs duty during the year 1872-73; thus—

		1871-72. £	1872-73. £
Total customs collections, exclusive of salt duty	...	18,990	35,891

It would seem that in the foregoing figures, taken from the Board's report, the value of the salt imported has been taken at the invoice price plus the duty, instead of being taken at the price in bond; a deduction of Rs. 7,25,000 must therefore be made from the estimated value of the Chittagong trade, if the estimate is to be framed in the same way as for Calcutta and other ports.

The dutiable export of rice from Chittagong is mostly to the Mauritius and Ceylon. There is also a very considerable and rising trade with Rangoon in timber and earth-oil, which last commodity is coming into general use among the people of Chittagong. From Akyab also, where salt is cheap, a considerable trade in salt-fish is setting to Chittagong. Chittagong still draws its supplies of piece-goods and other European commodities, except salt, from Calcutta.

11. The custom duty realized at the Orissa ports is still extremely small, barely Rs. 10,000 a year, which is realized on small consignments of rice to, and of cocoanuts, coir, and cowries from, the Laccadives and Maldives, or upon an occasional package of European stores from Pondicherry. In 1872-73 the total quantity of rice exported from the Orissa ports to places outside India was only 42,000 maunds. There is, however, a considerable export of rice from Orissa to other Indian ports. When the canal system of Orissa shall be complete, we may expect to see a large export of rice from Orissa to foreign and to Indian ports. The coasting trade between Calcutta and the Orissa ports is largely increasing. The ports and the establishments at False Point, Balasore, Chandballee, as well as the communications between these ports and the interior, have recently been much improved, and are receiving still further attention. The Government of India has recently sanctioned proposals for relieving the Orissa ports from the strict letter of some of the customs departmental rules, which hampered the coasting trade. The working of these ports will be a very great benefit to Orissa and its people, though for some years to come their trade can hardly have much effect upon the customs revenue. The principal exports will be rice for Calcutta and other Indian markets.

12. The Lieutenant-Governor's acknowledgments are due to Mr. Money, the Member in charge of the Customs Department of the Board of Revenue, for his able supervision of the Customs Department; to Mr. Crawford, for his successful administration of the Calcutta Custom House; to Messrs. Hankey and Ravenshaw for their attention to customs affairs in their divisions; as well as to the officers mentioned at paragraphs 149, 174, 175, 206, and 207 of the Board's report, for the diligent discharge of their duties during the year.

REPORT BY THE BOARD OF REVENUE ON THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE EXCISE DEPARTMENT FOR 1872-73.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

ABKAREE.

Calcutta, the 23rd October 1873.

READ—

The report by the Board of Revenue on the administration of the Excise Department for the year 1872-73.

1. Two important experiments were made in the year under review to effect an increase in the revenue derived from country spirits without promoting consumption, each of which has been attended with some measure of success. Under the central distillery system the practice had been to charge a fixed monthly license fee, generally Rs. 4, on all shops in a district, irrespective of their locality. The tendency thus was to increase the revenue by increasing the number of shops. While some dealers, whose shops were well situated, got quick returns on their capital, others less favorably situated made very small profits, and some could barely contrive to continue their trade all the year round. It was thought that Government might well claim to share in the extra profits of the former class arising from local advantages, and that the shops of many of the latter might with advantage be closed. It was therefore determined to make the license fees charged for any shop correspond in some measure with the local advantages which the holder might be expected to enjoy, securing these to him at the same time by restricting the number of shops to be licensed. The amount of yearly fee for each shop can now be settled by competition at auction, subject to an upset price of Rs. 4 per mensem, or it can be determined by the Collector on a consideration of the local circumstances. Both plans have been tried in parts of the Patna, Bhaugulpore, Burdwan, and Dacca Divisions, with results that are on the whole encouraging. The number of shops has largely decreased, the consumption of duty-paid liquor has been reduced, while the revenue has not suffered, but has on the whole increased.

2. The difficulty of ensuring the honest and intelligent use of the hydrometer, as well as of keeping the instruments in order, suggested the adoption as an experiment of the plan of levying a tax upon the materials of distillation, instead of a duty upon spirit according to its alcoholic strength. The head-quarters and outlying distilleries of Monghyr and the Begumpore distillery in Patna were selected for the trial. Rates were fixed after experiment, calculated to be equivalent to the still-head duty previously levied. These rates in Patna were Rs. 4-8 per maund on goor, Rs. 3-8 per maund upon choor, and Rs. 3 on the other materials used in distilling spirit. The experiment appears to have broken down in Monghyr, where the system, however, is said not to have had a fair chance. In the Begumpore distillery, on the other hand, there was in the last three quarters of the year, the period during which the trial was made, an increase of 49,589 gallons of spirit passed out, and of Rs. 7,908 in the tax realized as compared with the issues and amount of duty realized during the same period of the previous year. Under the new system the produce of the tax levied on materials was equivalent to an average duty of only three annas one pie per gallon. It would therefore seem that the new system has enabled the dealers to make a large quantity of cheap weak liquor, such as the consumers demanded. If the people prefer this kind of drink to the stronger stuff turned out under the hydrometer system, it is very much better that their wishes should be met.

3. Towards the close of the year the selling price of excise opium was increased by about ten per cent. in all districts except those in which opium is produced. The revenue has improved somewhat, but the late period of the year from which the change had effect renders it premature to draw any inference from this. The duty on flat ganja was also raised from Rs. 2 to 2½ per seer with effect from the 1st April 1872. The result has been a consumption diminished by 1,420 maunds, and a revenue increased by Rs. 41,828.

4. The Lieutenant-Governor notices with satisfaction that in accordance with the view expressed by him in August 1872 the supervision of the excise system has now been generally entrusted to the sub-divisional officers within their respective jurisdictions. This practice had, it is understood, previously existed in some districts. It is now to be universally adopted, and there are to be no special Excise Deputy Collectors.

5. The total excise revenue of the year under review was larger than that of 1871-72 by Rs. 4,47,407. It exceeded the average of the five years immediately preceding by Rs. 8,51,966. Including the customs duty on imported wines and other liquor, the results of the year are as follows, compared first with those of an average of the five preceding years, and next with those of 1871-72 only :—

The Lieutenant-Governor considers it to be a happy result that, with diminished consumption, we have very considerably increased the revenue on the whole.

6. Country spirits, Taree, and Puchwai.—The above figures show an increase in the revenue derived from these liquors of Rs. 2,34,558 as compared with 1871-72, and of Rs. 5,81,640 as compared with the average of five years. Though the increase of this revenue is hardly a subject for congratulation, the Lieutenant-Governor believes that consumption is really checked. The measures adopted with a view to this end are the enhancement of the rates of still-head duty, the increase by auction-sale of the license fees, and above all the restriction of the number of shops. The introduction of the new system of licensing shops for the sale of country spirits has had much effect in this direction. The total number of gallons issued from all public distilleries during the year in question was 2,673,190, or 278,092 less than in the previous year, and 640,004 less than the average of five years immediately preceding it. Of the decrease in consumption, as compared with 1871-72, 276,654 gallons represent the diminution in the districts where the new system of licensing country spirit shops was introduced. The average monthly license fee exacted there per shop was a little over Rs. 8 in place of Rs. 4, which was formerly customary, the increased revenue thus obtained more than meeting the falling off in the amount of still-head duty. At the same time the number of shops was reduced by 1,536 in these districts alone.

The reduction in number of native liquor shops throughout the whole of Bengal was 1,559 as compared with the previous year. A similar plan has been followed of enhancing the revenue derived from shops for the sale of fermented taree. Though there was a slight increase in the number of these as compared with the previous year, still the total number of taree shops was less by 217 than the average of five years. At the same time the average annual fee levied from each shop has increased from Rs. 28-15-3, the average of five years, to Rs. 32-11-2, the average of the year under review.

7. After all the spirit revenue of these provinces is not large in view of the vast populations they contain. The consumption of country spirits and rum does not average more than one-twenty-fifth of a gallon per head of the population in Bengal.

The Commissioner of Patna, in his administration report for the past year, says: "The mhowa liquor most generally sold in these districts is 75° to 90° below proof, and is probably much less intoxicating than public-house beer at home. It sells at two to three annas a quart in the shops, a price which, in comparison with the general range of prices in India, is considerably dearer than that of beer in England. In Patna the annual consumption is something over one-half a gallon per head, while in Chumparun it falls as low as one-thirty-third of a gallon per head. This of course means that the proportion of people who drink is very small, for I suppose any one who drinks at all regularly is bound to consume 50 gallons of such weak liquor in the course of a year."

8. The use of taree, the juice of the date tree, is by no means so injurious as that of distilled spirits; while puchwai, the chief drink of a large section of our population, is really very small beer.

9. In commenting last year on the extension of the out-still system to Hazareebaugh, and to the Nepal and the North-East Frontier, the Lieutenant-Governor desired that every precaution should be taken against encouraging a taste for distilled spirits among aboriginal tribes. The Commissioner of Patna and the Collector of Purneah now report that there is no danger of this in their districts; while the Commissioner of Chota Nagpore anticipates that with a proper superintendence there will be no cause for fearing that more liquor will be produced and consumed than was the case under the central distillery system. The Lieutenant-Governor much hopes that his instructions may be borne in mind; he observes that in Maunbhoom the number of out-stills is considered by the Board to have been "much more than were required." Indeed in the Chota Nagpore districts generally a very large number of out-stills have been licensed—181 in Hazareebaugh, 533 in Lohardugga, and 138 in the jungly tracts of Maunbhoom. The Lieutenant-Governor considers that there could have been no actual necessity for licensing such a very large number of out-stills. He hopes that this matter will receive Colonel Dalton's best attention; that inquiry will be made how much liquor, at what price, and of what kind, this large number of out-stills turns out; and that if these new out-stills have promoted drinking and drunkenness unduly, by bringing liquor to every man's door, the number of licenses should be very considerably reduced.

10. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to observe that the Commissioners of the various divisions take on the whole a favorable view of the results of the experiments which have been made. By none of them is it pronounced a failure, while the Commissioner of Dacca thinks that the trial has been very satisfactory, and that the results are the best encomium on the wisdom of the measure. Even the Commissioner of Bhaugulpore, where there were the least encouraging results, remarks that a great loss caused by the first introduction of the change was to a considerable extent recovered afterwards, and is sanguine that ere long the system will answer well. The Commissioner of Patna thinks there was rather too hasty a diminution in the number of shops, but is of opinion that the experiment has succeeded better than could be expected for the first year. Mr. Buckland is inclined to await a longer trial before pronouncing the measure to be a success. It is encouraging to observe that the experiment made of taxing the materials instead of spirit in its manufactured form is also regarded as a success. Mr. Money, however, thinks that the crucial test of extending the system to distilleries in the interior yet remains to be applied. The Lieutenant-Governor will await with interest an account of the success which may attend the further experiments to be made this year.

11. With reference to paragraph 87 of the report, the Lieutenant-Governor takes occasion again to say that he cannot accept as proved Mr. Money's assertion, that in most places the sudder distillery system is a total failure. The present report wholly fails to give sufficient evidence of the smuggling, &c., said to exist. One petty fraud detected by one sub-divisional officer is all that is cited in paragraph 84 to which the Member in charge refers for proof. As regards thinly-peopled tracts, such as Chota Nagpore and the Nepal frontier, Mr. Money's views have been already adopted, and a relaxation permitted in the rule requiring a fixed still-head duty to be levied on all spirits according to quality. So far as a comparison is possible between the central distillery system and the old farming (or monthly tax) system, we know that under the new system there are in some districts, and ought to be everywhere, fewer liquor shops than under the old system. We believe (but on this point we have no actual certainty) that liquor is, strength for strength, dearer than it was under the old system; we receive reports that the amount of liquor made in the central distilleries is decreasing year by year; the excise revenue on country spirits has, notwithstanding the forebodings made in the Board's special report of August 1870, and notwithstanding a largely increased import of European brandies, gradually worked up to a total considerably higher than the revenue of the year 1863-64, just before the central distillery system was introduced; and the Government is gradually reducing still further the number of liquor shops without causing any very large loss to the excise revenue. There may be corruption and peculation at outlying distilleries, but at any rate it is very difficult to believe that liquor would not be cheaper and more largely consumed under the monthly tax system, when it was the distiller's interest to produce as much as he could, and to bring cheap liquor to every man's door, than under the central distillery system, whereby a distiller must pay a still-head duty (or even under the pessimist view must pay a considerable bribe) for every gallon he distills. It certainly seems reasonable to presume that under the present system liquor must be dearer and less plentiful, must be less forced upon the people than under the old farming system.

12. Imported wines and spirits.—Although in the year under review the revenue derived from import duty on wines was somewhat larger than in the previous year, there has been a diminution both in the amount imported and in the duty paid on wines since 1868-69 and 1869-70. As compared with the former year, the difference is 54,667 gallons and Rs. 29,761, and as compared with the latter year, 52,393 gallons and Rs. 32,131. Coupled with this is an extraordinary decrease in the consumption of beer, the imports having fallen gradually from 1,022,255 in 1866-67 to 681,963 in the past year, entailing a loss of revenue amounting to Rs. 21,434. The amount of import duty realized on beer last year was, however, less than the average of the previous five years by only Rs. 2,360. It has been ascertained that the Bombay imports of beer have also decreased of late years, though not quite in so large a proportion as the Calcutta imports;—the total Bombay beer imports of 1872-73 were 264,284 gallons as against 356,527 gallons in the year 1866-67. It seems therefore to be clear that the imports of beer, whether on Government account or for private consumption, has considerably decreased of late years. The decrease in the Government imports may be due partly to the decrease in the number of European troops, and partly to the more frequent use of Indian hill beer for soldiers in the Punjab. The decrease in the imports of beer on private account is, the Lieutenant-Governor believes, due to a change in the habits of Anglo-Indians, who drink less beer than they used to do, substituting more generally light wine for beer as a daily drink.

The revenue derived from import duty on spirits was larger by more than one lakh of rupees than in the previous year. It is much to be regretted that there should be, as observed by the Commissioner of the Presidency Division, an increase in the consumption of low class imported brandies. It may be advisable, as recommended by Mr. Money, to raise the customs duty on this class of spirit.

13. Ganja.—Paragraphs 114 to 123 show the results of the administration with regard to ganja. As compared with the previous year, there was a diminution of 220 in the number of shops licensed, and of 1,414 maunds 20 seers 10 chittacks (about 14 per cent.) in the consumption of ganja, while the revenue on the whole improved by Rs. 49,377. The Lieutenant-Governor desires to congratulate the Member in charge on his having secured this very happy result of an increased revenue with a diminished consumption of this noxious drug. It appears to be due in a great measure to the increase of the duty on flat ganja before noticed, and also in some degree to the system adopted in the 24-Pergunnahs of putting up licenses to auction.

14. Opium.—The Lieutenant-Governor views with regret the increase, small though it is, which is observable in the consumption of opium: but after all, as he has before remarked, it is only in districts with a large element of Indo-Chinese population like Assam, Gowalpara, and Rungpore, that there is any considerable consumption. The only exception to this rule is the small district of Balasore, before remarked, where consumption continues to increase, and where it has never been sufficiently accounted for. There is also consumption, but to a less extent, in the Oorya and semi-Oorya districts of Cuttack and Midnapore. It may be that the consumption is due in part to the pilgrims who pass through those districts. A moderate quantity of opium is taken in Calcutta and its suburbs, in the suburban towns of Hooghly, &c., and in Moorshedabad. In no other district does the revenue derived from it reach Rs. 30,000, except in Mymensing, where also there is an Indo-Chinese strain in part of the population.

Paragraphs 143-5 point out that it is impossible to prevent petty illicit consumption of opium in the producing districts notwithstanding the increased activity of the police and the large amount of Rs. 4,682 granted as rewards in the course of the year. The Lieutenant-Governor concurs in this view. He is, however, consoled to know that the result of inquiries has shown that opium is really not largely consumed by the people of these districts. As long as this is not the case, with the great export opium revenue derived from these districts, we can well afford to spare the petty local revenue.

15. But the wholesale mercantile smuggling reported in paragraphs 148 and 155-8 is a very much more serious affair, and may have very serious consequences if not put down with a strong hand, and the Lieutenant-Governor desires that no stone be left unturned to this end. He is strongly of opinion that in the present state of communications, with free-trade, and absence of custom lines search and restrictions, opium smuggling must be more severely punished than by fine, which can always be paid as part of the transaction, when the smugglers happen to be caught. It has lately come out that there was an organized system of sending illicit opium by rail to the Punjab carried on by Punjabees settled in the producing districts, and that there is, besides, a regular flow of similarly smuggled opium to Calcutta and Chandernagore. It is hopeless to check this by the infliction of such punishment as is reported to have been awarded in the case noted in paragraph 158, where an important seizure of illicit opium was made and the smugglers got off with a fine of Rs. 250. Even putting the profit to be made as low as Rs. 5 a seer, these men would, if undetected, have cleared some Rs. 1,500 by the transaction.

16. The Lieutenant-Governor is gratified at the zeal and efficiency which the Member in charge considers Messrs. Hankey, Bayley, Ravenshaw, and Colonel Dalton, have shown in the supervision of the working of the Excise Department in their respective divisions; and his acknowledgments are due to all the officers mentioned at paragraph 168 of the Board's report.

17. The thanks of the Lieutenant-Governor are again due to the Member in charge for the care and ability with which he has directed the administration of the Excise Department during the year.

ANNUAL GENERAL REPORT OF THE COMMISSIONER OF THE CHOTA NAGPORE DIVISION FOR 1872-73.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Calcutta, the 8th November 1873.

READ—

The Annual General Report of the Commissioner of the Chota Nagpore Division for the year 1872-73, with its enclosures.

1. THIS division has had the unusual advantage of having been superintended for a long series of years by one officer, and he an officer admirably fitted to deal with it, and who has rendered invaluable service in the management and development of the simple people of these Western Hill Tracts. As usual, under his care all has gone smoothly and well during the past year, and the Lieutenant-Governor heartily thanks Colonel Dalton. The advance made by the people under his charge during his incumbency has been very great indeed, and there are now probably no more peaceable and loyal subjects in any part of Her Majesty's dominions. The disturbances and rebellions of former days have now wholly passed into oblivion.

In particular, the general prosperity of the Koles of the Singbhoom district is one of the most pleasing features. It is stated that when an eminent officer inspected the district in 1856, he was so struck with the savage barbarism of the rude population, that he doubted the expediency of encouraging the further propagation of Koles, but now Captain Garbett says that their villages are often perfect pictures of comfort and prettiness. The brisk attendance and business done at markets, the increasing use of brass instead of earthen utensils, the more common wearing by the women of a better description of garment, and a dozen other inclinations, in themselves perhaps slight, but important in the aggregate, all attest the growing prosperity of the people.

2. The sure, though somewhat slow, progress of the inquiry into and settlement of the old Bhuinhari tenures of the aboriginal tribes puts an end to the last ground of discontent, and if we can restrain landlords from a harsh exercise of power, all will go well. The progress of Christianity among the people tends to make them independent. It may be hoped that the officers of Government will be able to render their position tolerable, notwithstanding the wide rights improvidently given to chiefs in the early days, when the only object was to protect the plains against the hill people, and the revenue was alienated to those who were bound to guard the passes, but have now almost a sinecure. The Lieutenant-Governor is sure that, as long as Colonel Dalton reigns in Chota Nagpore, the fair rights of the people, whether in the Bhuinhari tenures in the Khudkutti villages mentioned by him, or in any other form, will be maintained. Whether Act X of 1859 be strictly in force or not, the tenantry are entitled to at least all the protection which that Act affords to occupancy and other rights. His Honor notices what is said of the landlords in Maunbhoom, that they have served on their tenants notices of enhancements of rent at treble, quadruple, quintuple, and even higher rates. The explanation of the talookdars, than which, as Colonel Dalton says, a more unjust reason for enhancement could not have been given, is that having accepted their talooks with a spurious rent-roll, according to which the head proprietor himself never dreamt of realizing, they were compelled to increase heavily to make some profit out of the transaction. Be that as it may, His Honor is certain that if justice is fairly done, such attempts cannot succeed.

3. Wages are perhaps lower in Chota Nagpore than in any other part of India, but the Lieutenant-Governor is very glad to see how favorable and hopeful, all things considered, is the Commissioner's account of the condition of the people. This is mainly due to their freedom from prejudice and local ties, and their industrious disposition, which enables them to go forth from their own country to earn money by labor. Not only do very many thus serve abroad, but a large proportion of those who do not emigrate for a longer period go forth for labor in the season when they have little work at home, and bring back their modest earnings. In addition to this they have the advantage of their women working as well as the men.

4. The Lieutenant-Governor notices that in several parts of this division, e.g. in Kharakdea on one side and in Palamow on another, the system under which men, and even whole families, are held as hereditary bondsmen (to which the Lieutenant-Governor has elsewhere several times alluded) is still in full force. Colonel Dalton believes the system to be principally confined to Hindu or Hinduised tracts, and he hopes that the poorer aborigines do not submit to this bondage. We must gradually teach the humble people who submit to such a system that they have rights as other men.

5. It is stated as the belief of the officers of Government that, with the exception of the Rajah of Jushpore, who subscribes to the Education Gazette, no other native of Chota Nagpore takes in a newspaper. His Honor trusts that the new village education system, together with missionary teachers, will improve their knowledge. Sir George Campbell would prefer this to the suggestion of starting a Government Moniteur newspaper, with a monopoly of official intelligence.

It is gratifying to observe that education has already, in fact, made considerable progress among the people. The only schools in existence when Colonel Dalton took up his appointment as Commissioner, were one at each of the Sudder Stations of Lohardugga, Maunbhoom, and Singbhoom, and a few missionary institutions. In 1871-72 the number of schools had risen to 220, with 5,508 pupils. Since the introduction of the new system the number of schools has risen to 571, with 15,871 pupils. The primary schools sanctioned for this division have been opened, and are as a general rule making fair progress. Colonel Rowlatt, the Deputy Commissioner of Maunbhoom, has set about their establishment with energy and success. The missionary schools at Ranchee are maintained on a very liberal scale, and are of immense importance, as through them there is a constant flow of the children of both sexes coming in wild from their homes, and after a few years of training returning to them instructed, and, to some extent, civilized.

6. The Commissioner reports favorably of the changes of procedure effected by the new Criminal Procedure Code. The substitution of the Hindee character and language for the Hindustanee in the offices of Hazareebaugh and Lohardugga is welcomed as a boon, says Colonel Dalton, by all the natives of the districts to which it applies.

7. The Lieutenant-Governor regrets that the result of the mortuary statistics from selected areas in this division should not have been satisfactory; but His Honor has every confidence that Colonel Dalton will spare no pains in perfecting his arrangements. The Lohardugga returns seem to be very fairly accurate.

8. With regard to the Commissioner's recommendation, that the registration system should not be further extended in the Chota Nagpore division, and more particularly in the Lohardugga district, the Lieutenant-Governor observes that it is a new view of registration that it acts injuriously because the people are 'so improvident that it is undesirable to bind them down in that way. His Honor heartily shares in the feeling that in this country it is often very hard and unjust to enforce literally an engagement made between two very unequal parties, but the registration merely secures that the fact whether a document was executed or not should be attested. The effect of that document is another matter. So long as we allow such engagements and hold them binding, it can hardly be desirable to leave their genuineness in doubt.

9. Vaccination is a question of great importance in Chota Nagpore, as the practice of inoculation has been entirely disallowed. It is satisfactory to note that, as a rule, the old inoculators take readily to vaccination if the means are placed at their disposal, and they are allowed to carry it on in their own fashion with mystery and ceremony.

10. Although the country members of the different Committees are said to be indifferent to the proceedings, the Town Committees are active and intelligent, and take great interest in their duties; and, as has been observed elsewhere, this is especially the case when the supervision of the different divisions of the union is allotted to individual members.

11. The Lieutenant-Governor highly approves of the system which the Commissioner has adopted with so much success in settling with villages. The objectionable practice of calling for offers when leases fall in is abolished; the Court of Wards or Manager holds them direct till the assets are ascertained, and then they are usually leased to headmen representing the villagers; where an old village system is found existing, it is upheld; where vestiges of such an institution are discernable, it is restored. A fair rent for the land is taken, and irregular cesses are abandoned as new settlements are made. It has been found in practice that this system is highly appreciated by the people; and, as the income of the estates annually increases, it cannot be said that any action has been taken detrimental to the interests of the revenue receiver.

12. The Lieutenant-Governor notices with much pleasure the success of Mr. Forbes's administration of Palamow. It is entirely owing, writes the Deputy Commissioner, to Mr. Forbes's personal attention and untiring energy that Daltongunge has been transferred from a jungly waste into a really neat little town.

REGISTRATION OF MAHOMEDAN MARRIAGES AND DIVORCES.

Cicular No. 137, dated Calcutta, the 10th November 1873.

From—A. MACKENZIE, Esq., Officiating Secretary to the Government of Bengal,

To—All Commissioners.

THE Lieutenant-Governor has had under consideration the subject of the registration of Mahomedan marriages and the difficulties which are found to arise (especially in the eastern districts) from the want of any functionary recognized by the State to take the place of the old Kazees in connection with the attestation of marriage and divorce. The Mahomedan law seems to require or expect that such things should be attested by an officer appointed by the ruling power; and His Honor has thought that a system of voluntary registration of marriages and divorces among Mahomedans might be set on foot, which should remove much of the present ground for complaint.

2. I am to forward a copy of a draft Bill framed with this object, and to request that you will report upon it after consulting those official and non-official gentlemen of your division who may be best able to advise upon such a subject. The Lieutenant-Governor's idea is to enable those who wish to make their domestic arrangements certain to do so, without interfering with those who prefer a looser practice. The arrangements between the registrar and his clients are also to be left entirely to private settlement.

Draft Bill.

WHEREAS it is expedient to make provision for the voluntary registration of Mahomedan marriages and divorces within the provinces under the control of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, and whereas it is expedient that Registrars of such marriages and divorces should be recognised and licensed by the local Government, it is enacted as follows:—

1. It shall be lawful for the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal to issue a license to any person being a Mahomedan, either by name or as holding any office for the time being, authorising him to act as Registrar of Mahomedan marriages and divorces.

2. Such licenses may be given on the recommendation of the Magistrate of the district, or in Calcutta of the Commissioner of Police, to any member of any Mahomedan sect who can show that he is usually resorted to as a professional witness in such cases by his co-religionists, or that he has practised the duties of Kazi, and that he is well versed in Mahomedan law, provided always that satisfactory evidence is produced of his being a person of good moral character.

3. No Mahomedan marriage or divorce which would otherwise be valid shall be held to be invalid merely by reason of its not having been registered before a Registrar licensed under this Act.

4. Each licensed Registrar under this Act shall keep a Register Book in a form to be laid down by the local Government in which he shall enter all marriages and divorces,—the parties to which shall desire to have them so registered. He shall also, if requested at the time, give an extract of any entry affecting them to either of the parties to such entry.

5. The entry of any marriage or divorce in the Register Book shall be signed by the Registrar, and signed, sealed, or marked by the persons married or divorced, and shall be attested by at least two credible witnesses who were present at the ceremony, and every such entry shall be made in order from the beginning to the end of the book, and any extract of any entry given to the parties shall be numbered to correspond with the number of the entry in the Register Book, and shall be authenticated by signature of the Registrar.

6. The Registrar shall keep safely the said Register Book until the same shall be filled, and shall then, or if he shall leave the district, make over the same to the District Registrar of Assurances for safe custody.

7. Any Registrar who shall discover any error to have been committed in the form or substance of any such entry may, within one month next after the discovery of such error in the presence of the parties married or divorced, or in case of their death or absence in the presence of two other credible witnesses who shall respectively attest the same, correct the erroneous entry according to the truth of the case by entry in the margin without any alteration of the original entry and sha llsign the marginal entry, and add thereunto the day of the month and year when such correction shall be made, and shall if possible give or cause to be delivered a corrected copy of the extract to the parties to the original entry.

8. Every Registrar shall at all reasonable times, and on the payment of such fees as may be agreed upon, search or permit search to be made in any such Register Books and shall give a copy under his hand of any entry or entries in the same.

9. Every certified extract of any entry in any Register Book purporting to be signed by the licensed Registrar, shall be received as evidence of the marriage or divorce purporting to be so entered or of the facts purporting to be so certified therein, without further proof of such Register Book or extract, unless and until the genuineness of such entry or extract or the truth of the facts set out in it be disproved.

10. Whoever shall wilfully destroy or injure or cause to be destroyed or injured any such Register Book or any part thereof, or any such authenticated extract as aforesaid, or shall wilfully insert or cause to be inserted any false entry in any such Register Book or authenticated extract, shall be punished with imprisonment of either description, as defined in the Indian Penal Code, for a term which may extend to seven years, and shall also be liable to fine.

11. It shall be lawful for the Lieutenant-Governor to draw up rules and prescribe forms for giving effect to the provisions of this Act, and to charge a fee not exceeding Rs. 2 for each license granted under the Act, provided always that no rule shall be laid down to interfere with the taking by any licensed Registrar from the parties to any marriage or divorce of any fee, which custom or his position may entitle him to demand.

Extract para. 5 of No. 3303, dated 12th September 1873, from the Government of Bengal.

OBSERVATION.—The promontory of Goalundo was selected as the terminus of the Eastern Bengal Railway Extension from Kooshtea, because it possessed a deep-water frontage, and was near to the junction of the River Ganges and Brahmaputra, but soon after the Railway was open, doubts arose as to the permanence of this valuable property. During the flood season of 1871 the encroachments of the River Ganges at, and above Goalundo, caused much anxiety to the Engineers, and after a consultation on the spot between the Agent of the Railway and the Consulting Engineer for Guaranteed Railways, Calcutta, the Government of India were in May 1872, requested to sanction the expenditure of Rs. 7,500 from the capital funds of the Railway in the construction of a loose stone groin extending from the margin into the river. The main line of railway was to be prolonged into deep water, and the bank itself was to be formed of puddled clay, while its extremity and slopes were to be protected by loose stone pitching. It was hoped that the encroachments of the river would be effectually stopped if this groin could be permanently maintained in the position assigned to it, that the main stream of the Ganges would be diverted by means of this groin, and that the rest of the promontory on the down-stream side, on which it was intended to build a railway town, would be rendered secure. In acording, sanction to this small outlay, the Government of India, expressed their opinion that the maintenance of the proposed groin would be difficult, and doubted that the money could be advantageously spent in contending against the forces of such large rivers as the Ganges and Brahmaputra at their confluence in alluvial soil.

2. A larger sum than was anticipated was expended on these works, which, however, failed during the floods of 1872. In the following December the Agent asked for permission to expend Rs. 1,71,405, on further protective works, and proposed to obtain the advice of Mr. Bradford Leslie, formerly Chief Engineer of the Eastern Bengal Railway. On this application the Governor General in Council expressed continued doubts as to the successful result of the proposed works, but considering the importance of the Goalundo trade, and the advantages attending the possession of a sheltered deep-water frontage, His Excellency in Council agreed that another effort might be made to secure the site of the terminus on which buildings worth £50,000 had been erected.

3. The Agent in India consulted Mr. Leslie, and after the Board of Directors had obtained the opinion of their Consulting Engineer in England, further operations were put in hand, which, with those already executed, were estimated to cost up to 30th September 1873, £52,791, including some unexpended material which was valued at £5,300. The state of the work in a report by the Consulting Engineer, dated 16th September 1873, is described as "causing great anxiety," although "the efforts of the Company's officers had not been thrown away, for the spur has so far withstood the floods and the main stream of the Ganges is effectually deflected to the north as desired." The spur had by means of this large expenditure been maintained, but the erosion above the spur had not been checked, and the embankment was reported as presenting twice as much surface to the current as it did at the commencement of the season, and as being in consiquence proportionally weaker.

4. The Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal has watched with interest the efforts which have been made by the Engineers of the Eastern Bengal Railway, because His Honor hopes that, in the not distant future, a railway may be constructed through the country east of the Brahmaputra joining Assam to the Eastern Bengal Railway at Goalundo. Sir George Campbell believes that to the stem the rivers where the two great streams meet is an imperial work, and considers that Goalundo is the only place where, if art be superadded to a natural foundation, a fixed point may be obtained. His Honor wishes to have a wharf or pier on the Goalundo clay as a fixed and permanent point of departure for all the Eastern districts and countries, and suggests that the Government of India should help the Eastern Bengal Railway Company in completing a work, which he fears may be beyond the means of a comparatively small Company.

5. The Governor General in Council is thus urged on the one hand to sanction the expenditure of guranteed capital by the Railway Company, and on the other to permit the outlay of unknown, but large amount from the imperial treasury, and before proceeding further, His Excellency in Council desires to review the position, and the endeavour to determine what is the right course for the Government of India to pursue. The Railway Company have already spent £50,000 in trying the protect the site of their partially formed terminus at Goalundo, of their efforts to arrest the erosion, if effectual, would encourage the process of silting. The Lieutenant-Governor desires to maintain a fairly rapid current in front of the proposed jetties, in order to keep the channel clear for the approach of steamers, at all seasons, without endangering the stability of the artificial works, or of the natural bank behind them. In either case the work is one of great difficulty in a net-work of large rivers, such as those which meet at Goalundo, and are, in addition, affected by the tides of the sea; and considering also what large advances the rivers have made in past times in the same direction as the present erosion.

6. Before deciding whether new works of any kind shall be undertaken at Goalundo, His Excellency in Council desires that the subject shall be thoroughly investigated by a Committee of experienced Engineers unconnected with the Eastern Bengal Railway works, whose opinions will, in any case, be valuable to the Railway Company and to the Government of Bengal, in showing what measures are desirable to meet the acknowledged difficulties. The following remarks will direct the general scope of the deliberations of this committee:—

1st.—The opinion of the Committee is desired as to the possibility, at reasonable expense, of preserving the existing Railway terminus at Goalundo.

2nd.—If the Committee think that such preservation is possible, they should state whether the advantage to be gained by incurring the necessary expense is sufficient to justify that expense, and what measures they recommend for adoption.

3rd.—If the preservation is considered to be impossible, or if corresponding advantage is probably not to be gained, the Committee should say what, if any, action they recommended under all the circumstances of the case.

7. The Governor General in Council believes that the under-mentioned officers will form a Committee, whose opinions will be entitled to full respect:—

COLONEL F. H. RUNDALL, R.E, President.
MR. GEORGE SIBLEY, M.I.C.E.
,, G. L. MOLESWORTH, M.I.C.E.
,, H. LEONARD, M.I.C.E.
LIEUTENANT-COLONEL H. W. GULLIVER, R.E.

His Excellency in Council trusts that Mr. Sibley will be willing to serve on the Committee, and that the Agency of the East Indian Railway will consent to his doing so. The Committee should meet at an early date, and should take and record the evidence of the local Engineers, whether in the employment of the Guaranteed Company, or of the Government, and also of such officers as the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal may depute. The report by the Committee should be in every way full and complete for the information of the Government of India.

ORDER.—Ordered, that copy of this Resolution, with copies of the papers read, be forwarded to the Government of Bengal, in reply to the concluding paragraph of Mr. Cotton's letter No. 3303, dated 12th September 1873, and with the request that the services of Colonel Gulliver may be made available to serve on the Committee, and that all officers required by the Committee, and able to give valuable information, may be directed to attend.

That copy be forwarded to the Consulting Engineer to the Government of India for Guaranteed Railways at Calcutta for information, and communication to the Agent of the Eastern Bengal Railway, with the request that the officers of that Railway may be desired to afford all facilities and information required by the Committee; also to the President and to the three official Members of the proposed Committee for information and guidance; also to the Agent of the East Indian Railway, with the request that the Government of India may be favoured with the assistance of Mr. G Sibley, the Chief Engineer, with whom the President of the Committee will communicate.

Ordered also, that the proceedings be reported to the Secretary of State.

C. H. DICKENS, Colonel, R. A.,
Secretary to the Govt. of India.

Rainfall, Weather and State and Prospects of the Crops.

Statement showing Rainfall, Weather, State and Prospects of the Crops in the different Districts of Bengal, as reported to Government during the week ending the 8th November 1873.

No.	District.	Date of return from each district.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather in the district as far as known.	State and prospects of the crops at date.	REMARKS.
	Western Districts.
BURDWAN DIVISION. 1	Burdwan ...	Nov. 11th*	0·9	Weather in the district very hot for the time of the year. Slight showers at Raneegunge and Boodbood on the 3rd instant; slighter still at Cutwa.	Prospects of crops same as before, e.g., bad, except in the low lands; irrigation is being carried on wherever possible. Prospects of sugarcane, cotton, and teel—oil-seed—in Raneegunge pretty good. Prices rather higher.	Fever same as before.
2	Bancoorah ...	„ 8th	0·44	Nearly half an inch of rain fell. Mid-day unseasonably hot.	The slight rain that fell was too late to do good, except in the way of aiding the sowing of the cold weather crops. The rice on the low lands is fair, and perhaps may give a 6 or even 8-anna crop.
3	Beerbhoom ...	„ 8th	0·08	Hot and sultry. Slight rain on the 3rd instant.	The harvest of the early rice crop is progressing; putting in of cold weather crops on patches on the banks of tanks commenced; position otherwise unchanged. The rain of the 3rd instant too light to do any appreciable good to the crops. A brisk exportation going on, chiefly to the Bhauguipore and Patna Divisions. Prices stationary.
4	Midnapore ...	„ 8th	0·03	Light showers in many parts of the district during the week, but only in a few places and very partially sufficiently heavy to do any tangible good.	A little rain having fallen the prospects of the crops cannot be said to have deteriorated, but they have improved but slightly. Leasing for irrigation has quite ceased, partly because it is too late to irrigate any longer, partly because about ¼th of the area lately leased still remains to be irrigated, and the water is very low. Prices are rising steadily, rice being exported largely to Bancoorah and Calcutta.
5	Hooghly ...	„ 8th	0·22	Clear, at times cloudy; wind from north-east. Slight rain on the 4th instant.	The slight rain of the 4th instant was of no use to the rice, but will assist the sowing of the cold weather crops. About three-fourths of the crop on highlands and half on lowlands are already destroyed, but more will be destroyed if no rain falls. Water for irrigation is failing in many places.
	Howrah ...	„ 8th	Nil	Heavy clouds at the beginning of the week, and the wind shifted to the south. There was much appearance of rain coming, but never came, and all sights of it have gone.	The crops have had another dry week. The rice on the highlands is gone beyond hope. The rice on all lands not open to artificial irrigation is in imminent danger, and can only be saved by rain. The rice within reach of irrigation is safe, and none else; fortunately much land is capable of being irrigated. Taken all round, an outturn of one-third of an average crop may be counted on.

Presidency Division.	6	24-Pergunnahs ...	Nov. 11th*	Nil.	Still warm during the days, but cool at nights; the first three or four days of the week were cloudy. There was rather a heavy fall of rain in parts of Barripore and some rain in parts of Diamond Harbour sub-division. There were also light drizzling showers in parts of Satkhira, Basirhat, Baraset, and Dum-Dum sub-divisions.	It is feared, however, that the crops have not materially improved by the rains; those on the high lands are for the most part injured beyond redemption, while on the low lying lands there is still some water. The rain which has fallen will so far do good that it will enable the people to sow their cold weather crops within the area over which it fell.	Fever continues in Barripore, Basirhat, and Satkhira.
	7	Nuddea ...	„ 8th	0·03	Dry and hot; there was rain all over the district on the 3rd instant; it was very slight in most places, but in portions of Meherpore one and a half inches fell, and the shower is reported to have done some good in parts of the Koosteah sub-division.	The prospects of the crops have not materially altered since last report; the rain which fell on the 3rd instant was too partial to influence general prospects. The cold weather crops have been sown in some parts of the district, (viz. portions of the Koosteah and Chooadangah sub-divisions), but elsewhere sowing is still deferred owing to want of rain. Prices have risen considerably in the sudder sub-division; the highest quotation is Rs. 3 a maund at Nakassiparah; but it is reported that the mahajuns of the place have large stores in hand, but refuse to sell in hopes of a further rise. The lowest quotation is Rs. 1-12 on portions of the Meherpore and Chooadangah sub-divisions.
	8	Jessore ...	„ 8th	0·04	Clear and warm. On the 3rd and 4th instant thunder showers fell at a few places, but they were of very limited extent and short duration.	The condition and prospects are not materially altered since last week. Thunder showers fell at Jessore and Gudkhally in the sudder; Narrial and Koomarpore in Narrial; and in some parts of the Magoorah sub-divisions, and the hundredth part of an inch fell at Khoolnah. None fell at Jenidah sub-division, where it is most wanted, nor in Bagirhant. The showers have been very local, and their aggregate effect is not such as to produce any material change in the out-look. Prices throughout the district continue to rise. At head-quarters the large rise of last week has been followed by a fall this week. Rice, which was sold at 13 and 16 seers to the rupee, being now procurable at 16 and 21 seers.
Rajshahye Division.	9	Moorshedabad ...	„ 8th	0·05	Some rain fell on the 3rd instant in various parts of the district. Bhadrihat, Bharutpore, and Rughoonathgunge have benefited most. The fall in other thannahs was scarcely more than a drizzling. Sky cloudy on the 8th instant.	The rain is reported to have done some good to the late rice crop in the low lands of Bhadrihat, Bharutpore, and Rughoonathgunge, and to have been everywhere of some benefit to the cold weather crops. There was not, however, sufficient to be of any advantage to the rice already withering. The cultivators are irrigating extensively wherever water is procurable, and thus preserved the crops in several places. No general improvement is, however, observed. Price of rice still rising.

RAJSHAHYE DIVISION.—(Contd.)
10	Dinagepore ...	Nov. 8th	Nil	No appearance of rain; strong, dry west winds blowing daily, and no sign of a change.	Very bad. The hot west winds never known here before at this time of year will spoil the little rice there is alive, while the want of rain will make the cold weather crops a failure also. Price of rice 11 to 12 seers of 96 tollahs weight per rupee
11	Maldah ...	„ 8th	Nil	Weather dry, nights cold, wind north-easterly, clouds collected, and a few drops of rain fell in several parts of the district on the night of the 3rd instant.	There is no improvement in the state of the crops this week. No rain has fallen, and the winter rice crop will be almost an entire failure, that is to say, one anna or at most a two-anna crop is all that can be now hoped for. The prospect of the cold weather crops also continues bad; there is no moisture in the soil, and what cold weather crop has been sown has been much damaged by insects, which are doubtless the result of the unseasonable weather. Prices of rice and paddy have somewhat improved in the last few days as compared with last week, owing to imports from the eastern districts viâ the Mohanuddee. There is no sign of actual distress at present, and if the imports continue steady, these, with the store of rice in the district, ought to meet the demand for the present at any rate.
12	Rajshahye ...	„ 8th	0·27	There was a slight fall of rain in some parts of the district in the beginning of the week. Weather has been warm, and the dew which is generally heavy at this season, has been unusually light.	The prospects of the late rice crop have not improved since last week. The cold weather crops are being sown, but unless it rains soon they will suffer considerably and sowings will be suspended. The prices of rice are in most places much the same as they were last week. In Nattore, Charghat, and Bandaikhara there has been a a rise in prices of some importance, due probably to increase of exportation.	A few cases of cholera have been reported from Nattore and Charghat stations.
13	Rungpore ...	„ 8th	Nil	Fine and cool; no prospect of rain at present.	The prospects of the rice crop worse than ever; a 4-anna crop is the most that can be expected. Mustard is being sown extensively and tobacco is being planted out, but rain is needed. Prices seem to be rising all over the district.
14	Bograh ...	„ 8th	Nil	Dry, and unusually hot for the time of the year.	The greater part of the late rice crop is quite hopeless. Sugarcane in some parts is flourishing; several cold weather crops have been sown. The people are endeavouring to help themselves by irrigation from tanks, &c., which has done some good.
15	Pubna ...	„ 8th	Nil	Clouds kept coming up at the beginning of the week, and slight showers of rain fell during the afternoon of the 4th instant; since then it has become clear, and increased heat has set in again.	The crops are suffering as before from drought. On the Mothoora police station side the mashkalie pulse is being damaged by insects. A heavy shower of rain would still do much for the late rice now standing. It is being gradually reaped.

ASSAM AND ADJACENT HILLS.—(Contd.)		1873.
46	Kamroop ..	„ 10th*	Nil	Days clear, nights cold with heavy dews.	Late rice and tea crops yet backward; cotton, sugar-ca[illegible] [illegible]ust rd, [illegible]d pulse thriving.	Public health good.
47	Durrung ...	„ 1st	Nil	Bright days and cool nights. Easterly wind prevailing.	No improvement [illegible] of the paddy crop [illegible] much wanted for all [illegible]
48	Nowgong ..	„ 1st	Nil	Heavy rain on Tuesday for a couple of hours in the centre, south, and west of the district, but none in the sudder or to the north of the Kollungs.	The rice crop is n[illegible] so bad or backward as mig[illegible] be expected in consequence of the late drought. The recent heavy rain will have done much good. The Bhao paddy crop is doing very well. Sugarcane good. Weather favorable for tea operations.	[illegible]t.
49	Seebsaugor ..	„ 1st	Nil	Weather cool, mornings foggy and cold. No indication of rain.	In Golaghat the state of the rice crop is satisfactory on the whole. In Jorehaut no change has taken place since last week. In the sudder sub-division the crop looks fair, but owing to want of rain it must be below the average.
50	Luckimpore ...	„ 1st	Nil	The whole week was remarkably fine; on two evenings it looked very little approaching rain, but the heavy clouds passed away. There were heavy fogs at night.	The state of the crops is not very satisfactory; probably from all accounts there will not be to the south of the Berhampooter more than a half crop: still there is apparently no anxiety; and the reports from North Luckimpore sub-division are that the crops ars doing well. The cold weather crops promise well to the present time.	Public health has improved. Fever disappearing.
51	Naga Hills ...	Oct. 25th	0·71	There has been a change in the weather in this week. Mornings foggy and days cool and cloudy, indication of approaching winter.	The gathering of the joom paddy crop is coming to a close, and the outturn is larger than last year. Terai paddy looking well and the gram promises to be superior in quality. The growth of cotton has been somewhat retarded on account of the late showers of rain.
52	Khasi & Jynteah Hills	Nov. 1st	Nil	The weather has been clear and dry.	The bali, or present crop of rice has nearly all been harvested and the outturn is more plentiful than last year. All other cereals as well as potatoes and cotton are doing well.
53	Garo Hills ..	„ 1st	Nil	There has been no appearance of rain; the weather has been very hot during the daytime; nights cool.	There is nothing much to remark about the crops of the Garo Hills. The cotton looks well in most places, and is being gathered. Some rain would do good. The late rice crops at the foot of the hills near Mankar Chur are suffering much from the long drought; and rain, if it come down now would not benefit mucl those on the higher lands Prices of rice are rising, and the accounts of the adjacent districts of Mymensing and Rungpore are bad.	Fever is prevalent at the station. The health of the people generally throughout the district is good, so far as is known.

The mean barometer, as likewise the dry and wet bulb thermometer means, are derived from the twenty-four hourly observations made during the day.

The dew-point is computed with the Greenwich constants. The figures in column 10 represent the humidity of the air, the complete saturation of which being taken at unity. The receiver of the lower rain gauge is 1½ feet, and that of the anemometer 70 feet 10 inches above the level of the ground. The velocity of wind, as indicated by Robinson's anemometer, is registered from noon to noon.

NOTIFICATION.

The 17th November 1873.—Under the provisions of Clause 3, Rule XV, of the "Rules for the conduct of business at meetings of the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal," the following Bills, with Statements of Objects and Reasons, are published by order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal.

H. L. DAMPIER,
Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

A Bill to amend Act XXI of 1856 of the Council of the Governor-General, and Act II of 1866 of the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal.

WHEREAS by Section 90 of Act XXI of 1856 of the Governor-General in Council (An Act to consolidate and amend the law relating to the Abkari revenue in the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal) the word "Magistrate" as used in that Act is defined to include a Joint-Magistrate or other person lawfully exercising the powers of a Magistrate, and any Assistant or Deputy Magistrate with special powers stationed at a place other than the sudder station of the Magistrate, and empowered to try cases without reference from the Magistrate; and whereas the cases mentioned in different sections of Act II of 1866 of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council can under, Section 49 of that Act, only be tried by a Magistrate of less than full powers, when they are referred to him by the District Magistrate; and whereas further by Act X of 1872 (the Code of Criminal Procedure) new rules have been enacted assigning and regulating the powers of Magistrates of the first, second, and third classes;

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. Section 90 of Act XXI of 1856 of the Governor-General in Council so far as it defines the meaning of the word "Magistrate," and Section 49, Act II of 1866, of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council, are hereby repealed.

2. In the said Act XXI of 1856, and in all Acts which are to be read as part of that Act, and also in the said Act II of 1866, the word "Magistrate" shall be deemed to include Magistrates of the first class and Magistrates of the second class, as defined in the Code of Criminal Procedure, and subject to the provisions of that Code in respect of powers and jurisdiction.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

As the law now stands, no Magistrate who does not exercise first-class powers can try even the pettiest cases of breach of the Abkari laws, such as smuggling, illicit sale of spirits, or infraction of conditions of license, unless he be stationed at a place other than the sudder station of the Magistrate, and empowered to try cases without reference from the Magistrate.

At the present time when officers exercising first-class powers are much occupied with more important district work, the restriction has been found particularly inconvenient; and the object of this Bill is to enable any Magistrate having first or second-class powers to dispose of such cases. Subordinate Magistrates will still only be able to take up cases of this description which are specially made over to them for trial, unless they are authorized to receive complaints generally, or complaints of this particular class, or when they are duly empowered to act without complaint.

The opportunity is taken for the same reasons to remove the restrictions which Section 49, Act II of 1866 (B.C.) imposes as to the classes of Magistrates who may try offences under that Act, and to assimilate the powers of each class in respect to such offences to those which they exercise, or with which they may be specially invested, with regard to offences in general under the Code of Criminal Procedure.

H. L. DAMPIER.

A Bill to provide for the Voluntary Registration of Mahomedan Marriages and Divorces.

WHEREAS it is expedient to make provision for the voluntary registration of Mahomedan marriages and divorces within the provinces under the control of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal; and whereas it is expedient that Registrars of such marriages and divorces should be recognised and licensed by the Local Government, it is enacted as follows:—

1. It shall be lawful for the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal to issue a license to any person being a Mahomedan, either by name or as holding any office for the time being, authorising him to act as Registrar of Mahomedan marriages and divorces.

2. Such licenses may be given on the recommendation of the Magistrate of the district, or in Calcutta, of the Commissioner of Police, to any member of any Mahomedan sect who can show that he is usually resorted to as a professional witness in such cases by his co-religionists, or that he has practised the duties of Kazi, and that he is well versed in Mahomedan law, provided always that satisfactory evidence is produced of his being a person of good moral character.

3. No Mahomedan marriage or divorce which would otherwise be valid shall be to be invalid merely by reason of its not having been registered before a Registrar licen under this Act.

4. Each licensed Registrar under this Act shall keep a Register Book in a form to be down by the Local Government in which he shall enter all marriages and divorces,—the par to which shall desire to have them so registered. He shall also, if requested at the ti give an extract of any entry affecting them to either of the parties to such entry.

5. The entry of any marriage or divorce in the Register Book shall be signed by Registrar, and signed, sealed, or marked by the persons married or divorced, and shall attested by at least two credible witnesses who were present at the ceremony, and such entry shall be made in order from the beginning to the end of the book, an extract of any entry given to the parties shall be numbered to correspond with the nun the entry in the Register Book, and shall be authenticated by signature of the Regist

6. The Registrar shall keep safely the said Register Book until the same sh filled, and shall then, or if he shall leave the district, make over the same to the Registrar of Assurances for safe custody.

7. Any Registrar who shall discover any error to have been committed in the or substance of any such entry may, within one month next after the discovery of such in the presence of the parties married or, divorced, or in case of their death or absence, presence of two other credible witnesses, who shall respectively attest the same, correc erroneous entry according to the truth of the case by entry in the margin wit any alteration of the original entry, and shall sign the marginal entry, and add thereunto the of the month and year when such correction shall be made, and shall if possible give or c to be delivered a corrected copy of the extract to the parties to the original entry.

8. Every Registrar shall at all reasonable times, and on the payment of such fees as be agreed upon, search or permit search to be made in any such Register Books, and give a copy under his hand of any entry or entries in the same.

9. Every certified extract of any entry in any Register Book purporting to be sig by the licensed Registrar, shall be received as evidence of the marriage or divorce purpor to be so entered or of the facts purporting to be so certified therein, without further proo such Register Book or extract, unless and until the genuineness of such entry or ext or the truth of the facts set out in it be disproved.

10. Whoever shall wilfully destroy or injure or cause to be destroyed or injured a such Register Book or any part thereof, or any such authenticated extract as aforesaid, shall wilfully insert or cause to be inserted any false entry in any such Register Book authenticated extract, shall be punished with imprisonment of either description, as defined i the Indian Penal Code, for a term which may extend to seven years, and shall also be liable to fine.

11. It shall be lawful for the Lieutenant-Governor to draw up rules and prescribe forms for giving effect to the provisions of this Act, and to charge a fee not exceeding Rs. 2 for each license granted under the Act, provided always that no rule shall be laid down to interfere with the taking by any licensed Registrar from the parties to any marriage or divorce of any fee, which custom or his position may entitle him to demand.

Statement of Objects and Reasons.

The attention of the Government has for some time past been drawn to the increasing number of offences against marriage shown in the criminal returns, especially in the eastern and Mahomedan districts. The remarkably small number of convictions obtained in such cases taken together with their increasing numbers, seemed to indicate the existence of a grievance which the Criminal Courts are at present unable to redress. Inquiry has proved that this is in fact the case. The loose notions regarding the marriage tie prevalent among the lower orders of Mahomedans lead to the frequent institution of criminal charges, while the absence of any authorized system of registration of marriage and divorce (since the office of Kazi ceased to be recognized by law) makes it difficult to furnish the amount of proof which the Criminal Courts require to warrant their taking action.

It appears to the Government that the legal recognition of an authorized system of registering Mahomedan marriages and divorces will go far to supply the existing want, and this Bill provides such a system. The Registrar will, as regards such registration, take the place which was filled by the old Kazis, and certified copies of extracts from his register are made primâ facie proof of the facts recited therein. But the registration of marriages and divorces is left optional with the parties concerned, and all questions of remuneration are left to be settled between the Registrar and the parties who avail themselves of his services.

The following orders, issued by the Govenment of India in the Financial Department, are republished for general information:—

No. 2997.—Fort William, the 14th November 1873.—Miscellaneous.—RESOLUTION.—In consequence of the failure of the autumn rice-crop throughout a large part of the territories administered by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, there is reason to fear that there may be a large expenditure of money for the relief of distress and a serious loss of revenue.

2. The Viceroy and Governor-General accordingly deems it necessary to invite the attention of Local Governments and chiefs of departments to the imperative necessity that is laid upon the Government and its officers for the immediate curtailment of all expenditure that can be reduced, postponed, or dispensed with. The scarcity in Bengal may cause a considerable strain on the general resources of the State, and expenditure that would be proper under ordinary circumstances would be out of place now.

3. His Excellency desires that each officer will take immediate steps to stop any expenditure in the present year that can be prevented, and that all estimates of charge for the coming year 1874-75 may be reconsidered and reduced to the utmost possible extent.

4. No increase of expense should for the present be suggested that can by any means be avoided.

3. The Viceroy and Governor-General is confident that officers of the Government will recognise the necessity for these instructions, and he looks for their loyal co-operation in giving effect to them.

Ordered, that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded for information and guidance to each Department of the Government of India, to each Local Government, and to the Heads of Departments under the Government of India in this Department.

Copy is also to be published in the Gazette of India for general information.

SEPARATE REVENUE.—POST OFFICE.

No. 2982.—The 14*th November* 1873.—In exercise of the powers conferred by Section 27 of the Indian Post Office Act, 1866, the Governor-General in Council is pleased to revoke all rules and regulations heretofore prescribed for the re-delivery of letters and articles delivered into any Post Office to the sender thereof, and to prescribe the following rules in that behalf:—

(1) No letters or other article delivered into any Post Office shall be re-delivered except under the orders of—

(b) The Director-General of the Post Office;
(c) The Local Government or Administration; or (d) The Governor-General in Council.

(2) A fee of one rupee shall be paid with any application for such re-delivery.

(3) An application for the re-delivery of any such letter or article may be presented in writing to the said officers, Governments or Administrations, directly or through any officer in charge of a Post Office.

(4) Such application shall be received only from the writer of the letter or the sender of the article, or from some person duly authorised in this behalf by such writer or sender.

(5) The application shall be accompanied by a statement (which may be enclosed in a sealed cover) of the reasons why re-delivery of the letter or article is sought. Such sealed cover shall be opened only by the officer or by a Secretary to the Government or Administration to whom or to which the application is presented.

(6) Upon receipt of such application and statement, together with a fee of one rupee as aforesaid, by a Post-Master or other officer in charge of a Post Office, he shall immediately send the application and statement to the nearest office, or authority having power under Rule (1) to dispose of such application.

(7) If the letter or article of which re-delivery is sought is in his possession, the said Post-Master or other officer, instead of forwarding it to its address, shall send it with the application to the said officer or authority.

(8) If the letter or article is not in the possession of the said Post-Master or other officer, he shall require any other officer of the Post Office in whose possession it may be to abstain from sending it to its address, and to send it instead to the authority or officer to which or to whom the application will be or has been sent. The requisition to such other officer may be sent by telegraph, but all expenses attending its transmission must be borne by the applicant.

(9) When the application reaches the officer or authority named in Rule (1) to whom it is thus sent, he or it may order re-delivery of the letter or article upon being satisfied that the applicant is the writer or sender, and that sufficient reasons have been given for the re-delivery, otherwise he shall send it at once to its address.

(10) No letter delivered into the post shall be re-delivered in any case to any one but the writer or to some person authorized by the writer in writing to receive it, and no article not being a letter delivered into the post shall be re-delivered to any one but the sender or to some person authorized by the sender in writing to receive it.

(11) In the foregoing rules the word "writer" does not include a person who writes a letter which another dictates or directs to be written, or who copies a letter which has been written by another; but in each of such cases the author of the letter shall, for the purposes of these rules, be held to be the "writer."

The following are the conditions of Sale :—

1. The Opium will be sold for exportation by sea only, and no certificate will be granted except to cover such export.

2. The Opium will be ordinarily offered for sale at an upset price of Rs. 800 per chest, and sold to the highest bidder above that price, except under the circumstances for which provision is made by Clause 12 of these Conditions of Sale. The bids must advance by Rs. 5 at a time.

3. The sale shall commence at the hour of 11 A.M. of the day fixed by previous notification, and shall not be continued after the hour of 5 P.M.; but if at that hour any of the lots advertized for sale shall remain unsold, the sale may, at the discretion of the Member in charge, be resumed on the next day following (not being Sunday or a public holiday) at the hour of 11 A.M., and so on until the whole of the remaining lots are disposed of; or, if the whole quantity advertized shall not be sold on the day appointed, the Member in charge may dispose of the lots which remain on hand at a future sale.

4. Each lot shall contain five chests.

5. A Promissory Note for a sum, calculated according to the scale noted in the margin, shall be taken as a deposit on each lot from the purchaser in the sale-room, and before the lot is registered in the sale book, and all such Promissory Notes shall be redeemed on the part of the purchasers at this Office by Bank of Bengal receipts, or by substitution of other public securities of the Government of India, on or before 4 o'clock in the afternoon of the fifth day after the sale: or on the other hand, failing such redemption by the time aforesaid, then the lot or lots for which no Bank of Bengal receipts, or deposit of other public securities as aforesaid shall have been delivered in, shall be re-sold at such time or times and under such conditions of re-sale as the Member in charge shall see fit; and all losses and expenses whatsoever attending such re-sale shall be borne and paid by the defaulters, whilst any profit accruing from such re-sale shall be forfeited to Government.

6. The Promissory Notes taken on the day of sale under the last-mentioned condition, if remaining unredeemed at 4 o'clock of the fifth day following the day of sale, will be placed in the hands of the Solicitor to the Government for realization in such manner as to him shall seem fit.

7. No tender of money, Bank of Bengal receipts, or public securities, on account of Opium upon which the prescribed deposit may not have been made before 4 o'clock of the fifth day following the day of sale, will be afterwards accepted.

8. The Opium advertised for sale shall be paid for not later than by 4 o'clock of the fifteenth day from the day of sale, and in case any lots of such Opium shall not be so paid for and adjusted, then the cash deposit made under the fifth Condition or any public securities that may have been deposited on account of such lots or chests, shall be forfeited, and the Opium shall be disposed of on account of Government at such time and in such manner as the Member in charge shall think fit, and the first purchaser shall further be required to make good any loss or difference of price between that obtained at the re-sale and the amount at which the Opium was first purchased, forfeiting all advantages that may arise from such re-sale.

9. Purchasers taking out certificates or orders for the delivery of Opium after making full payment as above prescribed, shall have the option of naming the number of lots of their purchase, which they may desire to be included in each certificate or order; and it is to be clearly understood that the certificates or orders so taken out shall be considered final, and not afterwards changeable for other certificates or orders authorizing the delivery of single lots, or of a different number of lots or chests, whether more or less, than the number of lots or chests originally required to be included in each certificate or order.

10. No deposit of public securities under the fifth of the present Conditions will be received in this Office except from the party recorded as the purchaser in the sale book or his authorized Agent. The receipt for deposit of public securities will be granted only in the name of such purchaser, and the securities so deposited will be returned when payment in full has been made by the said purchaser or his order.

11. The officer superintending the sale on the part of the Government is empowered to reject, at his discretion, the bid of any individual, unless such individual shall, on demand, tender at the time a deposit either in Government of India Notes, Bank of Bengal Receipts, or Government Securities, a sum equal to the amount for which a Promissory Note would otherwise be taken under the fifth of these Conditions.

12. With a view to prevent fictitious biddings designed to obstruct the sale, it is hereby notified that the officer of Government superintending the sale shall be competent, at any time during the sale, to withdraw any unsold lot, and immediately to put it up again for sale at a maximum upset price, diminishing the same gradually until a bid is obtained, and the first bona fide bidder for a lot after it has been offered for sale in the mode here described shall be held and declared to be the purchaser of the said lot, and the officer of Government superintending the sale shall also be competent to dispose, in the same manner, of as many of the subsequent lots as he may think proper, provided always that no lot shall be sold below the minimum price of Rs. 800 specified in the second of these Conditions.

13. The purchaser of any lot shall have the option of naming and purchasing in immediate succession, at the same price and under the same conditions, any number of lots of the same agency Opium not exceeding altogether twenty-five lots, provided always that there remain a sufficient number of lots of the Opium to complete the said twenty-five.

14. In the event of any dispute or difference touching or concerning any matter or question arising out of the sale of the Opium included in this notification, or adjustment of the account thereof, the same shall and may be tried and decided in the High Court of Juditure at Fort William in Bengal.

15. The following papers will be exhibited for inspection on the day of sale, or may be seen previously to that date by personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue. No. 1, certificate of the Opium advertized for sale; No. 2, report of the examination of such Opium.

16. The public are hereby informed that, in providing the investment of the Behar and Banares Opium for the year 1872-73, the same precautions have been taken as those which have been observed during past years, to have the drug procured and sent down in a pure state, to have only the prescribed quantity of leaves used in forming the cakes, and to have the due proportion of Opium put into each cake. An account of the weight of the drug when packed at Behar and Benares, and a statement of the average weight of the chests, indiscriminately taken for the purpose of comparison from the despatches on arrival at Calcutta, may be seen on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue.

17. Any further information respecting weight or quality of the Opium advertized for sale that may be desired by parties connected with the trade will, as heretofore, be furnished to them on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue. But, in accordance with established usage, under no circumstances will the Member in charge entertain or recognize any claim to compensation for loss from any alleged deficiency of weight, abstraction of Opium, or adulteration of the drug, which may be preferred on reference to chests after the sale and delivery of the Opium for shipment.

18. It is hereby further notified that under the 6th Article of the Convention between Great Britain and France, dated the 7th March, 1815, quoted below, the Agents in India of the French Government, or persons duly appointed by them, are entitled to demand that out of the quantities of Behar and Benares Opium declared as above for sale at the twelve sales of the year 1874, there shall be delivered to them, at the average of the particular sale or sales to which the Opium so applied for may belong, a quantity not exceeding in the aggregate 300 chests, and the Agents of the French Government must make requisition specifying the quantity of Opium required by them at any particular sale, within thirty days from the advertisement of such intended sale, provided however that the Agents of the French Government may make such requisition for the whole quantity within thirty days from the publication of this notification. If the Agent of the French Government shall not make the requisition for Opium within the time above mentioned, the entire quantity of about 45,000 chests of Behar and Benares, as above estimated, will be brought to sale in the usual manner; and if they shall make application for a quantity of Opium to be delivered to them out of the quantity advertized for sale at each or any of the twelve sales above mentioned, but shall not pay for it within the prescribed period of payment, the Government of Bengal reserves to itself the right of disposing of the Opium which the French Authorities may so fail to pay for, either by increasing the quantity reserved at the sale next ensuing the date of payment, or by selling it at a sale to be held expressly for the purpose.

NOTIFICATION.

Under the provisions of Section 2 of Act V (B. C.) of 1873, the following plan for the future lighting of that area of the town of Howrah which is at present lighted with gas is hereby published for general information by order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal.

PLAN.

1. The portion of the Town which is lighted is bounded as follows:—

On the North by Hurrogunge Road, on the South by Ramkistopore Ghaut Road, on the East by the River Hooghly, and on the West by the Grand Trunk Road. A map of this portion is herewith submitted, on which is shown in blue lines the streets which are lighted, and in red lines those which the Commissioners propose to light on receipt of His Honor's sanction.

2. The following are the names of the streets and the number of lamps in each at present lighted, as also the names of the streets proposed to be lighted and the number of lamps in each.

Names of the streets and the number of lamps in each at present lighted.

Grand Trunk Road ...	... 52	Brought forward	... 114

Rosemarree Lane ..	... 8	Howrah Ghaut Road ..	... 3
Salt Gola Lane ..	... 3
Carried over	... 114	Total	... 201

Names of the streets and the number of lamps in each proposed to be lighted.

Khetter Mitter's Lane	10	Brought forward	33
Watkins' Lane	5	Mackenzie's Lane	2
Dobson's Lane	15	Ticcaparrah and Jelleaparrah Lane	4
Strand Road	3
Carried over	33	Total	39

3. It will be observed from the map* that when the last named streets are lighted, all the public roads within the portion of the Town described in para. 2 will be lighted; that is to say, all the highways which are vested in the Commissioners, and over which they have control.

* Vide note deposited in the Bengal Office.

4. The outlay in erecting the lamps at present lighted, numbering 201, was Rs. 10,628, and the estimated cost of erecting the 39 lamps, which are required to complete the lighted area, is Rs. 2,437-8-0.

5. The cost of erecting the existing lamps was met from general funds, and the Commissioners propose to pay for the erection of the extra lamps from the saving which will be effected in the allotment for lighting charges for the months of January, February, and March next. This of course is calculated on the principle that His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor will be pleased to authorize the Commissioners to levy the rate from the 4th quarter of the current year 1873-74, viz. January to March 1874, the Commissioners, on their part, undertaking that the extra lamps shall be ready for lighting from 1st January.

6. The cost of lighting the 240 lamps will be Rs. 24,000 per annum. To this cost the Commissioners are bound by the existing contract with the Gas Company from which they have no escape. The contract has still 18 years to run. To this is to be added a sum of Rs. 1,200 for contingent charges of repairs to lamps, making a total of Rs. 25,200 per annum.

7. The total valuation of buildings and lands situated within the area is Rs. 8,72,867. A rate of 3 per cent. on this valuation would yield Rs. 26,186 per annum, and if from this sum a deduction is made of, say, Rs. 486 on account of collection charges, there would remain a net income of Rs. 25,700, which would cover the expenses of lighting and maintaining the lamps within the portion of the Town in which it is proposed to levy the rate for the present.

7. No tender of money, Bank of Bengal receipts, or public securities, on account of Opium upon which the prescribed deposit may not have been made before 4 o'clock of the fifth day following the day of sale, will be afterwards accepted.

8. The Opium advertised for sale shall be paid for not later than by 4 o'clock of the fifteenth day from the day of sale, and in case any lots of such Opium shall not be so paid for and adjusted, then the cash deposit made under the fifth Condition or any public securities that may have been deposited on account of such lots or chests, shall be forfeited, and the Opium shall be disposed of on account of Government at such time and in such manner as the Member in charge shall think fit, and the first purchaser shall further be required to make good any loss or difference of price between that obtained at the re-sale and the amount at which the Opium was first purchased, forfeiting all advantages that may arise from such re-sale.

9. Purchasers taking out certificates or orders for the delivery of Opium after making full payment as above prescribed, shall have the option of naming the number of lots of their purchase, which they may desire to be included in each certificate or order; and it is to be clearly understood that the certificates or orders so taken out shall be considered final, and not afterwards changeable for other certificates or orders authorizing the delivery of single lots, or of a different number of lots or chests, whether more or less, than the number of lots or chests originally required to be included in each certificate or order.

10. No deposit of public securities under the fifth of the present Conditions will be received in this Office except from the party recorded as the purchaser in the sale book or his anthorized Agent. 12. With a view to prevent fictitious biddings designed to obstruct the sale, it is hereby notified that the officer of Government superintending the sale shall be competent, at any time during the sale, to withdraw any unsold lot, and immediately to put it up again for sale at a maximum upset price, diminishing the same gradually until a bid is obtained, and the first bona fide bidder for a lot after it has been offered for sale in the mode here described shall be held and declared to be the purchaser of the said lot, and the officer of Government superintending the sale shall also be competent to dispose, in the same manner, of as many of the subsequent lots as he may think proper, provided always that no lot shall be sold below the minimum price of Rs. 800 specified in the second of these Conditions.

13. The purchaser of any lot shall have the option of naming and purchasing in immediate succession, at the same price and under the same conditions, any number of lots of the same agency Opium not exceeding altogether twenty-five lots, provided always that there remain a sufficient number of lots of the Opium to complete the said twenty-five.

14. In the event of any dispute or difference touching or concerning any matter or question arising out of the sale of the Opium included in this notification, or adjustment of the account thereof, the same shall and may be tried and decided in the High Court of Juditure at Fort William in Bengal.

15. The following papers will be exhibited for inspection on the day of sale, or may be seen previously to that date by personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue. No. 1, certificate of the Opium advertized for sale; No. 2, report of the examination of such Opium.

16. The public are hereby informed that, in providing the investment of the Behar and Benares Opium for the year 1872-73, the same precautions have been taken as those which have been observed during past years, to have the drug procured and sent down in a pure state, to have only the prescribed quantity of leaves used in forming the cakes, and to have the due proportion of Opium put into each cake. An account of the weight of the drug when packed at Behar and Benares, and a statement of the average weight of the chests, indiscriminately taken for the purpose of comparison from the despatches on arrival at Calcutta, may be seen on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue.

17. Any further information respecting weight or quality of the Opium advertized for sale that may be desired by parties connected with the trade will, as heretofore, be furnished to them on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue. But, in accordance with established usage, under no circumstances will the Member in charge entertain or recognize any claim to compensation for loss from any alleged deficiency of weight, abstraction of Opium, or adulteration of the drug, which may be preferred on reference to chests after the sale and delivery of the Opium for shipment.

13. It is hereby further notified that under the 8th Article of the Convention between Great Britain and France, dated the 7th March, 1815, quoted below, the Agents in India of the French Government, or persons duly appointed by them, are entitled to demand that out of the quantities of Behar and Benares Opium declared as above for sale at the twelve sales of the year 1874, there shall be delivered to them, at the average of the particular sale or sales to which the Opium so applied for may belong, a quantity not exceeding in the aggregate 300 chests, and the Agents of the French Government must make requisition specifying the quantity of Opium required by them at any particular sale, within thirty days from the advertisement of such intended sale, provided however that the Agents of the French Government may make such requisition for the whole quantity within thirty days from the publication of this notification. If the Agent of the French Government shall not make the requisition for Opium within the time above mentioned, the entire quantity of about 45,000 chests of Behar and Benares, as above estimated, will be brought to sale in the usual manner; and if they shall make application for a quantity of Opium to be delivered to them out of the quantity advertized for sale at each or any of the twelve sales above mentioned, but shall not pay for it within the prescribed period of payment, the Government of Bengal reserves to itself the right of disposing of the Opium which the French Authorities may so fail to pay for, either by increasing the quantity reserved at the sale next ensuing the date of payment, or by selling it at a sale to be held expressly for the purpose.

PART IV.

Bills of the Bengal Council.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[Second Publication.]

NOTIFICATION.

The 17th November 1873.—Under the provisions of Clause 3, Rule XV, of the "Rules for the conduct of business at meetings of the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal," the following Bills, with Statements of Objects and Reasons, are published by order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal.

H. L. DAMPIER,
Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

A Bill to amend Act XXI of 1856 of the Council of the Governor-General, and Act II of 1866 of the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal.

WHEREAS by Section 90 of Act XXI of 1856 of the Governor-General in Council (An Act to consolidate and amend the law relating to the Abkari revenue in the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal) the word "Magistrate" as used in that Act is defined to include a Joint-Magistrate or other person lawfully exercising the powers of a Magistrate, and any Assistant or Deputy Magistrate with special powers stationed at a place other than the sudder station of the Magistrate, and empowered to try cases without reference from the Magistrate; and whereas the cases mentioned in different sections of Act II of 1866 of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council can, under Section 49 of that Act, only be tried by a Magistrate of less than full powers, when they are referred to him by the District Magistrate; and whereas further by Act X of 1872 (the Code of Criminal Procedure) new rules have been enacted assigning and regulating the powers of Magistrates of the first, second, and third classes;

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. Section 90 of Act XXI of 1856 of the Governor-General in Council so far as it defines the meaning of the word "Magistrate," and Section 49, Act II of 1866, of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council, are hereby repealed.

2. In the said Act XXI of 1856, and in all Acts which are to be read as part of that Act, and also in the said Act II of 1866, the word "Magistrate" shall be deemed to include Magistrates of the first class and Magistrates of the second class, as defined in the Code of Criminal Procedure, and subject to the provisions of that Code in respect of powers and jurisdiction.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

As the law now stands, no Magistrate who does not exercise first-class powers can try even the pettiest cases of breach of the Abkari laws, such as smuggling, illicit sale of spirits, or infraction of conditions of license, unless he be stationed at a place other than the sudder station of the Magistrate, and empowered to try cases without reference from the Magistrate.

At the present time when officers exercising first-class powers are much occupied with more important district work, the restriction has been found particularly inconvenient; and the object of this Bill is to enable any Magistrate having first or second-class powers to dispose of such cases. Subordinate Magistrates will still only be able to take up cases of this description which are specially made over to them for trial, unless they are authorized to receive complaints generally, or complaints of this particular class, or when they are duly empowered to act without complaint.

The opportunity is taken for the same reasons to remove the restrictions which Section 49, Act II of 1866 (B.C.) imposes as to the classes of Magistrates who may try offences under that Act, and to assimilate the powers of each class in respect to such offences to those which they exercise, or with which they may be specially invested, with regard to offences in general under the Code of Criminal Procedure.

L. A. GOODEVE,
Offg. Asst. Secy. to Govt. of Bengal,
Judicial and Legislative Depts.

A Bill to provide for the Voluntary Registration of Mahomedan Marriages and Divorces.

WHEREAS it is expedient to make provision for the voluntary registration of Mahomedan marriages and divorces within the provinces under the control of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal; and whereas it is expedient that Registrars of such marriages and divorces should be recognised and licensed by the Local Government, it is enacted as follows:—

1. It shall be lawful for the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal to issue a license to any person being a Mahomedan, either by name or as holding any office for the time being, authorising him to act as Registrar of Mahomedan marriages and divorces.

2. Such licenses may be given on the recommendation of the Magistrate of the district, or in Calcutta, of the Commissioner of Police, to any member of any Mahomedan sect who can show that he is usually resorted to as a professional witness in such cases by his co-religionists, or that he has practised the duties of Kazi, and that he is well versed in Mahomedan law, provided always that satisfactory evidence is produced of his being a person of good moral character.

3. No Mahomedan marriage or divorce which would otherwise be valid shall be held to be invalid merely by reason of its not having been registered before a Registrar licensed under this Act.

4. Each licensed Registrar under this Act shall keep a Register Book in a form to be laid down by the Local Government in which he shall enter all marriages and divorces,—the parties to which shall desire to have them so registered. He shall also, if requested at the time, give an extract of any entry affecting them to either of the parties to such entry.

5. The entry of any marriage or divorce in the Register Book shall be signed by the Registrar, and signed, sealed, or marked by the persons married or divorced, and shall be attested by at least two credible witnesses who were present at the ceremony, and every such entry shall be made in order from the beginning to the end of the book, and any extract of any entry given to the parties shall be numbered to correspond with the number of the entry in the Register Book, and shall be authenticated by signature of the Registrar.

6. The Registrar shall keep safely the said Register Book until the same shall be filled, and shall then, or if he shall leave the district, make over the same to the District Registrar of Assurances for safe custody.

7. Any Registrar who shall discover any error to have been committed in the form or substance of any such entry may, within one month next after the discovery of such error, in the presence of the parties married, or divorced, or in case of their death or absence, in the presence of two other credible witnesses, who shall respectively attest the same, correct the erroneous entry according to the truth of the case by entry in the margin without any alteration of the original entry, and shall sign the marginal entry, and add thereunto the day of the month and year when such correction shall be made, and shall if possible give or cause to be delivered a corrected copy of the extract to the parties to the original entry.

8. Every Registrar shall at all reasonable times, and on the payment of such fees as may be agreed upon, search or permit search to be made in any such Register Books, and shall give a copy under his hand of any entry or entries in the same.

9. Every certified extract of any entry in any Register Book purporting to be signed by the licensed Registrar, shall be received as evidence of the marriage or divorce purporting to be so entered or of the facts purporting to be so certified therein, without further proof of such Register Book or extract, unless and until the genuineness of such entry or extract or the truth of the facts set out in it be disproved.

10. Whoever shall wilfully destroy or injure or cause to be destroyed or injured any such Register Book or any part thereof, or any such authenticated extract as aforesaid, or shall wilfully insert or cause to be inserted any false entry in any such Register Book or authenticated extract, shall be punished with imprisonment of either description, as defined in the Indian Penal Code, for a term which may extend to seven years, and shall also be liable to fine.

11. It shall be lawful for the Lieutenant-Governor to draw up rules and prescribe forms for giving effect to the provisions of this Act, and to charge a fee not exceeding Rs. 2 for each license granted under the Act, provided always that no rule shall be laid down to interfere with the taking by any licensed Registrar from the parties to any marriage or divorce of any fee, which custom or his position may entitle him to demand.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The attention of the Government has for some time past been drawn to the increasing number of offences against marriage shown in the criminal returns, especially in the eastern and Mahomedan districts. The remarkably small number of convictions obtained in such cases taken together with their increasing numbers, seemed to indicate the existence of a grievance which the Criminal Courts are at present unable to redress. Inquiry has proved that this is in fact the case. The loose notions regarding the marriage tie prevalent among the lower orders of Mahomedans lead to the frequent institution of criminal charges, while the absence of any authorized system of registration of marriage and divorce (since the office of Kazi ceased to be recognized by law) makes it difficult to furnish the amount of proof which the Criminal Courts require to warrant their taking action.

It appears to the Government that the legal recognition of an authorized system of registering Mahomedan marriages and divorces will go far to supply the existing want, and this Bill provides such a system. The Registrar will, as regards such registration, take the place which was filled by the old Kazis, and certified copies of extracts from his register are made primâ facie proof of the facts recited therein. But the registration of marriages and divorces is left optional with the parties concerned, and all questions of remuneration are left to be settled between the Registrar and the parties who avail themselves of his services.

EMIGRATION OF LABORERS FROM THE DISTRESSED DISTRICTS.

RESOLUTION.

STATISTICAL DEPARTMENT.

Calcutta, the 25th November 1873.

READ—

Letter No. 3517, dated 19th November 1873, asking on what terms tea planters would be willing to take laborers whom Government might assist in emigrating from the distressed districts.

Read also—

Letter to the Chief Commissioner of British Burmah, enquiring on what terms he would promote immigration into Burmah.

Read also—

Letter No. 7F, dated 21st November, from the Commissioner of Patna, reporting that the bands of laborers who ordinarily emigrate eastwards from Sarun and other parts of Behar at this time of year, are now returning to Sarun because they find food so dear in the eastern districts.

RESOLUTION.—The Lieutenant-Governor will be very glad, in pursuance of the policy indicated at paragraph 30 of His Excellency the Viceroy's orders of the 7th November, to promote emigration from the distressed districts to Assam and Cachar as soon as he can find employers ready to engage the immigrants on fair terms. He would hope to be able to arrange for marching emigrants from Sarun and Behar across Northern Behar and Bengal to Dhoobree, supplying them with food from the grain depôts in those districts.

2. The papers described above will be published for general information, with an invitation for offers to take laborers for a term of twelve months, as proposed in the Government letter of the 19th November. Persons offering to take immigrants should state whether they require all able-bodied men, or whether they will take whole families.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

C. BERNARD,

Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

No. 3517, dated Calcutta, the 19th November 1873.

From—The Officiating Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal in the Statistical Dept.

To—The Landholders' Associations of Calcutta and Debroogurh.

I AM directed to invite your attention to the marginal extract from the orders issued by the Government of India regarding the impending scarcity of food in Bengal.

PARA. 30. It is to be hoped that, in the populous tracts visited or threatened by distress, unemployed laborers may emigrate to places where food is in comparative plenty, where a special demand exists for their labor, where culturable waste abounds, such as the tea districts, the Doars, the provinces of Assam, and of British Burmah. If it be found possible for the Government to facilitate such emigration, directly or indirectly, the Governor-General will be glad to receive any suggestions which the Lieutenant-Governor may be able to make.

2. The Lieutenant-Governor would ask your Association to favour the Government with any suggestions as to the best mode of promoting immigration to the districts during this exceptional season, and as to the terms on which tea planters may be willing to bear part of the cost of importing immigrants and agree to receive laborers. The Lieutenant-Governor's present view is that immigrants who may be assisted by Government during the present year should not be expected to enter into an agreement for more than twelve months from the date of their arrival in the tea districts. At the end of that period they should be allowed to look about them and make up their minds whether they will stay in the tea districts either as tea coolies, or as ryots on the large surplus of culturable lands which exists in those districts.

3. The Lieutenant-Governor is unable to say at what cost Government Agents may be able to march emigrants across to Dhoobree if they come from North Behar, or to send them by railway and steamer if they come from Western Bengal. But he fears that the cost could not be under 15 to 30 or 40 rupees a head according as they go to near or distant district; and he would wish to know whether tea planters would find it worth while to pay one-half of the cost of carrying emigrants up to a limit of Rs. 10 per head, if they get one year's agreement from each Government emigrant. Further, up to what limit would the planters of each labor district care to take coolies at these terms.

Seebsangor.	Cachar.
Luckimpore.	Nowgong.
Durrung.

4. Copies of this letter will be forwarded to the Commissioners of Assam and Dacca, and to the Deputy Commissioners of the five districts above named, for expression of opinion. The Deputy Commissioners will be asked to invite a certain number of representative planters in these districts either to meet and discuss the matter, or to communicate respectively their opinions and suggestions to Government in this department. The Lieutenant-Governor does not mention Darjeeling as a tea district to be operated upon under these orders, as the Labor Act does not apply to the Darjeeling district, and that district is well within reach of voluntary emigration.

5. As any course of action that may be adopted must be decided upon by the 15th January at latest, I am to ask that replies to this letter may be furnished by the end of December next.

6. It may be well to mention that the Chief Commissioner of British Burmah has suggested that relief funds might very usefully be expended in sending down emigrants to Burmah, where labor is always much in demand, where families might be put down in agricultural settlements. The Chief Commissioner considers that perhaps twenty or thirty thousand immigrants could be readily absorbed into British Burmah in a single season.

No. 3504, dated Calcutta, the 19th November 1873.

From—The Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal in the Statistical Department.

To—The Secretary to the Chief Commissioner of British Burmah.

WITH reference to the Chief Commissioner's telegram of the 14th current to His Excellency the Viceroy, I am directed to forward copy of a letter which the Lieutenant-Governor has caused to be issued to representatives of the tea planting interest on the subject of promoting emigration from Bengal and Behar during the coming season of distress.

2. I am to inquire whether employers of labor, or any of the Government departments of British Burmah, would be disposed to bear a share (up to say Rs. 10 a head) in the cost of conveying emigrants from Bengal to Burmah. I am further to inquire whether able-bodied single men (as suggested in the Hon'ble Mr. Eden's telegram), or families, would be the most acceptable immigrants to Burmah.

No. 7F, dated Bankipore, the 21st November 1873.

From—S. C. BAYLEY, ESQ., Commissioner of Patna,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Statistical Department.

I HAVE the honor to forward, for the information of Government, the accompanying copy of a letter, No. 230 of the 18th instant, from the Collector and Magistrate of Sarun, reporting that numbers of people who had lately emigrated from his district are returning owing to their inability to pay for the high price of food on the route. The matter is a serious one, but it is too late now to do much to remedy it. As the ordinary season for emigrating is passing by, I have directed that food depôts be laid in along the line of route, and be sold to emigrants at cost price. The officers in charge of the works under Mr. Stevens, Executive Engineer, Raj Durbhangah, might be expected to do this. I would urge the speedy issue of the orders contemplated in regard to facilitating emigration to Assam, &c.

No. 230, dated Chuprah, the 18th November 1873.

To—The Commissioner of Patna.

I HAVE the honor to report that I have been informed that numbers of people who had lately emigrated from this district, intending to proceed to Cooch Behar and Assam, are now returning owing to their inability to pay their expenses in consequence of the high price of food prevailing on the route. I was told by a planter that 300 of such persons had so returned on his own Dehat alone.

2. As it seems very desirable that measures should be taken to facilitate emigration as much as possible, I beg to report the circumstance with a view to such action as the Government may think proper to take in the matter.

THE LATE SURGEON-MAJOR H. C. CUTCLIFFE.

Extracts (paragraphs 1 and 2) from a letter from the Surgeon-General, Indian Medical Department, to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal, No. 853, dated 27th October 1873.

I HAVE the honor to submit memorandum No. 3760, dated the 24th instant, from the Deputy Surgeon-General, Presidency Circle, reporting the death of Surgeon-Major H. C. Cutcliffe, F.R.C.S., Officiating Professor of Surgery, Medical College, Calcutta.

2. This very sad and sudden event has deprived Government of the services of a medical officer of high character and intelligence, and superior professional attainments; the Calcutta Medical School, of a distinguished surgeon, an able lecturer, and popular and successful teacher; and the public of this city, of a most efficient, conscientious, and kind practitioner.

Extract (paragraph 1) from a letter from the Additional Under-Secretary to the Government of Bengal, to the Surgeon-General, Indian Medical Department, No. 1242VS., dated 4th November 1873.

I AM directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 853, dated 27th ultimo, with enclosure, and in reply to express His Honor's great regret at the untimely death of Surgeon-Major H. C. Cutcliffe, F.R.C.S., Officiating Professor of Surgery, Medical College, Calcutta, on the 24th ultimo, and his sense of the very great loss the Government and the public have sustained in being deprived of the services of a medical officer so eminent in his profession, and one so well calculated to forward the great cause of surgical science.

Rainfall, Weather and State and Prospects of the Crops.

Statement showing Rainfall, Weather, State and Prospects of the Crops in the different Districts of Bengal, as reported to Government during the week ending the 22nd November 1873.

No.	District.	Date of return from each district.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather in the district as far as known.	State and prospects of the crops at date.	REMARKS.
BENGAL.		1873.
	Western Districts.
BURDWAN DIVISION. 1	Burdwan ...	Nov. 25th*	Nil	No rain; dew tolerably heavy.	It is becoming clear that the crops in the east and south of the district are not nearly so bad as those in west and some of the northern thannahs.	Fever prevalent.
2	Bancoorah ...	„ 22nd	Nil	Dry and cold ...	The sowing of cold weather crops has mostly been a failure. About eight annas of the late or winter paddy expected to come in during December.
3	Beerbooom ...	„ 22nd	Nil	Cold and bright ...	Early rice harvest over. Reaping of the late rice commencing. Exportation by rail of week ending 15th instant, 7,002 maunds, chiefly to the Bhaugulpore and Patna divisions. Prices show a rising tendency.
4	Midnapore ...	„ 22nd	Nil	Seasonable, dry and cold	Unchanged since last report. Prices are still the same, but if anything, with a tendency to rise. Rice is being imported to the north of the district from the south in large quantities.
5	Hooghly ...	„ 22nd	Nil	Clear throughout; wind from north-east. No prospect of rain.	The state of the crops is much the same as when last reported. The early rice is being cut generally throughout the district, the outturn is about two annas. The upland rice is continuing to dry up. The cut at the head of the Kana Nuddee is progressing rapidly, and will place a large volume of water for irrigation at the disposal of the cultivators. Prices are rising generally.
	Howrah ...	„ 22nd	Nil	Settled, fine; days unseasonably warm; nights comparatively cold; dew very heavy.	The prospects of the crops remain unaltered in all material respects. The water raised from the Damoodah through cuts in the embankments has done much good in many places in Shampore. The Ooloobariah crops are better than what was anticipated, and so are those in Amptah. But these alterations for the better are not large enough to affect the general result materially.	Fever very bad in Shibpore,—about ten deaths a day. Has now appeared in Belgatchea and its neighbourhood, situated at the other extremity of the municipality.
	Central District.
PRESIDENCY DIVISION. 6	24-Pergunnahs ...	„ 22nd†	Nil	The sky somewhat overcast about the time of the new moon. Weather still warm for the time of the year.	In Diamond Harbour sub-division about a seven-anna crop is expected, and some distress is apprehended in the southern parts of thannahs Sultanpore and Mathoorapore, where more than a two-anna crop cannot be hoped for. From Barripore the Deputy Collector reports that the paddy cut contains very little grain, and that the outturn will be very poor. Cold weather crops have been sown here and in Baraset, wherever water was available. In the latter sub-division the rice crop on the high lands is comparatively destroyed, but some good crops will be taken from the beels and low lands. In Satkherah and Baseerhaut prospects are reported to be getting worse and worse as the drought	Fever still continues in Barripore, Buseerhaut, and Satkherah sub-divisions, and at Alipore. Small-pox has made its appearance in Buseerhaut. Elsewhere public health good.

					continues. Some distress is felt by the labouring classes in the latter sub-division for want of employment which is generally abundant at this season of the year. Reports from other parts much the same as before. Prices have generally an upward tendency, but as the late rice crop is cut, it is anticipated that they will become easier.
PRESIDENCY DIVISION. 7	Nuddea ...	Nov. 22nd	Nil	Sky generally clear; nights cold; days rather hot for the time of the year.	No material change in the prospects of the crops. From the Ranaghat sub-division it is reported that there will be only a two-anna crop of the late rice; elsewhere a four-anna crop is still expected.
8	Jessore ...	„ 22nd	Nil	Clear and sunny, with occasional light clouds.	There has been no rain during the week, and the state of the crops is consequently much the same as last week. In the Sudder Sub-division the urhur (pulse) and indigo look pretty well, but the rest of the cold weather crops suffer from want of rain. The tapping of the trees for date sugar is commencing. This is an important produce throughout a great part of the district, and cold, clear weather in December and January is what it principally wants; some fears are felt as to the effect of the want of rain on the supply of juice, but it is too early to judge. The other cold weather crops are in bad condition owing to want of rain. This is particularly the case with the mustard. Pulses and linseed are in some places better than others. The boro rice crop is grown somewhat largely in the south, and this is the time for sowing and transplanting. The drought is said to be interfering with the growth of the seedlings and an insect known as "majra poka" is damaging the seed beds. The general outturn of the late rice as now estimated will not be materially different from the expectations previously reported. Prices throughout the district are still comparatively low.
RAJSHAHYE DIVISION. 9	Moorshedabad ...	„ 22nd	Nil	No rain during the week; occasionally cloudy.	Prospects much the same as last week, but from the Collector's personal observation in the western parts of the district, from which the worst reports had been received, they do not appear to be quite so gloomy as represented. A great deal of the crops has been saved by irrigation. In the north the harvest has commenced, and the sub-divisional officer states that an average outturn of seven annas is expected. The cold weather crops generally want rain, but are getting on fairly in some parts. Prices at head-quarters—best rice 11 to 12 seers, common rice average 14 seers, early rice 16 seers per rupee.

RAJSHAHYE DIVN.—(Contd.)	11	Maldah ...	Nov. 22nd	Nil	Weather hot and dry; nights cold; clouds collect and disappear.	There has been no rain this week, and consequently no improvement in the state of the crops. The cutting of the winter rice crop will commence in a few days. The yield of the whole district is not expected to average more than a four-anna crop. In places where there is still some moisture the plant looks well, but the ears do not swell with grain as they should do. It is thus difficult to tell till the crop is reaped what the exact outturn will be. The cold weather crops may still be fairly good if rain falls before the end of November. Relief work in the shape of repairs to district roads is going on.	Health of the district good.
	12	Rajshahye ...	„ 22nd	Nil	No rain; cloudy and close the first part of the week; latterly the sky has cleared, and the nights and mornings have been cooler.	In the Bhurindro in the west of the district and in the extreme north of Singrah Thannah the late rice has failed. In Baruigaon the crop is a very fair one, in the rest of the district generally the crop will give an average yield of six annas. The cold weather crops are suffering from continued drought. The mulberry crop is a very fair one. Pulses and teel (oil-seed) are promising, but will require rain shortly. Prices of rice show little or no variation.	Small-pox at Beanleah. Cholera at Poothia. Ditto at Charghat. Ditto at Beimaria. Ditto and small-pox at Nattore. Small-pox at Bagmara.
	13	Rungpore ...	„ 22nd	Nil	The weather continues fine and tolerably cool, but there does not seem to be any prospect of a rainfall.	The state of the rice crop is extremely bad, not much more than a three-anna crop can be expected. In one or two parts of the district it is hoped that a six-anna crop may be obtained, but in other parts it is expected that it will be as low as one anna. The price of rice throughout the district ranges from Rs. 3 to 5 per maund. Tobacco, wheat, mustard, and different kinds of pulses have been extensively sown, but the continued want of rain is causing great damage. The sugar-cane and ginger crops are said to be good in some parts of the district.
	14	Bograh ..	„ 22nd	Nil	....	As previously reported, only a small part of the late rice crop will be saved. Some cold weather crops, sesamum, oilseed, &c., are favorably reported on in parts. Sugarcane prospering. 15 seers of rice per rupee at Bograh market on the 22nd November.
	15	Pubna ...	„ 22nd	Nil	Warm for the time of the year; chilly winds however blow from the north-west. There has been no rain at all, and there is no prospect of any at present.	The low ground late rice is still being cut. It will be about an eight-anna crop. The cold weather crops were all sown in proper time, but they are somewhat backward. Their prospects still remain good, but they will fail if the present drought continues long.

COOCH BEHAR DIVISION.	16	Darjeeling ...	Nov. 22nd	Nil	A slight sprinkling of rain on Sunday last, not a drop since. Bright, clear sky generally.	Throughout the district (hills and plains) a ten-anna crop of paddy all round may be expected. Bhoota (maize) in the hills, which has just been gathered in, may be put down as a twelve-anna crop; it has gone up in price, but this is owing to its being bought up through the fear of the supplies of rice from the plains falling short, from the temptation to sell it at high prices beyond the district.
	17	Julpigoree ..	" 22nd	Nil	Fine, clear weather, but sun very powerful, unusually dry, and no signs of rain.	There is little change in the prospect of the crops this week. Rice is selling cheaper generally in the district since new rice has come into the market.
		Cooch Behar ...	" 22nd	Nil	No signs of rain ...	The late rice crop is good in the low lands, though very poor in the high lands, and altogether there will be at least a ten-anna crop. Exportation to Rungpore by carts and pack-bullocks is taking place. The cold weather crops are looking well. Rain is not wanted for a month, as at present it would injure the tobacco.
		Eastern Districts.
DACCA DIVISION.	18	Dacca ...	" 25th*	Nil	Weather not so cool as usual at this season.	Prospects of crop much as before. On the whole the outturn rather better than was expected. Pulses look well; oil seeds, indifferent.	Fever very bad at Manickgunge. Civil Surgeon is gone there.
	19	Furreedpore ...	" 22nd	Nil	Clear and bright throughout the week; days still hot, but cold in the morning and at night, with heavy dews.	No change in the state of the rice crops since last week. All over the district reaping continues in the low lands, and the weather is favorable for this. In the higher parts the harvest is in, and the paddy is in course of being thrashed and converted into rice. The Deputy Collector deputed to the southern side says that the rice crops in that quarter, for the most part low and marshy, promise to turn out very well, and that no distress is likely to occur there. A Sub-Deputy Collector attached to Goalundo writes from Pangsha, almost at the extreme north-western side of the district, that the harvest in these parts will be about a quarter of last year, that a great number of fields have been abandoned in despair because of the drought, and that the cattle are allowed to feed on the crops. The average price of rice in the district is 18¼ seers per rupee. The cold weather crops of pulses, oil-seeds, vegetables, &c., are still in a fair way, especially those sown early. The late sowings are unable to make any progress. Mustard stunted, when 3 or 4 inches high flowers and runs to seed too quickly. The prospects are by no means good, and they must suffer if it does not rain shortly. Sugarcane all over the district has been good.	Cholera still reported from Goalundo.

Dacca Divn.—(Contd.)	20	Backergunge ...	Nov. 22nd	Nil	Cool and pleasant ...	In the Patuakhally sub-division the crops are generally good, though in some places they have been injured by insects and by the drought. The Collector reports to have never seen finer crops than some he saw near Galachipa Thannah. A fourteen-anna crop is expected in this sub-division. In Dukhin Sabazpore the sub-divisional officer expects a ten-anna crop, but the Collector thinks more than that quantity. The crop has been injured in some places by insects, but in others it is very good, and on the road between Dhania Mania and Dowlut Khan a magnificient rice plain, many miles in extent, is seen, in the whole of which the crop was apparently at least an average one. The betel-nut cultivation, which is of great consequence in the island, has been very good this year. In the Sudder sub-division the crops round about Burisal are tolerably good, and generally a twelve-anna one is expected. In Jhalokate Thannah the crops are said to be bad. In Madareepore the crops on the high lands have suffered, but those in low lands are fair.	Not very healthy.
	21	Mymensing ...	„ 22nd	Nil	No change since last week..	The prospects of the crops are on the whole not quite so favorable as last week.
	22	Sylhet ...	„ 15th	Nil	Cold weather fairly setting in.	Unfavorable reports from Pergunnah Baniachung in Nabigunge thannah, and pergunnahs Atwajan, Kismut Atwajan, and Shaik Sonaita in Chattack thannah, and Pergunnahs Bualjur and Lakhipore in Tajpore thannah, where a blight has set in. Although last week the price of rice fell in the Sudder Bazar, there is a steady rise in price all over the district. Exportation is going on very largely.
	23	Cachar ...	„ 15th	Nil	Fair and cool ...	Prospects of crops much the same. Insects have disappeared. Reaping will be commenced shortly. An outturn of ten annas on the average crop or more may be expected. Inquiries regarding the stock of rice in hand are being made.
Chittagong Division.	24	Chittagong ...	„ 15th	Nil	Bright and fine, with north-easterly winds. Nights clear and cool.	Generally favorable. Insects reported to have disappeared from Meerkaserai and Seetacoond. The prospects of the district harvest are fair, but prices are rising owing to the anticipated scarcity in Northern Bengal and Behar.
	25	Noakhally ...	„ 15th	Nil	The cold weather has commenced.	Cox's Bazar return not received. In 106 of the 382 villages in Sudharam ten-anna of the (Rajshail and Chaplais) late paudy are said to have been destroyed, and similar loss is reported from 21 villages in Hatia. Loss of four annas of the crops is reported from Sundeep, Luckeepore, and Ameergunge, and some loss (nowhere said to exceed two annas) from the remaining thannahs of Ramgunge, Begumgunge, and Baumnie.

CHITTAGONG DIVN.	26	Tipperah ...	Nov. 22nd	Nil	The weather is gradually growing cooler, though the heat is still greater than usual at this period. North wind blowing.	There is reason to think that the crops are not quite so bad as official reports have made them out. The fact is that the Police have not been able to distinguish between a bad crop for an average year and a good crop for a bad year. The canoongoes' reports from the south are re-assuring, and even in the centre of the district matters are believed to be better than was expected. No change reported from Bramunberiah except that the low land crop is being benefited by the heavy dews. The price of rice has fallen again below Rs. 2 which looks hopeful. Sub-divisional canoongoes' reports not yet to hand.
	27	Chittagong Hill Tracts	„ 15th	Nil	Heavy dews up to 8 A. M. in the morning and cool in the night.	The paddy crop has been reaped. The cotton is now beinggathered. The prospects of the cotton crop are good. The mustard crop is now being sown. The prospects of the crops on the whole are not bad, although the outturn has not been equal to that of last year. There is no fear of scarcity, but there is not any stock over the local requirements for export.
		Hill Tipperah ...	„ 15th	Nil	Bright and cool. No rain.	No change to report in the prospects. Here and there paddy cutting has commenced. The joom rice crop appears from recent inquiries to have been a fairly average one. But the cotton crop is not as full as usual.
BEHAR.
PATNA DIVISION.	28	Patna ...	„ 24th*	Nil	Morning and evening cool, days hot. No rain.	Prospects of the district getting daily worse; the cold weather crop has generally germinated well, if it could only get rain to keep it. Insects have appeared in many places and are eating off the young plants.	Health of the district good.
	29	Gya ...	„ 22nd	Nil	Cool and fine. No rain has fallen in any part of the district.	The bulk of the paddy has perished, and the prospects of the cold weather crop continue bad. Rain is much wanted for the latter crop. In the western part of the Aurungabad sub-division, the eastern Soane Canal has been opened recently, and it is hoped that the crops on the lands bordering upon it will be much benefited by it. Prices have fallen to a slight extent since last week.
	30	Shahabad ...	„ 22nd	Nil	West wind. Weather cold and bright.	In Sasseeram sub-division canal irrigation continues. Some good has been effected in Bhubooah by a bund on the Doorgooti. Insects reported in the cold weather crops in places. The cold weather crops in the northern portions of the head-quarters and Buxar sub-division promise well.

31	Tirhoot	1873. Nov. 22nd	Nil	Cool. Cloudy at night...	In the Sittamarhee sub-division the paddy on the ground is still suffering from the long drought. In places it has been cut and stacked for the use of the cattle, and in places the ryots are making every effort to improve the paddy by irrigation. The new rice is not yet coming into the market. The mahajuns have abstained from sending their stored grains to market in order to make large profits hereafter. With the aid of irrigation from streams and tanks the general average yield of rice in the sub-division would be about four annas. The grain and rahur, kulthe pulses continue promising; caterpillars have injured the wheat in some places. Poppy coming up well where irrigation is possible. Much land will remain unsown if no rain falls during the month of Ughan (to middle of December). Should rain fall next month the cheena (millet) and moong (pulse) can be sown. In the Hajeepore sub-division a very small portion of the cold weather crop has been sown; the rest is left unsown for want of rain. In the Tajpore sub-division the cold weather crops on the Dearah lands are so far excellent. In the corner, north of the Bya, south of the Talbaryala, and west of the road west of Shawpore Barneghat, the rice will be quite six annas. There are also three or four churs south of Salimpore Murwah and north of Dembranda in which a five-anna crop may be expected. East of Dulsing serai there is the Rupowli chur which should give much the same yield. In the south-east corner of the sub-division the outturn may be yet two to three annas. There is also a little paddy between Dulsing serai and Nunanee which may yield four or five annas. Over all the rest of the sub-division the great majority of the paddy has been cut, the north being specially bare, and what yield there may be from what is on the ground is not worth taking into consideration. North of Tajpore, west of Tarbaryla, and to the east of the Dulsing serai road there is three or four annas of the cold weather crop still to be sown. In the centre and south, and south-west of the sub-division, there is less land lying fallow. All the light lands and half of the heavy lands have been sown, and ryots say that they can still sow for fifteen to twenty days the ordinary cold weather crops, and even after	Public health good. No complaints with regard to cattle.

On the Dearah it may well be sixteen annas, and in the south-west, about Puhora, it may be more than ten annas. But except in the Dearah everything depends upon rain within the next fifteen days. The worse part of the sub-division is the north of Tajpore, i.e., north of a line drawn from Nihi Dybycha to Samashpore. The rahur pulse is generally stunted, but the janera is better. Aus (potatoes) a very important crop, specially in the south-west, are at present poor and without rain cannot yield more than four annas. Suthus (a sort of bulb) have been rather better. In the Darbhangah sub-division close on fifteen annas of rice is gone. Prospects of the cold weather crop very bad. No starvation as yet, though much pressure is being felt. Prices are generally the same as last week. The prospects of the crop in the Sudder sub-division are gloomy; the prices of food-grains are rising high. The cold weather crops sown have germinated, but are withering for want of moisture. In the Madhubani sub-division prospects have by no means improved. No rain as yet; unless it falls very soon there will be no cold weather crops, and even if it does there will be very little.
	32	Sarun ...	Nov. 22nd	Nil	West wind prevailing ...	There is nothing to add to former reports unless it be to record that with each successive week of continued drought prospects are of course becoming worse. Paddy, except on inconsiderable areas of low land, has altogether failed. Cold weather crops are being irrigated from wells wherever procurable. Many new wells have been dug, but these can hardly hold out if the drought continues. Price of rice has slightly fallen.
	33	Chumparun ...	„ 22nd	Nil	Cool weather; west winds prevailing.	The prospects of the late rice crop is very gloomy. The outturn is estimated at 2 annas. About 6 annas of the cold weather crop lands have been sown, and the remaining ten annas left uncultivated for want of moisture in the ground.
BHAGULPORE DIVN.	34	Monghyr ...	„ 22nd	Nil	Set fair ...	No change since last week. Much of the cold weather crop, which has sprung up, has been destroyed by insects which have multiplied enormously during the dry season. Similar unfavorable reports have been received from sub-divisions.

Northern sub-divisional officers report no change from previous week. Prospects of the cold weather crops generally good. The grain recently imported by train is now being exported. Exportations still going on from all parts of the district.	General health remarkably good.

37	Sonthal Pergunnahs ...	„ 22nd	Nil	Cold has now set in. Occasional clouds, but no rain or prospect of any.	From Deoghur sub-division it is reported that the Kartick paddy is nearly all reaped and was poor in yield. No variation in the prospect of the late paddy. In Rajmehal the prospects of the cold weather crops are becoming worse; where seed has germinated it is likely to perish from drought, and in some places is being destroyed by insects.

ORISSA DIVISION.
38	Cuttack ...	„ 25th*	Nil	Weather cool ...	Prospects of crops good. The export of rice by merchants to different places for trade has raised slightly the market value.	Public health good.
39	Poorce ...	„ 15th	Nil	Fair and cool. No rain	The Loghu or second rice crop is being reaped with good outturn, and the harvest is nearing completion. Late rice is coming on. The present state and prospects are fair, and the produce is expected to be average. The cold weather crops are promising. Prices moderate. Advances for export of rice to Calcutta are being made in the Khoordha sub-division. Last year's stock of rice still holds out.	Public health rather bad owing to prevalence of dengue and intermittent fever.
40	Balasore ...	„ 22nd	Nil	Seasonable ...	There is no change in the state and prospects of the crops since last week, viz. the crop will be little less than an average one for the whole district. Rice cutting as usual at this time of the year has commenced.

41	Hazareebaugh ...	„ 22nd	Nil	Cold and clear; no rain has fallen in any part of the district.	No change since last report. Complaints are received from all parts of the inability to sow the cold weather crops, owing to the dryness of the soil and water is scarce for artificial irrigation.
42	Lohardugga ...	„ 22nd	Nil	Bright and clear, with mornings and evenings cold; no signs of rain.	Things are very much in the same state as last week. As regards the greater portion of the Sudder Sub-division, there appears no reason to doubt the correctness of the general estimate made last week that there will be full two-thirds of an average crop; the only part of the Suder Sub-division, where there is fear of actual scarcity, is the Tori Pergunnah. Owing to the want of rain the prospects of the cold weather crops are very bad. In many places sowings have not been made, and where they have been made the crops will be short, unless it rains very shortly. From Palamow the report states that a shorter crop even than was last reported may be expected. The paddy is not expected to be more than a four-anna. Pulse and teel (oil-seed) promise to be about seven or eight-anna crop. Not more than a four-anna of the cold weather crop has been sown. This promise well at present, but of course the outturn depends on an immediate fall of rain, without which there will not be a more than eight-anna crop.

43	Singbhoom ...	Nov. 15th	Nil	Slight rain in the south of the Colehan about the beginning of the week. General rain very much wanted for the crops on the ground.	With regard to Dhalbhoom, Seraikeyla, and Porahat, much the same as last report. There are good hopes that all the low land crops will be saved by the active measures in course to irrigate the fields, and the outturn is expected to be eight to ten-anna. Tarof Porchali only is very bad. In the Colehan the early crops have failed to the extent of half everywhere, and up to two-thirds in some few places. The low land crops are all more or less good, and will for the most part be saved. The winter crops in the south of the Colehan are turning out very badly. The pulses are all turning yellow and drying up for want of moisture. The oil-seeds may be said to have completely failed. This part of the district in other years is generally a blaze of colour with mustard, &c., but this year a few scattered fields are all that can be seen.
44	Maunbhoom ...	„ 22nd	Nil	Settled. Fine. Wind north-west.	The Nuan rice has been cut and a beginning has been made to cut the late rice, but it is too soon as yet to ascertain what the yield will be; it is, however, believed to be tolerably good, and that a half outturn on all round will be secured; the people are fully employed, and at present there is no distress. The hâts, 41 in number, lately established, are all well attended, and rice and all other supplies freely sold at them. They have been the means of keeping down prices very considerably and made food available to the poorer classes at reasonable rates.

46	Kamroop ...	Nov. 24th*	Nil	Mornings cold, raw, and misty; days dry and clear; slight north-east wind; nights clear, heavy dews.	The late rice and tea crops backward for want of rain. Cotton, sugarcane, mustard, and pulse progressing.	Public health good.
47	Durrung ...	„ 15th	Nil	Fogs in the mornings, bright days, little breeze.	No rain. Crops drying up. No improvement since last report.
48	Nowgong ...	„ 15th	Nil	Weather cool and seasonable, with heavy dews at nights.	The late rice crop is poorer at the western end of the district than to the east of the sudder station, but still an average crop may be expected. Pulse doing fairly. Sugarcane and mustard doing well. Tea operations rapidly slackening. Tea-making season being nearly over.	General health of the district excellent.
49	Seebsaugor ...	„ 15th	Nil	Weather cool; no indication of rain.	No rain has fallen during the week, and there has been no change in the prospect of the outturn of the rice crop. If heavy rain comes now it might do harm to the rice, but it is wanted for the mustard cultivation as also tea.
50	Luckimpore ...	„ 15th	Nil	No rain during the week; the weather perceptibly cooler.	Nothing new to report ...	Public health fair.
51	Naga Hills ...	„ 8th	Nil	Cold weather coming on fast, although the sun is still very hot at mid-day.	The crops in the hills could scarcely be better. The joom crops both of the Nagas and Kookies have yielded one of the best outturns known for years past, whilst the terrai crop of the Angamies promises to be a bumper one. In the plain the look-out continues to be a very bad one indeed, and the pathar crops can scarcely improve very much now.
52	Khasi & Jynteah Hills	„ 15th	Rain did not fall in sufficient quantity to obtain a record.	The weather has been bleak and cloudy, and on the night of the 14th instant a smart shower of rain fell at Shillong and its neighbourhood.	The rice crop has all been harvested, and the produce is already appearing in some of the markets. There is no scarcity in the hills, but as the rice raised in the country is not sufficient to meet the wants of the inhabitants and a considerable quantity of rice has to be imported from the plains, from Sylhet, and from Assam, the price of the staple is rising in the markets owing to an expected scarcity in the plains. Though a good shower of rain has fallen in the hills, yet it is of no great consequence, as the cereals still standing are nearly ready for the sickle and do not require further moisture.
53	Garo Hills ...	„ 15th	Nil	Hazy throughout the week, very dry, but tolerably cool. Nights cold and dew heavy. A few clouds have generally gathered about the Tura range during the afternoons, but soon dispersed again and not a drop of rain has fallen.	Vegetables, yams, and the like, besides cotton, are the only crops which remain uncollected in the hills; much less rice has been brought to Tura during past week from the Mymensingh side, and reports from that direction state that it is daily becoming more difficult to obtain supplies thence. A few of the inhabitants along the foot of the hills and traders still bring up small quantities of rice.

* Telegram of the 24th November received on the 25th. Shows the rainfall during the seven days including the 25th instant.

NOTE.

Barometric Pressure.—The pressures in column 2 of the above table for all stations below 500 feet are reduced from those given in column 3 of the table on the previous page by adding the weight of a column of air of the temperature given in column 17. For stations above 500 feet elevation the reduction is made by Dippe's tables as given in Guyot's "Meteorological and Physical Tables." The temperatures at the sea-level are taken from column 3 of the above table.

Temperature.—The temperatures in column 3 are reduced from those in column 17 on the preceding page by adding 1° Fahrenheit for every 450 feet.

Wind Resultant.—The resultant wind direction and its comparative predominance are calculated from the whole number of wind observations recorded during the month. The relative predominance in the direction of the resultant is given as a percentage of the whole number of observations. The direction is computed in the usual way by Lambert's formula.

Serenity.—This column gives the average proportion of unclouded sky; a cloudless sky being indicated by 10, and one completely overcast by 0.

The above being all comparable, afford the data for constructing a meteorological chart for the month, which shall show the isobaric and isothermal lines and the resultant wind directions, which last may be represented by arrows of varying length, proportioned to the prevalence of the wind. To these may be added the rainfall from the previous tables.

CALCUTTA,
The 25th November 1873.

H. F. BLANFORD,
Meteorological Reporter to the Govt. of Bengal.

NOTE ON THE DEFICIENT RAINFALL OF SEPTEMBER.

THE rainfall during the month has been deficient at all the Bengal stations in the list except Hazareebaugh, where it was about one-half greater than the average of the month. The deficiency has been about the same at most of the stations, viz. between 3 and 6·5 inches, and greatest at Patna, where less than an inch fell, the average being nearly 7½ inches. At Benares the deficiency was about the same as in Bengal, but at Roorkee the fall was nearly four times the usual amount, and at Akyab the average was exceeded by 2 inches. The winds, which in September are generally easterly or south-easterly in the Lower Provinces, were much less so than usual, and in many places very decidedly westerly. This was especially the case at Benares, in Behar, at Cuttack, Hazareebaugh, Saugor Island, Calcutta, and Berhampore; somewhat less so in the eastern districts. At Roorkee, on the other hand, south-easterly winds were unusually prevalent, which accounts for the greater rainfall of that station. The atmospheric pressure was somewhat below the average, especially at Cuttack and Lucknow; but considerably above it at Hazareebaugh, Saugor Island, Chittagong, Silchar, and Darjeeling. This abnormal distribution of the pressure partly explains the generally westerly tendency of the winds, of which the diminished rainfall is a natural consequence; but in the absence of information from Western, Central, and Southern India, and the Punjab, no complete elucidation of these irregularities is possible. The following table gives a complete view of the wind, rainfall, and pressure at several stations :—

The mean barometer, as likewise the dry and wet bulb thermometer means, are derived from the twenty-four hourly observations made during the day.

The dew-point is computed with the Greenwich constants. The figures in column 10 represent the humidity of the air, the complete saturation of which being taken at unity. The receiver of the lower rain gauge is 1½ feet, and that of the anemometer 70 feet 10 inches above the level of the ground. The velocity of wind, as indicated by Robinson's anemometer, is registered from noon to noon.

Letter from Government of Bengal, No. 2192, dated 10th May 1871.

Letter to Government of Bengal, No. 2922, dated 14th June 1871.

Endorsement from the Foreign Department, No. 1274P, dated the 22nd June 1871, forwarding, for disposal, replies to a circular issued in May 1869, enquiring how far the rules sanctioned for Bengal to regulate the importation and transport of arms and ammunition would be suitable for the other provinces.

Circular to Local Governments and Administrations, Nos. 40—2630 to 2633, dated 14th August 1873, and replies received.

RESOLUTION.—In May 1869 the Government of India in the Foreign Department sanctioned certain rules for regulating importation of fire-arms and ammunition into the Lower Provinces of Bengal, and their transport from place to place within the limits of those provinces, under the provisions of Sections 17 and 22 of Act XXXI of 1860, and at the same time issued a circular to the other Local Governments and Administrations inquiring how far such rules would meet their respective requirements.

2. From the replies received it appears necessary to frame uniform regulations for placing the importation and inland transport of cannon and arms and ammunition under systematic control throughout British India.

3. And from other portions of the correspondence read, it appears desirable to prohibit the transhipment of cannon and arms and ammunition at certain British Indian ports, and to restrict the granting of passes for the exportation of cannon and arms and ammunition from British India.

4. The Governor-General in Council is therefore pleased to declare as follows:—

Firstly, as regards the importation of cannon and arms and ammunition, that licenses for import under Section 17, Act XXXI of 1860, will henceforward be granted only at places and by the officials named in the list appended to this Resolution. These orders will supersede the notifications issued from the Home Department in October 1860 and July 1866, which authorized the chief police officer in every town and frontier district to grant licenses, and so much of the Foreign Office notification of 1869 as relates to the importation of arms, &c., by sea or by land into India; also so much of the notification [dated 22nd July 1873] which appeared in the Calcutta Gazette of July 23rd 1873, as relates to the importation of fire-arms and ammunition into the territories under the Government of Bengal.

Secondly, as regards the transhipment of arms, &c., that a notification has issued under Section 6 of Act VI of 1873, prohibiting such transhipment at the ports to which that Act extends.

Thirdly, as regards the inland transport of arms, &c., from one part of India to another, that the rules of which a copy is appended to this Resolution are approved, and that they be published under Section 22 of Act XXXI of 1860; further that, in order to enable the Local Administrations under the Government of India to make similar rules for interior transport within their respective territories, a notification has issued delegating to the Chief Commissioners the power conferred upon a Local Government by Section 22 of Act XXXI of 1860.

Fourthly, as regards the granting of passes for exporting arms and ammunition, that no such passes shall in future be granted for exportation either by land or sea, except by the Secretary to the Government of India in the Foreign Department, and such other officers as the Government of India, or the Governments of Madras and Bombay within their respective Presidencies, may have expressly authorized, or may hereafter expressly authorize, in this behalf. That all such passes shall be granted subject, as far as may be, to the rules for the transport of arms within British India, and that, whenever there is a Political Agent, Cantonment Magistrate, or other British official at the place of destination, the pass shall be delivered to him within six days of the arrival there of the articles covered by it, with a view to his satisfying himself that there is no deficiency, in the same manner as a Magistrate of a British district is required to do by the inland transport rules.

ORDER.—Ordered, that copy of the above Resolution, with the appended rules and notifications, be forwarded to the Local Governments and Administrations for information and guidance.

No. 3559.—In exercise of the power conferred by Section 6 of Act VI of 1873, the Governor-General in Council is pleased to prohibit the transhipment of cannon and fire-arms and parts of fire-arms, and of gunpowder and other ammunition, at all ports to which the said Act extends or may hereafter be extended, except under license from the officer charged to grant license of import into British India.

No. 3560.—Under the authority vested in him by Section 22 of Act XXXI of 1860, the Governor-General in Council is pleased, in supersession of all previous orders on the subject, to prohibit the transport of fire-arms, and parts of fire-arms and of gunpowder and other ammunition or military stores as described in Section 22 of the Act above cited, from any place in British India within the jurisdiction of one Local Government or Administration to any place in British India within the jurisdiction of another Local Government or Administration, except under the following rules and conditions.

2. Any person desirous of transporting any of the above-mentioned articles [except in reasonable quantities for his own private use] from any of the sea-port towns or frontier stations into which arms can be imported under license into the interior of British India beyond the territorial jurisdiction of the Local Government or Administration within the limits of which such sea-port or station is situated, must apply for a pass to the officer empowered by the Government of India to grant licenses under Section 17 of Act XXXI of 1860 for import to the sea-port or station.

3. When a person is desirous of transporting any such articles from any place in British India other than the sea-ports or stations referred to in the last preceding rule to any place in British India within the territories of another Local Government or Administration, he must apply for a pass to the Secretary to the Government of India in the Home Department, or to the Secretary to the Local Government of the territory out of which he desires to convey the articles, or to such other officer as the Government of India may have authorized by notification to grant such a pass.

4. The application must in either case be in writing; it must specify the town, station, or other place into which the articles are intended to be transported, and must contain full information as to the quantity, quality, and description of the articles and the purpose for which they are respectively designed. Where the articles have been imported from abroad, the license under which they have been imported must be appended.

5. It will be within the discretion of the authorized officer to grant the pass if from the information thus given and otherwise obtained he considers that such pass may be safely granted. A register shall be kept of all passes so granted, and a copy of each pass shall be sent to the Magistrate of the district within which the place to which the articles are to be transported is situated.

6. The articles covered by such pass shall be taken direct to the place of destination mentioned in the pass without being sold or made use of at any intermediate place.

7. On the articles reaching their destination, the person in charge thereof must deliver the pass to the office of the Magistrate of the district within six days. It will be the duty of that officer to satisfy himself that the articles transported correspond with the entries in the pass, and to see that any deficiency that may exist is satisfactorily accounted for. The pass shall then be endorsed and returned to the holder if he may lawfully keep in his possession the articles of which it covers the transport.

Under the provisions of Section 2 of Act V (B. C.) of 1873, the following plan for the future lighting of that area of the town of Howrah which is at present lighted with gas is hereby published for general information by order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal.

PLAN.

1. The portion of the Town which is lighted is bounded as follows:—

On the North by Hurrogunge Road, on the South by Ramkistopore Ghaut Road, on the East by the River Hooghly, and on the West by the Grand Trunk Road. A map of this portion is herewith submitted, on which is shown in blue lines the streets which are lighted, and in red lines those which the Commissioners propose to light on receipt of His Honor's sanction.

2. The following are the names of the streets and the number of lamps in each at present lighted, as also the names of the streets proposed to be lighted and the number of lamps in each.

3. It will be observed from the map* that when the last named streets are lighted, all the public roads within the portion of the Town described in para. 2 will be lighted; that is to say, all the highways which are vested in the Commissioners, and over which they have control.

* Vide note deposited in the Bengal Office.

4. The outlay in erecting the lamps at present lighted, numbering 201, was Rs. 10,628, and the estimated cost of erecting the 39 lamps, which are required to complete the lighted area, is Rs. 2,437-8.

5. The cost of erecting the existing lamps was met from general funds, and the Commissioners propose to pay for the erection of the extra lamps from the saving which will be effected in the allotment for lighting charges for the months of January, February, and March next. This of course is calculated on the principle that His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor will be pleased to authorize the Commissioners to levy the rate from the 4th quarter of the current year 1873-74, viz. January to March 1874, the Commissioners, on their part, undertaking that the extra lamps shall be ready for lighting from 1st January.

6. The cost of lighting the 240 lamps will be Rs. 24,000 per annum. To this cost the Commissioners are bound by the existing contract with the Gas Company from which they have no escape. The contract has still 18 years to run. To this is to be added a sum of Rs. 1,200 for contingent charges of repairs to lamps, making a total of Rs. 25,200 per annum.

7. The total valuation of buildings and lands situated within the area is Rs. 8,72,867. A rate of 3 per cent. on this valuation would yield Rs. 26,186 per annum, and if from this sum a deduction is made of, say, Rs. 486 on account of collection charges, there would remain a net income of Rs. 25,700, which would cover the expenses of lighting and maintaining the lamps within the portion of the Town in which it is proposed to levy the rate for the present.

3. The sale shall commence at the hour of 11 A.M. of the day fixed by previous notification, and shall not be continued after the hour of 5 P.M.; but if at that hour any of the lots advertized for sale shall remain unsold, the sale may, at the discretion of the Member in charge, be resumed on the next day following (not being Sunday or a public holiday) at the hour of 11 A.M., and so on until the whole of the remaining lots are disposed of; or, if the whole quantity advertized shall not be sold on the day appointed, the Member in charge may dispose of the lots which remain on hand at a future sale.

4. Each lot shall contain five chests.

5. A Promissory Note for a sum, calculated according to the scale noted in the margin, shall be taken as a deposit on each lot from the purchaser in the sale-room, and before the lot is registered in the sale book, and all such Promissory Notes shall be redeemed on the part of the purchasers at this Office by Bank of Bengal receipts, or by substitution of other public securities of the Government of India, on or before 4 o'clock in the afternoon of the fifth day after the sale: or on the other hand, failing such redemption by the time aforesaid, then the lot or lots for which no Bank of Bengal receipts, or deposit of other public securities as aforesaid shall have been delivered in, shall be re-sold at such time or times and under such conditions of re-sale as the Member in charge shall see fit; and all losses and expenses whatsoever attending such re-sale shall be borne and paid by the defaulters, whilst any profit accruing from such re-sale shall be forfeited to Government.

6. The Promissory Notes taken on the day of sale under the last-mentioned condition, if remaining unredeemed at 4 o'clock of the fifth day following the day of sale, will be placed in the hands of the Solicitor to the Government for realization in such manner as to him shall seem fit.

7. No tender of money, Bank of Bengal receipts, or public securities, on account of Opium upon which the prescribed deposit may not have been made before 4 o'clock of the fifth day following the day of sale, will be afterwards accepted.

8. The Opium advertised for sale shall be paid for not later than by 4 o'clock of the fifteenth day from the day of sale, and in case any lots of such Opium shall not be so paid for and adjusted, then the cash deposit made under the fifth Condition or any public securities that may have been deposited on account of such lots or chests, shall be forfeited, and the Opium shall be disposed of on account of Government at such time and in such manner as the Member in charge shall think fit, and the first purchaser shall further be required to make good any loss or difference of price between that obtained at the re-sale and the amount at which the Opium was first purchased, forfeiting all advantages that may arise from such re-sale.

9. Purchasers taking out certificates or orders for the delivery of Opium after making full payment as above prescribed, shall have the option of naming the number of lots of their purchase, which they may desire to be included in each certificate or order; and it is to be clearly understood that the certificates or orders so taken out shall be considered final, and not afterwards changeable for other certificates or orders authorizing the delivery of single lots, or of a different number of lots or chests, whether more or less, than the number of lots or chests originally required to be included in each certificate or order.

10. No deposit of public securities under the fifth of the present Conditions will be received in this Office except from the party recorded as the purchaser in the sale book or his anthorized Agent. 11. The officer superintending the sale on the part of the Government is empowered to reject, at his discretion, the bid of any individual, unless such individual shall, on demand, tender at the time a deposit either in Government of India Notes, Bank of Bengal Receipts, or Government Securities, a sum equal to the amount for which a Promissory Note would otherwise be taken under the fifth of these Conditions.

12. With a view to prevent fictitious biddings designed to obstruct the sale, it is hereby notified that the officer of Government superintending the sale shall be competent, at any time during the sale, to withdraw any unsold lot, and immediately to put it up again for sale at a maximum upset price, diminishing the same gradually until a bid is obtained, and the first bona fide bidder for a lot after it has been offered for sale in the mode here described shall be held and declared to be the purchaser of the said lot, and the officer of Government superintending the sale shall also be competent to dispose, in the same manner, of as many of the subsequent lots as he may think proper, provided always that no lot shall be sold below the minimum price of Rs. 800 specified in the second of these Conditions.

13. The purchaser of any lot shall have the option of naming and purchasing in immediate succession, at the same price and under the same conditions, any number of lots of the same agency Opium not exceeding altogether twenty-five lots, provided always that there remain a sufficient number of lots of the Opium to complete the said twenty-five.

14. In the event of any dispute or difference touching or concerning any matter or question arising out of the sale of the Opium included in this notification, or adjustment of the account thereof, the same shall and may be tried and decided in the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal.

15. The following papers will be exhibited for inspection on the day of sale, or may be seen previously to that date by personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue. No. 1, certificate of the Opium advertized for sale; No. 2, report of the examination of such Opium.

16. The public are hereby informed that, in providing the investment of the Behar and Benares Opium for the year 1872-73, the same precautions have been taken as those which have been observed during past years, to have the drug procured and sent down in a pure state, to have only the prescribed quantity of leaves used in forming the cakes, and to have the due proportion of Opium put into each cake. An account of the weight of the drug when packed at Behar and Benares, and a statement of the average weight of the chests, indiscriminately taken for the purpose of comparison from the despatches on arrival at Calcutta, may be seen on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue.

17. Any further information respecting weight or quality of the Opium advertized for sale that may be desired by parties connected with the trade will, as heretofore, be furnished to them on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue. But, in accordance with established usage, under no circumstances will the Member in charge entertain or recognize any claim to compensation for loss from any alleged deficiency of weight, abstraction of Opium, or adulteration of the drug, which may be preferred on reference to chests after the sale and delivery of the Opium for shipment.

18. It is hereby further notified that under the 6th Article of the Convention between Great Britain and France, dated the 7th March, 1815, quoted below, the Agents in India of the French Government, or persons duly appointed by them, are entitled to demand that out of the quantities of Behar and Benares Opium declared as above for sale at the twelve sales of the year 1874, there shall be delivered to them, at the average of the particular sale or sales to which the Opium so applied for may belong, a quantity not exceeding in the aggregate 300 chests, and the Agents of the French Government must make requisition specifying the quantity of Opium required by them at any particular sale, within thirty days from the advertisement of such intended sale, provided however that the Agents of the French Government may make such requisition for the whole quantity within thirty days from the publication of this notification. If the Agent of the French Government shall not make the requisition for Opium within the time above mentioned, the entire quantity of about 45,000 chests of Behar and Benares, as above estimated, will be brought to sale in the usual manner; and if they shall make application for a quantity of Opium to be delivered to them out of the quantity advertized for sale at each or any of the twelve sales above mentioned, but shall not pay for it within the prescribed period of payment, the Government of Bengal reserves to itself the right of disposing of the Opium which the French Authorities may so fail to pay for, either by increasing the quantity reserved at the sale next ensuing the date of payment, or by selling it at a sale to be held expressly for the purpose.

NOTIFICATION.

THE following Bill was read in the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal for making Laws and Regulations, and was referred to a Select Committee for consideration and report.

L. A. GOODEVE,
Offg. Asst. Secy. to Govt. of Bengal,
Judicial and Legislative Depts.

A Bill to amend Act XXI of 1856 of the Council of the Governor-General, and Act II of 1866 of the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal.

WHEREAS by Section 90 of Act XXI of 1856 of the Governor-General in Council (An Act to consolidate and amend the law relating to the Abkari revenue in the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal) the word "Magistrate" as used in that Act is defined to include a Joint-Magistrate or other person lawfully exercising the powers of a Magistrate, and any Assistant or Deputy Magistrate with special powers stationed at a place other than the sudder station of the Magistrate, and empowered to try cases without reference from the Magistrate; and whereas the cases mentioned in different sections of Act II of 1866 of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council can, under Section 49 of that Act, only be tried by a Magistrate of less than full powers, when they are referred to him by the District Magistrate; and whereas further by Act X of 1872 (the Code of Criminal Procedure) new rules have been enacted assigning and regulating the powers of Magistrates of the first, second, and third classes;

1. Section 90 of Act XXI of 1856 of the Governor-General in Council so far as it defines the meaning of the word "Magistrate," and Section 49, Act II of 1866, of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council, are hereby repealed.

2. In the said Act XXI of 1856, and in all Acts which are to be read as part of that Act, and also in the said Act II of 1866, the word "Magistrate" shall be deemed to include Magistrates of the first class and Magistrates of the second class, as defined in the Code of Criminal Procedure, and subject to the provisions of that Code in respect of powers and jurisdiction.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

As the law now stands, no Magistrate who does not exercise first-class powers can try even the pettiest cases of breach of the Abkari laws, such as smuggling, illicit sale of spirits, or infraction of conditions of license, unless he be stationed at a place other than the sudder station of the Magistrate, and empowered to try cases without reference from the Magistrate.

At the present time when officers exercising first-class powers are much occupied with more important district work, the restriction has been found particularly inconvenient; and the object of this Bill is to enable any Magistrate having first or second-class powers to dispose of such cases. Subordinate Magistrates will still only be able to take up cases of this description which are specially made over to them for trial, unless they are authorized to receive complaints generally, or complaints of this particular class, or when they are duly empowered to act without complaint.

The opportunity is taken for the same reasons to remove the restrictions which Section 49, Act II of 1866 (B.C.) imposes as to the classes of Magistrates who may try offences under that Act, and to assimilate the powers of each class in respect to such offences to those which they exercise, or with which they may be specially invested, with regard to offences in general under the Code of Criminal Procedure.

Offg. Asst. Secy. to Govt. of Bengal,
Judicial and Legislative Depts.

THE following Bill was read in the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal for making Laws and Regulations, and was referred to a Select Committee who are to report thereon in a month.

A Bill to provide for the Voluntary Registration of Mahomedan Marriages and Divorces.

WHEREAS it is expedient to make provision for the voluntary registration of Mahomedan marriages and divorces within the provinces under the control of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal; and whereas it is expedient that Registrars of such marriages and divorces should be recognised and licensed by the Local Government, it is enacted as follows:—

1. It shall be lawful for the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal to issue a license to any person being a Mahomedan, either by name or as holding any office for the time being, authorising him to act as Registrar of Mahomedan marriages and divorces.

2. Such licenses may be given on the recommendation of the Magistrate of the district, or in Calcutta, of the Commissioner of Police, to any member of any Mahomedan sect who can show that he is usually resorted to as a professional witness in such cases by his co-religionists, or that he has practised the duties of Kazi, and that he is well versed in Mahomedan law, provided always that satisfactory evidence is produced of his being a person of good moral character.

3. No Mahomedan marriage or divorce which would otherwise be valid shall be held to be invalid merely by reason of its not having been registered before a Registrar licensed under this Act.

4. Each licensed Registrar under this Act shall keep a Register Book in a form to be laid down by the Local Government in which he shall enter all marriages and divorces,—the parties to which shall desire to have them so registered. He shall also, if requested at the time, give an extract of any entry affecting them to either of the parties to such entry.

5. The entry of any marriage or divorce in the Register Book shall be signed by the Registrar, and signed, sealed, or marked by the persons married or divorced, and shall be attested by at least two credible witnesses who were present at the ceremony, and every such entry shall be made in order from the beginning to the end of the book, and any extract of any entry given to the parties shall be numbered to correspond with the number of the entry in the Register Book, and shall be authenticated by signature of the Registrar.

6. The Registrar shall keep safely the said Register Book until the same shall be filled, and shall then, or if he shall leave the district, make over the same to the District Registrar of Assurances for safe custody.

7. Any Registrar who shall discover any error to have been committed in the form or substance of any such entry may, within one month next after the discovery of such error, in the presence of the parties married, or divorced, or in case of their death or absence, in the presence of two other credible witnesses, who shall respectively attest the same, correct the erroneous entry according to the truth of the case by entry in the margin without any alteration of the original entry, and shall sign the marginal entry, and add thereunto the day of the month and year when such correction shall be made, and shall if possible give or cause to be delivered a corrected copy of the extract to the parties to the original entry.

8. Every Registrar shall at all reasonable times, and on the payment of such fees as may be agreed upon, search or permit search to be made in any such Register Books, and shall give a copy under his hand of any entry or entries in the same.

9. Every certified extract of any entry in any Register Book purporting to be signed by the licensed Registrar, shall be received as evidence of the marriage or divorce purporting to be so entered or of the facts purporting to be so certified therein, without further proof of such Register Book or extract, unless and until the genuineness of such entry or extract or the truth of the facts set out in it be disproved.

10. Whoever shall wilfully destroy or injure or cause to be destroyed or injured any such Register Book or any part thereof, or any such authenticated extract as aforesaid, or shall wilfully insert or cause to be inserted any false entry in any such Register Book or authenticated extract, shall be punished with imprisonment of either description, as defined in the Indian Penal Code, for a term which may extend to seven years, and shall also be liable to fine.

11. It shall be lawful for the Lieutenant-Governor to draw up rules and prescribe forms for giving effect to the provisions of this Act, and to charge a fee not exceeding Rs. 2 for each license granted under the Act, provided always that no rule shall be laid down to interfere with the taking by any licensed Registrar from the parties to any marriage or divorce of any fee, which custom or his position may entitle him to demand.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The attention of the Government has for some time past been drawn to the increasing number of offences against marriage shown in the criminal returns, especially in the eastern and Mahomedan districts. The remarkably small number of convictions obtained in such cases taken together with their increasing numbers, seemed to indicate the existence of a grievance which the Criminal Courts are at present unable to redress. Inquiry has proved that this is in fact the case. The loose notions regarding the marriage tie prevalent among the lower orders of Mahomedans lead to the frequent institution of criminal charges, while the absence of any authorized system of registration of marriage and divorce (since the office of Kazi ceased to be recognized by law) makes it difficult to furnish the amount of proof which the Criminal Courts require to warrant their taking action.

It appears to the Government that the legal recognition of an authorized system of registering Mahomedan marriages and divorces will go far to supply the existing want, and this Bill provides such a system. The Registrar will, as regards such registration, take the place which was filled by the old Kazis, and certified copies of extracts from his register are made primâ facie proof of the facts recited therein. But the registration of marriages and divorces is left optional with the parties concerned, and all questions of remuneration are left to be settled between the Registrar and the parties who avail themselves of his services.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[First Publication.]

THE following Act of the Governor-General of India in Council received the assent of His Excellency the Governor-General on the 24th November 1873, and is hereby promulgated for general information :—

ACT No. XVII OF 1873.

An Act to provide for the liquidation of the debts of the Nawáb Názim of Bengal, and for his protection against legal process.

Preamble.

Whereas divers large pecuniary claims have been made against Sayyid Mansur Alí, the present Nawáb Názim of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa, commonly called the Nawáb Názim, which he has not the means of satisfying, and for the purpose of recovering such claims divers suits have been brought against him, and divers attachments have been issued against his property in India :

And whereas, with respect to certain jewels and immoveable property, it is disputed whether they belong absolutely to the said Nawáb Názim or are held by the Government of India for the purpose of upholding the dignity of the Náwab Názim for the time being, and litigation has consequently arisen between the creditors of the present Nawáb Názim and the Government of India :

And whereas the Government of India is desirous of freeing the said Nawáb Názim and his property respectively from such suits and attachments, and of discharging such portions of the said claims as are proper to be paid : and of settling the said dispute as to the said jewels and immoveable property :

And whereas in the meantime and for the future, it is expedient to exempt the said Nawáb Názim, except as hereinafter mentioned, from the jurisdiction of the Civil Courts, and to render him incapable of contracting further pecuniary obligations ;

Such consent shall be certified by the signature of one of the Secretaries to the Government of India, and every such signature shall be judicially noticed.

And any suit which at any time shall have been, or shall be, commenced, and any writ or process which at any time shall have been, or shall be, sued for, against the person or property of the said Nawáb Názim shall be of no effect unless and until the consent of the Governor-General in Council, certified in manner aforesaid, is obtained.

12. The Commissioners shall ascertain what jewels and immoveable property are held by the Government of India for the purpose of upholding the dignity of the Nawáb Názim for the time being, and shall certify the particulars of such jewels and property; and their finding thereon shall be binding and conclusive on all persons whomsoever.

Commissioners to ascertain the property held by Government for upholding the dignity of the Náwáb Nazim's family.

13. If any question of law, or as to the construction of a document, arises in any case under this Act, and the Commissioners think it necessary for the purposes of fairness and justice to obtain a judicial opinion thereon, they may draw up a statement of the case and refer it for the decision of the High Court of Judicature at Fort William; and the provisions of sections twenty-four and twenty-five and of the first sentence of section twenty-six of Act No. XI of 1865 shall apply as if, in section twenty-six, for the word "Court," the word "Commissioners" were substituted.

14. The said Nawáb Názim shall be incapable of entering into any contract which may give rise to any pecuniary obligation on his part.

Nawáb Názim to be incapable of contracting.

15. Nothing herein contained shall be deemed to render the Secretary of State for India in Council, or the Government of India, liable for any debt heretofore contracted by, or on behalf of, the said Nawáb Názim, or in respect of any claim to be reimbursed, which may be made by any person supplying him with necessaries.

Saving of Secretary of State in Council.

16. No suit or other proceeding shall be maintained against any person in respect of anything done by him in good faith under this Act.

Present:

HIS HONOR THE LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR OF BENGAL, presiding.
The Hon'ble G. C. PAUL,
The Hon'ble V. H. SCHALCH,
The Hon'ble H. L. DAMPIER,
The Hon'ble C. E. BERNARD,
The Hon'ble RAJAH JOTEENDRO MOHUN TAGORE, BAHADOOR, The Hon'ble BABOO DIGUMBER MITTER, and
The Hon'ble B. D. COLVIN.

POWERS OF MAGISTRATES.

THE HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER moved for leave to bring in a Bill to amend Act XXI of 1856 of the Council of the Governor-General and Act II of 1866 of the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal. He said this Bill had been published by the order of His Honor the President, according to the rule of the Council in that behalf, in anticipation of the Council's permission to introduce it. It was merely a technical Bill. As the thing stood, the Abkari Laws and the Suburbs of Calcutta Law, Act II of 1866 of this Council, restrict the powers of Magistrate in a certain way as regards offences under those special laws. He had nothing more to explain in regard to this Bill than what had been expressed in the Statement of objects and reasons. The object was to assimilate the trial of these offences as regards the tribunals before which they should be tried with the general scheme of the Criminal Procedure Code.

The motion was agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. DAMPIER applied to the President to suspend the Rules for the conduct of business to enable him to move that the Bill be read in Council.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT said it was doubtful whether it was necessary to suspend the Rules in regard to this Bill. The principle of the Rules seemed to be, ordinarily, that a Bill should not be read in Council unless it had been for three days in the hands of the members. Under the authority vested in the President, this Bill had been published in the Gazette, and it had been in the hands of the members for more than three days. In order, however, to obviate any doubt as to whether there had been a sufficient compliance with the Rules, and in order to relieve the District Officers from work of the nature to which this Bill referred as soon as possiple, he would suspend the Rules.

The Hon'ble MR. DAMPIER then moved that the Bill be read in Council.

The motion was agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. DAMPIER moved that the Bill be referred to a Select Committee consisting of the Advocate-General and himself: this being a merely technical Bill, he would not trouble other Hon'ble Members to sit in committee.

The motion was agreed to.

MAHOMEDAN MARRIAGE AND DIVORCE REGISTRATION.

THE HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER moved for leave to bring in a Bill to provide for the voluntary registration of Mahomedan marriages and divorces. He said this Bill, like the last one, had been published by special order of His Honor the President, and it had been in the hands of members for more than three days. Hon'ble Members were aware that we found in this country, as an established institution, certain Mahomedan functionaries known as Cazees. They were recognised by our law, Regulation XXXIX of 1793, which recited:—

"Cazees are stationed at the cities of Patna, Dacca, and Moorshedabad, and the principal towns, and in the pergunnahs, for the purpose of preparing and attesting deeds of transfers and other law papers, celebrating marriages, and performing such religious duties or ceremonies prescribed by the Mahomedan law as have been hitherto discharged by them under the British Government, and also for superintending the sale of distrained property and paying charitable and other pensions and allowances, under Regulations XVII and XXIV, 1793. The nature of the above-mentioned duties renders it necessary that persons of character, and duly qualified with respect to legal knowledge, should be appointed to these offices; and to encourage them to discharge their trusts with diligence and fidelity, they should not be liable to removal unless proved to be incapable or guilty of misconduct to the satisfaction of the Governor-General in Council."

And then the law provided that the Governor-General in Council should make the appointment, and that the cazees should not be removable except under his sanction. It was also provided by Section 7 that—

"The head cazee and the cazees stationed in the cities, pergunnahs, and towns, are to keep copies of all deeds and law or other papers which they may draw up or attest, and are to affix thereto their seals and signatures. They are likewise to keep a list of all such papers; and in the event of their death, resignation, or removal, the list and papers are to be delivered complete to their successors."

Things remained pretty well in this state until the year 1859, when a discussion began which led to the passing of Act XI of 1864, which abolished the office of cazee by a stroke of the pen as being unnecessary. In 1859, in the course of that discussion, Sir John Peter Grant, whilst recommending the repeal of the regulation, suggested that the repealing Act should constitute the office of cazee on a proper footing as that of a Mahomedan marriage registrar. It was pointed out that there was nothing of the nature of a religious ceremony in a Mahomedan marriage, and it was observed that as Mahomedans have by law the power of marrying by civil contract, and an office, which must be held by a Mahomedan, had been created for the legal record of their marriages, it would not be a just or decorous act substantially to abolish that office.

That advice was not adopted; and no trace appeared of it in Act XI of 1864 which abolished the office of cazee. In recent years the want which was anticipated by Sir John Grant had begun to be realized in practice. The question had been judicially tried, and it had been settled that there could be no legal cazee according to the Mahomedan law, unless the officer were appointed by the Sultan or ruling power. Therefore the effect of the passing of the law of 1864 was practically to do away with the Mahomedan functionary altogether. No person could be appointed by the Mahomedan community whose appointment would be valid under the Mahomedan law. Some two years ago it was noticed that offences against marriages were increasing amongst the Mahomedans, especially those of the lower classes. Many charges were preferred, but as a general rule the complainants failed to obtain redress from the courts. On analysing the causes it was found that one great moving cause was the want of any functionary to take the place of the old cazee as regards Mahomedan marriages. No recognised authority acceptable to the community concerned was competent authoritatively to attest marriages and similar contracts. Since the abolition of cazees marriages were performed in the presence of casual witnesses only; and the proof of the marriage depended on the evidence of such witnesses only. Therefore when these cases were brought and the court insisted, as our courts must do, on legal proof of the marriage, none was forthcoming which satisfied it. The testimony of the witnesses was either not forthcoming or was met by counter evidence which threw doubt on it.

So again with regard to divorces. Sometimes when a marriage happened to be proved, it was met by the plea that the wife had been repudiated according to the forms which the Mahomedan law required. Here again a question of fact arose in regard to which it was often impossible to satisfy the courts.

The object of the Bill was not in any way to interfere with the existing customs, ceremonies, and injunctions of the Mahomedan law and Mahomedan society, but was merely to give those who wished it a safeguard against those questions of the fact of the marriage or divorce being raised in issue,—to give them in fact a popular means of registering the evidence of such acts, which evidence should be accepted by the courts primâ facie as authoritative. There was to be no compulsion; and even in the matter of fees the Bill did not attempt to interfere between these Mahomedan registrars and those who voluntarily went to them to register the fact of particular marriages and divorces taking place. The opinions of the law officers and other gentlemen who had been consulted were nearly unanimous that such an opportunity of voluntarily registering marriages and divorces should be given. MR. DAMPIER hoped the Council would allow him to introduce the Bill.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT said before he put the question he wished to say one or two words. The object of the Bill, and the reasons which induced the Government to devise such a Bill, had been very clearly stated by the Hon'ble Member. He might say that this was a humble attempt to deal with a great and difficult subject. The difficulty was one which had been felt for many years past. It was one with which he had had occasion to deal in several capacities, and he had for many years had much doubt as regards the solution to which it would be possible to arrive. This Bill was the outcome of a good deal of consideration on the subject. His own feeling had been that it was a doubtful question whether it was or was not advisable to abolish the old cazees; but he had felt and expressed the opinion that once they were abolished it would be impossible to the British Government to restore them in their old form. If we attempted to restore the cazees, we would be attempting to restore a Mahomedan officer whose office had many peculiarities and many incidents connected with the Mahomedan law and the Mahomedan religion.

The British Government would have great difficulty in establishing such officers. His Honor also felt this additional difficulty that in the Mahomedan religion, as in most other religions, there were various sects, and if we attempted to set up cazees we should be beset with the difficulty from which sect were we to choose, or whether we were to choose cazees from amongst all the sects. That being so, and the question of the re-establishment of cazees being involved in great difficulty, his feeling, and that of the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill, had been to confine themselves to the one practical and immediate want before them—to provide a means of registering Mahomedan marriages and divorces. The Mahomedan law seemed clear on this point, that the celebration of these most important social contracts and de-contracts must be conducted by officers appointed by the ruling power; it was not essential that he must be a cazee. The best solution therefore would be to meet in practice the want that had arisen by appointing officers on the part of the ruling power who were authorized to perform these acts. His Honor at one time thought that if the ordinary registrars of deeds were authorized to register Mahomedan marriages and divorces it would meet the requirements of the Mahomedan community. But to that course it was found that there were objections. The men most fit and most acceptable to the Mahomedans would be the men whom they themselves would choose to register these contracts; and we now believed that it would be more acceptable to the Mahomedans that they should have special registrars for the purpose. In that view we had devised as an expedient this Bill, which went no further than to appoint a marriage registrar to whom the parties might apply. We had not touched the substantive law. The registrars would only register the contract, and leave it to the ordinary law to decide what validity those contracts had. We had taken for our guide the Christian Marriage Act. Amongst Christians there were several sects, and the policy of that law had been to enable any minister of any sect to celebrate marriages. We had adopted the same essentials as regards Mahomedan marriages. We had said that Mahomedans might have their own registrars who should perform the marriage ceremonies and register the contracts. All we proposed was that those who had hitherto performed these offices, and who were respectable and versed in the Mahomedan law, should receive licenses to ply that trade, and ply it so far as their co-religionists saw fit to employ them for that purpose.

The motion was agreed to.

The Hon'ble Mr. Dampier applied to the President to suspend the Rules for the conduct of business to enable him to move that the Bill be read in Council.

His Honor the President said this was not a Bill which the Government wished to hurry; but as the Bill had been for some days in the hands of members, it would be a mere useless ceremony to postpone the motion that the Bill be read in Council to another day, and on that account he would suspend the Rules so far as was necessary to proceed with the Bill to the next stage.

The Hon'ble Mr. Dampier then moved that the Bill be read in Council.

The motion was agreed to.

The Hon'ble Mr. Dampier moved that the Bill be referred to a Select Committee consisting of the Hon'ble Moulvie Abdool Luteef, the representative of the Mahomedan community in this Council, the Hon'ble the Advocate-General, and the Mover, with instructions to report in a month. This Bill had been prepared, under the instructions of His Honor the President, in the Executive Department of the Government, and was handed over to Mr. Dampier in that stage. He might mention that it appeared to him that it would be necessary to make considerable alterations in it in committee.

The motion was agreed to.

EMBANKMENTS AND WATER-COURSES.

The Hon'ble Mr. Schalch moved that the Bill to amend the law relating to embankments and water-courses be further considered in order to the settlement of its clauses. He said it would be in the recollection of the Council that this Bill was taken into consideration a short time back and its final clauses settled on the 13th of September last. It was then ordered to be printed and published in order to give parties interested a final opportunity of submitting any representations they might wish to make. No representations had since been received; but he had taken advantage of the interval carefully to go through the provisions of the Bill, and the result of that scrutiny had been that he had to move four amendments which he would do seriatim.

The motion was agreed to.

The Hon'ble Mr. Schalch said the first of the amendments which he had to move referred to Section 4, Clause 5. The object of the clause was, where it was found after a road had been constructed that the drainage of the country was impeded, to give power to alter that road and make a water-course for the proper drainage of the surrounding lands. By the clause as it stood the expense of so doing was thrown entirely on the road, whether the impeding of the drainage was caused by insufficient provision being made at the time of the construction of the road for the natural drainage then existing, or whether the impediment to the drainage resulted from causes arising subsequently to the construction of the road.

It seemed fair that if the road when constructed did afford proper means of drainage, the expense should not fall on the road, but on those who would benefit by the alteration required by the contingency which had afterwards arisen. He therefore proposed to throw the cost upon the road only where it was proved that at the time of the construction of the road sufficient provision for drainage had not been made, and in all other cases to levy the cost rateably under the general provisions of the Bill amongst those who would benefit by the alteration. With this view he moved to add to Clause 5 of Section 4 the following words:—

"So far as the same shall have been incurred on account of insufficient provision having been made at the time of the construction of the said road for the natural drainage then existing."

The motion was agreed to.

The Hon'ble Mr. Schalch said the second amendment he had to propose was in Section 5. It was there prescribed that a copy should be prepared of the survey map showing the boundaries of the estates to be affected by the work proposed. The survey maps were made, not by estates which very often comprised a large area with scattered villages, but by mouzahs, and it would not be possible to give a survey map of the estates to be affected. He would therefore move that the words "of the villages" be inserted after the word "boundaries" in line 7 of Section 5.

The motion was agreed to.

On the motion of the Hon'ble Mr. Schalch a similar amendment was made in paragraph 2 of Schedule A.

In Section 19, relating to railroads, an amendment similar to that carried out in Section 4, Clause 5, was made on the motion of Mr. Schalch.

The Hon'ble Mr. Schalch said the last amendment he had to propose was in Section 31. By that section no claim to compensation could be entertained which was made later than one year next after the completion of the work by which any right was injuriously affected. It was thought that as this was an ultimate proceeding, and there was no appeal to the Civil Court, and it might not be easily ascertainable within one year after the execution of a work what rights were injuriously affected, it would be better to allow a longer period for the preferring of such claims. It was therefore proposed to extend the period allowed from one year to two years; and he accordingly moved that the word "two" be substituted for "one" in line 2 of Section 31.

The motion was agreed to.

The Hon'ble Mr. Schalch then moved that the Bill be passed. As he had already stated, the Bill since its last amendment had now been before the public more than two months. No representations had been made during that time, and the alterations which had just been proposed and made were not of any great importance. It would therefore be quite within the Rules if the Bill were now passed without further delay.

The motion was agreed to.

EMIGRATION TO THE LABOR DISTRICTS.

His Honor the President said the Council had now concluded the business for that day, but before adjourning to next Saturday, he would intimate that, having in pursuance of his promise consulted the Government of India in regard to the circumstances which might affect our course with respect to the Labor Districts Emigration Bill, the Government of India had informed him that there was a probability that the proposal for separating Assam from Bengal might soon be carried out if Her Majesty's Government should think fit to approve of the proposal. The Government of India further went on to say that "as regards the Labor Districts Emigration Bill the Government of India think it desirable, after the careful consideration that has been given in the Legislative Council of Bengal to the Bill, that it should be passed in that Council and not transferred to the Government of India."

That being the opinion expressed by the Government of India, and it being not improbable that within a short period Assam and the other adjoining districts might be separated from Bengal, His Honor thought the Council were bound to proceed with the Bill as fast as they safely could. Very great difficulty would arise if those districts were separated from Bengal before the Bill was passed. He therefore proposed to bring on the Bill again for consideration at the next meeting.

The Council was adjourned to Saturday, the 6th December next.

SCARCITY AND RELIEF.

In publishing the subjoined correspondence which has passed between the Commissioner of the Rajshahye Division and Rai Luchmeeput Singh, Bahadoor, holding zemindaree estates in the districts of Rungpore and Dinagepore, His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor desires to thank this gentleman for the humane course he is taking to relieve the distress of his tenantry, and trusts that his example will be followed by the class he represents in all the districts afflicted by the drought. His Honor would remind these gentlemen of the obligations they are under to show consideration for their ryots at such a period, and that by seizing the opportunity of showing sympathy and good will towards them, they may do more to re-establish friendly relations with their tenantry, where those relations have unhappily been interrupted, than any act whatever of the Government or the Legislature could do for them.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

C. BERNARD,

Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

No. 394, dated Berhampore, the 24th November 1873.

From—E. W. Molony, Esq., Commissioner of the Rajshahye Division,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Statistical Department.

I have the honor to forward, for His Honor's information, a copy of a letter from Rai Luchmeeput Singh, Bahadoor, and of my reply, and to state that I consider the Baboo's intentions well worthy the commendation of Government.

Dated Baloochur, the 16th November 1873.

From—Rai Luchmeeput Singh, Bahadoor,
To—E. W. Molony, Esq., Commissioner of the Rajshahye Division.

I have the honor to bring to your notice the measures that I have decided to adopt with a view to mitigate, if not to remove, the evils of the impending famine likely to affect the people of my zemindaries situated in the districts of Rungpore and Dinagepore.

2. I have instructed my people to ascertain the stock of rice and food-grain, and to render me a rough census of the people of that part of the country, in order to test the capabilities of the local markets for meeting the requirements of the people for a given period, viz., until the reaping of the first crop of the next year.

3. The reports when furnished shall enable me to complete the details of the arrangements I have contemplated to make; but that the stock will fall short of the local consumption for the period referred to is a certainty, and as provision at this exigency I intend to import and keep a sufficient stock of rice at hand to be freely supplied to the people when necessity comes, at the average price which they have been paying for food-grain at that time of the year for the past five years.

4. This arrangement has reference to the ryots and people directly under me as their zemindar in contradistinction to those under my putneedars and durputneedars, in whose matters of arrangement and management of the properties I have no control whatever. But I shall, at the same time, be glad to contribute to the relief of the general distress of the country should it come up to the worst anticipations now held.

5. I beg further to inform you that at the places where the people have already begun to feel distress from the total failure of the crops, as Lat Hekundery in Dinagepore, I have, in addition to the remission of the whole year's rents already granted, ordered advance of money to the poorer class to provide themselves and families against the consequences of the impending famine. Such advances bear no interest whatever, and are repayable when the people are in a position to do so.

6. In submitting these measures already taken, and the one I have decided to adopt, to your superior judgment for approval, I have to solicit the favor of your kindly making suggestion or notification you think proper in reference to this famine matter, which shall be promptly and readily responded to by me.

No. 203, dated Berhampore, the 24th November 1873.

From—E. W. Molony, Esq., Commissioner of the Rajshahye Division,
To—Rai Luchmeeput Singh, Bahadoor.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter dated the 16th instant, stating the measures which you intend to adopt to meet the expected calamity of scarcity which threatens your tenants.

2. I congratulate you on the very liberal measures you propose to adopt, which seem sufficient, and would only suggest that possibly, as occasion demands, you may be able to open works for those who have no money to buy, and who would prefer to labor than take the advances.

3. Such work as would provide a good supply of water, as would result in improving the land by drainage or clearance of jungle, would be a real and lasting benefit to your estate.

4. I shall not fail to inform the Government of your intentions, and I shall be glad if you would furnish me with a list of your properties in this division in which distress is likely to occur, in order that I may inform the Magistrates of your plans.

Rainfall, Weather and State and Prospects of the Crops.

Statement showing Rainfall, Weather, State and Prospects of the Crops in the different Districts of Bengal, as reported to Government during the week ending the 29th November 1873.

No.	District and date of return.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather, state and prospects of the crops, and state of health at date.
BENGAL.
	Western Districts.
Burdwan Division.
1	Burdwan, 2nd* Dec. 1873	Nil	Cloudy, but no rain. Were rain to fall now, it would do more harm than good to the late rice crops. Nowan rice has been cut and has lowered the price of common rice in some places. Export of limited quantities to Behar continues. Fever prevalent.
2	Bancoorah, 29th Nov. „	Nil	Cloudy. The sowings of the cold weather crops are nearly completed, but the extent of cultivation is very small. The reaping of the rice crop continues. There has been some exportation of rice to Raneegunge, but prices have not risen here.
3	Beerbhoom, 29th „ „	Nil	Dry and clear during the first half of the week, cloudy in the latter half. Harvest of late rice progressing; yield of this crop, which is somewhat over two-thirds of the whole, estimated to be about six annas, giving with the ten-anna yield of the early crop a total on the two crops of about eight annas or about 3,500,000 maunds of cleaned rice, only sufficient with economy for home consumption. Export by rail for week ending 22nd November close on 14,800 maunds, chiefly to the Bhaugulpore and Patna Divisions. Prices show an upward tendency.
4	Midnapore, 29th „ „	A few drops of rain fell on each of the last three days.	Seasonable, cloudy, and cold. No change needing comment has occurred since last report, except that there has been a slight rise in the price of rice in the town, which is probably due to present cloudy weather, which to some extent affects the preparation and importation of rice in the markets.
5	Hooghly, 29th „ „	03	Clear and cloudy. Wind from north-west. Little rain fell on the night of the 28th November. Personal inquiry made by the Collector has shown that irrigation has preserved more of the crop than was thought possible, and he entertains hopes of an eight-anna crop. The slight showers may help the sowing of some cold weather crops, but it is almost too late now for this. The area sown is, however, larger than previously reported by the police. The sugarcane crop not much below the average. The cloudy weather, if it continues, will injure the pulses and oil-seed.
	Howrah, 29th „ „	Nil	The sky was cloudy on Thursday, some rain fell that night, more fell on Friday, and on Saturday it rained still more. The rain, though gentle and scanty, was general throughout the district, but too late to benefit the rice crops. It has moistened the ground pretty well, and it is hoped that it has sufficed to enable the people to sow some cold weather crops which could not otherwise have been grown. There is nothing whatever to add to the last report about the rice crops, their state and prospects continue unchanged; the crops at Ooloobberriah and Ampta are better than at first believed. The fever in Sibpore is showing signs of abating, and that in Belgatchea is at least not worse.
	Central Districts.
Presidency Division.
6	24-Pergunnahs, 2nd† Dec. 1873.	0·08	Cloudy, with a slight shower on Saturday, which has lowered the temperature. There has been no improvement since last report. While a good shower would have benefited the cold weather sowings, it would have injured the late rice, which is now being rapidly cut except on beel lands. From Satkhirah it is reported that the mustard is being injured by insects. Epidemic fever still prevails in parts of Barripore and Bassirhat. There is some fever in Baraset and the places adjacent. One case of small-pox reported at Satkhirah where fever is abating.
7	Nuddea, 29th Nov. 1873	Nil	Heavy clouds for the last three or four days. There was a little drizzling rain at 2 P.M. of the 29th instant, enough to lay the dust. The appearance of the sky is such that in an ordinary season rain would be confidently looked for. The late rice harvest has begun; no change has occurred in the prospect of the outturn. Not more than four annas is to be looked for. Arhur (pulse), teel (oil-seed), chillies, sugarcane, and date-sugar all promise fairly, but all other cold weather crops are miserably poor. In the event of a tolerable fall of rain, grain and other seeds might still be sown. Prices are rising but little. In most parts of the district coarse rice can be had for Rs. 2-8 per maund, and in some for less. The sub-divisional officer reports distress in the part of Meherpore west of Jellinghee, a tract which depends upon the late rice and cold weather crops. By "distress" it is supposed that apprehension is meant rather than actual suffering, since, even under the most favorable circumstances, no crop could have been reaped by this time. A road has been projected by the District Committee for the benefit of this part of the country, which will be taken in hand. The Collector's cold weather tour is so arranged that he hopes to see this tract in about a fortnight.
8	Jessore, 29th „ „	Nil	The last few days have been cloudy, and there have been a few drops of rain on the 29th November. The late rice crop is being reaped. The continued drought has not much affected the previous estimates of the outturn. Prices have made a very marked rise during the week. The price of goor (molasses), the produce of date tree, has risen owing to the commencement of manufacture. The peasantry at this season depend a good deal on this important industry. The prospects of the cold weather crops are generally much the same as last week. They would be much benefited by a gentle rainfall, of which the present hazy state of the atmosphere gives some, though not very certain, promise.

RAJSHAHYE DIVISION.	9	Moorshedabad, 29th Nov. 1873.	Nil	Somewhat hotter in the day, but cooler at night; the sky was cloudy, with prospects of rain on the 29th November. No change for the better is observed, as there has been no rain during the week. The outturn of the late rice crop in the Jungipore sub-division is still expected to be seven annas; in the Rampurehaut sub-division, not more than a five-anna crop is expected. The cold weather crops are very backward in most places; in the Pulsa thannah no sowings have yet been made. Sugarcane and indigo are progressing favorably in the north. Prices are lowering this week owing partly to importation and partly to the introduction of the newly-cut rice into the markets.
	10	Dinagepore, 29th „ „	Nil	Cloudy during the latter part of the week. Hymunty or winter paddy is being cut; the cold weather crops suffering for want of rain; sugarcane seems to promise a fair crop. The price of rice cheaper at Gungarampore since the relief works have been opened.
	11	Maldah, 29th „ „	Nil	Sky overcast with clouds, but no rain; regular cold weather set in; wind northerly. There has been no rain and no improvement in the state of the crops. The last three or four days have been very cloudy, and there are still hopes of rain. The amun or late rice crop is being reaped; the yield will not be more than a four-anna crop; the hymunty winter crop will be cut in a few days; it is not expected to yield more than three or four-anna crop. The cold weather crops, especially pulses in the low lands, are still looking well, and if rain falls will give an average yield. A few boat-loads of paddy and rice arrive at intervals from the eastern districts. Prices are not quite so favorable this week as last, especially in the north-west of the district, notwithstanding the in-coming crop. Perhaps one-fourth of the cultivating classes have supplies enough to last them from two to six months, but the bulk of the people depend on the local supplies at local markets. Relief work going on on ordinary roads, and new works being projected. Health of the district good.
	12	Rajshahye, 29th „ „	Nil	The sky has been overcast with every appearance of rain, but no rain has fallen, and there has been scarcely any dew. The early portion of the amun or late rice crop is being reaped. What little has been saved in the lowest lands in the Bhurind has yielded from one to two annas. In Nattore the yield will be from six to eight annas. In Pootea and the east of Beauleah, about six annas. In Bagmara and part of Singrah and Bhundaikhara, from six to eight annas. In parts of Barraigaon the paddy is good, and from eight to twelve annas will, it is hoped, be harvested. In Charghat and Beelmaria, from six to eight annas. Boro paddy is being sown for the low lands where there is water, and in some places the seedlings are about three inches high in the nurseries. The paddy just cut near Sahibgunge (a place where the Goor river runs out of the Attrai) has been selling at one rupee per kutcha maund. The mulberry crops are looking well; sugarcane is being cut, and is a very fair crop. Wheat and barley have germinated and look well as yet, but unless it rains they will be seriously damaged. A good deal of moosoor pulse—about three to four inches high: this was sown early; the latter sowings have more or less failed owing to the want of moisture. Mustard is a rather thin crop generally this year, but there are some coming up thick. It is now in flower. Urhur and kalai pulses, and teel—oil-seed—are looking well, but require rain to ensure a crop.
	13	Rungpore, 29th „ „	Nil	Cloudy, but no rain; weather cool. Cutting of rice has taken place to a small extent, but the produce is scanty, and much of the crop is cut only for the straw. Mustard, millet, and other crops look fair; potatoes have been planted in large quantities. The reports from all parts but the north are very bad, and some emigration has taken place from north-east to Goalparah. Rice is selling at prices from Rs. 3 to 5 a maund throughout the district, and distress is prevalent all to the south and east.
	14	Bograh, 29th „ „	Nil	The sky has been cloudy of late, but no rain has fallen. The cutting of the new rice has begun. Good has been done in parts by irrigation. No general improvement can be reported with regard to the late rice, but the failure is by no means a total one. In parts the crops are good.
	15	Pubna, 29th „ „	Nil	The weather is warm for the time of the year. Chiefly winds blow from the north-west. The last three days have been cloudy and the sunrise invisible. A few drops of rain fell on the morning of the 29th November. The low ground late rice is still being cut. There will not be less than an eight-anna crop—probably a full nine-anna crop. The winter crops are backward and much require rain.
COOCH BEHAR DIVN.	16	Darjeeling, 29th „ „	Nil	Still no rain and no signs of it. In the plains the people begin to fear that they will not get even a ten-anna crop. In the hills the young crops of wheat, barley, and back wheat do not progress very favorably for want of rain, but as yet no serious loss is perceptible. Indian-corn has fallen in price during the week.
	17	Julpigoree, ...	.....	Return not received.
		Cooch Behar, 29th „ „	Nil	Some clouds on the 27th and 28th November. The same as last week. Rice is being exported to Rungpore.

	No.	Districts and date of return.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather, state and prospects of the crops, and state of health at date.
BENGAL.—(Contd.)
		Eastern Districts.—
DACCA DIVISION.	18	Dacca, 2nd* Dec. 1873	0·2	Weather cloudy for four days, with very slight showers on the 29th and 30th November. State of the winter crops better than could have been expected. Cholera prevalent in the Moonsbeegunge sub-division, and virulent fever at Manickgunge.
	19	Furreedpore, 29th Nov. „	Nil	Very cloudy from Wednesday up to end of the week; on Saturday a slight drizzle but not sufficient to benefit the cold weather crops. State of the crops is much the same as last week; no change whatever in the state of the rice crop, which has been reaped in all the high lands, and in the low lands and beels reaping still going on. The long drought of nine weeks has been very injurious to the cold weather crops of cereals, pulses, and oil-seeds, but at most these would only give four days food-supply and are not important. The harvest of this year will be three-fifths of an ordinary year, i.e., about 11,003,136 maunds of paddy; if exportation does not alter the state of things this outturn will probably meet the requirements of the population for the next twelve months with a small surplus at hand, by which time the next early and boro rice crops will have been reaped. The stock at hand of the previous year is estimated at 15,950 maunds of rice and 2,770 maunds of paddy. Wheat, barley, and different sorts of pulses and peas are very little cultivated in this district, and the quantity of these grains sown have germinated, but perishing from want of rain.
	20	Backergunge, 29th „ „	Nil	Cloudy. There is not much change in the state and prospects of the crops, but the cloudiness of the weather is causing apprehension, for it is feared that it will breed insects among the paddy.
	21	Mymensing, 29th „ „	Nil	Cloudy since 27th November and promise of rain. No change to remark on the state and prospects of the crops. The late rice harvest is commencing everywhere.
	22	Sylhet, 22nd Nov. „	Nil	Not so cool as last week. Reports from all parts of the district are favorable as to the prospects of crops; unless anything unforeseen happens; all expect a twelve-anna crop all round. The rain a fortnight ago was most beneficial to the crops; all that is to be feared now is a blight. Price of rice is going up steadily; large exportations continue. At Behadoorpore, one of the large rice marts of the district, forty large boats have come from Nattore in Rajshahye, Pubna, Furreedpore, Naraingunge, Serajgunge, Patna, Monghyr, Ghazeepore, and other places. 15,000 maunds exported from Behadoorpore up to date.
	23	Cachar, „ „	Nil	Unseasonably warm; clouds collect for a day or two and disperse again. Thunder on Friday morning; slight rain probable; much the same as last week. The Hylakandy crop and the rice generally to the south of the river is doing well, getting a good deal of moisture from the morning fogs. Bikrampore and Kaline paddy fair.
CHITTAGONG DIVISION.	24	Chittagong, „ „	Nil	Rather cloudy and warmer at the change of the moon, otherwise fine and seasonable. Reports generally favorable. Reaping of the late rice crops has commenced in the south of the district. The damage done by insects in Meerkaserai and Sectacoond is reported to be inconsiderable.
	25	Noakhally „ „	Nil	Fair. The slight rain at the beginning of the month is said to have done some good at Luckhipore. In Sudaram, Begumgunge, and Ramgunge, the prospects are much what they were last week. The average loss at Sundeep and Ameergunge is still reported at four annas. Reports from other parts of the district are more favorable. Price of ordinary rice has risen from 21 to 18 seers per rupee. Much sickness in the town.
	26	Tipperah, 29th „ „	Nil	Fine, though rather hot for the first three days of the week; the last four days have been very gloomy and must have, it is feared, blighting effect on the reaping crop. In the head-quarters sub-division an eight-anna rice crop may be expected in succession to a generally good early rice crop. As it is supposed that the district annually exports half its crops, this should be enough for home consumption and something more, and it is said that the ryots are sufficiently provident. From Brahmunbariah it is reported that the large and rich pergunnah of Buldakhally will give a twelve-anna crop, and the rest of the sub-division a six-anna crop.
	27	Chittagong Hill Tracts, 22nd Nov. 1873.	Nil	Cloudy up to 9 A.M. in the morning, and much less cold at night than in last week. The cotton is now being gathered and the prospect is good; the mustard crop is sown and fully germinating; the outturn of the former is promising.
		Hill Tipperah, 22nd Nov. 1873.	Nil	Bright during the beginning of the week; slightly cloudy and close during the remainder. Paddy reaping has commenced; the mustard crop has germinated in some places and promises fairly. Prices stationary.
BEHAR.
PATNA DIVISION.	28	Patna, 1st† Dec. 1873	Nil	Weather clear and cold. No alteration in the state of crops since last report: there is still time to sow the rest of the cold weather crops, about half of which has been sown, if there be rain in the next fifteen days. Health of the district good.
	29	Gya, 29th „ „	Nil	Cool and cloudy. No rain is reported to have fallen in any part of the district. No improvement in the state of the crops. Rain is much wanted for the cold weather crops. In the Aurungabad sub-division insects are said to be attacking the cold weather crops.
	30	Shahabad, 29th „ „	Nil	One day cloudy and threatening and now clear and cold. In Sasseram sowings of cold weather crops can be carried on for another fifteen days. Sugarcane, where unirrigated, is being cut. No change for the worse in the cold weather crops generally.

* Telegram of the 2nd December received on the same day. Shows rainfall during the seven days immediately preceding.

BEHAR.—(Contd.)
PATNA DIVISION.—(Contd.) 31	Tirhoot, 29th Nov. 1873	Nil	Cool, sometimes cloudy. In the Seetamurhi sub-division, wheat, oat, mustard, linseed, cucumber, and moosoor pulse sown in the lands that can be irrigated, are flourishing, but where irrigation is not possible, only half that was sown has come up. One-third of the area usually sown with cold weather crops, in the elaka of Shewhur, remains unsown. Wheat, grain, oats, moosoor and khesaree pulses, cucumber, peas, mustard, and linseed are sown, and three-eighths of the same has come up well. At Bazidpore and Patheali the people have cut the dried paddy and sown cold weather crops in the ground. The tract of country between Poopree and Kamtoul is backward as regards the cold weather crops, and the rice crop has been almost a total failure. In the Durbhangah sub-division, about fifteen-sixteenths of the paddy crops are lost. The prospects of the cold weather crops are worse than last week. In the Mudhoobance sub-division the state of the rice crops not improved. The hope of a cold weather crop becoming less daily in the absence of rain. In the Tajpore sub-division nothing has transpired to alter the condition of the crops, except that of course seven days more drought has dried everything more. There is no reason yet to despair of the cold weather crops. Some of the lands from which paddy has been cut are being prepared for the cold weather crops in the hopes of rain falling. In the sudder sub-division the weather has been cloudy during the week, but there has been no rain. Heavy dews seem to do some amount of good. The prospect of the cold weather crops is much the same. That sown in the low lands and lands irrigated looks promising, but growth has stopped. More seed has germinated than was at first anticipated. Lands on which paddy has failed are being cultivated, and the sowings of cold weather crops in such lands will go on till the middle of December. Cold weather crop has been sown more than usual in this part of the country.
32	Sarun, 29th „ „	Nil	Cool, east and west winds. The prospects are gloomy, but the cold weather crop is still doing well, though rain is much wanted. Sugarcane is being cut and put into the mills. People are being employed on the district local roads, and relief works have been also opened in the town and are affording employment to larger numbers. Prices have slightly fallen.
33	Chumparun, 29th „ „	Nil	Weather cool, with west winds. The prospect of the late rice crop is more gloomy than heretofore. There will not be even a 2-anna crop as anticipated last week. Up to date 12 annas of the cold weather crop lands have been cultivated, the seed in half of which has germinated, and the plants on two annas have been destroyed by insects and on four annas the seed did not germinate at all. As yet the young plants are looking healthy, but if it does not rain soon they will die except those on banks and beds of rivers, where there is water-supply available for artificial irrigation.
BHAUGULPORE DITTO. 34	Monghyr, 29th „ „	Nil	Heavy clouds all Thursday and Friday, but quite clear on Saturday. No rain, weather cold. Slight shock of earth-quake on Thursday. Crop as much worse than last week as another week's drought can make it. A small average of hardy cold weather crop like ruhur pulse may live through it, but the rest must shortly perish entirely.
35	Bhaugulpore, 2nd* Dec. „	Nil	Very cloudy from the 26th November, on which day there was a slight shock of earth-quake. No rain. Reaping of the late rice commenced. Prospects of the cold weather crops continue good. Price of rice falling slightly, and new rice in the markets in Banka sub-division sells at 17-8 seers per rupee. Health of the district very good.
36	Purneah, 29th Nov. „	Nil	The clouds which were hanging about have cleared away. The reports from the neighbourhood of the Kusi are good. The winter rice has yielded a full crop. The mustard in the south promises well; reports from Araireah are also very favorable. The wheat which has been sown is giving fair promise of coming to maturity. From Kishengunge it is reported that though the wheat and pulses sown have germinated, they are withering for want of rain. Here too the rice crop has been a great failure. The worst part of the district is the east of thannah Kusba Amoor and Kudbah; the winter rice has nearly all failed, and what cold weather crop has been sown is being attacked by insects. The sowing is not so forward as in other parts. Importation has commenced and prices have suddenly risen.
37	Sonthal Pergunnahs, 29th Nov. 1873.	Nil	Latter part of the week cloudy and consequently great want of dew at night. The aghany or late crop is being reaped in Rajmehal, but no improvement is reported. The cold weather crop will not succeed, if there be no rain. From Deoghur an eight or nine-anna crop is still expected, but exportation is continuous. Sudder sub-division—no change.
ORISSA.
ORISSA DIVISION. 38	Cuttack, 2nd* Dec. 1873	0·27	Weather cool, late sarud rice ripening, and early sarud rice is almost harvested. Public health good.
39	Pooree, 22nd Nov. „	Nil	Generally hot and dry; 19th and 20th colder, with a few clouds at Khurdah. A little rainfall on the 16th November in the southern part, and the sky was cloudy towards north-west on that day. The laghu or second rice crop is still being reaped; more than half the harvest has been gathered, the outturn is good. The sarud or late rice is coming on and will ripen shortly; the present state and prospects are fair, and the produce is expected to be an average crop. The cold weather crops are growing well and promising. Prices rising owing to purchases of grain for export to Calcutta and other places. Dengue and intermittent fevers are somewhat prevalent.
40	Balasore, 29th „ „	·1	Weather very cloudy. Paddy cutting going on very rigorously. Miscellaneous crops doing well.

* Telegram of the 2nd December received on the same day. Shows the rainfall during the seven days immediately preceding.

	South-West Frontier Agency.
41	Hazareebaugh, 29th Nov. 1873.	Nil	Clear and cloudy alternately; a sprinkling of rain is reported here and there. No material change in the prospects of the crops since last week. The little rainfall will undoubtedly benefit the young cold weather crops, but was insufficient for the purpose of getting the land which had not been sown, under cultivation. Insects are reported to have made their appearance in some parts of the district and damaging the crops.
42	Lohardugga „ „	Nil	Cloudy, with rain threatening. Nearly all the paddy has now been cut, and the reports from the district show that the general average for the sudder sub-division will be about ten to eleven annas of an average crop. The quantity of land under cultivation for the cold weather crop is much smaller than usual owing to the want of rain, and for the same reason what crops there are will be short. From Palamow a general average from four to five annas is expected as regards the rice crops. The prospects of the cold weather crops are bad, not more than a four-anna crop being now expected.
43	Singbhoom 22nd „	Nil	Cloudless sky, days hot, nights cold. There is very little to add to the report of last week. No rain has fallen; but rain now, so far as the rice crops are concerned, would be of very little use one way or the other. There are good hopes that most of the low land crops will be saved in Dhalbhoom, Serai Keyla, and Porahaut from the active and energetic measures in course to irrigate artificially; and in the Colehan from the circumstances that a great part of such low lands as there are are natural low lands, that is the hollows and ravines that carry off the drainage of the undulating or hilly country, and such lands will keep sufficiently moist till the crops are all cut. Some portions of the more northern (Colehan) pirs immediately adjacent to Chaebassa have suffered less than the southern pirs. The winter crops are turning out very badly. The kurthi, orid pulses are all more or less dead or dying from want of moisture, and there is very little mustard and surgooja (oil-seed) this year, whereas other years the district exported oil-seed very largely.
44	Maunbhoom, 29th „	Nil	Coudy, but no rain. The late rice is now being cut, but it is too soon to be able to give a correct estimate of the outturn, it will however most probably average a twelve-anna crop which, with the loss sustained in the other rice crop, will reduce the yield about half a crop all round. Those villages, however, which have no means of irrigating the low lands have suffered considerably, and distress in these may be expected to show itself shortly. The crops of surgooja (oil-seed) and kurthi (pulse) have been better on the Gobindpore than in the sudder sub-division, but the yield will not exceed a four-anna crop all round. The sugarcane has suffered considerably from want of moisture, and will only give an indifferent return. The wheat, barley, and potatoes lately planted at present promise well, but will require rain before long.
ASSAM AND ADJACENT HILLS.
45	Goalparah, 22nd Nov. 1873	Nil	Weather cool, nights and mornings dewy. No change in the prospect. The late rice crop is expected to be an eight-anna one. Harvesting of the late rice and moong crops and ploughing of land for early rice have commenced in some places. Mustard is not getting on well and somewhat injured in Khoontaghat by insects. The cutting of jute is completed and outturn fair. A shock of earth-quake at 11 P.M. of the 17th instant.
46	Kamroop, 1st* Dec. „	Nil	No rain fell. In the early part of the week, misty mornings, clear days with cool north-east wind and dewy nights. In the latter part the sky was overcast. Late rice is being reaped in some places, and likely to yield half ordinary outturn. Sugarcane and mustard crops progressing favorably. Public health good.
47	Durrung, 22nd Nov. „	Nil	Bright days, nights cold, range of temperature high, north-east wind prevailing. In the southern portions of the Mungledye sub-division three-fourths of the rice crops are ruined for want of rain. To the north, where the land is irrigated, the crops are first-rate. In the centre of the district the rice crop is fair and some of it ready for the sickle. To the east of the district the accounts are on the whole unfavorable. Rain wanted; but pulses, mustard, and sugarcane looking well, being favored by the heavy dews. Public health good, with the exception of fevers probably brought on by chills.
48	Nowgong, „ „	Nil	Weather seasonable, with very heavy dews at night, and cold foggy mornings. The rice crop now on the ground not so poor or bad as might have been anticipated from the late drought. In several places to the west of the district a full bumper crop will be realized. On the whole an average crop may be looked for. The early rice crop reaped and stored in August was a full one. The kalai pulse crop now on the ground doing middling, mustard doing poorly, sugarcane doing well, and largely cultivated this season. Tea operations very nearly concluded. General health good.
49	Seebsaugor, 22nd „	Nil	Mornings and nights are cold and foggy, days bright and sunny. No indication of rain. The prospect of the rice crop continues the same as before. Harvesting has commenced in a few places. No rain has fallen during the week—a bad prospect for the mustard crop.
50	Luckimpore, 22nd „	Nil	No rain during the week, the middle of the day is still hot, but the mornings and evenings are very cool. The state of the rice crop generally is neither very good nor very bad. The outturn will probably be about two-thirds of an average year; there does not appear to be any cause for anxiety. The crop is just commencing to be reaped. The cold weather crops promise well. The report from North Luckimpore is "crops good, taken as a whole; the pulses are not quite so good as usual; but the rice, so far as is reported, leaves nothing to be desired except in a few high spots near the Berhampooter, but these suffer more or less every year." Public health has improved, but fever not yet disappeared.

ASSAM AND ADJACENT HILLS.—(Contd.)
51	Naga Hills, 15th Nov. 1873.	Nil	Seasonable throughout the district, and everything that could be desired. All "joom" crops have been cut and gathered in, and the outturn in the hills is said to have been a remarkably good one, better by far they have had for years past. The hill "terai" crops are now being cut and promise to give an equally good yield. In the plains, however, portions of the "pathar" crops have suffered from want of rain, and the outturn is therefore not expected to be even a fair one. still there is no actual apprehension of want anywhere in the district, and in the greater portion of it the yield will be above the average. Fever still very prevalent.
52	Khasi & Jynteah Hills, 22nd Nov. 1873.	Nil	Fine and cold. The whole of the rice crop has been gathered. The murwah is doing well. Rice just now is plentiful and has been selling this week at a cheaper rate than that of last week, and if there is no failure of crops in the plains of Sylhet, Mymensingh, and Assam bordering on the hills, no scarcity will be felt here. Another food-grain jobstears (coru) is nearly ripe for the sickle, and the yield is not likely to fall short of last year.
53	Garo Hills, 22nd Nov. 1873.	Nil	Much the same as last week except that a few drops of rain fell on Monday morning. The atmosphere has been on some days clear. The few drops of rain which fell in the vicinity of Tura extended over too small an area to affect the crops. The ground is in much the same state as during the past week, viz. dry, dusty, and cracked, such as it usually is in February and March. The cotton, which will be gathered later in the season, must necessarily be deficient in quantity, but in some cultivations the outturn is already said to be fair.

CALCUTTA.
The 29th November 1873.

H. F. BLANFORD,
Meteorological Reporter to the Government of Bengal.

NOTE ON THE RAINFALL OF OCTOBER.

The rainfall was deficient everywhere except on some parts of the coast of the Bay, the chief exception being False Point, where there fell nearly 8 inches more than the average. In Behar and the North-Western Provinces there was no rain, and such was also the case at Goalpara and Darjeeling. Cachar alone received an average quantity, and Chittagong about two-thirds of its average. At all other places the fall varied between one-half and nothing. In most parts of the delta the total fall of the month did not amount to half an inch.

In Bengal Proper and Orissa, the winds were northerly to an unusual degree, while in Behar they were from the west and somewhat southerly. At Roorkee the prevailing wind was from south-east to a greater extent than usual. Generally the atmospheric pressure was higher than is usual in October, and most so at those places at which it was above the average in the previous month. At Roorkee, however, it was considerably below the average, and such was also the case at Cuttack, and to a less extent on both coasts of the Bay, probably therefore over the Bay itself. On the whole there was a general rise of pressure over Bengal, while the irregularities in its local distribution noticed in September remained but little modified. This persistence of local-barometric irregularities has been before noticed* as a characteristic of Indian Meteorology, and affords a partial explanation of another apparent law of some importance, viz. that any abnormal peculiarity that marks the beginning of a monsoon season generally continues to characterize it throughout. The following table gives a complete view of the wind, rainfall, and pressure at several stations.

The mean barometer, as likewise the dry and wet bulb thermometer means, are derived from the twenty-four hourly observations made during the day.

The dew-point is computed with the Greenwich constants. The figures in column 10 represent the humidity of the air, the complete saturation of which being taken at unity. The receiver of the lower rain gauge is 1½ feet, and that of the anemometer 70 feet 10 inches above the level of the ground. The velocity of wind, as indicated by Robinson's anemometer, is registered from noon to noon.

RELAXATION OF LAND IMPROVEMENT ADVANCE RULES.

IN continuation of notification of the 20th November 1873, it is notified that the relaxation of the above rules therein published will have effect in the districts of the Chota Nagpore Division as well as in the districts mentioned in that notification.

C. BERNARD,
Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

[First Publication.]

The 6th December 1873.—The Lieutenant-Governor has been pleased to make the following rules for the collection of the Cesses under Act X (B.C.) of 1871 :—

THE Road Cesses leviable under the District Road Cess Act consist of—

I. Road Cess on lands, Part II of the District Road Cess Act.
II. Road Cess on mines, railways, &c., Part III.
III. Road Cess on houses, Part IV.

The following instructions are to be observed for the collection of these cesses—

1. Road Cess on land.

2. The notices required by section 22 of the Road Cess Act must be served annually on the holders of every estate after the rate of the Road Cess to be levied for the ensuing year has been fixed by the Road Cess Committee, and care should be taken that the service is completed before the 1st date fixed by clauses 1 and 3, section I, chapter XIX, pages 264-5 of the Board's Rules, for the payment of the first instalments of revenue-paying estates, and by the Government Notification published at page 320 of the Calcutta Gazette of the 23rd October 1872, for the payment of the first instalments of revenue-free estates, as the case may be.

3. On the completion of the valuation of estates the Collector will receive from the Road Cess Department a register of advices, No. XIII, showing the amount of cess due from every estate, revenue-paying or revenue-free, with details of the dates and amounts of instalments.

4. It will be observed that in revenue-paying estates the instalments are due on the dates fixed in the Board's Rules as the last days for the receipt of Government revenue. The cess is therefore due along with the Government kists, and endeavour should be made to facilitate its payment therewith, and Collectors should use all their influence and exertions to get the cess money collected along with the kists.

5. Instructions should therefore be issued to the Towjee establishment to record the revenue due on account of the Road Cess on lands in books, in exactly the same form, and with the same details, as the books now used in that department for the collection and account of land revenue.

6. Much time and trouble would be saved were this done by attaching to each page relating to the land revenue of each estate an additional page containing the details of the Road Cess due on such estate, so that the Towjee-novees, when receiving the land revenue, should credit also the payment due for Road Cess. The page should be prepared and signed by the head-clerk of the Road Cess Department.

7. All the large zemindars have generally revenue agents retained permanently in attendance at the Collector's court. Although the notices referred to in paragraph 2 must be issued, yet as mere notices are often not much attended to by the zemindars, the Collector should call up the revenue agents and inform them that they will be expected to pay their Road Cess together with the land revenue on the instalments above noted. For information as to the exact amount, they should be referred to the Road Cess Department, the head-clerk or accountant of which should be instructed to give the necessary information.

8. In conversation with the leading zemindars, when visiting the Collectorate, the Collector should take care to mention to them that their Road Cess is expected to be paid with the land revenue.

9. With regard to the numerous petty zemindars, the Collector should direct the sub-divisional officers and their subordinates to make it as widely known as possible that their Road Cess must be paid on the last days of payment. A matter of this sort soon gets talked about in rural places, and would soon be widely known.

10. If on the delivery of the chelan for land revenue a corresponding chelan is not given in for the amount due on account of Road Cess, it should be explained to the person presenting the chelan that much trouble, annoyance, and expense will be saved him by his submitting a separate chelan for the amount to be credited to Road Cess, and he should be allowed to take back his chelan in order to make any necessary alterations in it. It is anticipated that if the explanations be civilly given, the advice will in the great majority of cases be adopted. In case of the payer refusing to chelan any money on account of Road Cess, all that he pays in must of course be credited to land revenue according to his chelan.

11. On the last day of payment and for three or four days previously, the head-clerk of the Road Cess Department should sit in the Towjeekhanah with his Registers, VI and XIII, by his side, and as each person comes up with his land revenue chelan, the Road Cess clerk should call out the amount due for the cess, and, if it is paid in, should enter the fact in Register XIII. If any person has not brought his Road Cess money, he should be told to do so before sunset on the last day.

12. With regard to the chelans of the Road Cess, the same course will be followed throughout as that in force for land revenue chelans.

13. If on expiry of the fixed date for the payment of any instalment any portion thereof remain unpaid, the Collector will prepare in the Road Cess Department a list of such balances for realization, as prescribed by section 23 of the District Road Cess Act.

14. The Collector should divide the defaulting zemindars into groups, according to the geographical position of their estates, so as to have contiguous estates in each group. The Collector should then make an order in writing under section 23, which shall be issued as a decree of court under section 10. To each order should be appended a list containing all the zemindars in one group. The order and list should then be entrusted to a peon of the Nazir's establishment, with orders to attach property of every person entered in the list, provided he does not pay on presentation of the order. Care should be taken that the total sum entered in the list is not so large as to tempt the peon to dishonesty. In the vast majority of instances the appearance of the peon, often familiar to the zemindars' people, will make them understand what is required of them sooner than any number of notices, and they will pay up as a matter of course. If in any case any person does not pay, there is nothing for it but to attach some small article, and this process will probably ensure payment. It will rarely, it is hoped, be found necessary to have recourse to the more elaborate measures prescribed in the latter part of section 10 of the District Road Cess Act.

15. The same course will be followed as regards the Road Cess from revenue-free estates, except that chelans in regard to them will be made only on account of Road Cess which will be due on the date fixed in Government Notification published in the Calcutta Gazette of the 23rd October 1872, page 320.

In the case of revenue-free estates which pay less than Rs. 5 annual cess, the payers should be allowed to pay their cess into the sub-divisional treasury on or before the date fixed for the purpose. If such payment is not made on or before such date, the course laid down in paragraph 14 above should be followed.

16. The expense of meeting any additional establishment in the Towjee Department to carry out these instructions must, of course, be borne by the District Road Fund, and the Commissioners are authorized to employ such number of men and at such salaries as they may, after consultation with the Collectors, consider required for the duty, and to charge the amount against the District Road Fund, under the first part of section 90. The pay of such establishment, and the contingencies connected with it, are to be drawn by the Collector, upon a bill presented to the Vice-Chairman, Road Cess Committee.

17. With regard to ryots, it is feared that zemindars may at first adopt the old principle that if the zemindar has to pay anything, the ryot must find the cash. Sub-divisional officers should therefore be directed to take every opportunity of explaining to ryots, when they come in contact with them, that they are required to pay as Road Cess when paying their rent only on half the rate per rupee of rent fixed by the Road Cess Committee, and that they can obtain from the Collector's Road Cess Office, at a very small charge for the mere cost of copying, paper, &c., an extract from their landlord's return (when such has been given in) of the rent noted opposite their names by the zemindar.

Part III.—Road Cess on mines, &c.

18. The cess will be levied but in few districts and in few instances, but when necessary books must be kept generally following the form referred to in paragraph 5, and the chelans given in to the Towjee Department and the same rules followed as for the payment of the Land Road Cess.

Part IV —Road Cess on houses.

19. In paragraph 17 of the rules for the levy of the Road House Cess, it was ruled that in villages where there are punchayets the collections must be made by them, but that in other cases the assessors, in the capacity of cess collectors, should receive the collections both from the payers and from the punchayets.

20. The great mass of collections will have to be made from villages where there are no punchayets, but before resorting to such an extensive machinery as salaried cess collectors, the plan adopted by the Collector of the only district in which the cess has for the past year been collected should be allowed a fair trial.

21. The plan is to send round a collecting peon with a list of 50 persons or so to go from village to village and bring in the money. As this plan is adopted for sums below one rupee, the amount which one peon is entrusted with is not enough to tempt him to embezzle. This plan seems preferable to the harsher method of distraint, not only because people merely neglect to pay from the smallness of the sum and do not deserve to be punished by distraint, but also because the sum in each case is so small that the cost of distraining would exceed the sum distrained for.

22. The collection of the cess in all the villages within which it has been imposed should be placed under the management of the sub-divisional officers within whose jurisdiction they are situate, and worked immediately under the canoongoes of their subordinate establishments lately organized.

23. The canoongo will perform the duties of the House Road Cess Collector as laid down in paragraphs 17, 20, 21, and 22 of the above Rules, a separate Road Cess Collector only being provided when found to be actually required, and he should in every case be placed immediately under the sub-divisional canoongo, the latter being answerable for the entire management of the collections under the sub-divisional officer.

The following Notifications, issued by the Government of India, in the Legislative Department, are republished for general information :—

NOTIFICATIONS.

Fort William, the 5th December 1873.

36 & 37 VICTORIA, CAP. 85.

An Act to amend the Merchant Shipping Acts. [5th August 1873.]

BE it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows :—

Preliminary.

Short title.

1. This Act may be cited as the Merchant Shipping Act, 1873.

Construction of Act.

2. This Act shall be construed as one with the Merchant Shipping Act, 1854, and the Acts amending the same, and the said Acts and this Act may be cited collectively as the Merchant Shipping Acts, 1854 to 1873.

Registry (Part II of Merchant Shipping Act, 1854.)

Particulars to be marked on British ships.

3. Every British ship registered after the passing of this Act shall before registry, and every British ship registered before the passing of this Act shall, on or before the first day of January one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four, be permanently and conspicuously marked to the satisfaction of the Board of Trade, as follows :—

Her name shall be marked on each of her bows, and her name and the name of her port of registry shall be marked on her stern, on a dark ground in white or yellow letters, or on a light ground in black letters, such letters to be of a length not less than four inches, and of proportionate breadth :

Her official number and the number denoting her registered tonnage shall be cut in on her main beam :

A scale of feet denoting her draught of water shall be marked on each side of her stem and of her stern post in Roman capital letters or in figures, not less than six inches in length, the lower line of such letters or figures to coincide with the draught line denoted thereby. Such letters or figures shall be marked by being cut in and painted white or yellow on a dark ground, or in such other way as the Board of Trade may from time to time approve.

The Board of Trade may, however, exempt any class of ships from the requirements of this section or any of them.

If the scale of feet showing the ship's draught of water is in any respect inaccurate, so as to be likely to mislead, the owner of the ship shall incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred pounds.

The marks required by this section shall be permanently continued, and no alteration shall be made therein, except in the event of any of the particulars thereby denoted being altered in the manner provided by the Merchant Shipping Acts, 1854 to 1873.

Any owner or master of a British ship who neglects to cause his ship to be marked as aforesaid, or to keep her so marked, and any person who conceals, removes, alters, defaces, or obliterates, or suffers any person under his control to conceal, remove, alter, deface, or obliterate any of the said marks, except in the event aforesaid, or except for the purpose of escaping capture by an enemy, shall for each offence incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred pounds, and any officer of customs on receipt of a certificate from a surveyor or inspector of the Board of Trade that a ship is insufficiently or inaccurately marked may detain the same until the insufficiency or inaccuracy has been remedied.

Provided that no fishing vessel duly registered, lettered and numbered in pursuance of the Sea Fisheries Act, 1868, shall be required to have her name and port of registry marked under this section.

Provided also, that if any registered British ship is not within a port of the United Kingdom at any time before the first day of January one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four, she shall be marked as by this section required within one month after her next return to a British port of registry subsequent to that date.

Particulars to be entered in record of draught of water.

4. The record of the draught of water of any sea-going ship required under section five of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1871, shall, in addition to the particulars thereby required, specify the extent of her clear side in feet and inches.

The term "clear side" means the height from the water to the upper side of the plank of the deck from which the depth of hold as stated in the register is measured, and the measurement of the clear side is to be taken at the lowest part of the side.

Every master of a sea-going ship shall, upon the request of any person appointed to record the ship's draught of water, permit such person to enter the ship and to make such inspections and take such measurements as may be requisite for the purpose of such record; and any master who fails so to do, or impedes or suffers any one under his control to impede any person so appointed in the execution of his duty, shall for each offence incur a penalty not exceeding five pounds.

Rules as to names of foreign ships placed on British register.

5. Where a foreign ship, not having at any previous time been registered as a British ship, becomes a British ship, no person shall apply to register, and no registrar shall knowingly register such ship, except by the name which she bore as a foreign ship immediately before becoming a British ship, unless with the permission of the Board of Trade granted in manner directed by section six of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1871.

Any person who acts or suffers any person under his control to act in contravention of this section shall for each offence incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred pounds.

Restrictions on re-registration of abandoned ships.

6. Where a ship has ceased to be registered as a British ship by reason of having been wrecked or abandoned, or for any reason other than capture by the enemy or transfer to a person not qualified to own a British ship, such ship shall not be re-registered until she has, at the expense of the applicant for registration, been surveyed by one of the surveyors appointed by the Board of Trade and certified by him to be sea-worthy.

Masters and Seamen (Part III of Merchant Shipping Act, 1854.)

Agreements with seamen.

7. Any agreement with a seaman made under section one hundred and forty-nine of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1854, may, instead of stating the nature and duration of the intended voyage or engagement as by that section required, state the maximum period of the voyage or engagement and the places or parts of the world (if any) to which the voyage or engagement is not to extend.

Agreements with fishermen.

8. The owner or master of any British vessel engaged in fishing off the coast of the United Kingdom may enter into an agreement with any person employed on such vessel that such person shall be remunerated wholly by a share in the profit of the fishing adventure.

Every such agreement shall be in writing or in print, or partly in writing and partly in print, and shall be signed by the contracting parties in the presence of a superintendent or deputy superintendent of a mercantile marine office.

The superintendent or deputy superintendent shall, before such agreement is signed, read and (if necessary) explain the same to the contracting parties, and shall attest the signature of the agreement, and certify that it has been read to and agreed to by the contracting parties.

Any such agreement, if made in the manner by this section required, shall be valid and binding on all the contracting parties, notwithstanding anything contained in section one hundred and eighty-two of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1854.

Compensation to seamen for unnecessary detention on charge of desertion.

9. If a seaman or apprentice belonging to any ship is detained on a charge of desertion or any kindred offence, and if upon a survey of the ship being made under section seven of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1871, it is proved that she is not in a fit condition to proceed to sea, or that her accommodation is insufficient, the owner or master of the ship shall be liable to pay to such seaman or apprentice such compensation for his detention as the court having cognizance of the proceedings may award.

Power for Board of Trade to establish mercantile marine offices and to hold examinations at certain ports.

10. In any case where the business of a mercantile marine office is conducted otherwise than under a local marine board, the Board of Trade may, if they think fit, instead of conducting such business at a custom house or otherwise, establish a mercantile marine office, and for that purpose procure the requisite buildings and property, and from time to time appoint and remove all the requisite superintendents, deputies, clerks, and servants. They may also, in the like case, make all such provisions and exercise all such powers with respect to the holding of examinations for the purpose of granting certificates of competency as masters, mates or engineers, to persons desirous of obtaining the same, as might have been made or exercised by a local marine board.

Power for Her Majesty, by order in Council, to apply certain provisions of Merchant Shipping Acts to foreign ships.

11. Whenever it has been made to appear to Her Majesty that the Government of any foreign State is desirous that any of the provisions of the Merchant Shipping Acts, 1854 to 1873, relating to the engagement and discharge of seamen, shall apply to the ships of such State, Her Majesty may, by order in Council declare, that such of the said provisions as are in such order specified shall, subject to the limitations, if any, contained in the order, apply, and thereupon so long as the order remains in force such provisions shall apply, subject to the said limitations, to the ships of such State, and to the owners, masters, officers, and crews of such ships, when not within the jurisdiction of such State, in the same manner in all respects as if such ships were British ships.

It shall be lawful for Her Majesty, from time to time by order in Council, to add to, alter, or repeal any order made under this section.

Safety and prevention of Accidents (Part IV of Merchant Shipping Act, 1854).

Survey of ships suspected of being unseaworthy.

12. Where the Board of Trade have received a complaint, or have reason to believe that any British ship is by reason of the defective condition of her hull, equipments, or machinery, or by reason of overloading or improper loading, unfit to proceed to sea without serious danger to human life, they may if they think fit, appoint some competent person or persons to survey such ship, and the equipments, machinery, and cargo thereof, and to report thereon to the Board.

Any person so appointed may, for the purposes of such survey, require the unloading or removal of any cargo, ballast, or tackle, and shall have all the powers of an inspector appointed under the Merchant Shipping Act, 1854.

Any person who (having notice of the intention to hold such survey) wilfully does or causes to be done any act by which the person appointed to make such survey is prevented from or obstructed in ascertaining the condition of the ship, her equipments, machinery, and cargo shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding fifty pounds.

The Board of Trade may, if they think fit, order that any ship be detained for the purpose of being surveyed under this section, and thereupon any officer of Customs may detain such ship until her release be ordered either by the Board of Trade or by any court to which an appeal is given under this Act.

Upon the receipt of the report of the person making any such survey, the Board may, if in their opinion the ship cannot proceed to sea without serious danger to human life, make such further order as they may think requisite as to the detention of the ship or as to her release, either absolutely or upon the performance of such conditions with respect to the execution of repairs or alterations or the unloading or reloading of cargo, as the Board may impose. They may also from time to time vary or add to such order.

A copy of any such order and of the report upon which it was founded, and also of any variation of, or addition to such order, shall be delivered as soon as possible to the owner or master of the ship to which it relates.

When a ship has been detained under this section, she shall not be released by reason of her British register having been closed.

Costs of survey.

13. If upon the survey of a ship under this Act she is reported to have been at the time of the survey, having regard to the nature of the service for which she was then intended, unfit to proceed to sea without serious danger to human life, the expenses incurred by the Board of Trade in respect of the survey shall be paid by the owner of the ship to the Board of Trade, and shall, without prejudice to any other remedy, be recoverable by them in the same manner as salvage is recoverable..

If upon such survey the ship is not reported to have been unfit to proceed to sea, having regard to the nature of the service for which she was intended, the Board of Trade shall be liable to pay compensation to any person for any loss or damage which he may have sustained by reason of the detention of the ship for the purpose of survey or otherwise, in respect of such survey.

Where a complaint has been made to the Board of Trade that a ship is not fit to proceed to sea, they may, if they think fit, before ordering a survey of the ship, require the complainant to give or provide such security as they may think sufficient for the payment of the costs and expenses which they may incur in respect of the survey of the ship and of the compensation which they may be rendered liable to pay for loss or damage caused by her detention for the purpose of such survey, or otherwise in respect of such survey.

Where a ship has been surveyed under this Act in consequence of a complaint made to the Board of Trade, if upon such survey being made it appear that such complaint was made without reasonable cause, the expenses incurred by the Board in respect of the survey of the ship and the amount, if any, which the Board may have been rendered liable to pay in respect of any loss or damage caused by her detention, shall be recoverable by the Board from such complainant.

All moneys payable by the Board of Trade in respect or by reason of the survey or detention of a ship under this Act shall, subject to the right by this section provided of recovering such moneys from the complainant, be paid out of moneys to be provided by Parliament.

Appeal from decision of Board of Trade.

14. If the owner of any ship surveyed under this Act is dissatisfied with any order of the Board of Trade made upon such survey, he may apply to any of the following courts having jurisdiction in the place where such ship was surveyed; that is to say:—

In England, to any court having Admiralty jurisdiction:

In Ireland, to any court having jurisdiction under the Court of Admiralty (Ireland) Act, 1897:

In Scotland, to the court of the Sheriff of the county.

The court may, upon such application, if they think fit, appoint one or more competent persons to survey the ship anew; and any surveyor so appointed shall have all the powers of the person by whom the original survey was made. Such survey anew shall, if so required by the Board of Trade or the ship-owner, be made in the presence of any person or persons appointed by them respectively to attend at the survey.

The court to which such application is made may make such order as to the detention or release of the ship, as to the payment of any costs and damages which may have been occasioned by her detention, as to the payment of the expenses of the original survey, and of the survey anew, and otherwise as to the payment of any costs of and incident to, the application as to the court may seem just.

Where an application is made under this section to a county court, or in Ireland to a local court, the matter of the application shall be deemed to be an Admiralty cause within the meaning of the County Courts Admiralty Jurisdiction Act, 1868, and the Court of Admiralty (Ireland) Act, 1867.

Power for Board of Trade to vary requirements as to boats.

15. In the case of any ship surveyed under the fourth part of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1854, the Board of Trade may, at the request of the owner, authorize the reduction of the number and the variation of the dimensions of the boats required for the ship by section two hundred and ninety-two of that Act and also the substitution of rafts or other appliances for saving life for any such boats, so nevertheless that the boats so reduced or varied and the rafts or other appliances so substituted be sufficient for the persons carried on board the ship.

Section two hundred and ninety-three of the said Act shall extend to any such rafts or appliances in the same manner as if they were boats.

Duties of Masters in case of collision.

16. In every case of collision between two vessels it shall be the duty of the master or person in charge of each vessel, if and so far as he can do so without danger to his own vessel, crew, and passengers (if any), to stay by the other vessel until he has ascertained that she has no need of further assistance, and to render to the other vessel, her master, crew, and passengers (if any), such assistance as may be practicable and as may be necessary in order to save them from any danger caused by the collision; and also to give the master or person in charge of the other vessel the name of his own vessel, and of her port of registry, or of the port or place to which she belongs, and also the names of the ports and places from which and to which she is bound.

If he fails so to do, and no reasonable cause for such failure is shown the collision shall, in the absence of proof to the contrary, be deemed to have been caused by his wrongful act, neglect, or default.

Every master or person in charge of a British vessel who fails, without reasonable cause to render such assistance, or give such information as aforesaid, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and if he is a certificated officer, an inquiry into his conduct may be held and his certificate may be cancelled or suspended.

Liability for infringement of regulations in cases of collision.

17. If in any case of collision it is proved to the court before which the case is tried that any of the regulations for preventing collision contained in, or made under the Merchant Shipping Acts, 1854 to 1873, has been infringed, the ship by which such regulation has been infringed, shall be deemed to be in fault, unless it is shown to the satisfaction of the court that the circumstances of the case made departure from the regulation necessary.

Signals of distress.

18. The signal specified in the first schedule to this Act shall be deemed to be signals of distress.

Any master of a vessel who uses or displays, or causes or permits any person under his authority to use or display any of the said signals, except in the case of a vessel being in distress, shall be liable to pay compensation for any labour undertaken, risk incurred, or loss sustained in consequence of such signal having been supposed to be a signal of distress, and such compensation may, without prejudice to any other remedy, be recovered in the same manner in which salvage is recoverable.

Signals for pilots.

19. If a vessel requires the services of a pilot, the signals to be used and displayed shall be those specified in the second schedule to this Act.

Any master of a vessel who uses or displays, or causes or permits any person under his authority to use or display any of the said signals for any other purpose than that of summoning a pilot, or uses or causes or permits any person under his authority to use any other signal for a pilot, shall incur a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds.

Power to alter rules as to signals.

20. Her Majesty may from time to time, by order in Council, repeal or alter the rules as to signals contained in the schedules to this Act, or make new rules in addition thereto, or in substitution therefor, and any alterations in or additions to such rules made in manner aforesaid shall be of the same force as the rules in the said schedules.

Private signals.

21. Any ship-owner who is desirous of using, for the purposes of a private code any rockets, lights, or other similar signals, may register such signals with the Board of Trade, and the Board shall give public notice of the signals so registered in such manner as they may think requisite for preventing such signals from being mistaken for signals of distress or signals for pilots.

The Board may refuse to register any signals which in their opinion cannot easily be distinguished from signals of distress or signals for pilots.

When any signal has been so registered, the use or display thereof by any person acting under the authority of the ship-owner in whose name it is registered shall not subject any person to any of the penalties or liabilities by this Act imposed upon persons using or displaying signals improperly.

Notice to be given of apprehended loss of ship.

22. If the managing owner, or in the event of there being no managing owner, the ship's husband of any British ship have reason, owing to the non-appearance of such ship, or to any other circumstance, to apprehend that such ship has been wholly lost, he shall, as soon as conveniently may be, send to the Board of Trade notice in writing of such loss and of the probable occasion thereof, stating the name of the ship and her official number (if any), and the port to which she belongs; and if he neglect to do so within a reasonable time he shall incur a penalty not exceeding fifty pounds.

Restrictions on carriage of dangerous goods.

23. If any person sends or attempts to send by, or not being the master or owner of the vessel, carries or attempts to carry in any vessel, British or Foreign, any dangerous goods, (that is to say) aqua-fortis, vitriol, naphtha, benzine, gunpowder, lucifer-matches, nitro-glycerine, petroleum, or any other goods of a dangerous nature, without distinctly marking their nature on the outside of the package containing the same, and giving written notice of the nature of such goods and of the name, and address of the sender or carrier thereof to the master or owner of the vessel, at or before the time of sending the same to be shipped, or taking the same on board the vessel, he shall for every such offence incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred pounds; provided that if such person show that he was merely an agent in the shipment of any such goods as aforesaid, and was not aware and did not suspect and had no reason to suspect that the goods shipped by him were of a dangerous nature, the penalty which he incurs shall not exceed ten pounds.

Penalty for mis-description of dangerous goods.

24. If any person knowingly sends or attempts to send by, or carries or attempts to carry in any vessel, British or Foreign, any dangerous goods or goods of a dangerous nature under a false description, or falsely describes the sender or carrier thereof he shall incur a penalty not exceeding five hundred pounds.

Power to refuse to carry goods suspected of being dangerous.
